On Thanksgiving Day, when Americans traditionally reflect on their blessings, many needy area residents will be saying thanks to Harold Haas of City Foods in Detroit and Gary Dewitt of Bil-Mar Foods in Zeeland, Mich. The two men have donated 37,000 pounds of meat products, including turkey rolls, franks, sausages and breasts for distribution to hungry families.

The food will arrive at 11 a.m. Wednesday at the Wayne County Commissary, in the old Eloise portion of Wayne County General Hospital complex, off Henry Ruff north of Michigan Ave., Westland. The meat will be distributed by the Wayne-Metro Community Services Agency.

Merchants who wish to make donations to feed the hungry should call the office of the county executive at 224-0286.

IF THE Thanksgiving holiday is just around the corner, can Christmas be far behind? No, say Westland Goodfellows, who are already working to make sure that no child in the city goes without a Christmas. Dolls needing to be returned by Dec. 15.

For those of you who knit, it's time to get the needles clicking. Goodfellows also distribute mittens, gloves, scarves and hats for children that are donated by the community. Donations must be received at the city clerk's office in city hall by Dec. 20.

Volunteers also are needed for the Goodfellows annual paper sale on Dec. 2 and 3. If you have some free time, report to the VFW Harris Kehrler Post 3323, 1055 Wayne Road. Donations also may be sent to the Westland Goodfellows, 36601 Ford Road.

ALSO COLLECTING—donations is the Westland Jaycee Auxiliary, which is gathering Heinz Baby Food labels. Front labels from any Heinz baby products, including juices, cereals and baby foods, should be mailed to Sue Dickson, 30621 Steinhauer, Westland 48185, Attn: Label chairwoman.

Each label is worth three cents. The money will go to Children's Hospital for such things as patient care, research, equipment and the Ticker Club of the cardiology unit.

RICK GRAJEK, who ran for Westland City Council this year, believes he was incorrectly quoted in last Thursday's story about the election returns.

Grajek, who placed sixth, was quoted in the story as saying, "We gave it our best shot. We'll get 'em next time." The retired fire battalion chief said his only comment was, "We gave it our best shot and we lost."

TWO AREA students, Autumn Lee Scaggs of Stevenson High School and Cathleen McCreery of John Glenn High School, are among six high school seniors who are first round winners in the statewide competition for Senate Youth Program scholarships. The students will be among those competing for two $2,000 scholarships and a one week visit to Washington in late January.

Students, who are elected officers of school groups, were selected on the basis of a school staff recommendation, test scores and a personal interview.

Schools become hot items in district

Washington Elementary School, the oldest in the Wayne-Westland district, has been sold to the Arbor Drug Company for a cash price of $225,000. The school, at Glenwood and Wayne roads, was among three closed last spring due to declining enrollment.

The school board approved the sale at last week's board meeting. The school is expected to be demolished. In its place will be a drug store and another shop, according to John Baracy, assistant superintendent for business and finance in the district.

This is the second school in the district to be sold this year. Earlier, Continental Cablevision agreed to purchase Tonquish School on Warren Road for use as studios and offices for the company, which has been awarded Westland's cable television franchise.

"Property is really starting to move now," Baracy said.

A COUNTER proposal also was made last week for Tinkham Elementary School, 450 Venoy in Westland. Tinkham was closed at the end of the last school year and currently is being used for adult extension programs.

Baracy said that the initial proposal was too low. The current proposal for Tinkham is more than $600,000. He said that figure is "getting closer to a number that possibly we could be in agreement on." Baracy said a decision would be made after the offer was received in writing.

Some board members have asked for a review of the policy which outlines how money from property sales is handled.

Baracy noted that there is still a $165,000 debt outstanding on Washington School. He said that money would be used to pay off the school bond loan fund, not necessarily retire the specific debt for Washington.

THE WAYNE-Westland community portion of the district owes roughly $3 million to the fund, according to Baracy. He explained that Wayne County school districts low in property values used the fund to expand schools, allowing districts to spread their debt over a longer period of time without raising millage rates. Now the money is being repaid.

Trustee Fred Warmbier has questioned why the district shouldn't use all the proceeds from the sales to reduce the district's debt, but Baracy said that isn't necessarily a good idea since some of the interest rates on the money are at only two to three percent.

"The money may be invested. It may be spent. It all depends on the board. It will make the final decision," he said.

Baracy noted, however, that $100,000 from the sale of property has been included as revenue to balance the general fund budget.

Thomas Svitkovich (second from right), principal at John Glenn High, discusses the city's drug problem along with other members of the panel at Wednesday's town hall meeting. Joining in the discussion were panel members (from left) Gail Hutchinson of the Westland Counseling Center, Don Hardin of a GM employee assistance program, Ruth Barry from the Livonia Counseling Center and Sgt. Larry Squire of the Westland police.

Parents to combat drug abuse

By Sandra Armbruster
editor

Parents from Westland and Canton Township aren't about to give up on their children. That much was clear at a town hall meeting held last Wednesday after a telecast of the second installment of "The Chemical People" on public television station WTVS Channel 56.

"One of the major issues we have to deal with is acceptance. I've seen my children go through (a drug problem), and the whole family suffers," said one mother at the meeting in the John Glenn High School library.

Yvonne Blockno said that the plan for a task force gives her hope.

"I will not give up on them."

Neither will about six other parents and assorted professionals from the group of nearly 30 people who attended the meeting. The meeting was one of 80 held throughout the metropolitan area as part of a nationwide attempt to draw attention and do something about the continuing problem of drug abuse.

After about 1½ hours of discussion, parents and professionals alike agreed to form a task force to spread the word.

"I'm thrilled to death to see people from the community get involved in this," said Yvonne Blockno. "I've been personally involved. It's a toughy. This gives us hope."

"Alcoholics Anonymous started out with two people," said Don Hardin, adding that he wasn't dismayed by the smaller-than-expected turnout. Hardin is a Westland resident who works as a substance abuse counselor with Local 163 of Detroit Diesel.

"The task force will be what we want it to be," he said.

THE DECISION to form a task force wasn't reached, however, until parents learned how extensive the problem still is.

"In the late '60s, I remember a time when you could buy an ounce or two of marijuana on the streets," said Sgt. Larry Squires, a narcotics expert with the Westland police. "Now within one mile of John Glenn in any direction, there isn't a drug on the street that you can't buy."

Glenn's principal, Thomas Svitkovich who joined four other members of the panel, agreed with Squires.

"As a community, we condone all kinds of things. All beer store owners will sell (to under-age youths) if they slap down some money," he said, recounting a personal experience.

"I walked into a beer store down the street and saw four students I knew in the process of buying beer. When they saw me, they hit the door," he recalled.

When Svitkovich talked to the store owner, he was told, "What can I do? They look 21 to me."

"There is a whole wall of denial," Svitkovich added.

STEREOTYPES don't fit drug users, noted another mother.

"We weren't the type of family that you would think would have drug problems," she said, blaming "out and out peer pressure" for drug abuse.

That mother, and several others who asked why members of the school board, teachers and other principals didn't attend the meeting, suggested that a group be formed in the schools where students could get together and discuss drug abuse.

Svitkovich said that the school works speakers into the curriculum where it can. He said that there is a "clear understanding" with students that drug use and selling won't be tolerated.

"If we find a seller, we remove the student from school," he said. "We've had to remove a few this year, and they're in residential treatment. But we can't keep them in the building. We have to remove them from the scene."

Also on the scene at events such as high school football games is a patrol car, Svitkovich said. The patrol car checks for students drinking in the parking lot.

But the problem of drug abuse needs to be addressed collectively, Svitkovich said. That includes teachers who are trained to intervene, positive ways for students to get involved and the support of parents.

SCHOOLS AREN'T the only answer, said Squires.

"For a long time, anything that parents haven't wanted to handle, they've given to the schools," he said. "I'm not saying they'll take care of it because they can't."

Consultant faces theft charges

By Marie Chestney
staff writer

A former Dearborn Heights high school teacher who taught an adult investment course at Stevenson High School faces arraignment today in an Ohio court on bad check and grand theft charges.

Karl Hamrick, a financial consultant who has had offices in both Westland, Mich., and Sylvania, Ohio, faces a Lucas County judge today on a grand theft by deception charge, two felony bad check charges and one misdemeanor bad check charge.

The charges stem from complaints made by a Westland couple and an Ann Arbor man over Hamrick's alleged mishandling or theft of $43,000 turned over to Hamrick for investment purposes, said Detective Gregg Burr of the Sylvania, Ohio police department.

A similar complaint lodged in September by a Livonia couple has been dropped because Hamrick returned the full $12,000 given to him to invest, said Sgt. Shirley Garrison of the Livonia police department.

Garrison said the couple met Hamrick last spring when they attended a four-week investment course offered through the Livonia Public Schools adult education department at Stevenson High School.

The course was taught by Hamrick, who formerly worked as a high school social studies teacher for the Crestwood School District and as an agent for a Massachusetts-based insurance company. Hamrick was one of the teachers fired in the 1974 Crestwood school strike.

Burr said Hamrick has promised to return by Nov. 15 the $14,000 given to him to invest by the Westland couple.

Burr said he is also investigating two other complaints lodged this week against Hamrick by investors. The detective asked that investors with complaints call him at 419-882-7102, Ext. 244.

District events mark education week

The general education department of the Wayne-Westland Schools and the Area Council of PTAs are sponsoring a "See For Yourself" conference Thursday, Nov. 17.

The conference is one of several activities marking American Education Week, and Thursday has been designated by local governments as Education Day.

Conference speakers and sessions will meet from 7-9:30 p.m. at Marshall Junior High School, 35100 Bayview in Westland.

Dr. Mary Bigler, Professor of Education at Eastern Michigan University, will give the keynote address in the school cafeteria at 7:10 p.m. Participants will have the opportunity to attend three different conference sessions after her remarks. There will be a five-minute break between the sessions.

EACH SESSION will be repeated three times. Titles of the sessions are: how to get involved with your school, introduction to junior-senior high, interpreting test scores, vocational/technical program, secondary math and science programs, elementary program, child growth and development, computers in education, special education programs and collective bargaining.

Speakers will be introduced by the parents of the local PTAs, Honor Society students will serve as guides. There will be an art exhibit, and the science rooms and Media Center will be open for visitors. Refreshments will be served. A band will perform from 6:45 to 7 p.m. Opening remarks will precede Bigler's address.

The first session is scheduled to last from 7:40 to 8:15 p.m. The second and third sessions are scheduled to run from 8:20-8:55 p.m. and from 9-9:30 p.m. respectively.

Other events planned for that week include an "I've been back to school day" on Tuesday afternoon. It is being held in cooperation with the Wayne-Westland Education Association. Members of the community have been invited to visit the schools, particularly classes that are related to the visitor's business experience.

Education association officials believe the experience will provide a first hand look at learning in the district. A reception immediately follows the close of the school day. Anyone interested in participating should call 729-1650.

Arresting drunks keeps roads safe, says state trooper

By Sandra Armbruster
editor

Drunks at the wheel and drivers not wearing seat belts are the two biggest killers on Michigan roads, according to Bob Garcia, a community affairs specialist with the Michigan State Police Northville post.

"If you took all drunk drivers off the road, and if everyone wore seatbelts, almost all those who died wouldn't have," said Garcia, speaking to members of the Westland Chamber of Commerce at a monthly luncheon.

"Many times I talk to executives of companies, and a number of them will be walking out of there drunk. Business lunches are a big problem," he continued.

"The guys (troopers) know where to look for drunks."

Garcia said troopers know that they can find drunk drivers coming from certain bars on Friday afternoons. Hearing chuckles from the audience, however, Garcia said, "You can laugh, but if you had a family member killed by a drunk driver, you wouldn't be laughing."

THE EMPHASIS of state troopers, Garcia said, is to take drunk drivers off the road and to make the roads safe.

And, he said, "We don't make roads safe only by giving tickets." He said that much of a trooper's time is spent in giving gas to those who run out, in arranging for tow trucks and changing one or two tires daily.

