SPENDING DURING the June 10 Wayne-Westland school tax election was down among supporters from the previous tax election, the latest expense reports at the county elections office show.

The pro-millage Save Our Schools citizens group spent $3,343 on the June 10 election, compared to the $7,486 spent on the March 13 election. A 7.75-mill proposal failed in March and was approved in June.

The Wayne-Westland Citizens for Education Committee, which fought the millage, spent $793 in the June election - an increase over the $268 that it spent in March, records show.

WESTLAND'S 18TH District Court is seeking people to serve as volunteer probation officers. There are now 21 volunteers in the program initiated by Judge Thomas Smith. The program was set up in part so that people sentenced to probation could keep their day jobs and still report to the court.

Volunteers typically spend three hours a month (on two evenings) seeing probationers. They work on Mondays and Thursdays.

"The amount of time and days that a volunteer spends here is up to them, since it would depend on the amount of cases they would like to take," Christopher Raymond, the court's probation officer, has said.

Interested people may contact Raymond at the court, 595-8720. during business hours.

Cooper cancer study under way

By Leonard Poger

staff writer

A study to find out if there is an unusally high rate of cancer in the Cooper School neighborhood is halfway done and may be ready in about a week or two, sald Dr. Donald Lawrenchuk, Wayne County health department direc-

The Michigan Cancer Foundation undertook the study about 10 days ago, Lawrenchuk told the Observer Friday afternoon. The study is about halfway done, and an analysis could be ready the week of Aug. 26, he said.

The study was requested by Lawrenchuk in the wake of residents' fears and concerns about public health risks in the area near Cooper Elementary School, on Ann Arbor Trail between Middlebelt and Inkster in Westland.

Residents in the area are fearful of the public health risks in the wake of numerous disclosures that the school, built in the mid-1960s. sits atop a former landfill.

The health director said the Michigan Cancer Foundation has done many studies of cancer rates in the past 18 years, based on computized statistics.

"EVERY CANCER diagnosis made by a physician is reported to the cancer foundary which enters the information in its computer," Lawrenchuk said. The rates of cancer can be traced by census tract, he sald. The regional statistics are up-to-date through 1989, he added. Lawrenchuk said that on Aug. 6 he asked that the foundation study the Cooper school area because "we want a better picture of what's going on." The director sald requests for cancer rate studies through the foundation are done "on a fairly regular basis." The study will compare the neighborhood with the rest of the city of Westland, he said. In his letter to the foundation, Lawrenchuk a number of local residents have expressed health concerns regarding the incidence of cancer in this area and any assistance which the (foundation) can provide would be greatly appreclated."

Residents in the area have been upset for four months after finding out that the school grounds contain toxic chemicals. The school is closed pending the cleanup of chemicals found in the soil. Besides the public health fears, Lawrenchuk said several children in the neighborhood are having emotional problems.

"Some youngsters are having nightmares and are afraid to go outside to play for fear of getting cancer," he said.

Additional details about the incident, including what caused Cooley to fall through the van door, were not immediately known Friday. Alcohol was not involved, according to-Westland police.

The incident remained under investigation Friday by the police department's traffic bureau.

The exam had been scheduled to determine whether Gibbs should be tifled on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder. He also has been charged with a felony firearms violation.

GIBBS ASKED that the exam be waived, meaning his case will automatically be sent to Detroit Recorder's Court for trial.

During an Aug. 5 arraignment in 18th District Court, a plea of not guilty was entered on Gibbs' behalf.

Police accused Gibbs of shooting Gedert once in the left thigh after Gibbs went to see his wife, Denise, at their Glen Street residence and found Gedert there.

Police Sgt. Russell Nowaczck said Gibbs ordered Gedert out of the house and then chased him down the street before firing the shot. The incident erupted amid ongoing divorce proceedings between Gibbs and his wife, according to Nowaczck.

New music program set for launch

By Darrell Clem staff writer

Organizers of a long-planned effort to expand music education in organized if enough interest is the Wayne-Westland area are prepared to launch a new program next month for enthusiasts of concert band, chorus, orchestra and jazz.

The Wayne-Westland Youth Music Program Inc. wants to supplement school-based music education by forming groups to study and perform in local communities, board chairman Randy Blouse said.

"It's an opportunity for the motivated student to go one step further," he said.

Organizers hope to draw as many as 300 participants for a 12-week fall program. They also are planning a 16-week program for the winter and spring.

Commissioner moves to new Westland digs

It's now Kay Beard, D-Westland. The veteran Wayne County commissioner moved this week from her 38-year home in Inkster to a Westland condominium.

"My kids had been after me to move for a while," said Beard, widowed two years ago. The new Westland digs are "great" she said, referring to her location in the Ann Arbor Trail-Farmington Road area.

"I've got a lovely view, plus things are really spread out, not cramped the way some condo units are." Beard, however, is no stranger to Westland, She's represented the city on the county commiss " since 1978.

Kay Beard on the move

The project will include advanced and intermediate performing groups in concert band, string orchestra and chorus. Groups for beginners will be shown, Blouse said At this point, the jazz division will be geared toward advanced musicians only, he said.

THE PROGRAM will be open to musicians ages 9 to 21. Organizers plan to hold auditions for the various groups on Sept. 14, and a time and location will be announced soon. Rehearsals will begin two days later.

The programs have drawn the attention of the Westland and Wayne. city councils, which have passed resolutions endorsing the effort. "Both cities have been very supporting and cooperative," Blouse

W. Scott Ponzani, who will direct the choral divisions, called the program "a unique opportunity" and said it will give participants "a chance to take that extra step and have more opportunities for music expression."

To offset expenses for the nonprofit program, tuition will be charged. For the fall session, tuition will be $120 for Wayne-Westland school district residents and $132 for non-residents. Tuitlon will be $180

The program is not designed to detract from school programs, Blouse said. In fact, organizers highly recommend that school-age partici-pants be enrolled in a school music

SC poll says suburbanites less likely to visit city now

By Wayne Peal staff writer

Suburbanites believe there is plenty to do in downtown Detroit, but a new poll indicates many are just too scared to go there.

The poll indicates violence during this year's Freedom Festival fireworks display made many suburbanites less likely to visit Detroit. Poll results are based on random interviews conducted Aug. 5-12 by Schoolcraft College sociology students.

Poll results show nearly twothirds of the nearly 400 people surveyed said they were less likely to visit the city as a result of the widely reported attacks on suburban women and their perception of how the incident was handled by Detroit police.

In contrast, the overwhelming majority of those surveyed in the Schoolcraft student poll said they believed the city contained interesting activities not available in suburban communities.

RESULTS STAND in sharp contrast to an earlier Detroit Free Press poll that found only 23.5 percent of those surveyed were less. likely to visit the city as a result of the incident.

Of those polled by Schoolcraft students:

• 63.9 percent sald they were less likely to attend Detroit events in the future, the figure contrasts with 23.5 percent who responded to a similar question in the Free Press poll. In contrast, 33.2 percent said such incidents wouldn't affect their decision to attend Detroit events.