Getting drunks out from behind the wheel is part of the effort, Garcia said. The "prime time shift" for arresting drunk drivers is 8 p.m. to 4 a.m. Other times when troopers are on alert are during the racing season in Northville and about 1 to 2 a.m. when people are leaving bars.

Garcia said that since the new law prohibiting drunk driving passed, its now easier to arrest drunk drivers.

The trooper outlined steps leading to an arrest for the chamber members.

TROOPERS ARE taught to visualize themselves on the stand testifying, he said. The question to answer is, how do you know the suspect is drunk?

Driving habits are a good clue, Garcia explained. Troopers look for people driving "real slow, real fast or swerving out of their lane." He said that a trooper will suspect a driver is drunk if an oncoming car has bright lights.

"A drunk's eyes don't respond to light. If you flick your brights and (the driver) doesn't respond, you figure that sucker's drunk," Garcia said.

The trooper will turn around and follow the driver for a mile or so, making note of the manner the car is being driven.

After a trooper stops a driver, he asks the driver to undergo tests to determine whether drinking has impaired his faculties.

Troopers use a prebreathalyzer test which tests the content of alcohol in the person's bloodstream. He said that troopers can issue a civil infraction, even if the driver declines to take the test.

Next, is the alphabet test. "It's amazing," Garcia said. "A drunk can't say the alphabet, but a week later he'll pass a polygraph test saying he did because he really thinks he said it.

"You can't get mad at him, really, because he really believes he did it."

OTHER TESTS given include asking a person to count on his fingers, stand on one leg, close his eyes and touch the end of his nose, walk forward 13 paces and back eight and to pick up a dime on the hood of the car. "If a driver fails a couple of these tests, that indicates they are drunk."

"I always do the same things in the same order. That's very important when you're on the stand," Garcia said.

Once a driver has been arrested for being drunk, the driver is given a breathalyzer test back at the station. Garcia said that a reading of 0.10 indicates the person is drunk; however, a reading of 0.08 or 0.09 indicates the driver is impaired. The evidence from all the tests is used to prosecute the driver.

But Garcia said that while drunk drivers are convicted, sentencing is held off until the driver goes through a court-affiliated program. After a year, if there have been no further arrests, the judge will drop the charge to impaired driving.

GARCIA SUGGESTED ways that the public can have an effect on drunk driving statistics.

"Some courts have people who sit in (on sessions), and local newspapers publish all that happens," he explained. "If you want to stop drunk drivers, demand an accounting of the number of drunk drivers in court and the disposition of the cases."

Garcia added that he wasn't really advocating that approach, and suggested that another way is to "go after bar owners who serve to someone who is drunk."

The next step, Garcia said, is to lower the level at which a driver is considered drunk, according to a breathalyzer test. He suggested a drop from 0.10 to 0.04 or 0.05 with impaired driving dropped from 0.05 to 0.03 or 0.04. An average person will register 0.025 on a breathalyzer for every drink, Garcia added.

Parents, professionals join task force on drug abuse

"Drug abuse isn't just a problem in Wayne-Westland, and it won't be cured unless Wayne, Garden City and Canton do the same things."

Hardin said he was alarmed by the substances that are out on the street.

"Kids don't know what they're taking. All they know is that it will give them a buzz," he explained. "There is a lot of mescaline being sold out the street, but most of it is just PCP."

Squires said that the criminal justice system won't be of help to parents.

"They'll be warned and released. It's gotten to the point that kids think it's a joke," he said. "I seldom refer kids because the system is so overloaded."

Ruth Barry, a counselor from the Community Commission on Drug Abuse, said that her plea would be for prevention and education about drug abuse.

"If what they say is true, it's two to three years before anyone notices there is a problem," she said. "That's two to three years lost from their lives."

SEVERAL PARENTS called for education of young children about drug abuse. One said she herself experienced drugs at a very young age, and another recounted seeing her five-year-old and several friends pretend they were drunk by falling off the front porch.

"If they can learn that, they can learn about drugs," she said.

Squires noted that his record this year for the youngest child to be involved with drugs is 10 years-old.

A student from the Nankin Mills alternative high school, explaining the importance of examples, told the group about his experience in hearing a speaker against smoking in the fifth grade.

"When the kids got out, they laughed because they'd see their parents smoking," he said, quashing a cigarette. "If Mommy and Daddy smoke, what's the difference?"

"If they preach it, they need to practice it."

"What is said in programs can be negated by what students see," Svitkovich agreed. He called the '70s the "cocktail generation" in which dad has to come home and have a martini while the TV is sporting beer ads.

"The commercials will be on as long as you parents keep buying it," the student said.

"It's not an insurmountable problem," said Hardin. "If people want to change they can."

The next meeting of the task force will be at 7 p.m. Tuesday at John Glenn High School, on Marquette west of Wayne Road. A similar task force will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday at Bentley High School, Five Mile and Hubbard.

City and school officials are among the five judges who will select the 1984 Wayne-Westland Junior Miss this week. Named as judges are Tom Presnell, Sylvia Kozorosky, Kathleen Chorbagian, Pamela Miller Curtis and Marlene Saponic. They will choose the new Junior Miss from 26 young women from three area high schools.

Denise Bixler, Wayne-Westland's 1983 Junior Miss, also will be on hand for the program, scheduled for 7 p.m. Friday in the Wayne-Memorial High School auditorium, Glenwood at Fourth. Tickets cost $3 and will be available at the door.

PRESNELL IS administrative assistant to the mayor. A former county commissioner, he is a member of the Garden City Civic Theater.

Kozorosky, deputy director of aging for the City of Westland, has an extensive background in gymnastics, dance and modeling.

Chorbagian is vice president of the Wayne-Westland School Board. She is a 1964 graduate of Wayne-Memorial and a member of their alumni band.

Curtis of Ann Arbor was Michigan's Junior Miss in 1975 and first runner-up to America's Junior Miss. After graduating from the University of Michigan, she went on to pursue a career in physical therapy and is on the staff of Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Saponic is a former fashion consultant for Seventeen Magazine. She now teaches personal modeling and self-improvement courses for area girls' clubs.

THE PROGRAM winner will receive a $500 cash scholarship to the college of her choice, along with a $100 scholarship donated by Mayor Charles Pickering. Other scholarship donations, such as that from the Westland Senior Citizen Club, are being gathered.

As in past programs, 35 percent of the judging will be based on the judges' interview, 20 percent on creative and performing arts and 15 percent each on scholastic achievement, physical fitness based on a group routine and poise and appearance based on a group routine.

This year's contestants are, from Wayne Memorial High School: Vicki Bertschinger, Holly Blockman, Georgette Webber, Dawn White, Kiti Ton, Crizlyn Rabina, Charlene Atkinson, Laura Simon, Sandra Abram, Elizabeth Arthur, Barbara Ingalls and Pam Johns.

Also, from John Glenn High School: Linda Woldrick, Teresa Alizer, Dawn Smith-peters, Dorcas Killenbeck, Robin Fogarty, Anne West, Lisa Lyons, Kimberly Franke, Andrea Swanson, Patricia Santos, Sheri Buckley, Cynthia Short and Donna Czubaj. Also, Melanie Miller from Franklin High School.

Private schools are battling for young minds

A BATTLE IS being waged now in schools throughout this area. It's not a fight with a football archrival or for more tax dollars. But it's a battle for the minds and hearts of 13-year-olds.

I'm talking about the recruiting of eighth-graders by private secondary schools. Many outstanding private schools in the Detroit suburbs are competing for those students.

To name just a few, they are: Ladywood in Livonia, Detroit Country Day in Beverly Hills, Roeper in Bloomfield Hills, Detroit Catholic Central in Redford and Our Lady of Mercy in Farmington.

Fall is the peak season for student recruiting. This is the time when parents and children must make a decision about the next four years.

Nick Sharkey

BECAUSE there are fewer young people of school age, the competition becomes fiercer.

Tactics in the battle include: slick brochures, open houses at secondary schools, school administrators' "visits" to eighth grade classrooms and receptions for prospective students.

It's called the free enterprise system.

As a parent, I am in the midst of evaluating the schools available. It's not easy, since the caliber of the schools is very high.

During the past few weeks, I have been exposed to many different high school sales techniques. They have ranged from the hard sell — "Your child can get an education cheaper at another school, but how can you put a price on a lifetime investment?" to the soft sell — "Select the school where your child will be happiest. If he/she is not happy, then he/she will not succeed."

I'VE BEEN told to look at facilities — "Our computer center is fully equipped for the high-tech future."

I've heard boasting about curriculum — "We require four years of science and math, which will get your child into a top college."

I've been told about the teachers — "Check out their credentials, and you'll find 85 percent have master's degrees."

Selecting the "right" school is no easy task.

An open house gives insight into the school's philosophy and the views of top administrators. A visit to the school during the school day can tell how students respond to their teachers. A high school football game gives an indication of school spirit.

Attracting the parent and student is only the beginning of the courtship. The better secondary schools require entrance examinations. They check the grade school records of prospective students. They get recommendations from eighth grade teachers.

THE BEST schools turn down many students who apply. But even they must recruit, so they get the top eighth-grade students.

Entrance examinations are usually taken in November. By the end of January, the school lets the student know if he/she is accepted. A few weeks later, the eighth-grader must formally commit to the high school.

As decision time gets closer, I've finally made up my mind about the school. But I haven't told my son because he's still debating the merits of the finalists. Hopefully, he will come to the same conclusion.

Who will win if we disagree? Don't ask. I'm just glad the first phase of selecting a high school is almost over. I'll worry about that another day.

Most fascinating champs? Londes and Banks

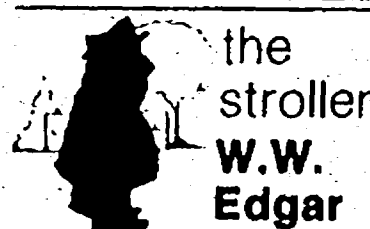

FROM FAR-OFF California came a most interesting letter the other morning. It was from a former resident of The Stroller's home town in the Pennsylvania Dutch Country who recently had paid a visit "back home."

After explaining his identity, he asked this unusual question:

"In your many trips down Memory Lane, who were the most fascinating champions you ever met? I don't mean just interesting, I mean fascinating characters?"

Well, that was a rare question, but it didn't take long to sort the interesting from the fascinating. And when he had taken another stroll down the lane, he came up with two selections that may be surprising.

Sure, he had chatted with fellows like the stroller

W.W.
Edgar

Jack Dempsey, Mickey Cochrane, Gar Wood, Walter Hagen and a host of others. But the most fascinating never donned a boxing glove, punted a football or rode in a speedboat.

Who were the two?

DON'T BE SHOCKED, but after a great deal of thought, The Stroller selected Jim Londes, the Golden Greek wrestling champion, and Newell Banks, who ruled the world of checkers for years.

Usually, out of the ring there is nothing fascinating about a wrestler. But Londes was different. He was a highly intelligent fellow and a great conversationalist. But the most fascinating thing was some of his customs.

For instance, he wouldn't think about drinking anything other than goat's milk while training for a bout. He often had trouble getting it, but somehow he managed to have a sufficient supply when he came to Detroit.

And he was a great debater when it came to answering the charge that pro wrestling was a fraud, in that many matches were fixed.

Then came one afternoon when we were chatting, and The Stroller argued he could tell just about when the bout the next night would be finished.

Londes winced a bit at the claim. But The Stroller told him the bout would end about 10 minutes to 11 o'clock. Sure enough, it ended at nine minutes before the hour.

Yet Londes claimed it was on the level. That was part of the fascination.

BANKS WAS a different type. He never argued, but his training methods were far different.

He gloried in checkers matches while being blindfolded. Sometimes these took several hours. So he walked a lot and read a lot to get his legs and eyes in condition.

Then, starting the day before a match, he would eat nothing but Spanish onions — "just to keep my eyes sharp."

Came a night when he was engaged in a blindfolded match against 16 opponents.

When The Stroller arrived on the scene, Banks was in another room. "I'll stay in here instead of being blindfolded," he said.