An additional 70.5 percent said "my feeling police security is inadequate" played a role in their decisions not to attend events. But 26.8 percent disagreed police security - or its alleged lack - played a role in decisions whether to attend Detroit events.

• 86.4 percent, however, said there were "interesting things" to do in Detroit; 78.5 percent said the city had "attractions not equaled by the suburbs."

• 69.8 percent called media coverage of the incident "fair and objective" while 88.2 percent said they believed not all violence was reported by the media.

"It shows suburbanites reaction to Detroit was strongly affected by the fireworks incident," said poll supervisor Conrad Behler, a parttime sociology instructor at the Livonia-based community college.

OAK and CHERRY FURNITURE

Building on past success

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

The Difference should not be releasing "Groundswell" with its $30,000-plus price tag. At least not with their own money.

Past accolades would have people predicting a better fate for the five-man band of funkmeisters. After all, wasn't this the band that MTV called "Best College Band in the Nation" in 1988 and that Musician magazine picked as one of top 15 best unsigned bands in the country the same year?

Drummer Tom Campbell wearlly nods his head yes.

We sort of sat back and thought record companies would approach us," said Campbell in the living. room of his Whitmore Lake home. "They didn't.

"We were a little naive about it. What we should have done was walk into their offices and crammed it down their throat."

Major labels better invest in some throat lozenges, as "Groundswell" is headed for the industry's collective tonsils.

The self-produced compact disc was 21/2 years in the making, recorded and mixed at three different studios, such as Producer's Color in Southfield and the Schoolhouse and Solid Sound in Ann Arbor. The band, instead of a record label, is paying the bill for its re-

YES, THIS is crunch time. Yes, this is the release to either put the band over the top or leave them languishing as one of those who could've, should've but never did.

Any repeat of past history is unlikely, especially judging by the infectious energy emanating throughout "Groundswell."

The Difference has always been able to tap the source in live shows, which have always been sultry groove-infested affairs burning the wax off of dance floors. Bassist Randy Martin double-jointed gyrations alone are a sight to behold.

But try getting that on record or as Campbell put it, "Energy is lough to capture in binary code."

The Difference's previous two projects have been wayward at best, including a five-song EP 'Culture Shock" that was recorded in New York with studio time won In the MTV contest. The project was never released.

"Our first couple of projects we didn't feel represented our music the way we liked," Campbell said. People also commented that they thought the live show was better."

"Groundswell" reveals a group as something more than a funk-inspired aerobics session. Stirring thythm blues, mystical Celtic soul and flat-out rock'n'roll are detected on the 13-song effort on the band's own label, Bad Dog.

VOCALIST/GUITARIST Ramsey Gouda has been in New York

Difference has spent 21/2 years and more than record companies to sit up and take notice of $30,000 to produce "Ground Swell," meant for the group.

shopping the compact disc. Aiready the CD is getting air play on college radio.

If anything, "Groundswell" is an injection of morale for a band whose members were glum. The studio offered rejuvenation.

"This time it was a lot more creative," Gouda said. "We had a better engineer (Geoff Michael). He was working real hard to get our ideas across."

"It was nerve-wracking," Campbell added. "Being in the studio was a joy. We opened our minds this time. We let everybody do what they wanted. We had fun.

"The nerve-wracking part was the differences in opinion over the remixing . . It's like writing a book but writing it with four other authors. All of you have to agree."

Through the bleak times, live shows helped sustain the Difference. The group continued to forge ahead, performing up to 10 shows a month across the Midwest and the East Coast.

"There are some hard times when you start wondering what's wrong with the music industry or what's with your music," Gouda said. "If you're sincere about your music and it's a part of you, it won't burn out."

With the CD, the band wants to make up the difference between live shows and a recorded product.

"I think it's a contrast; we've attempted to merge them instead of separate them," Campbell said. "I think we go with what we go with on stage. That's one of the ways we've grown up."

I recently broke up with the man l dated for the last year. Now I am having second thoughts and feel confused as to whether I did the right thing. This is the story:

I am 30 and my ex-boyfriend is 33. Neither of us has ever been married. We both have our own apartments and about two weeks ago - this is the occasion of our break-up - he asked me to move in with him. I don't want to move in with him. I don't want to live with anyone unless I am married to him and I told my boyfriend so.

I also told him that I was ready to get married. He asked how long he had to think about whether he was ready to get married. I told him two weeks, and he replied that that wasn't long enough; he needed longer to think about such an important topio. That's when I broke up with him.

My reasoning is that we are both adults, we should know what we want after a year. I do. Why doesn't he? I have spent a lot of energy and time thinking about whether this guy is right for me; Why hasn't he been doing the same?

I know I sound sure of myself, but then there is also a little voice deep down inside that feels unsure. There were a lot of great things about this guy and I will miss him.

Do you think I was wrong to break up with him? Many of my friends say I was crasy to give him such a strict ultimatum.

Dear Bunny, You are lucky to be the kind of person who has convictions and will act on them. Congratulations. Why would you want to marry a man you do not respect?

Survey finds nursing shortage continues

By Wayne Peal staff writer

Michigan's nursing shortage isn'tlikely to end any time soon, area hospital administrators said, but nursing school officials hope steps taken now will case the shortage by decade's end.

A recent Michigan Hospital Assoclation survey indicated a nursing vacancy rate of 13.6 percent for Michigan hospitals - well above the national average of 8.7 percent.

The survey didn't examine the reasons for the nursing shortage." "We really didn't look at that, but we do have some theories," MHA spokeswoman Nancy Fiedler sald. "Vacancies are generally higher in rural areas and Michglan has considerably more rural hospitals than other states. Michigan also, is a leader in the number of outpatient clinics it has and some nurses leave hospitals to work in an outpatient setting."

The shortage is no secret to area hospitals, where administrators have been scrambling to fill nursing spots.

Botsford Hospital in Farmington Hills has created an in-house program for fill-in nurses.

Neither Garden City Osteopathic nor Botsford participated in the hospital association survey. St. Mary Hospital, Livonia, which

The Livonia-based university recently began a series of joint programs with Schoolcraft, Oakland, Henry Ford and Highland Park community colleges, allowing community college nursing students to complete a four-year degree with minimal loss of credit.

The end result, Wawrzynski said, is that registered nurses can be placed into the field sooner.

Take lesson from way kids love sports

IT'S BEEN over a year since my: then 12-year-old son looked at me as we were fly fishing in the Fox River in the Upper Peninsula and asked if I'd ever caught a fish with just a line and a fly.

I looked at my $200 L.L. Bean fly rod and thought for a moment. It was a kid's question. No, I hadn't, was my response. He tried it and hooked onto a nice size brook trout,

It made me wonder why I paid so much money for a rod that probably wasn't necessary. A quote from Spanish writer Jose Ortega y Gasset roughly says: If you buy enough of something, you can be it.

It kind of explains why we spend so much on sporting equipment.

THIS SUMMER I watched two kayakers spend the day on a beach in Peninsula doing nothing but fiddling with their equipment.

They looked as though they had purchased everything the L.L. Bean catalogue had to offer, lock, stock and backpacking stove.

It was a wonder they fit it in just two kayaks. It's not a problem the Indians had to face. They didn't have L.L. Bean to tell them what they. needed to survive a canoe trip.

. The two kayakers missed out on a perfect day at the beach because they were field testing their equip-swamp of sports equipment in which we've become bogged down.

AFTER WATCHING the kayak. ers, my son and I were liking back to our car from the beach. And as we walked, we were almost trampled and made deaf by a herd of runners. I don't know what was worse, dodg-Sports aren't sports anymore. It's ing them or listening to them whine about the uneven trail, the wrong shoes or their aches and pains.

And of course all the runners were clad in the latest gear, with running shoes that cost more than a third world family earns in a year.

Later in the week as I was driving in the Leelanau Peninsula, I watched as a grown man in his 40s bicycled next to me. This man was ready for' the Tour de France. He was also a prime example of why the fabric Spander can be worn by few people over the age of 19. The only exceptions are anorexics from third world countries.

The man's head was down in the classic racer's position. He was in training. But for what? A five mile race in Traverse City?

It's not that I'm against exercise, it's just that we've taken the play outof it, especially for adults.

HERE'S A LIST of things adults do with much expense that kids do just for the fun of it and at much less · Golf: It's nothing more than just walking around whacking a ball with a stick. Kids do that when they're 2 years old. And they don't worry about their score.

• Fly fishing: It's nothing more than wandering around in a river or lake catching fish with a $400 rod and files that can cost up to $5. It's really the same thing as wading into a creek, catching frogs and putting them into a jar. And the cost? The price of any empty jar.

• Bicycle racing: God knows the price of those mountain bikes. Then there's the Spandex sult. If you're a male, you just have to hope Dolly Parton doesn't enter the race. Watch a kid ride a bike sometime. They don't need the helmets, mountain bikes, Spandex suits or races.

 Running: Only adults need to buy shoes that cost as much as, a South American family earns, in a year in order to run. Try catching a barefoot kid sometime and the question of shoes should be settled.

LATER ON my vacation I sat watching my kid swinging a bat behind the farm house we were at. Ha had a bat, but no balls. But there was an apple tree. He quickly made the connection and in no time was using the fallen apples as balls. He still knows how to have fun without maxing out the Master Card at the sporting goods store. We could all learn a lesson from Public loses interest in fighting crusaders

"WHAT'S HAPPENING to our freedoms?" a co-worker asked me recently. "It seems like every time you turn around, they've taken another one away. Why don't you write a column about that?"

What had set my friend off this time was that massive abortion protest down in Wichlta, Kan., where hundreds of members of Operation Rescue had laid siege to two clinics and vowed to shut them down. Never mind that the clinics were perfectly légal operations. That small point has never bothered Operation Res-

And that is part of the problem. The crusaders don't care whether something is legal or not. If they don't like it, they're bound and determined to run it out of town.

Part-time Manicurist Wanted

Jack Gladden

But the other part of the problem is why the people who think the crusaders are wrong don't fight

CASE IN point: A while back I wrote a column chastising those who paraded in front of a Livonia abortion clinic with signs bearing the names of two patients who were, they said, in the clinic to have aborlifers, who bombarded me and the paper with letters and phone calls. Other people, however, sought me out. Two phone calls to my desk led to rather lengthy conversations with the callers, both of whom said they just wanted to tell me that I was absolutely right and it's about time somebody spoke out against activities like that. But when I suggested to the callers that they put their thoughts in writing and send a letter to the editor, they quickly backed off. One caller said he was a minister who was rather visible in his community and didn't think he should get involved. The other was a woman who said she was a candidate for political office and she didn't think it would be wise to put her views in a letter.

The column infuriated the pro-

So there they sit — quietly. It doesn't really matter whether they are members of a silent majority or a silent minority. As long as they remain silent, it doesn't matter at all.

SECOND CASE: The 36th state House district — which includes all or parts of Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Northville, Northville Township and Canton Township recently held a special primary election to replace Gerald Law, who had resigned the seat.

On most issues there was little difference in the views of the three candidates. The only area on which they disagreed sharply was the abortion question.

Jerry Vorva, a Plymouth city commissioner, was adamantly prochoice. Deborah Whyman, a political newcomer, was staunchly pro-life. Georgina Goss, Northville Township supervisor and a political veteran, refused to be labeled on the issue. Both sides accused her of waffling.

Whether the abortion question was a central issue among voters is anybody's guess, but the pro-lifers were out in force backing Whyman and the pro-choicers were out stumping for Vorva. Goss ended up the winner with a strong showing in Northville, but Whyman, who came in third, was only 544 votes behind Goss.

Abortion questions aside, this was a chance for voters to select the person who would represent their district in the Legislature. The turnout was dismal. About 20 percent of registered voters cast ballots in Plymouth, in Plymouth Township fewer than 17 percent turned out and in Canton only 81/2 percent of the registered voters actually voted. Whyman, who won in Canton where she lives, did so with 805 votes - 3.4 percent of the registered vote ers!

What's happening to our freedoms? Do you really care?

Taxpayers pick up travel tab for reps

By Richard G. Thomas special writer

Planeloads of lawmakers, their aldes and often spouses too streaked repeatedly through international skles last year, as more than half the House membership took hundreds of official trips ranging from important business to nationally televised junketing.

Democrats Stephen J. Solarz of New York and Bill Richardson of New Mexico were the leading travelers among the 238 members who made house calls on foreign ports at taxpayer expense, according to Roll. Call Report Syndicate's second annual survey of congressional globetrotting.

Solarz spent the most days outside the United Staes, 64, on six trips to 27 countries, Richardson had the most trips, seven, spending 42 days in at least 10 countries.

Other House leaders, each with five trips and at least three weeks overseas, were Maryland Republican Helen Delich Bentley and Deinotrats Jaime Fuster of Puerto Rico. Dennis M. Hertel of Michigan, Jim Moody of Wisonsin, Solomon P. Ortiz of Texas and Charles B. Rangel of New York.

THE 238 HOUSE members, including several who left office at the end of 1990, took 517 trips over 3,239 days to 1,086 countries at a cost reported by committees at $5.8 million. Roll Call Report's 1989 survey identified 214 members making 419 trips over 3,048 days to 929 countries, at a committee-stated cost of $4.5 million. The cosT figures also cover staff travel overseas.

-The survey did not cover Senate travel or House members' extensive global travel at the expense of special interests.

It is based on reports that committees are required to file for publication in the Congressional Record The reports do not state what the trips accomplish, nor indicate when spouses go along. But when the travel involves military aircraft, as most

Several of the Houses' 1989 travel leaders were much less footloose in 1990. For example, California Democrat Mervyn Dymally had the most trips in 1989, eight, and the most days away, 59. He cut that to three trips and 28 days in 1990. California Republican David Dreier, who took the second most trips in 1989, six. was shown in committee records as going abroad only three times in 1990 on official business.

Daly loads up for Oklahoma

Daly Restaurant, which recently completed its Livonia league season with a perfect 15-0 record, will be among the favorites in the Women's Class A Fast-Pitch National Championships, Aug. 22-25 in Enid, Okla.