WHEN HIS TURN came to move the checkers, he walked up and down the long tables eyeing and studying each board. Arriving at a board in the middle of the long row, he looked at his opponent and very calmly said:

"You have made two moves. Which do you want to keep?"

The opponent was stunned. Finally he admitted he had played a trick and was caught.

"You see," Banks said, "that's the reason for needing sharp eyes, and there's no better way to get them than to eat Spanish onions the day before a match and for dinner on the evening of the competition."

Blanchard bills would encourage franchising

By Tim Richard
Staff Writer

"It's not sexy. It's inherently technical," said attorney Fred Woodworth as Gov. James J. Blanchard unveiled a fistful of proposals to improve Michigan's business climate.

"You wonder if you've labored to give birth to a mouse or done something good," said the Birmingham attorney, who served on a Blanchard committee on simplifying franchise laws.

The first-term governor evidently liked the work done by Woodworth and 10 other men, some of them state officials but mostly business people. The administration drafted three bills for introduction in the legislature.

"Early in my administration," Blanchard said at a news conference Thursday, "I became aware of a perception among franchise sellers that Michigan was an unfavorable state in which to operate. This legislation will make it easier for franchise sellers to offer employment opportunities in Michigan."

WOODWORTH AGREED. "I've been involved in lots of situations where responsible companies have elected not to locate in Michigan," said the lawyer, a member of the firm of Dykema, Gossett, Spencer, Goodnow and Trigg in Detroit.

A franchise is a right granted by a large company to a local individual to do business with the company name. Examples are Kentucky Fried Chicken of Louisville and Aamco Transmissions of Pennsylvania.

Woodworth added, "I don't think it (the change) is at the expense of the people it's supposed to protect. It's consistent with Federal Trade Commission approaches."

BLANCHARD SAID his proposed amendments to the Franchise Investment Law will:

- Eliminate the "time-consuming and sometimes arbitrary" review system by the Corporations and Securities Bureau." Instead, companies will be required only to file a simple notice stating it will sell franchises in Michigan.

- Protect franchise purchasers by listing unenforceable contract clauses. Example: No contract could require a franchise buyer to travel to the seller's home state to file a suit.

The Consumer Protection Act would be amended to protect businesspeople and consumers in a category called "business opportunities." It will contain full disclosure provisions.

"Franchises offer tremendous opportunities to the men and women who wish to operate small businesses in Michigan," Blanchard said. "Franchise businesses traditionally have a very high success rate and constitute a fast-growing sector of the retail goods and services market."

franchising companies saying the governor's proposals, if adopted, would encourage them to deal in Michigan.

Sid Sanderson, licensing director of Taco Tico, Inc., a Kansas-based firm which has no restaurants in Michigan, wrote, "As we understand the amendments contained therein, our company would work toward developing business in your state. Each of our unit openings would employ 20-30 people, and this would help decrease Michigan's 21 percent unemployment."

Stephen B. Early, general counsel of Kentucky Fried Chicken, wrote, "The elimination of regulatory barriers to registration should prove a positive impetus to business development by franchisors."

"At the same time, however, we feel that the new reform act will provide adequate protection to persons who may have been victimized by unscrupulous or undercapitalized franchisors."

ATTACHED TO Blanchard's announcement were letters from

State ombudsman will help business

Besides simplifying the franchising procedure (above story), Gov. Blanchard wants to cut paperwork involved in stock offerings and has created the office of business ombudsman in the state Commerce Department.

"There is a national perception that Michigan imposes barriers to capital formation because of its review process for stock offerings," the governor said as he announced his reform plan.

"With this, Michigan will move from the middle of the pack to the top," commented Farmington Hills businessman Dwight D. Carlson. Blanchard quoted Carlson, president of Percepton, a robotics firm which received the state's first pension fund loan for its new expansion.

Carlson had chaired a 13-member group which proposed a change in rules governing venture capital and developmental company securities registration. A legislative review committee was to take up the proposal Tuesday.

Blanchard said the rule change would encourage privately-held corporations to "go public" — Wall Street jargon for selling their stock on public markets — making expansion easier.

Barbara McLeod, an attorney and Blanchard staff member, explained how the rule would work: The state would not review a stock offering 1) if the underwriter is a member of the New York Stock Exchange and 2) if a qualified venture capital company purchased 25 percent of the stock on the same terms the public is offered.

Blanchard added, "This rule reduces state review of the sale of stocks in cases where the marketplace can provide the same level of investor protection at much lower cost."

Ombudsman for business will be David S. Haynes, former director of the Job Training Coordinating Council and former committee aide in the state Senate on environment, transportation, education and commerce.

The Grand Rapids native said he would offer "one-stop shopping" to businesspeople planning to set up shop in Michigan, helping with all the permits they need from various departments. "We won't just say, 'here's the number you call,'" Haynes said.

Blanchard called Haynes a "case worker and expeditor, very skillful at dealing with the bureaucracy." He said Haynes had been recommended by Philip H. Power, owner of Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, and several senators.

Haynes said much of his work will be opening up lines of communication between entrepreneurs and state offices.

CHILLY AUTUMN WEATHER BRINGS COOKING BACK TO THE KITCHEN

The shorter days and chilly nights of autumn are a sure sign that summer's over. Once again it's time to store patio furniture, bring in all but the heartiest of plants and check the wood supply to ensure frequent fireside lounging in the cold months ahead.

For many homemakers, these first hints of fall also signal a renewed interest in oven cookery. This return to slow baked, hearty meals means a kitchen filled with appetite piquing aromas and families who have had several fragrant hours to anticipate dinner. You'll definitely want it to be worth the wait.

One sure way to satisfy this hungry herd is with a succulent roast capon dinner with all the "fixins". This menu includes a slow roasted capon filled with vegetable stuffing, a colorful leafy green salad, a pear and pastry tart for dessert and, to help warm the insides, a glass of cider sparked with a spirited dash of California brandy. The subtle flavor of these brandies from California gently enhances the taste of fruit drinks as well as many sauces and dressings.

Capon is a plump, juicy fowl with delicate, velvety breast meat that slices and serves easily. Wrapped and refrigerated, the meat stays moist for a delicious "next day" Hot Capon Salad. These roosters are desexed at an early age, then specially fed and treated to increase weight gain and produce a particularly tender and meaty bird.

Herbed Vegetable Stuffing is made by mixing sauteed mushrooms, carrots, onions and celery with acorn squash, raisins and Herb Seasoned Stuffing Mix. Made from specially formulated bread, the stuffing mix has a perfect blend of seasonings that complement the flavor of the vegetables.

The salad is an interesting blend of leafy greens (endive, red leaf lettuce and spinach) with red cabbage, cherry tomatoes and other vegetables added for color. A dash of brandy added to a basic sour cream and yogurt dressing makes a tangy, very unusual dressing for the salad. Also, a helpful hint—if the salad is dressed as it's served it stays crisp longer and any leftovers can be refrigerated for later use. Seasoned croutons added just before serving provide texture.

And the piece de resistance is an exquisite Brandied Pear Tart for dessert. The shell for the tart is easily made using frozen puff pastry sheets that can be thawed and ready to use in just minutes. The frozen pastry eliminates all the time consuming work of pastry making yet results are equally light, flaky and delicate. A mixture of ground almonds, sugar and flour is sprinkled over the pastry. Over this is layered thinly sliced pears. After baking, a glaze of apricot jam and brandy is spread over the tart and a brandied custard sauce is passed with each serving.

Along with sighs of contentment from diners, cheers and accolades for the cook are virtually guaranteed.

TO PREPARE CAPON:

Remove plastic bag, free legs and tail from tucked position. Remove giblets from body and neck cavities and simmer in enough water to cover for 1/2 hour for liver and 2 hours for neck, heart and gizzard. Chop meat and reserve broth. Sprinkle cavities lightly with salt and fill loosely with stuffing. Skewer neck skin to back and return legs and tail to tucked position or cover stuffing with aluminum foil and tie legs and tail together loosely. Place capon breast-side up on a rack in shallow open roasting pan. Brush capon with melted butter and cover loosely with aluminum foil, crimping it to edges of pan. Foil should not touch capons. Roast at 325° about 40 minutes per pound. Remove foil during last 45 minutes of roasting time. Cut band of skin or string to free legs. Roast until leg joint moves easily and meat is tender. Meat thermometer should register 185°.

To make gravy, pour drippings from roasting pan into large liquid measure. Spoon 5 to 6 tablespoons of fat from top of drippings and return them to roasting pan. Skim away remaining fat and add enough liquid (giblet broth, milk or water) to make 3 cups. Blend 6 tablespoons flour into fat in roasting pan; stir and heat to brown. Gradually add liquid, salt and pepper and chopped giblets. Heat through. Makes 3 cups.

HERBED VEGETABLE STUFFING

- 3/4 pound fresh mushrooms, sliced
- 1 cup shredded, peeled carrots
- 1 cup chopped, peeled onion
- 1 cup julienne celery pieces, each 1/8-x-1/8-x-3/4 inches
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 1 acorn squash (3/4 pound) peeled, seeded, cut into 1/2 inch pieces and cooked (about 2 cups)
- 1/3 cup dark seedless raisins
- 1/2 teaspoon dried thyme leaves
- 1/2 teaspoon dried powdered sage
- 1 package (8 ounces) Pepperidge Farm Herb Seasoned Stuffing
- 1 cup chicken broth
- 1 large egg, beaten

In a large skillet, saute mushrooms, carrots, onion and celery in butter until tender. Add remaining ingredients and toss thoroughly. Makes enough stuffing for an 8 to 10 pound capon. Bake any extra stuffing in a covered casserole for about 30 minutes or until hot. Put in the same oven with capon.

AUTUMN HARVEST SALAD WITH CREAMY GREEN PEPPER DRESSING

SALAD

- 1 head endive
- 1 head red leaf lettuce
- 1 small bag spinach
- 1/2 small head red cabbage, finely grated
- 1 pint cherry tomatoes, cut into halves
- 1 large red onion, thinly sliced and separated into rings
- 1 small bag radishes, thinly sliced
- 1 cup Pepperidge Farm Seasoned Croutons

Wash, drain and shake dry endive, leaf lettuce and spinach. Tear greens into pieces, discarding hard sections of stems. Place greens, grated cabbage, tomatoes, onion rings and radishes in salad bowl. Toss until thoroughly combined. Serve with Creamy Green Pepper Dressing and croutons. Makes 10 servings.

GREEN PEPPER DRESSING

- 1 large green pepper, finely diced
- 1 cup sour cream
- 1 cup plain yogurt
- 2 tablespoons California brandy
- 1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
- 1 teaspoon dill seed

Combine all ingredients. Stir until yogurt and sour cream are completely mixed. Makes 2 cups dressing.

PEAR TART WITH BRANDIED CUSTARD SAUCE

TART

- 1 sheet Pepperidge Farm Frozen Puff Pastry
- 1 egg yolk beaten with 1 teaspoon water
- 1/2 cup ground blanched almonds
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon all-purpose flour
- 3 large ripe pears, preferably anjou
- 1/4 cup lemon juice mixed with 3/4 cup water
- 1/4 cup apricot jam
- 2 tablespoons California brandy

Thaw puff pastry 20 minutes. Unfold and roll on a lightly floured surface to a 13-inch square. Fit pastry into an 11-inch fluted tart pan with removable bottom; trim edges. Brush bottom of pastry with egg yolk and sprinkle with a mixture of almonds, sugar and flour. Peel pears and cut in half lengthwise. Cut 2 pears lengthwise into thin slices and dip in lemon solution. Arrange around outer edges of pastry in tart pan, overlapping slices slightly. Cut remaining pear crosswise into thin slices, dip in lemon solution then arrange in center of tart in a spiral fashion. Bake in preheated 350° oven for 45 to 50 minutes. Remove from oven and cool on wire rack. Heat jam and brandy in a small saucepan and brush over pear filling to glaze. Remove outer rim of tart pan and serve pear tart with Brandied Custard Sauce. Makes 10 servings.