"What are our, chances?" sald Daly Restaurant manager Bob Thompson. "On paper we should be one of the pre-tournament favorites: After four appearances in a national tournament, you thead cautiously about the outcome.

"The two years we felt we had a lock on it, we finished 17th an 22nd, respectively.' Thompson's unheralded teams finished second twice, losing to San Diego in 1987 and Bay City in 1989.

Daly embarks on its trip Wednesday for Oklahoma with a 41-9 overall record, including a pair of wins recently over rival Great Scott in the Livonia Parks and Recreation Women's Fast-Pitch League, 5-2 and 4-3.

Great Scott pitcher Lisa McCarthy, a Novi High product who will be a senior this fall at Alma College, has been added to the Daly roster for the nationals.

As a pick-up player, she not only adds strength to our pitching staff, but she also plays two or three other infield positions," Thompson said.

softball

"And she is is also the leading fastpitch hitting pitcher in this area."

DALY WILL also be very comfortable on the mound with eight-year veteran hurler Shelley Larned, a Miami of Ohio product and two-time American Softball Association All-Larned currently sports a 1.08 earned run average to go along with her 21-6 record. She has an eye-popping 201 strikeouts in 188 innings.

Meanwhile, Hope College's Lisa Walters adds a 1.46 ERA and the team's top win-loss percentage (.882) with a 15-2 record to an already impressive list of pitchers.

Daly will also depend on three catchers, including the University of Michigan's Karla Kunnen, who is batting .380; Hope's Deb Vashaw (.292); and University of Detroit Mercy's Cris Wasserman (.286).

"For Vashaw and Wasserman, this will be their first out-of-state trip due to heavy summer employment hours," Thompson said. "Kunnen has pulled the load alone admirably on the road, although she almost buckled twice in the heat at Chattanooga, Tenn: and St. Louis, Mo."

Daly's outfield will be anchored by former NCAA All-America Angle McDonald (.407), an Eastern Michigan University product, and Pam Ossenhelmer (.318).

The third outfield spot will be divided by Wayne State standout Paula Harms (.282), Michigan's Kari Kunnen (.311) and Wasserman.

HARMS ALSO does double duty at shortstop along with Kim Funk (.265 and five homers), while Kari Kunnen works at third base with former Michigan player Alicia Seegert. Filling out the rest of the Daly squad will be Heather Walters of South Lyon High, Deb Szymczak of Central Michigan and Michaelene Bachleda. At Wayne State, Bachleda was a three-time Division II All-America under coach Gary Bryce. The team's batting average (.426) and RBI leader (33), Bachleda will spend most of her time at first base for Thompson.

Walters, who has been with Daly's for two seasons, will be the youngest player making the trip. She will be entering Oakland Community College this fall as a freshman.

Caesars ousted in Johnstown, Pa.

Point Stadium, on the banks of the Alleghany River, turned out to be the final resting spot Thursday for Livonia Collegiate Baseball League representative Lit-

The LCBL playoff champions were eliminated by Johnny's Auto Sales of Baltimore, Md. in the fourth round of the All-American Amateur Baseball Associaton (ages 20 and under) tournament at Johnstown, Pa.,

Despite out-hitting the defending AAABA champs, 13-8. Caesars headed home from the double-elimination tourney after leaving a total of 12 runners on base, including 10 in the first four innings. Johnny's broke open a close game in the ninth inning, scoring three times to put Caesars away. Tom Taylor keved the surge with a two-run homer. Teammate William Phillips also homered off Caesars starting pitcher Eric Stanczak, who went the entire nine innings.

Stanczak walked four and struck out three. Johnny's starter Mark Foster also threw a complete game. He struck out five and walked four.

CAESARS JUMPED OUT to a 1-0 first-inning advantage when Wayne Memorial High product Mike Heard, an outfielder from the University of Detroit Mercy, drove in Don Sikora with a single.

But the Livonians muffed a chance to have a big inning, leaving the bases loa ted.

Bastim regat two back in the third, but Caesars re-baseball

gained the lead when Earl Johnson, who went 3-for-5, and Jeff Bates, each scored runs.

Johnny's tied it in the fifth and took the lead for good with another run in the sixth.

Jeff Miller also added three hits for Caesars, while Heard and Brent Hayward added two each:

After beating Cleveland (14-5) and Schnectady, N.Y. (11-6) in the opening two rounds, Caesars suffered their first loss of the AAABA tourney Wednesday when Milford, Mass, handed them a 23-13 lashing in eight innings (mercy rule).

A total of 42 hits were collected in the slugfest at Roxbury Park.

Milford, led by Louis Merloni's 6-for-6 performance, mounted a 26-hit attack highlighted by four homers, including a grand slam.

CAESARS HAD 16 hits, led by Heard, who went 4for-5 with a pair of runs scored. Bates contributed three hits, including a homer. Stanczak, Miller and Mike Giacomantonio each added two hits. Miller also scored three runs.

Mason and his 1990 squad cruised through most of its schedule only to be defeated 2-0 in the Class A boys soccer final by No. 1-ranked Warren DeLaSalle. They finished with an overall mark of 17-2-2.

This season, Mason has renewed confidence thanks to a strong crop of returning veterans, led by senior forward Mike Gentile.

A member of the United States under-19 National team, Gentile posted 14 goals and five assists in 1990. He was also an all-area selection.

"Mike had a foot injury which hurt him during portions of last season," Mason said. "I look for Mike to have good season. "He didn't get to play forward on the National team, so he's looking forward to getting back to his old position. He'll do well." The Chargers will also return allarea goalle Jeff Cassar. He made 61

Dave Marshall's major is law enforcement, so it's ironic he has only one more year of duty with Eastern Michigan University football squad.

"I'm a criminal justice major, I want to be a cop," said the fifth-year genior from Redford Union High. My dad (Herman) is a retired Detroit cop. He worked 25 years on the force. I don't want to get into a kind of job where I'm busting kids for breaking windows all my life, but I'm willing to start there. It's something I've always wanted to get Marshall, who is moving from defensive back to outside linebacker in the Eagles' (formerly the Hurons) new defensive scheme, has had enough of foot patrol. He's ready to move up the ranks and play more of a role in EMU's upcoming season.

"I'm really optimistic," said Marshall, who will graduate next spring. "Right now I'm No. 2 at outside linebacker, Fred McClendon (a returning starter) is a big, strong linebacker-type, whereas I'll play in nickel situations. I'll be able to drop back on pass plays and have to come up. and hit on the run. All I can do is give it my all and try to beat Fred-

MARSHALL, who has beefed up his 6-foot-1 frame to 210 pounds, will also play on special teams.

In 1989 he played in all 11 EMU games, recording five tackles.

Marshall, whose injury report reads like a rap sheet, has something to prove in his final year of eligibility. He sat out the 1990 season with a knee injury, a torn anterior cruciate ligament suffered that year during spring practice on the artificial practice surface at the University of

"I'd be lying to say that you're the same (after knee surgery)," Marshall said. "You can't run as fast or jump as high. There's swelling in my left leg, sometimes it doesn't ever go down, but I can come very close to being where I once was."

'I see a lot of new faces. The key is the younger players and how they develop. We have a good bunch of seniors. — Davo Marshall

EMU linebacker

After going in for surgery in April of 1990, Marshall began practicing again with the Eagles late last season, only to be sidelined again with a broken thumb (torn ligament), which required surgery.

"I sat our last year because myknee was not totally better," he said. "It's tough, anyway, to come back in six months.

"But I did everything right as far as rehabilitation. I'm happy with the way it is. I dedicated myself for once this summer. It's a lot stronger."

AFTER A SUCCESSFUL spring practice and summer of weightlifting and running, Marshall is anxious to start the season. He hopes EMU can do an about-face after a dismal 2-9 showing in 1990.

as the 1987 California Bowl team," said Marshall, who was a freshman that championship season. "I think we'll be one of the most improved teams (in the Mid-American Conference). I see a lot of new faces. The key is the younger players and how , they develop. We have a good bunch of seniors. It's an interesting mix."

Marshall, who earned a scholarship after walking on, is glad he was given one more chance to contribute. "I have no complaints about the way I've been treated here," he said. "I have nothing but respect for coach (Jim) Harkema."

And someday Marshall hopes to earn that same respect as a police officer.

LOCAL EMU FOOTBALL NOTES: Several area players will figure prominently in the Eagles' 1991 season.

Chris Cox, a junior (eligibility-wise) from Faimington Harrison, returns, at Bnebacker where he finished sixth last season in tackles. The 6-3, 230-pound Cox had 29 solos and 21 assista in 1990.

Chris Parentl, a 8-2, 234-pound senior line-"It's hard to say if we'll be as good backer from Liveria Frankin, also returns after playing in eight games last season (including one start). He returns from hernia surgery.

Mike Boyle, a 6-3, 260-pound offensive tackte from Redford St. Agatha may get the starting call. The red-shirt junior "could be an interesting. piece of the puzzle," according to Harkema. "He's shown a lot of ability and we're hoping he'll come through," said the EMU coach.

Bryan Wauldron, another red-shirt junior from Harrison, could also fill a void at wide re-'ceiver, "He's finally at a point where it has stays healthy, he'll have a chance to impact because he's plenty good enough," said Harkema of the 6-2, 180-pound pass catcher.

Dennis Parker, a 8-3, 251-pound red-shirt sophomore from Redford Bishop Borgessy with see back-up duty on the defensive line.

The incoming freshman class includes defenshe back Mike Thomas (Redford Catholic Central), who could see considerable action; slong with taliback David Dobbin (Borgerss); Milback Scott Nichols (Harrison) and defensive tackle Bobby Johnson -- that latter three iare

"We're kind of excited (about Johnson) butcause he conses on a good recommendation from his high school coach Armand Vigna, and he played in the All-Star game," Harkema sald. "You never know. He's shown some toughness in the early going."

All-American girl

Glenn showing promise nationally

INNING BOWLING tournaments is nothing new for Tamika Glenn. This 15-year-old Farmington Hills resident has already won her share of YABA matches.

But when someone is honored nationally, it's certainly. Last month, at the YABA National Championships, Glenn was selected for the All American Girl award, which carries a -$500 scholarship. Glenn's scoring at the nationals earned her eighth place in the girls scratch division, which included a field of 120 competitors. She also rolled an actual high game of 255. Glenn had earlier earned her chance to compete in the national tourney by winning the YABA state title.

Now for the rest of the story: During the same weekend that Glenn won the state championship, she also bowled in the MJMA (Michigan Juniors Masters Association) and shot her Olenn is one of just three Michigan Youth Bowlers to roll a perfect game in competition. This unusually gifted young lady will turn 16 next month and has already accomplished more than most people do in a lifetime.

The All American Girl award fits Glenn well. It's a tremendous honor to have been chosen by a vote taken among the national YABA competitors.

Look out, Aleta (Sill) and Cheryl (Danlels), one of these years there will be a new star on the scene, Tamika Glenn.

• There are many leagues around town looking for a few more bowlers to fill the roster. I'm sure that you bowlers are looking for the right league to join.

In bowling, there's something for everybody when it comes to organized competition.

Even for novice bowlers, who would like to get started for the first time, many houses have the right leagues for both adult and youth bowlers. Anyone who is just starting out will get plenty of help from the league, as well as other experienced bowlers.

For couples who are looking for a fun night out, there are plenty of mixed leagues around town. Some of the Saturday and Sunday mixed leagues meet every other week. I'll refer to these later in the column as E/O. This allows for a smaller commitment by the bowler and costs less modey.

If some people are not sure whether they would like league play, they can be a substitute and find out what its all about. Bowling is a lot of fun at all levels of competition, and

Lutheran Westland joining Metro

By Brad Emons staff writer

The Metro Conference will have a different look for the 1992-93 school year when the league expands to 10 teams with a pair of five-team divi-

The move affects longtime Metro member Livonia Clarenceville and newcomer Lutheran High Westland.

With football power Auburn Hills. Avondale leaving to join the Macomb Area Conference, Metro athletic directors decided to form a new.

The divisions are pretty much broken down geographically.

The Western side will consist of newcomers Lutheran Westland and Rochester Hills Lutheran Northwest, along with Detroit Lutheran West, Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook/Kings wood and Clarenceville.

The Eastern Division is comprised of newcomer Grosse Pointe University-Liggett, Harper Woods, Harper Woods Lutheran East and Mount. Clemens Lutheran North and Ham-

"It's something we looked at a number of years, we had the choice of picking up one or two schools when Avondale left," Clarenceville athletic director Leo Kinsella said. "It should cut down on travel because now we won't have to go as much on the road to schools in the other division."

EASTERN DIVISION

Mr. Clemens Luth, North Harper Woods

ACCORDING TO Lutheran Westland athletic director Mike Unger, the Metro began seeking applicants last winter after the Metro's largestschool, Avondale (enrollment 850), dropped out to join the MAC.
"We knew Liggett had applied and" we wanted to apply because of football," said Unger, whose Class C school plays football as an independent. "It's a good move for us because it will cut down on travel as far as football goes." Seven of the new conference's 10 schools are private, including Lutheran Westland (330 enrollment), Lutheran Northwest (105), Cranbrook/Kinsgwood (combined 800), Lutheran West (220), Liggett (281) and Lutheran East (600), Lutheran North (570).

Clarenceville (550), Hamtramek (300) and Harper Woods (325) are the only public schools.

"We're the only Class C public school in the area," Kinsella said. "But this should be good for competition because now you can play for division championships."

Divisional cross scheduling is planned for all sports.

"In basketball you'll play your own division twice and maybe the other division once," Kinsella said. 'In football, we've set aside the ninth week of the season for the first place teams (in each division) to play against each other: We're in the process working a lot of other things

LUTHERAN WESTLAND will be leaving the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference, a group of nonfootball league affiliates.

"We think we'll be ready for next season," Unger said. "We're excited; We told our boosters and they said it was all right. All the coaches were also in favor of it."