CUSTARD SAUCE

- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/2 cup light cream or dairy half-and-half cream
- 3 large egg yolks
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons California brandy
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract

In the top of a double boiler, over simmering water, heat milk and cream until bubbles form around edges of milk. Beat egg yolks and sugar in a small bowl and gradually add hot milk mixture, beating eggs constantly. Return mixture to pan and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens slightly and will lightly coat the back of a metal spoon. Remove from heat and stir in brandy and vanilla. Cover and chill. Serve with pear tart. Makes 1-1/4 cups thin sauce.

BRANDY MULLED CIDER

- 2-1/2 cups apple cider
- 1-1/2 cups California brandy
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cardamom
- 3 sticks cinnamon

In a saucepan combine apple cider, brandy, sugar, lemon juice, cardamom and cinnamon. Heat until just simmering but do not boil. Remove from heat and cool. Pour with cinnamon into an attractive decanter or carafe and cork tightly. Until ready to serve. Makes about one quart.

HOT CAPON SALAD WITH CREAM OF CURRY DRESSING

CURRY DRESSING

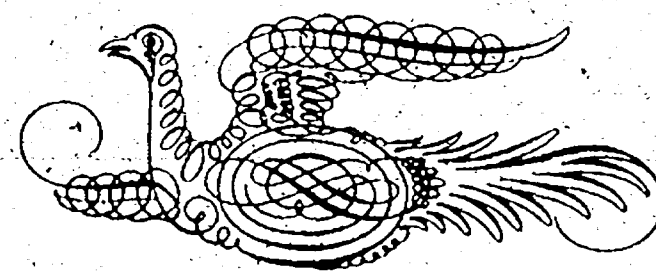

- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1 teaspoon mild curry powder
- 2 teaspoons tomato paste
- 1/2 cup red wine
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 bay leaf
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice
- 2 slices lemon
- 1 tablespoon apricot jam
- 1-1/2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon dijon-style mustard
- 1 cup milk
- 1 large egg

In a small saucepan saute onion in oil until tender. Add curry and cook 1 minute longer, stirring constantly. Add tomato paste, wine, water, bay leaf, sugar, lemon juice and lemon slices. Simmer 10 minutes; discard bay leaf and lemon. Put into a blender container or food processor; add apricot jam and blend at high speed until pureed. Set aside. In the same saucepan mix flour with mustard, milk and egg. Bring to a boil over high heat, stirring constantly. Stir in reserved curry mixture.

SALAD

- 3 cups broccoli florets, sliced thinly lengthwise and cooked until tender-crisp
- 2 cups cubed, cooked leftover capon
- 1 cup halved cherry tomatoes
- 1 can (8 ounces) sliced water chestnuts
- 1/2 cup julienne strips red pepper
- Romaine lettuce leaves
- Salt and pepper

In a large bowl mix broccoli, capon, tomatoes, water chestnuts and red pepper. Add half of the hot curry dressing and toss well. Season with salt and pepper. Spoon into a lettuce-lined bowl and serve while warm. Pass additional dressing at the table. Makes 4 to 6 generous servings.

Stuffed Sole Florentine finds favor solely on taste

With an eye on their waistlines and pocketbooks, Americans are eating more fish than ever. One of the most delicately flavored varieties finding favor among fish-lovers is sole.

Because the flavor of sole is so mild, the fish lends itself well to a variety of wonderful sauces. As a member of the flatfish family, sole is very low in fat content — less than 5 percent — so you can afford to splurge a little on the sauce you choose to accompany it.

When you go to buy sole, you will find it available in three basic forms: whole, pan-dressed (whole with the head and tail removed) or as fillets. These recipes call for frozen fillets, but you can substitute fresh, if they are available.

Both recipes also incorporate a vegetable in the fish dish, so a soup or salad and a dinner bread should suffice as accompaniments to the entree.

Stuffed Sole Florentine is an attractive layered entree with a sherry-flavored spinach filling. Mushrooms, onion, herbs and a sherry sauce combine with the spinach to make the savory filling. A creamy lemon sauce tops off the layered fillets. For an attractive garnish, make an eye-catching tomato rose by peeling the skin of a tomato in a continuous one-inch strip and winding it into a rose shape.

Seafood lovers will like the surf and turf combination of sole and shrimp in Sole with Broccoli and Shrimp Sauce. Lemon-baked sole fillets are topped with tender broccoli spears and smothered with a creamy shrimp and sherry sauce. At 210 calories a serving, this entree is a dieter's delight.

2 tsp. lemon juice
8 tbsp. chilled butter or margarine
¼ tsp. white pepper

In bowl of warm water, thaw spinach for 30 minutes. Heat oven to 425 degrees. In small saucepan, melt 2 tablespoons butter; stir in flour and white pepper. Cook until mixture is smooth and bubbly; gradually add milk. Heat until mixture boils and thickens, stirring constantly. Stir in sherry; set sauce aside.

In medium skillet, cook mushrooms and onions in butter until onions are tender. Add spinach, basil, oregano, thyme and parmesan cheese; stir until cheese is melted. Remove from heat; stir in prepared sauce. Place mixture in shallow dish; chill in freezer for 15 minutes.

Cut 6 fish fillets in half crosswise. Arrange 6 fish pieces in 13x9-inch baking dish. Divide and spread chilled spinach mixture on fish. Top with remaining fish. Bake in 425 degree oven for 10 to 15 minutes or until fish flakes. While fish is baking prepare Lemon Sauce.

In small saucepan, combine water, lemon juice and white pepper. Heat until mixture boils. Remove from heat; whisk in 1 tablespoon chilled butter until it disappears. Return saucepan to low heat; whisk in remaining chilled butter, 1 tablespoon at a time, without stopping, incorporating each tablespoon of butter fully before adding the next tablespoon. Spoon sauce over fish.

sprinkle with paprika and serve immediately. 6 servings.
*Substitute ½ the amount of dried herb for fresh.

SOLE WITH BROCCOLI AND SHRIMP SAUCE

1 lb. frozen sole fillets, thawed and cut into 4 pieces
1 tsp. lemon juice
9-oz. pkg. broccoli spears
SAUCE
1 tbsp. butter or margarine
1 tsp. flour
¼ tsp. instant chicken bouillon
¼ tsp. prepared mustard
¼ tsp. white pepper
½ cup half-and-half
Reserved fish liquid
2 tsp. dry sherry
1 oz. (¼ cup) shredded Swiss cheese
1 tsp. grated parmesan cheese
½ cup (2½ oz.) cooked medium shrimp
Paprika

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Arrange fillets in 12x8-inch baking dish. Sprinkle with lemon juice. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes or until fish flakes. Transfer fish to platter or four individual serving dishes; keep warm. Reserve fish liquid and enough water to measure ¼ cup. While fish is baking, cook broccoli according to package directions; drain and keep warm.

In small saucepan, melt butter; stir in flour, chicken bouillon, mustard and white pepper. Cook until mixture is smooth and bubbly. Remove from heat; stir in half-and-half and reserved fish liquid. Heat until mixture boils and thickens, stirring constantly. Add sherry, Swiss cheese, parmesan cheese and shrimp; stir until cheese is melted.

To serve, place cooked broccoli evenly on the four fish fillets. Spoon sauce over broccoli; sprinkle with paprika. 4 servings.

Stuffed Sole Florentine looks sinfully rich and loaded with calories; at 540 calories per serving it is both. But you can make up for it the next time by serving Sole with Broccoli and Shrimp Sauce, also delicious but only 210 calories per serving.

This salad makes a meal

What is made in one dish, contains meat, vegetables and dairy products and doesn't have to be cooked? The answer is a main-dish "stratified" salad.

The Chef's Strata Salad or layered salad was created as a no-cook alternative to the all-American casserole. The salad is composed in steps beginning with a bed of mixed greens, followed by layers of fresh vegetables, cold meat and cheese, and crowned with plenty of thick dressing.

When it comes to nutrition and flavor, a stratified salad really stacks up against a casserole, and takes much less time and energy. A meal composed of a main-dish stratified salad and fresh bread sticks or crackers can include representatives from all the basic food groups in a way that is new, exciting and easy to prepare. The salad may be made up to eight hours in advance when covered well with plastic wrap and refrigerated until serving time.

To make a main-dish Chef's Strata Salad, line a shallow tray or platter with your favorite lettuce variety, then arrange a layer of fresh mushroom slices and red onion rings. Top them with a circle of rolled ham slices and tomato wedges, and pour a liberal amount of dressing in the center. Sprinkle shredded cheddar cheese over the entire salad.

You can combine your own favorite ingredients to build a variety of salads: start with a bed of your favorite mixed greens, then be creative and generous with the fixings. You can try cold, cooked, chopped chicken; avocado wedges; Swiss cheese slices and alfalfa sprouts with cucumber dressing for a garden-fresh California strata salad. Or go south-of-the-border with taco meat, cheddar cheese and hot peppers served with toasted onion dressing and tortilla chips. Make a chef's strata salad with pepperoni, salami, and provolone or mozzarella cheese slices, onion rings and a topping of Italian herb dressing.

CHEF'S STRATA SALAD

Torn assorted greens
Mushroom slices
Red onion slices
Boiled ham slices, rolled
Tomato wedges
Shredded sharp natural cheddar cheese
Toasted onion dressing made with cream cheese

Layer greens, mushrooms and onion on serving plate. Top with ham, tomato, cheese and dressing.

Make ahead. Prepare as directed; omit dressing. Cover; refrigerate several hours. When ready to serve, remove cover; top with dressing.

One of the primary ingredients of Chef's Strata Salad is your imagination. There are any number of combinations possible like this version which uses ham slices, tomato wedges, grated cheese and mushrooms.

Snack foods can be nutritious

Snacking is a way of life for most Americans today.

Snacks provide 10-23 percent of 12 important nutrients, according to a study of data collected by the Market Research Corp. of America.

For people with normal health, when and how frequently we eat often are not as important as what and how much we eat. Experts say the key to good snacking is in concentrating on the quality of snack foods, not the quantity.

Because they are so versatile, wholesome and convenient, granola snacks — according to home economists working with Nature Valley granola — make "snacksense." The home economists point out that granola products offer a taste and texture for everyone and are 100-percent natural with no additives or preservatives.

The home economists have compiled a list of snack suggestions for people in different age groups.

SNACKS FOR Preschoolers: Plan snacks for children that complement their daily food plan. Then, choose snacks that have energy giving qualities and are fun to eat.

Allow children to serve themselves when practical. They are more likely to eat all they take.

Offer only familiar foods when a child is tired or cross.

Snacks for teenagers: To provide teens with an afternoon energy boost, serve granola snacks in a variety of forms.

Reinforce good eating choices by setting good examples.

Snacks for the middle years: Middle-aged adults, as with people in every age group, should choose between-meal snacks for the contribution they make to the entire day's good eating plan.

Crisp, raw vegetables are excellent for snacks. Such bulky foods take longer to eat, provide chewing satisfaction and are filling. Or save a food from one meal to eat later as a snack.

Again, adult snacking can include granola products. They are not only good-tasting but also are "go-anywhere" snacks — convenient for the lunch box, briefcase, handbag, car glove compartment or backpack.

Remember to balance physical activity with food intake. Snacks for the retired years: This age group should use snacks as a supplement to smaller meals to help maintain their diet's nutritional balance. Eat meals and snacks at regular times and with an eye toward maintaining proper weight.

If overweight, eat smaller portions of food and increase physical activity. Avoid overindulging in high refreshments.

Models were no strangers to the spotlight as local media celebrities modeled fur coats and other fashions. TV-7 anchorwoman Diana Lewis (left) looked stunning in a black and white pleated creation. Lewis shared the commentator role with her on-camera colleague, Bill Bonds.

League benefit rates celebrity treatment

By Marie McGee
staff writer

GLITTERATI OF the television world added punch and pizzazz to the Nutcracker Holiday fashion show sponsored by the Redford Township Suburban League at the Dearborn Hyatt-Regency.

Over 1,100 filled the dining room to watch 27 media personalities parade the latest of women's fashions from Chudik's of Birmingham and men's fashions from Gwynn's of Birmingham.

Commentators were television co-anchors Diana Lewis and Bill Bonds.