The only question mark could be Class D Lutheran Northwest, which will start out with the smallest en rollment of just over 110 students.

"We're confident they'll increase in size like we have," Unger said. "There is a concern, but we're confident that by next year they'll be ready, too."

Ready or not, the Metro Conference is expanding.

There are scenes in that movie that I've never forgotten, Dennis Hopper inhaling from his gas mask and Dean Stockwell's Roy Orbison with a work light as a baby spotlight. Even now, if I happen to catch Bobby Vinton singing "Blue Velvet" while riding in an elevator, I mentalty hear Isabella Rosselini's incredibly off-key warbling.

I was expecting to really like Lynch's most recent film, last year's "Wild at Heart." Unfortunately, I was disappointed.

Lula's mother, Marietta, played by Dern's real life mother Diane Ladd, watches as the first of many plots against Sailor, played by Nicolas Cage, go awry.

Meanwhile, Marietta is still scheming to get Sailor out of the picture, sending two different boyfriends in pursuit as the couple heads for California.

The film contains innumerable references to the "Wizard of Oz" and Ladd's Marietta looks like Glinda the Good Witch but acts and cackles like the Wicked Witch. Rather than Dorothy taking her life to Oz, Lula has bits of Oz filtering into her real

Chateau Fuisse is known for its fine Pouilly-Fuisse

Chateau Fulsse is headquartered in a magnificent, 15th-century edifice in the Macon region of southern Burgundy. But do not let the property's age and the traditions surrounding Chateau Fuisse deceive. It is a sophisticated and diversified modern winemaking operation directed by fifth generation owner Jean Jacques Vincent. 💘

During the 127-year ownership of the property by the Vincent family, Chateau Fulsse has garnered a reputation as the finest producer of Poully-Euisse. The best wines from the 50 acres of Vincent family holdings in Pouilly-Fulsse carry the name Chateau Fulsse.

The Chateau Fuisse vineyards encompass about 100 separate parcels of land midway up slopes in both the Poultly and Fuisse districts. Each of fers a distinct character to the wine and is vinified separately to maintain the original identity of the vineyard section.

After vinification, lots are blended to offer the consumer the consistent and inimitable Chateau Fulsse style. A limited 13,000 cases of Chateau Fuisse are produced each vintage.

THE 1989 Chateau Fulsse ($38) is pricey by the mere fact of its rarity. It's generous and extracted, mirroring the characteristics described for the regular Pouilly-Fuisse (see Wine Selections of the Week), but is a significantly bigger wine.

If you decide to buy this wine, remember the directive on Chateau Fuisse's cellar wall, inscribed in 1955 by the local tax collector. It translates, "It's better to put your nose in a glass of Chateau Fuisse than in your neighbor's business."

WINE SELECTIONS: OF THE WEEK

J.J. Vincent 1990 Poully-Fulsse ($18) is highlighted by hints of toasty bread aromas with well-structured chardonnay flavors that are well-balanced and delicious. This is a handsome chardonnay from southern Burgundy.

J.J. Vincent 1990 Macon-Vitlages ($11) has appealing apple, pear and melon aromas with vanilla accents. The expressive flavors and generous finish make it a value-priced wine.

A vineyard in nearby St. Veran yields fruit for a St. Veran chardonnay, also produced at the chateau. This vineyard may be described as a clos, a single, demarcated vineyard producing grapes of consistent and uniform quality.

Three negociant wines, Poully-Fulsse, Macon-Villages and St. Veran, are also made from grapes bought from local growers. They are selected under the supervision of Jean-Jacques Vincent, who monitors the growing, harvesting, blending and bottling of these wines.

Poully-Fuisse vineyards occupy about. 1,700 acres in the southern Maconnals. Vincent's vineyard sources in Fuisse, constituting about 35 of the blend, are selected for their lively chardonnay fruit, producing a wine of depth and richness.

"POUILLY-FUISSE chardonnay is not as sophisticated as a Meursault or Puligny," Vincent contends.
"It is also not as pricey and is a perfect wine for fish and lighter food preparations. It is a soft, pleasant white wine that makes a good value for aging."

Macon-Villages is the largest appellation in the Maconnais, with nearly 6,000 acres. Vincent's wine (100 percent chardonnay) is a blend of three villages. The first offers a muscat character elevating the wine's aromas. The second lends structure to the wine, and the last gives finesse and elegance to the wine as a whole.

"Blending wines from three villages builds a more harmonious wine," Vincent said. "The 1990 Ma-con-Villages is one of the best in the last 10 years. The acid levels are balanced and the wine overall is much better than the 1989."

The vineyard sources for the St. Veran wine are in the northern part of the appellation. The area produces chardonnay wines with both pear and peach aromas and flavors.

Juicy tips for grilling burgers

I love summer. I enjoy getting out of the kitchen and expanding my experiences on the grill.

I like experimenting with grilled vegetables, ribs, chicken and fish - and, of course, the ever-popular hot dogs and burgers.

Last week, the Janes Gang gathered at the McLouth Steel Retirees Picnic with Mom and Dad and enjoyed julcy burgers, cooked to perfection over red-hot

But what goes into making the best grilled burgers?

Ground beef is sold in every supermarket I bave ever walked: into. Does hamburger make the best hamburgers? Just how lean is lean? And which is the best choice? Ground chuck? Ground

THE NAME "hamburger," or chopped or ground beef, meanssolely that this product is made from 100 percent beef. No water, binders or fillers may be added.

It must contain at least 70 percent lean meat. But what about the other 30 percent, you ask? Fat, plain, pure and arteryhardening fat.

Many markets are getting into the habit of labeling their ground beef mixture by the percentage of fat within the mixture. The level of fat is not regulated by the USDA.

Most markets also designate which part of the animal the meat primarily comes from. Is ground chuck better than ground

THERE IS more than one "best" choice, depending on how you use ground beef. For strict fat-controlled diets, the leanest meat obviously has the least amount of fat.

But, since fat also gives flavor and moisture to meat, super-lean meat may easily become dry and crumbly, especially if overcooked.

Leaner ground beef makes great rare burgers, but if you like them a little more cooked, I suggest ground chuck.

I CAN vividly remember Morrison going into the A&P in Wyandotte and searching through all the packages of stewing beef looking for the leanest one.

Then, and only then, would she hand the package to the butcher and direct him to "fresh grind" her some ground stewing beef.

Old habits die hard. I still do that, even at my favorite butcher

Even ground turkey and ground chicken can make decent burgers, with a little help.

RIGHT OFF the bat, you must know that these products are very lean and can use some additional fat, or at least a healthy slathering of oil, during the grilling process.

Also, be aware that both ground chicken and turkey are virtually tasteless, so they lend themselves to being mixed with herbs, spices and other additions that make flavorful burgers.

When I get in the mood to grill burgers, I light the coals and wait until I get a gray ash over all the coals (too hot cooks too fast).

THE JANES Gang kids like their burgers plain. Depending on my mood, I might stir in some chopped green chile peppers and a little taco seasoning for a Southof the border treat that can't be

For an Oriental flavor, I might toss in some finely chopped water chestnuts and a slathering of hoisin or soy sauce.