Setting the mood for the show was the Northern Ballet Theater of Livonia with several dance sequences from the traditional holiday favorite, "The Nutcracker Suite."

WITH A LINEUP OF 27 "names" as models, the audience was prepared for a show as diverse as the personalities themselves. Bonds saw to it that they weren't disappointed as he quipped about some, chatted with others and singled out others. TV-2 newcomer George Sells was one who got special treatment.

Channel-2 sportscaster Ann Doyle was another. That she was considering a New York offer was a confidence she shared with Bonds and the audience.

Rita Ross, Diana's sister and owner of LaMaMa maternity shop, was a stunning addition to the fashion model lineup.

Culinary wizard Duglass Duglass got things cooking early with kisses, flung with carefree abandon into the audience while showing off one of the $16,000-plus furs for men that were shown.

Only PBS "Late Night America" host Dennis Wholey seemed to be in touch with reality. He modeled a little ol' down-to-earth leather jacket — low key, but with plenty of class.

Proceeds from the annual show are used to support programs for the physically and mentally handicapped. A much-expanded holiday boutique preceded the luncheon/fashion show.

An audience of over 1,100 watched the celebrities parade by in elegant fashions.

Sportscaster Ann Doyle tells Bill Bonds and the audience that she was considering a New York offer.

Supreme party-givers Tom and Diane Schoenlth were part of the celebrity lineup.

The ceremony will take place in St. Paul United Presbyterian Church in Livonia.

Dear Mrs. Green:

We have just moved to Rochester and I read your article in the Eccentric today for the first time. I have always been interested in having my handwriting analyzed as many people have commented on my style, usually saying that it is pretty, but difficult to read. Also they are surprised to learn that I am right-handed because it is more of a backhand style.

Thank you very much for time and consideration of my handwriting. I will anxiously look forward to your reply.

C.G. Rochester

Dear C.G.:

Welcome to Rochester. You are going to enjoy it here.

I agree with those who have said your writing is interesting yet somewhat difficult to read. It is indeed a unique writing style and therefore suggests the unique personality. Also the common myth that left-slanted handwriting is a left-handed writer is dispelled by the fact you are right-handed.

You are a woman who can be very charming in social situations while at the same time remaining somewhat aloof. You experience difficulty articulating innermost feelings and thoughts. Beneath the polish is an introspective and private person.

Being independent, you prefer to make your own way in the world. You like to do your own thinking and do not wish to be obligated to others.

In interpersonal relationships, caution always restrains spontaneity. There appears to be a reserve that causes you to hold back. This is especially true in new situations or with groups of people with whom you are not acquainted. Because you can be so charming, outsiders would probably not realize how difficult new and meaningful social relationships can be for you to develop.

A strong attachment to the ideals and values of the mother figure is here. She appears to be the parent who played the dominant role in shaping your social personality.

Attitudes toward others are charitable and accepting. Live and let live in probably a meaningful cliché.

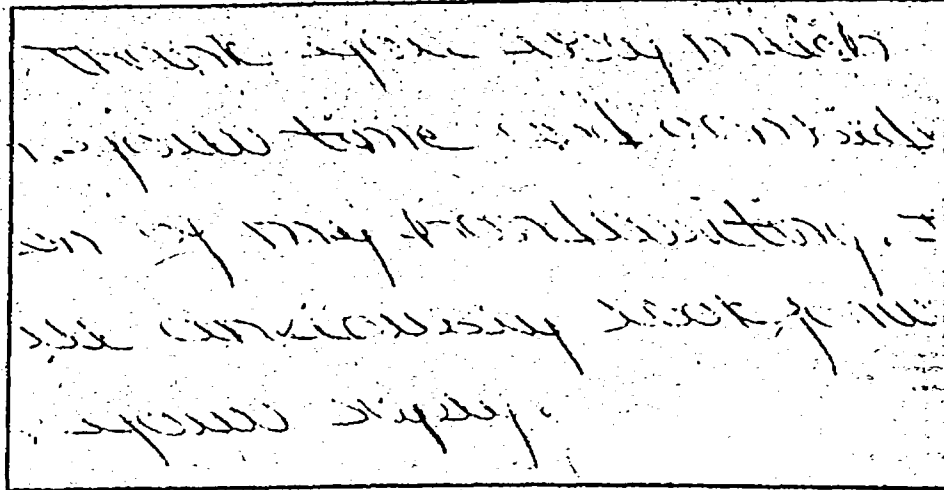

Inner resources abound in your handwriting. Creativity and a well-developed aesthetic sense are here. The beauty of nature seems meaningful. Art aptitude is strongly suggested. You are not unhappy working alone.

Many of your goals are quite practical. Yet some are also challenging. You are a most observant person and little escapes your watchful eyes. You take in more observant persons and little escapes your watchful eyes. You take in more than the average person does. Details and trivia seem quite important to you.

Discipline is much more in evidence. When you take on a project you want to do it well and do not give up until it is finished. However, you may have been tired from the moving ordeal on the day you wrote this sample.

If you have a question about your handwriting, write to Lorene Collett Green, a certified graphologist, in care of this newspaper. Please use a full sheet of white, unlined paper. Age and handedness are also helpful. Sign your letter, even though only initials are used in the column. Feedback is always welcome.

Where is the time retirement brings

When you retire, you suddenly have all kinds of time on your hands. No more eight hours at the grindstone every day, so now you can read all those books, see all those sights, catch all those fish. Right?

Wrong. At least for Joe and me so far.

Our retirement time is now at the 10-month mark and definitely it has been all we hoped. We love our new location and its warm climate. We've enjoyed our apartment home with its view of the Gulf of Mexico.

We've traveled without worrying about the confines of how many vacation days, and we've entertained visitors.

We've made new acquaintances and are turning some into friendships. We've explored work possibilities and tried our hands at different kinds of writing. We've found satisfaction in some volunteer projects.

And we've gloried in almost daily savoring of beach and swimming pool. In the alarms that don't go off in the morning, in the second cups of coffee that go with more thorough reading of the local newspaper.

BUT AFTER nearly a year of being retired in Florida, we still have not:

• Visited world-famous EPCOT. Our visitors have described it in glowing terms. It's only a few hours' drive away, and we've told ourselves we'd go. After the tourist season. After Michigan. After Alaska. Now, I guess, after Christmas.

• Gone fishing. We have a boat slip where we live and, especially after all the angling fun we had in Alaska, we've been determined we'll fill it, maybe with one of those inflatable jobs with outboard motor. But things keep coming up, and we haven't yet taken even the time needed to buy and try out some Florida fishing gear.

• Read those stacked-up books. We've done some reading, of course, but there still are many books right here in the apartment I expected to have finished by now. Right now one of them sits on the coffee table. I'm afraid to open its covers, because I have an article that needs writing and Christmas presents that need finishing.

Also we haven't yet tried out more than a couple of this area's famous restaurants, taken our bikes to the nearby state park, visited some smaller museums we've read about, taken a sunset cruise on the bay.

We surely will do all these things. Just give us time. After all, time is what retirees have so much of.

Variety of sharpening tools keep knives sharp

Q: I bought some great kitchen knives at the Concern garage sale last month but I don't know how to sharpen them. Do I have to take them some place to be sharpened? Is it expensive?

How can I sharpen them myself?

A happy shopper, Birmingham

A: Concern Detroit Inc. recycles lots of treasures annually at their fund-raising garage sale. The money collected in this manner is also recycled back into the community through various education programs for consumers on environmental subjects that Concern offers each year.

A variety of sharpening tools are available on the market so that you can keep your household knives sharp and safe to use. Sharp knives are safer to use than dull ones. They do the job more efficiently and with less force than a knife that is dull because a dull knife requires a good deal of strength to do a job, making accidents more likely. The most commonly used tool is the sharpening rod. This is a slender rod of steel or ceramic material, with a gripping handle. It measures from 10 to 12 inches and costs from $10-$25 and can be purchased where knives are sold.

Knives that have been neglected for a long time may require more than rod sharpening. A sharpening stone also available where cutlery is sold, used in much the same way as the sharpening rod, will give you two surfaces to work with, a smooth side and a rough side. Begin with the rough side with a very dull knife and use the smooth side for a nice even finish.

If all of this sounds beyond you, you might want to invest in a new gadget called the Chantry sharpening machine. This small, easy to use kitchen gadget contains two replaceable Sheffield Steel rods set at the proper angle to maintain the cutting edge on all types of knives, even the serrated variety. All you do is place your knife into the Chantry. It is available in kitchen shops for about $35.

If you still don't want to try it yourself you can find a cutlery store near your home in the yellow pages and let them do it for you. The price is usually $1.50 per knife.

ARTHRITIS AND POLITICS

What brings on a flare of arthritis? It is well known that changes in the weather can worsen arthritis, but other pressure also can irritate joints: for example, tensions brought on by world events.

When events such as international crises are behind a patient's discomfort, it is not effective for the physician to resort to new medications or joint injections. Instead, the patient does best using heat, traction, or changing the dose of medicine already being used, as the patient deems appropriate. The physician's purpose in such circumstances is to allow patients to regain their sense of control over the events that affect their well-being, by providing them options in the treatment of their disease.

Farmington Players captures play's warmth

Performances of the Farmington Players production of "Tribute" by Bernard Slade continue through Saturday, Nov. 19. For ticket information, call ticket chairmen Bill and Kathleen Monticello at the box office, 535-8822.

By Barbara Michals
special writer

As skillfully presented by The Farmington Players, Bernard Slade's "Tribute" is an emotionally rich drama, mixing humor and pathos in pleasing proportions.

To his many friends, New York public relations man Scottie Templeton (Ralph Rosati) is America's answer to Zorba the Greek. His wit, charm and generosity are boundless, and his perpetual hijinks and high spirits enrich the lives of most who know him.

To his estranged teen-age son, Jud

review

(Arthur Lianas), Scottie is a selfish, irresponsible clown who has never grown up. Even after learning his father has leukemia, Jud remains unforgiving of the many childhood hurts his father caused.

Scottie wants to leave Jud a legacy of laughter and zest for life, but Jud is an unwilling pupil, strait-laced, and self-righteous. As Scottie's friends gather to pay tribute to him, Jud tries to find something of value in his father. Each has been a disappointment to the other, and father and son must struggle to accept in the other what he cannot change.

ROSATI'S SCOTTIE is wonderfully warm and likeable, less glib than he is usually portrayed and thus more believable when he allows his emotional pain to surface. Caught between his impending death and his son's recriminations, Scottie can see little in himself worth saving. Rosati has a solid stage presence and offers a polished, faultless delivery.

As Jud, Lianas is a mass of relentless anger. Embittered by his parents' divorce and his father's failings, Jud sees the world only in absolutes. His unbending high standards leave him lonely and alienated. Lianas effectively conveys Jud's impotent rage when, during a climactic confrontation, Jud falls back into a childhood stutter.

All of the supporting cast perform well. Sharon Heldrich is a sprightly Sally Haines, the girl Scottie hopes will humanize his son. Often serving as a buffer between father and son, Sally injects good sense and objectivity.

Carol Green plays Maggie, Scottie's ex-wife, with great gentleness and sensitivity. Though well aware of Scottie's shortcomings, Maggie still appreciates Scottie's strengths and accepts him for what he is.

As Lou Daniels, Scottie's boss and loyal friend, L. David McCabe is totally credible, especially when he simulates stage fright and stumbles through his testimonial speech.

JOYCE MOORE is assertive and professional as Scottie's worried physician who can't understand his reluctance to begin his cancer treatments.

Maggie Einhaus radiates charm and savvy as Hilary, a retired prostitute and longtime friend of Scottie's.

Under director Hope Nahstoll, the Farmington production is generally well-paced, well-acted and richly poignant. Scene endings tend to be too muted, falling flat. However, this low-key approach works exceedingly well in the final scene and saves it from getting too sticky.

Ice show arriving

Walt Disney's Magic Kingdom on Ice will bring to life five decades of Disney nostalgia in 11 performances from Tuesday, Dec. 6, through Sunday, Dec. 11, at Joe Louis Arena in Detroit.

The show stars Olympic Silver Medalist Linda Fratianne, Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, Goofy and their friends, along with professional figure skaters.

Olympic pair Michel Botticelli and Sheryl Franks skate in the Mad Hatter's Unbirthday Party. In Tomorrowland, Nick Maricich, daredevil of the ice, zooms across the ice at speeds up to 50 miles per hour.

Vern Taylor, a Canadian champion, will portray the Disney-created Tron. As Mr. Jazz, jazz skater Bruno Jerry demonstrates his style in the finale.

Tickets at $8, $7.50, $6.50 and $5.50 are on sale at the Joe Louis Arena Box Office and all CTC Outlets. For more information call 567-6000.

Tom Cruise is Stef Djordjevic, who wants to get out of a Pennsylvania steel-mill town by winning an athletic scholarship, in "All the Right Moves."

the movies
Louise Snider

'All the Right Moves' tackles more than football story

You don't have to be a football fan to like — change that to enjoy — "All the Right Moves" (R). The film's advertisements, especially those on television, might put one off, however.

Judging from them, we would anticipate something like this: Poor boy becomes star of team; makes a big play in key game, and wins game, girl and football scholarship. We'd be wrong.

What has the appearance, at first glance, of being just another soggy cliché proves to be a sincere, snappy, well-realized film. It does fall into a few traps, but it also springs a few surprises.

Michael Chapman, the cameraman for "Taxi Driver," "Raging Bull" and "Personal Best," makes his directorial debut with this film. The photography by Jan DeBont isn't outstanding, but it is effective in one very important way. It perfectly complements the screenplay and adds weight to the characters' primary motivation — to get out of town.

THE FICTIONAL city of Ampipe (really Johnstown), Pa., is a dingy, gritty steel-mill town. It's a blue-collar town of squashed-together houses, barren streets, high unemployment and crushed hopes.

Tom Cruise, seen in "Risky Business," plays Stef Djordjevic, a defensive back on the high school football team. He figures that football is his ticket out of town. Stef's girlfriend, Lisa (Lea Thompson), plays saxophone in the school band. She would also like to get out of Ampipe, but her opportunities are limited.

Craig T. Nelson plays the football coach, Nickerson. He's anxiously waiting for a coaching offer from a college team so he can get out.

Most movies, after introducing a touch of adversity, would grant these characters their wishes like a good fairy waving her magic wand. The virtue of "All the Right Moves" is that it eschews the good fairy in favor of a more realistic approach.

Stef knows he would make a good college football player, but he harbors no illusions about becoming a pro. He doesn't even want to be one. He wants to be an engineer. A football scholarship will get him into college and out of Ampipe.

ONE OF THE movie's best scenes occurs when Stef, to his father's dismay, coolly dismisses a college recruiter by telling him he's looking for a school where he will get a better education.

Coach Nickerson, on the other hand, becomes so obsessed about getting a coaching job with a college team that he becomes mean and vindictive. Lisa has no illusions about getting out of Ampipe. She would like to go to college too, but as she angrily observes, musicians don't have the scholarship opportunities that jocks do.

The residents are as maniacal as the coach about their football team. In this grimy, coal-dust city, it's all they have. When the team plays their arch rivals, it's a battle of the ethnics — the Poles, blacks, Slavs and Italians of Ampipe versus a WASP team whose locker room looks like a designer showcase compared to most Ampipe homes. To the film's credit, the pattern of this game doesn't follow the expected course.

Where the movie does stumble, however, is in its handling of teen-age sex. It throws in what seems to be an obligatory sex scene that isn't called for by the events which preceded it.

Even so, "All the Right Moves" is a refreshing film, not caught up in any hype. It has modest ambitions and it realizes them.

Stef and his girlfriend, played by Lea Thompson, both have ambition, but she's an aspiring musician who has little hope of getting a college scholarship.

Village hosts Victorian Santa

A Victorian Santa Claus will lead a cast of characters in traditional celebrations that capture the color of Christmas, past Dec. 8-31 at Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village. In Dearborn.

In the 12-acre Henry Ford Museum, holiday visitors may meet character portrayals of St. Nick of the Victorian era, joined by his famous illustrator, cartoonist Thomas Nast. Clement Moore, author of "The Night Before Christmas," will be there too, as will Sarah Rorer, food editor of the Ladies Home Journal during the 1890s, to offer insight on the proper Christmas feast.

Special Yuletide foods, singers and performances on antique musical instruments will provide a festive atmosphere throughout the museum's great hall. Children may play with reproductions of 19th-century toys, and everyone in the family may make their own period tree ornaments and season's greeting cards to take home.

Holiday performances of "The Wizard of Oz" will be presented at 2 p.m. Dec. 3, 10, 17 and 26-31 in the Henry Ford Museum Theater.

Attic slates world premiere

"Willing," a world premiere by Attic Theatre playwright-in-residence Simone Press, will open Friday, Nov. 4, and continue through Saturday, Dec. 17, at the Attic, 525 E. Lafayette, in Detroit's Greektown.

"Willing" has been scheduled in place of "Strider," which will now be performed July 13 through Aug. 25.

Performances are at 8 p.m. Thursdays-Fridays, 6 and 9 p.m. Saturdays and 6:30 p.m. Sundays. To reserve tickets call 963-7789.

A play about awakening passion and murder in a small, Michigan town, "Willing" is based upon an actual unsolved murder case involving a young Canadian night telegraph operator who worked for the Michigan Central Railroad in 1909.

Directed by Randall Forte, the play was produced last winter through the theater's New Playwright Forum. Forte has returned to direct the main-stage production of "Willing."

How to split pension in divorce settlement

By Edward L. Haroutunian
special writer

The house used to be the most valuable asset of a married couple. No more.

Today, the benefits in employee pension and profit-sharing plans that qualify for special tax treatment by the Internal Revenue Service are fast becoming the most valuable assets in many marriages.

In 1983, there are fully half as many divorces as marriages. And while it's relatively easy to divide the value of a house, it's far more difficult to divide the value of a retirement or profit-sharing plan.

RETIREMENT PLANS contain many tax benefits. Therefore, when structuring a divorce settlement, it is critical to follow IRS rules so as not to destroy the tax benefits. A poorly planned settlement can trigger tax liability to one participant, to both spouses or to all funds in the plan.

Federal law prohibits the division of benefits from an IRS-approved retirement plan between divorcing spouses.

A simple solution is for the employed spouse to pay the non-employed spouse whatever he or she is entitled to from assets other than retirement plan benefits.

But what if there aren't enough outside assets? Here is how an actual case was handled.

RECENTLY, I represented a man we'll call Dr.

Smith in a divorce in a circuit court in southeastern Michigan.

He is one of four doctors in a professional corporation. All are participants in the corporation's retirement plans.

The benefits in that retirement plan were the most valuable assets in the marital estate of Dr. and Mrs. Smith.

A dollar value was placed on all their assets, including the retirement plan. The couple agreed Dr. Smith could retain certain assets, among them the house.

But Dr. Smith found that if he retained the house, there wouldn't be sufficient assets left to pay off Mrs. Smith's share.

Mrs. Smith's attorney believed the only alternative was to sell the house to generate enough cash to pay Mrs. Smith. He knew the money in the retirement plans could not be transferred to anyone else immediately.

OUR DILEMMA was this:

1. How to obtain for Mrs. Smith her interest in Dr. Smith's retirement plans.

2. How to allow Dr. Smith to retain the house.

3. How to do both without jeopardizing the favorable tax treatment that IRS affords the professional corporation's retirement plans. Retirement plans are excellent vehicles to accumulate tax-free income.

Here is what we did:

We prepared a deferred payment agreement that provided there would be no immediate division of benefits in the retirement plans.

Dr. Smith gave Mrs. Smith a promissory note for her share of the retirement plans. He is to pay it off on a specified date.

The note to Mrs. Smith would be paid off earlier if Dr. Smith retired, died, terminated his employment or became disabled, or if the retirement plans were terminated.

The benefits in the retirement plans would act as security for payment of the promissory note.

MRS. SMITH'S attorney asked: "What about the tax consequences of the money paid to Mrs. Smith?"

The answer: "Although the law is not clear on this point and there are many alternatives, let's make it simple. Dr. Smith will bear full responsibility for the federal, state and local income taxes."

We agreed on this alternative based on the economics of the situation. Any solution, however, would require careful analysis of each party's position.

A bill pending in Congress would relieve the current prohibition against assignment (transfer) of retirement plan benefits. But until the law is changed, parties in a divorce action must be careful when dividing retirement plans.

The price of carelessness could be an unwanted tax bill to participants and their spouses.

The writer is a principal in the Southfield law firm of Rubenstein, Isaacs, Lax and Bordman. This article is based on a more comprehensive article he and Gregory Marks wrote for the June 1983 issue of The Journal of Taxation.

League title is Bentley's

By Brad Emons
staff writer

It snowed Friday and the Walled Lake Western basketball team was caught in a blizzard.

The previously unbeaten Warriors turned into flakes as Livonia Bentley claimed the Western Lakes girls' championship with a convincing 55-37 victory — away from home.

Adjusting their press slightly at half-time the Bulldogs took advantage of Western's shaky ball-handling. Down by two at intermission, Bentley stormed back with a 16-2 spurt in the third quarter followed by a 20-14 surge in the final period.

"I can't say enough about how they played," said Bentley coach Tom Lang.

Laurie Day had a good night shooting from the free throw line, making 8-of-7. She finished with 22 points.

girls basketball

whose team is 17-2 overall. "They were all over the court."

"It's a great victory and we had some over the years, but this could even be the best. Some people thought before the season started that we couldn't do it because of who we lost. This capped it off."

LAURIE DAY, a fourth-year performer, and Sheri Wolfe, a junior, spearheaded the second-half blitz.

Day finished with 22 points and triggered Bentley's vaunted zone press. Wolfe, meanwhile, added 16 and Bridget Nicol contributed eight.

"We used a slightly different press in the second half," Lang explained. "We went from our 'scramble' to our 'diamond' press. We wanted to take away the sideways pass and I think it bothered them."

Western coach Tom Stienner agreed. "We never really handled their press well at all like we did when we played them the first time (a 13-points Western win)."

"We never got into the flow offensively and that's a tribute to Bentley's defense. They did a nice job."

THE BULLDOGS went ahead to stay, 23-21, with 5:40 to go on a pair of Lonnie Payne free throws. Only 30 seconds later, Western's 6-foot-3 center Val Hall picked up her fourth foul and was forced to the bench the remainder of the quarter.

Bentley center Theresa Aragona then made the shot of the night, driving down past a stunned Western defender, converting a three-point play to give the Bulldogs a 28-21 advantage.

Wolfe's steal off the press and subsequent layup made it 35-23 to end the third period.

"When Theresa gets the ball she's not afraid to go to the basket," Lang said. "That basket fired them up and when Hall got her fourth foul they mentally thought: this is our game."

"Maybe we didn't have enough pressure the first time we played them, but this time we shot better. We had to go to the basket to get them into foul trouble and we did."

HALL, who finished with 14 points, returned in the final quarter.

Her presence, however, failed to stop Bentley, which kept up its relentless attack. The Bulldogs won going away.

"Sheri has played two excellent games in a row and Laurie had a great one tonight," said Lang, whose team closes out its regular season schedule Tuesday against Redford Thurston.

The Bulldogs start their 'second season' in the state district tournament later this week at Southfield.

Mercy steals Catholic title

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

Sarah Basford knew she could make the shots. If only her darn knees would quit shaking.

There was 5:54 left to play in the Catholic League championship game Sunday night at University of Detroit's Calihan Hall. Basford's team, Farmington Hills Our Lady of Mercy, trailed Livonia Ladywood 28-27. Mercy had trailed the entire game, at one point by 14 points. Basford had not made a single field goal. Now she had a chance to be a hero.

In front of the largest crowd ever to watch a girls' basketball game in Michigan, 3,562, Basford sank the front end of a one-and-one. Then she made the other and Mercy led.

"I was real shaky," Basford said. "I played a bad game. In the second half I just said, 'forget the first half. It's a brand new half.' On the free throw, my legs were shaking and I thought, 'oh, God, I can make the shot if my legs stop shaking.'"