A personal favorite is my famous "French" burgers, made. into pattles with a crumbling of bleu cheese, a little onion, some dijon mustard and a sprinkling of tarragon. Talk about a flavorful burger!

Warming up for the State Fair

Baker rises to to the top in yeast breads

By Joan Boram special writer

T 6:30 a.m., Aug. 18, Larry Galbraith began a gruelling 18-hour marathon. Like a topseeded athlete pitted against the best in the field, he'd spent weeks getting ready for his Galbraith's gear had been ready for a week: 40 pounds of bread flour, a 2-pound bag of dried yeast, eggs, milk, sugar, spices, butter and dried fruits. New August potatoes from a favorite supplier at the Eastern Market were at hand. Larry Galbraith was warming up for the yeast breads competition at the Michigan State Fair!

"It's usually the hottest Sunday of the year," said Galbraith. "I enter 10 different categories. That means I have to turn out 10 perfect examples of yeast breads, rolls, and coffee cakes on Sunday, and deliver them to the fairgrounds for judging on Monday.

"I've worked out a schedule beforehand - there are 10 different rising times, and several different oven temperatures involved. But the schedule is subject to the weather.

"IN HOT, muggy weather the yeast works faster, and the dough tends to be stickier. Don't ever let anybody tell you that yeast baking is an exact science!"

Galbraith's love affair with yeast began in 1983, when he took a baking class through an adult education program. He was just "looking for something different to do."

"I had fooled around with frozen dough, and I figured there had to be a better way," he said. "After I took the class, I started baking three or four nights a week. I gave it to neighbors, to co-workers at the New York Carpet World (Galbraith is manager, customer relations), to my three teenagers and their friends. It became a family tradition that I make pizza for Sunday dinner. "I love yeast — I bake nothing but yeast breads. It get the feel for doughs overnight." WHEN GALBRAITH isn't in active competition, he's a coach. In 1988, he began teaching bread-takes time to understand yeast and flours: you don't making in the Southfield adult education program. The class is strictly hands-on," says Galbraith.

There are six ovens available, so class size is limited to 12 people. There are six 3-1/4-hour sessions, and they begin baking the first night.

'We start with a basic white bread, and the second week I show them how to make a classic braided egg bread. By week three, they're getting pretty good, so we make potato bread and English muffin bread.

"Week four, we make coffee cake; weeks five and six are usually determined by the time of year. The class has a vote. If it's a fall class, we concentrate on the upcoming holidays, for spring we make Easter breads. "And, somewhere along the line, we make rolls. Everybody who has ever taken my class has wanted to learn how to make rolls."

GALBRAITH GLADLY shares all of his knowledge and techniques with his classes. "One of the hardest things for beginners to recognize is when dough has been over- or under-floured. They'll add as much flour as the recipe calls for, whether the dough needs it or not.

"I tell them that if the dough has cracks in it, it's over-floured. Just run it under the tap for a second to add a little moisture.

Old-Fashioned Potato Bread, baked by Larry Galbraith of Southfield was a first prize winner at the Michigan State Fair 1986 through 1990.

"If you cut the dough in half, and press your finger against the cut side, your finger should pull away without sticking. If your finger sticks, the dough needs more flour." But Galbraith doesn't just abandon his students after six weeks. They have his home phone number and are free to call him if they get stuck in the

"Our phone rings off the wall Thanksgiving and Christmas mornings. It's 'Help Mr. G, my bread won't rise. What am I doing wrong'?"

"MR. G." walks them through the steps until he's: found the problem, and then he goes back to his own

"One day, I spent almost two hours on the phone with a student, and I just couldn't spot what he was doing wrong. Finally, he told me he was trying to raise the dough in a microwave oven. "Yeast won't grow in a microwave because there's no air circulation!" Galbraith's children coaxed him to enter the Michigan State Fair competition in 1985. First time out, he won five ribbons for 8 entries.

"I felt pretty good when I picked up the ribbons. Then I found out there were 1,400 entries, and I felt even better!"

In 1990, his 10 entries earned nine ribbons. Altogether, since 1985, Galbraith has earned 47 said Bashar Alashkar of Livonia. "I like the ice cream. There's nothing artificial in it. It's very high quality and carefully made. It's excellent. I also like the chocolate raspberry cake, it's light and moist."

For something different, try Ashtta. "It's like vanilla, only richer, more creamy and flavored with special spice," said Michel.

OLD FASHIONED POTATO BREAD (Michigan State Fair first prize winner, 1986 through 1990)

1/2 cup mashed potatoes 1 cup potato water, reserved from boiling potatoes 2 pkgs, dry yeast

2 tablespoons butter or margarine

2 tablespoons sugar 1 tablespoon salt (less if you're watching your salt intake)

1 cup warm milk 615 to 716 cups bread flour

Preheat oven to 375 degrees.

In a large bowl, sprinkle yeast and 14 tablespoon sugar over warm potato water. Let stand until foamy, about 5-8 minutes. Heat milk with margarine or butter until temperature is approximately 105-115 degrees. In a large mixing bowl, combine 4 cups of bread flour, the remaining sugar and salt. Add milk and mashed potatoes to dry mixture. Blend until smooth. Add the yeast mixture and stir in enough additional flour to make a stiff dough.

.4% to 4% cups all-purpose flour

Turn out onto lightly floured board. Knead, adding additional flour as necessary, until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in a large bowl that has been coated with vegetable oil; turn dough to grease top. Cover bowl with plastic wrap and a towel. Let rise in a warm place until dough is double in size, about 30 minutes. Punch dough down, tarh over in bowl. Cover and let rise again for about 20 minutes.

Punch dough down. Turn out onto lightly floured board and knead to get the air bubbles out of the dough, about 3 to 4 minutes.

Divide dough according to the number of bread pans you are using. Roll each portion of dough into a 14x-9-inch rectangle. Fold and shape the dough into loaves and place in greased loaf pans. Cover with plastic wrap and towel and let rise in a warm place, away from drafts, until it doubles in size and fills the bread pans, about 40 to 60 minutes. Remove coverings. Lightly sift flour onto tops of loaves. Bake at 375 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes or until loaves sound hollow when tapped on the bottom. Remove from pans im-

DINNER ROLLS

Everyone always asks about making dinner rolls. White bread or potato bread make excellent rolls. Remember, you're using smaller amounts of dough (less volume), so baking time will always be less than for baking loaves of bread.

Use 8-inch, 9-inch, or 10-inch cake pans. If you use muffin tins, 90 percent of the rolls will be crust because of the small amount of dough used. After dough rises, punch it down, and divide into 214-3-oz smooth balls. You'll need six balls in the 8-inch, seven in the 9-inch, and eight in the 10-inch pan. Place balls in greased pan, spacing 1/2 inch apart. Brush with butter or margarine and cover with plastic wrap and a towel. In warm place, let rise for 35-40 minutes or until doubled in size. Remove towel and plastic wrap and bake for 16.20 minutes in a preheated 375 degree oven. Be sure

BA(L.P.C-1C,R.W.Q-7B)

Seek and ye shall find in Amish country

GOSHEN, IND.: I met Bill and June Lewis of Farmington Hills in the pottery shop of the Old Bag Factory. That's not a place that makes old bags, it's an old soap factory reincarnated as a craft center in Goshen.