BASFORD MADE five more free throws before the game ended, and Mercy held off the fiery Blazers to win its first Catholic League title since 1977, 37-33.

Once again Mercy (17-2) displayed an uncanny ability to come from behind.

Ladywood (15-3) came smoking out of the gates. Emily Wagner canned 10 first quarter points, including three-point plays to begin and end the quarter, and the Blazers led 14-1 after one. Mercy missed its first 10 shots from the floor.

"The first quarter we got up and then kind of quit playing," said Ladywood coach Ed Kavanaugh. "I hope we play better in the state tournament."

Neither team played up to their abilities.

"THE EMOTION LEVEL was so high I think it affected play tonight," Mercy coach Larry Baker said. He also gave credit to the Ladywood defense.

"They really attacked our guards. They stopped our first pass and it choked off our offense."

Mercy began chipping away. By half-time, Ladywood's lead was cut to seven.

Mary Rosowski, Mercy's often overlooked center, took charge in the second half. She made four steals and scored four points to draw the Marlins within three with a minute left in the quarter.

The lead was soon back to five, however, as Wagner, who was brilliant both offensively and defensively for Ladywood, sped past the Mercy defense to score a layup at the buzzer.

THE BASKET WAS Ladywood's third of the quarter, all by Wagner. Entering the fourth quarter, Wagner, in addition to holding Basford to just one free throw, had scored 18 of her team's 28 points. She would not score another point.

Baskets by Amy DeMattia and Rosowski to begin the fourth quarter pulled the Marlins within a point and set the stage for Basford.

After Basford put Mercy ahead, Ladywood's Char Govan tied the score with a free throw. Then Mercy's Terri Ford made one of two free throw attempts to put the Marlins up by one with 2:52 left. Rosowski added two more from the charity stripe to put Mercy up 32-29. Ladywood's Tracey LaDouceur made two clutch free throws, and after two more Basford free throws, hit a jumper. With 52 seconds left, Ladywood was within one, 34-33.

Basford missed a free throw, but DeMattia pulled down the rebound. Basford was fouled again. She made one of two, but again, DeMattia hauled in the clutch rebound. Basford (again) was fouled. This time she sank both shots to ice the win.

"We're down one and don't come up with the ball twice in a row — it hurt," Kavanaugh said.

Wagner's 18 points topped all scorers. Rosowski had 11 points and 14 rebounds. Mercy outrebounded Ladywood 15-4 in the final quarter.

Franklin co-champs of NSL

Livonia Franklin's girls' basketball team earned a share of the Northwest Suburban League title Thursday with a hard-fought 56-45 home court victory over Westland John Glenn.

The Patriots, who were undefeated at home this season, won their last six games, including a thrilling victory over co-champion North Farmington, to finish the season with an 8-2 league record.

North Farmington opened the door for the Patriots after being upset Thursday in a 38-36 overtime loss to Garden City.

"I love it — I knew they could do it," Franklin coach Tim Newman said of Garden City. "I'm going to send Jan (Garden City coach Jan Moore) a dozen roses. God love her."

The Patriots came out to play, building up a 20-10 lead in the first quarter. It was a far cry from Franklin's first game with Glenn, when the Patriots fell behind early in a controversial loss to the Rockets.

"In the first game, we got behind in the first quarter," Newman said. "I made it a point to get off to a good start. We used a denial press. We wanted to keep the ball away from Pucci (Glenn point guard Julie Pucci). We caused some turnovers and made four or five free throws in the first quarter which helped."

Sue Johnson paced the Patriots' attack with 20 points. Carolyn Smith poured in 16 and Jill Phillips chipped in nine.

Glenn was led by Sophie Castonguay and Michele McMullen, who scored 10 points apiece. Pucci was held to nine.

Newman's plan was to use the entire floor, getting Glenn into a running game, and to avoid a slow-down game with the taller Rockets.

The difference in the game, according to Newman, was the first quarter, which allowed the Patriots to control the tempo.

"We did a nice job on stalls," Newman said. "I have to give the kids credit."

Franklin raised its overall record to 14-5 with the win. Glenn finished league play with a 6-4 record and stands 13-6 overall.

REDFORD UNION 43, REDFORD THURSTON 37: Lisa Vial dropped in a pair of clutch free throws Thursday as the Panthers held off a late Eagle rally to gain the victory.

Kelley Kennedy scored 13 points and Marie Becker added 12 to lead RU, which improved its record to 8-11.

It was the 17th loss of the season against only one win for hard-luck Thurston. Sarah Arney poured in 16 points to keep the Eagles in the game.

The Panthers were not so fortunate Tuesday, losing to Trenton, 60-50. Becker and Kennedy again led, scoring 13 and 12 points, respectively. Kellie Szabo contributed nine points, 11 assists and 16 rebounds.

MARIAN 51, BISHOP BORGESS 41: The Spartans ended their season on a losing note Thursday, finishing its season with a dismal 4-16 record.

Borgess played Marian tough in the first half, trailing only 24-19, but Marian outscored the Spartans 17-10 in the third quarter to ice the victory.

Carol Klotz led the Spartans with 12 points. Diane Karakasian and Mary Kelly scored 11 points each for Marian.

GC's Narramore ruins North bid

And you thought GC stood for Garden City.

No, sir. GC, in the case of Jan Moore's girls' basketball team, stands for Giant Crumblers.

The Cougars have brought down a Northwest Suburban League giant for the second time this season. They upset Westland John Glenn earlier this season to knock the Rockets out of first place. Thursday, they defeated North Farmington, 38-36, in overtime.

The loss means North must share the NSL title with Livonia Franklin, who defeated John Glenn Thursday, 56-45. Both Franklin and North finish the NSL season with 8-2 records. Glenn finishes in third at 6-4 and Garden City is fourth at 5-5.

NORTH BUILT UP a 10-point lead midway through the third quarter and appeared to have a lock on the NSL title.

"When we came out in the second half and fell back by 10, I thought we had lost," said Moore. "But, the kids kept coming back."

Two things triggered Garden City's comeback. The first was a tenacious full court press. According to North Farmington statistics, the Raiders committed 30 turnovers, most in the fourth quarter. North made just one field goal in the final eight minutes of regulation.

The second was the fervid shooting of Tammy Narramore. Narramore led all scorers with 19 points. She tallied 10 in the fourth quarter.

Narramore's shooting and Garden City's press enabled the Cougars to outscore North 13-5 in the final stanza.

WITH LESS THAN a minute to play, Narramore canned a jumper to put GC up 34-32. North came back down and got its only field goal of the quarter, a clutch jumper by Lisa Mummert to send the game into OT.

Narramore put GC up by two with a pair of free throws in the overtime. With 10 seconds left, North's Suzanne Howley tied it.

Let's let Moore describe the winning basket.

"With 10 seconds left I'm screaming for a time out. Finally, with five seconds left I get it. I told them to get the ball to Tammy and let her drive. She took it right to the basket. There was one second left when the ball went in."

How does Moore explain her team's uncanny ability to knock off the league's frontrunners?

"I THINK when we play good defense and score some points, we are OK. That's what happened tonight. We were real patient on offense. Our press really gave them trouble. That's what turned it around for us," she said.

North was hampered a bit by foul trouble. Amy Austin, North's leading scorer, had three fouls at the start of the second half and eventually fouled out with two minutes left in the OT. She scored 12 points.

"They slowed the game down, but our problem was putting the ball in the basket," said North assistant coach Greg Capling. North head coach Greg Grodzicki left for a coaches clinic after the game and couldn't be reached.

"But, you have to give Garden City a lot of credit," Capling said. "They played a very smart basketball game. They have a lot of potential. If you play their game they'll beat you."

North, 14-3 overall, will face non-league rival Birmingham Seaholm on Tuesday. Garden City (10-8) will host Wayne Memorial.

All-Area cross country squad heralded

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

WHEN ARE THOSE bigwigs at the Michigan High School Athletic Association office up in Lansing going to get smart and stage the cross country state meet where it belongs?

Namely in western Wayne County, or at least somewhere close by.

What area deserves it more? Take a look at some of the athletes the Observer-area coaches selected to the All-Area cross country team at a meeting last week.

Redford Catholic Central's team smoked every other squad in the state in claiming the Class A title. And there were lots of other outstanding performances by the boys. Nine of the 10 chosen to the All-Area team placed among the top 45 in their respective races at state meet.

And three finished in the top 10. The area's female runners also sparked. Eight of the 10 selections finished among the top 50 at state meet.

If that isn't enough to convince the MHSAA that this area is just about the best there is in the state for cross country talent, what would it take?

Here's the coaches' picks for this year's All-Observer cross country team, both boys and girls. Incidentally, this year's squad is truly an All-Observer team, with the inclusion of Farmington school athletes that make it more competitive than ever.

Catholic Central's state title earns the boys first discussion rights.

ALL-OBSERVER BOYS' CROSS COUNTRY

Sue Shaver, Redford Catholic Central, junior: CC coach Tony Magni called Shaver "a runner who thrives on competition."

Shaver lived up to that estimation by overcoming some early season injuries and peaking at the state meet to finish fourth (15:48). He was the Catholic League and Haslett Invitational champion and took fourth at the regional.

Shaver's best time was 15:34 at the Sturgis Invitational. He was named All-State and All-City for the second time and All-Catholic for the third.

Marty Hegarty, Catholic Central, junior: Hegarty ran close behind teammate Shaver in placing seventh at state (16:54). That clocking came after a season's best performance at the regional (15:37.5).

"He's one of our most talented runners," Magni said. "He came on strong for the big races."

Hegarty has been named to the All-State, All-Catholic and All-City teams twice each.

Jim Cauzillo, Catholic Central, junior: Cauzillo might be a star on any other team but at CC he's just one of a long line of first-rate runners.

Cauzillo earned a "most improved runner" description from Magni. "He matured nicely through the year," Magni continued, "and was a key to our performance in the finals."

Cauzillo's state finals performance was a 21st. He was also seventh at the regionals and sixth at the Catholic League, and earned All-Catholic and All-City accolades.

Mark Anderson, Catholic Central, senior: It wasn't just swift feet that Anderson contributed to CC's success this season.

"He was one of our senior leaders," said Magni. "He led our team in the early part of the season when we were struggling with injuries."

Anderson also did a lot of leading with his feet. He placed third at the Shrine and Haslett Invitational, fifth in the Catholic League, 14th at the regional and 44th at the state. Anderson was named both All-Catholic and All-City for the second time.

Ken Dubois, Livonia Stevenson, senior: Dubois ran up a record while at Stevenson that will be difficult to beat.

Tie the record — maybe, but it would be difficult. Dubois won every dual meet he ran in during his three-year career. This year's titles include firsts at the Livonia city meet, Schoolcraft Invitational, Spartan Invitational, Redford Union Invitational and the Western Lakes Athletic Association title meet.

Dubois placed sixth in the state with a 16:06

clocking and was named to All-Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) and All-State honors.

Doug Plachta, Livonia Churchill, junior: Plachta charged to a 17th-place finish at the state finals and, together with teammate Don Miller, gave Churchill a strong one-two combination.

Plachta's best clocking came in a third-place finish at the Redford Union Invitational (16:26). He placed third in both the WLAA and city meets and was fifth at the Schoolcraft Invitational and in the regionals.

"He came on strong as the season progressed," said coach Dave Westover.

Don Miller, Churchill, senior: Miller won five of seven dual meets during the season and was the top Charger runner over the past three years.

The Churchill captain was second at the WLAA and city meets, third at Schoolcraft and 30th in the state. His best clocking came against Northville (16:20) at Cass Benton.

David Adkins, Redford Union, junior: Adkins "hasn't even begun to reach his potential" according to coach Bob Ouellette.

Adkins won the Walled Lake Invitational, was named to Schoolcraft All-Invitational team and was selected to the All-Northwest Suburban League (NSL) squad. He was also chosen as RU's Most Valuable Runner.

"He is an extremely competitive runner," Ouellette said, "who is highly respected by other runners because of his determination and tremendous finish."

David Homann, Garden City, junior: Homann placed 32nd at the state meet this season, the second time he has competed in the Class A finals.

Homann won eight of nine dual meets and was named to All-Invitational teams at Schoolcraft and Wayne. He was selected to the All-NSL squad and ran a 16:12 in placing first in a dual meet against Westland John Glenn at Hines Park.

Homann also excels in the classroom, where he carries a 3.65 grade point.

Jay Hunt, Westland John Glenn, junior: Hunt finished the season well, placing third in the regional with his best time of the year (15:48) and ending 14th in the state meet.

A first-team All-NSL member, Hunt won all seven dual meets he ran in and was named to All-Invitational teams at Schoolcraft and Redford Union.

Glenn coach Ed Phillips called Hunt "a runner who consistently performed well when the performance was needed. A team leader all year — he could be the best runner in John Glenn history."

ALL-OBSERVER GIRLS' CROSS COUNTRY

Katie Showich, Redford Thurston, sophomore: Showich's youth didn't stand in her way as she sped to the NSL championship and lost only one dual meet this season.

In invitational competition, Showich was fifth at the Schoolcraft and seventh at Redford Union. She was fourth in the regional and took 19th in the state meet.

"Katie was a hard worker who ran consistently well all season," said coach Bob Lake. "She comes from a family where running is a way of life. Her brother, Ken, and her father were both outstanding distance runners."

Ellen McCarthy, Farmington Mercy, junior: McCarthy's top showing came in the regionals at Royal Oak Kimball (19:34). She enjoyed a good outing at the state meet as well, finishing 21st (20:14). Other accomplishments include three wins in the three dual meets she ran, a fifth at the regionals and an eighth in the West Bloomfield Invitational. She was picked to the All-Catholic League squad.

Lauri Runk, Farmington Harrison, junior: Runk had a long list of solid performances this season, capped by placing 30th at the state meet.

"Lauri's assets as a runner are her very competitive spirit and the high standards which she strives to attain," said coach John Schumacher.

Runk's record included a third in the WLAA meet, fourth at Schoolcraft, fifth at Redford Union, seventh in the regional and 11th in the Oakland County meet. And don't overlook a 3.80 grade point average.

Pam Eldridge, John Glenn, junior: Eldridge "started slowly this year due to illness," said assistant coach Jackie Schomer. "She came on strong over the course of the year. She showed lots of guts in many races."

Some of those "gutsy" races include a pair of fifths at NSL meet and in the state regional. Eldridge took a 30th at state meet (19:59) and was a state qualifier in the two mile in track as well.

Laura Grazulis, John Glenn, junior: Grazulis' best came in the regional meet when she placed second with her season's best time (19:45). She was a consistent finisher in the top four at invitational and dual meets, including a third at the NSL meet and a 49th at the state finals.

The "team leader" was labeled "the best competitor amongst the women's team," said assistant coach Schomer.

Karen Opp, John Glenn, sophomore: This sophomore ran like an experienced veteran, winning top honors in four dual meets and placing first in the Bobby Crim Road Race in the 14-15 age category.

An All-NSL team member and a selection to invitational teams at Wayne and Redford Union, coach Ed Phillips called Opp "a tremendous sophomore talent and the hardest working member on the team. Opp broke 20 minutes both against Garden City (19:52) and at the state meet (19:56).

Susan Tatigian, Livonia Stevenson, junior: In seven major events, the worst Tatigian placed was sixth. At state meet she placed 35th (20:30).

Tatigian won the Spartan Invitational, was second in the city meet, third at Schoolcraft, fourth at the WLAA meet and the Redford Union Invitational, fifth at the Shrine Invitational and sixth at the regionals.

Her efforts earned her Stevenson MVP honors.

Kristen Schultz, Livonia Churchill, freshman: Schultz showed considerable poise in her rookie season, placing third in the regional, eighth in the city and WLAA meets, 10th at the Redford Union Invitational and 34th at the state finals.

Anthony goes on tour

By Brad Emons
Staff writer

Most people know her as the girls' basketball coach at Redford Union, but few realize she's an aspiring golf pro.

Terri Anthony will try her luck on the Ladies Professional Golfers Association (LPGA) Mini Tour next month in Florida.

Overcoming a serious of handicaps, the 24-year-old Farmington Hills resident has been persistent in pursuit of a full-fledged golf career.

Working as an assistant pro the past two years under Gary Whitener at Livonia courses Idyl Wyld and Whispering Willows, Anthony needs financial support (about $5,000) to make a go of it.

"This will give me a better understanding of golf," Anthony said. "I'm going to see what happens. The tournaments are three-day, 54-hole events."

"This year will be a learning experience and I'm going to see if I can compete at this level. If you have an opportunity to do something, you should try it."

ANTHONY was a star basketball player at Redford St. Agatha. She graduated from there in 1977 and golf

received a basketball scholarship to Saginaw Valley State College.

Her basketball career, however, was short-lived. Anthony suffered a serious injury in a pick-up game, hurting her back and neck.

Anthony lost some feeling in her left hand and her speech was somewhat impaired.

When she couldn't fully return to basketball, she coached and concentrated on golf.

"When I got hurt it made me work harder," she said. "I wanted to come back from that. It was a long haul — two years."

Anthony's family had a summer cottage near Burroughs Farms where she took up golf at the age of 10.

"I wanted to be as good as my brothers," she said.

After graduating from Saginaw in May of '81 with a degree in business administration, Anthony went to work for Whitener.

THIS SPRING she became one of seven female PGA apprentices in Michigan, passing a series of tests and requirements ranging from playing ability to club repair and merchandizing. Playing from the championship tees, Anthony passed the proficiency test, shooting a 158. That enabled her to play in several Pro-Am events around the state.

The PGA is an association of teaching professionals, which staffs public and private clubs across the country, while the LPGA is made up of women touring professionals.

Anthony's first love, however, is teaching.

"Coaching basketball helped my golf game," she said. "It gives me more patience with myself."

"The biggest thing is to learn as much as you can about the game and learn from other people."

"Gary took an interest in me and I've learned a lot here."

LAST WINTER, Anthony worked at Miami's famed Doral Country Club under the late Eddie Bush, a PGA professional, where she served as an instructor and conducted golf clinics.

This summer she taught at several area PGA co-sponsored clinics.

"What I can offer — because I can't hit with as much strength — is more finesse," Anthony said. "Probably right now I teach more men. They usually hit longer, but not with as much accuracy."

Terri Anthony

To be successful on the upcoming 14-tourney tour, Anthony needs a good showing on the greens.

"My worst defeat in my golf is my putting style," she said. "That's because I don't have the feeling in my left hand."

Those willing to help sponsor Anthony can forward a check to: Friends of Terri A. Anthony, 15507 Surrey, Livonia, Mi. 48154.

Brow sinks Falcons

Farmington High's girls had a victory in their grasp Friday night, but Livonia Churchill stole it, 46-44, converting two clutch free throws with only one second left.

It's been that kind of basketball season for the hard-luck Falcons.

With only two seconds left in the game, and the score tied at 44, Farmington's Alyse Fortune was fouled, giving the Falcons the chance to win it. She was sent to line with a one-and-one, but missed as Churchill's Amy Brow grabbed the rebound.

It was bad enough that the Falcons missed the free throw that would have won the game, but to top it off, Brow was fouled. She calmly walked to the other end of the court, dropping in both free throws to end the game.

"It was a great basketball game," said Churchill coach Roger Springsteen. "Our free throw shooting won the game for us."

The Chargers connected on an impressive 18 of 23 free throws in the game, while Farmington managed only six of 14.

Churchill had its hands full with Farmington's Rhonda Lancaster and Fortune, who poured in 20 points apiece. Needless to say, Springsteen was happy to escape with the win.

"The two girls from Farmington are to be complimented," he said. "We made some bad mistakes on defense. We got out of position a couple of times in the fourth quarter and we were unable to stop Fortune."

Fortune kept Farmington in the game in the second half, scoring 17 points as she repeatedly converted missed shots into easy baskets.

Freshman Tracy Greenwald had an excellent game for the Chargers, scoring 11 points (including nine of 11 free throws) to go along with 13 rebounds.

Churchill raised its record to 8-11.

Royals ice Junior A foe

Bill Gutenberg's goal in the final period gave the Redford Royals a 5-4 Great Lakes Junior A hockey win Thursday over the St. Clair Shores Falcons before 200 fans at the Redford Arena.

Craig Stedman and Bob Murray scored in the first period to give the Royals a 2-1 advantage.

In the second period, Larry DePalma scored for the Royals to maintain a one-goal lead. Shawn Chambers followed with the Royals' fourth goal early in the third period.

John Mahr, who made 33 saves, was the winning goaltender.

The Royals, beaten Wednesday night 7-2 by Paddock Pools, stand 6-5-4 in league play.

Kaestner leaves Churchill football position

By Brad Emons
Staff writer

One of the most personable and respected football coaches in the area is stepping down after 14 years at Livonia Churchill.

Ken Kaestner announced last week that he is retiring from the game he so dearly loves.

"I've coached for 26 years," Kaestner said. "I considered it when I hit the 25th, but I came back in consideration of last year's kids. We didn't have a good year (1-8) and I couldn't leave it at that."

Churchill started slowly this season, but came on strong, winning its final three games to finish with a 4-5 record.

But Kaestner's coaching career may always be remembered for his 13-12 upset last month of No. 1 ranked and defending Class A champion Farmington Harrison, snapping the state's longest winning streak at 29 games.

"This year turned out to be an unbelievable finish," he said. "I'm leaving it with a great feeling."

KAESTNER'S RECORD at Churchill was 72-59-3.

He won four Western Six League titles and had two unbeaten teams (1972 and 1978). His 1978 team made the Class A playoffs.

An enthusiastic man with a good sense of humor, Kaestner said "I have to pay respects to my staff who treated us great."

football

"I can't go out without mentioning Herb Osterland, who has been my assistant for 10 years," said Kaestner. "And Bob Armstrong, who coached our team until he got out four years ago, and Roger Frayer (Livonia Stevenson's athletic director) who coached with me."

Kaestner came to the Livonia district in 1969 after serving as an assistant at Auburn Heights Avondale. He coached for five years at Whittier Junior High in Livonia and was an assistant coach at North Farmington along with John Herrington (Harrison's head coach) under Ron Holland.

In 1987, Kaestner became the head coach at Brighton High School, but returned to Livonia the next year to start Churchill's program.

"I NEVER would have gotten the Churchill job if it hadn't been for Ron Holland," Kaestner said. "And Bob Bentley (Bentley's AD) gave me the chance. He hired me. And Larry Joiner (Churchill's AD) gave me the guidance. And George Lovich (Franklin's AD) helped me only early."

"Those are all class people — just super. I love 'em to death."

During his coaching career, Kaestner saw some great players and great teams.

"What sticks out in the mind is Sam Antonazzo — a great athlete — and that 1964 Franklin team," Kaestner said. "That team would have whipped a lot of teams around today."

"And of course Bentley had Boris Dimitroff on earlier and at Stevenson there was Dave Hall."

"Tom Moshimer's 1974 (Plymouth Salem) team sticks out and so does that 1970 North Farmington team with Mike Gow and Drew Mahalic. And of course, Herrington had two or three great clubs."

AT CHURCHILL, Kaestner tutored some talented players including Phil Damaska, a running back in the early '70s who went on to excel at Albion College.

Another standout was Matt Foster, who lettered four years at Michigan State, and John Bleis, now a defensive back at Ferris State.

"Those kids were all great two-way players," Kaestner said. "and Rick Coppola (the '78 quarterback) and Steve Tracy (a wide receiver/kicker at Michigan Tech) were outstanding ballplayers, too."

Although he'll be removed from coaching, Kaestner plans to maintain his love of football and all prep sports.

"The message I want to give is that Livonia should be damn proud of all four of its high schools," he said. "I will miss it, but it's time to get out."

"I'm not burned out, but I'm tired. I need to go fishing, but it's been fun."

"I'm just a guy who loves what he's doing. All I can say is that high school football is great entertainment at a great value. The high school game is what it's all about."