If you haven't been to Goshen lately, you'll find it across the Indiana state line south of Kalama-200 in Elkhart County. It is east of Wakatusa and Nappanee, southwest of Middlebury and Shipshewana, in the heart of Indiana Amish country.

The Lewises sometimes make the three-hour drive to this area for the day, sometimes for the weekend. "It's a whole different slower way of life, and we find it very peaceful and relaxing," June sald.

"We don't go to the weekly antique auctions and flea market in Shipshewana, because the town is so crowded, but we love weekends. You can park and walk down all the side roads and into the shops, which are full of country crafts."

THERE ARE several bed and breakfast places around Amish country: June and Bill usually stay at Green Meadows, where a Mennonite couple called Ruth and Paul Miller raise miniature horses and serve a good Amish breakfast in their home set way back from the road north of town.

"Shipshewana is good for country crafts but not for antiques," June said. "We couldn't get into Green Meadows this trip, so we went to Goshen."

That's where I met them, at the Old Bag factory, a complex of old brick buildings on Chicago Avenue, built in 1895 as the Cosmos Buttermilk Soap Factory, reborn as the Chicago-Detroit Bag Co. In 1910, and reincarnated again in 1985 by furniture maker Larion Swartzendruber.

You can stand on a balcony in the large main building and watch Swartzendruber's furniture being made, browse in his showroom, visit a blacksmith and ironmaker outside, hit the quilt shop, buy antiques, or explore stained glass and woodworking shops in a basement level known as Down

June Lewis had the same experience that I had while searching for furniture makers in Amish country. There are a few wellknown places, but most are Amish carpenters hidden away in unsigned private homes and farms.

"We went looking for a wagon wheel once, and went down lots of country roads asking questions before we found a wagon maker. He was recommended by somebody."

When I asked around, I heard directions like this: "Chris Bontrager and Menno Yoder make furniture in that house with a trailer behind it just left of the red light in Shipshewana." Or: "There's a man called Lambright in Topeka, Indiana. And another place off State Road 5, take Highway 20 east to the four-way stop

. The moral of this story is: slow down to the pace of black Amish buggies, take time to browse, seek and ye shall find. For more specific information, contact the Elkhart County Convention and Visitors Bureau, 429 South Main St., Elkhart, Ind., 46516 or telephone them at (219) 293-7394:

Spinning the Shaker story in Kentucky

Writer Eleanor Breitmeyer of Farmington sent this travel report from Shaker Village in Kentucky.

By Eleanor Breitmayer special writer

LEASANT HILL, KY. -Every time I pick up a broom to sweep my kitchen I will think of this 2,700acre farm community built by the Shakers before the Civil War.

It was the Shakers, a dissident sect of the Quakers, who first crafted the corn broom, along with the clothespin, washing machine and circular saw.

The Shakers are gone but you can still eat, sleep and tour your way through their 19th century life here in Shaker Village.

Mares and colts grazed the countryside, beside black Angus cattle and Border Leicester sheep, when we drove to the neatly stacked fieldstone fences of the village.

An interpreter in an ankle-length cotton dress and white net cap welcomed us, gave us a brief introduction to Shaker life and sent us to explore the 30 original structures built here in the early 1800s.

The limestone, brick and clapboard buildings, set off by white picket fences, are furnished with a stunning collection of 2,500 pieces of Shaker furniture and tools.

A friendly guide spun the Shaker story in the 40-room Centre Family Dwelling. An illiterate textile worker called Ann Lee led eight dissidents, seeking religious freedom, from the English factory town of Manchester to the New World in 1774. The United Society of Believers in Christ's Second Appearing settled outside Albany, N.Y., and eventually built 18 colonies stretching from Maine to Indiana.

The Shakers' goal was to create Utopia on earth by practicing celibacy, renouncing worldly possessions and living in communes in a spirit of racial and sexual equality. By 1830, the Pleasant Hill community was a thriving place with 500 residents and some 5,000 acres of land.

Two separate doorways lead into the Centre Family Dwelling - one for women, the other for men. Men and boys slept on one side of the house, women and girls on the other.

"Did anyone ever cheat?" I asked. "The elders dusted the hallways with flour, so cheaters would leave footprints behind," the guide said. "If the Shakers were celibate, how did the community grow?" They took in orphan children and a few converts from the area. When the children became 21, they could decide whether to leave or stay."

Our next stop was at the white frame Meeting House, where a costumed interpreter directed us to a bench, then burst into song. The brothers and sisters of the congregation cleansed themselves of carnal desires by singing and dancing. They shook themselves so violently that they shook the sins out of their bodsundown, as their songs were dedicated to worship and work. That work is still visible in the buildings scattered around Shaker Village.

Women card and spin wool, make quilts, dip candles, dry herbs for medicines, weave fabrics and rugs. Men make shoes, flat brooms, shaped oval boxes, barrels and cabinets. The Shakers sold seeds, brooms, herbs and preserves as far away as St. Louis and New Orleans, until the Industrial Revolution and the Civil War weakened their thriving community.

The number of converts and orphans dwindled. By 1910, the 12 remaining Shakers deeded their last 1,800 acres to a merchant in nearby Harrodsburg, who looked after them until the last member died in 1923. The village was deteriorating badly when a preservation group formed in 1963.

Today this outdoor museum flourishes as a monument to a people who believed that perfect craftsmanship reflected their spiritual beliefs. Twentieth century visitors can see their hand-crafted chairs hung on pegs on the walls of rooms where they once lived. Shaker men and women dined in silence on identical food served in separate rooms. We ate on the same rough-hewn tables, where dinner is served family-style in the former Trustees Office. The meal was bountiful, sumptuous and nicely served by young costumed waitpersons.

We spent the night in one of the 83 guest rooms scattered in 15 buildings on the grounds. The room was are $50 to $65 for two people.

Just for brides

August 19, 1991

The Monthly Album is published the third Monday of each month for the announcement of engagements and weddings. All announcements are published on a first-come-first-served basis.

Information sent must be legible and include a daytime telephone number so if there is a question the staff can call.

Photos submitted should, perferably, be black-and-while glossies, 5 x 7 inches in size. Color photos can be submitted and will be accepted, but they do not reproduce as well.

Due to the volume of photographs handled, the newspaper will not be responsible for any that may get lost or damaged. Photos can be picked up after publication in the Farmington Observer office, or if a self-addressed sufficiently stamped envelope is received with the photo, every effort will be made to return it. However, photos do get lost because so many are handled every month. There is just no guarantee the photo will be returned.

Engagement and wedding announcements pertinent to Livonia, Redford, Garden City, Westland, Farmington and Farmington Hills should be addressed to Loraine McClish, in care of The Farmington Observer, 21898 Farmington Road, Farmington 48336.

Inquiries are taken by McClish or Rose Butler in the Farmington Observer office, 477-5450.
