Judge won't halt board recall campaign

By Darrell Clem
staff writer

Recall leaders trying to oust three Wayne-Westland school board members scored a decisive victory Friday as a Wayne County Circuit Court judge refused to halt the recall campaign.

Judge Kathleen MacDonald dismissed a court challenge in which school board members Kathleen Chorbajian, Leonard Posey and Andrew Spisak had sought to block the recall petition drive.

MacDonald, ruling against the board members, rejected a request to overturn an Oct. 28 decision in which the Wayne County Elections Commission approved the recall petition language.

The judge also refused to grant an injunction that would have prohibited the recall committee — known as New Beginnings for Our Children — from circulating the petitions.

Recall leader Steven Lind hailed the decision and said the recall committee would meet during the weekend to plan the petition drive. The group needs 4,420 signatures of school district voters to call for a special recall election.

"It's just a relief to finally get this thing off the ground," Lind said. "The school board members want to keep this from the electorate, and that's just not fair. The electorate wants a chance at this."

'The school board members want to keep this from the electorate, and that's just not fair. The electorate wants a chance at this.'

— Steven Lind
recall leader

Board members planned to consult their attorney, Richard James, to determine their next step, Chorbajian said.

"I guess maybe we have to test the (recall) law this time," she said.

Recall leaders want to oust the board members for approving a two-year, 11.9-percent teacher pay increase in February, amid a budget crunch that threatened massive cuts in school programs and services.

Board members have called the petition language "lies," saying it indicates the budget cuts were made. The cuts were averted in June when district voters approved a controversial 7.75-mill tax increase.

"How can you expect the electorate to judge on lies?" Chorbajian asked. Posey and Spisak could not be immediately reached Friday evening.

Lind has repeatedly defended the petition language and has stressed that it states that board members only "proposed" the cuts. "I want to emphatically state that there are no lies on those petitions, and I will state that to the bitter end," he said.

The petition states that during a Feb. 11 meeting, the board members "voted in favor of proposed cuts causing a reduction of school busing; reduction of the senior high academic day by one hour; elimination of elementary art, vocal and instrumental music, and physical education; and reduction in classroom supply and textbook accounts."

Lind said he expected to have the petitions printed today (Monday). The recall committee hopes to collect the 4,420 signatures within 30 days and then call for a special election.

Teachers union slams effort to recall board

By Darrell Clem
staff writer

Leaders of the Wayne-Westland teachers union, blasting a recall campaign against three school board members as "a thinly disguised witch hunt," are trying to rally teachers in opposition to the effort.

The officials, in a memo to the 1,100 members of the Wayne-Westland Education Association, are urging teachers to give money to a legal fund to help board members Kathleen Chorbajian, Leonard Posey and Andrew Spisak fight the recall.

The board members have been paying their attorney, Richard James, out of their own pockets in what could become a highly expensive challenge of the recall in Wayne County Circuit Court.

"Obviously they are going to need money," said William Reece, WWEA president.

Board members are paid $1,500 each per year, and their legal expenses are expected to easily exceed their earnings. "It's going to be in the thousands," Chorbajian said.

WWEA LEADERS, in an internal memo obtained by the Observer, are urging teachers to attend a $20-per-person fund-raiser scheduled for Nov. 19 at Paddy's Pub in Westland. Members of other district employee unions also are expected to give money.

However, recall leader Steven Lind predicted that many educators will balk at the fund drive. Moreover, he said some teachers are working to raise money for the recall campaign.

The recall committee wants to oust Chorbajian, Posey and Spisak for approving teacher pay raises of 11.9 percent over two years. Board members approved the contract in February, amid a budget crunch that had threatened massive program cuts before voters approved a tax increase in June.

Solution for low water pressure expected soon

By Darrell Clem
staff writer

Water system problems that plagued Westland last summer, forcing residents to reluctantly conserve, are expected to be alleviated before hot weather returns, city officials said Thursday.

Low water pressure prompted city officials to demand cutbacks in usage last summer — a move that miffed some residents and resulted in scores of violations being reported to the Westland Police Department.

"Our goal is not to ever have that problem happen again," Mayor Robert Thomas said Thursday night, during a town hall meeting at the Bailey Recreation Center.

The city has hired a consulting firm that has virtually completed a study recommending steps to alleviate the water system problems. The report is expected to call for about $1 million in improvements.

THE RECOMMENDATIONS can be implemented without a customer rate increase, said Carl Clark, the city's public services director. The Father pleads guilty to sex abuse

By Darrell Clem
staff writer

A 43-year-old Westland man has pleaded guilty to sexually abusing his 16-year-old daughter, in a move that averted his trial in Detroit Recorder's Court.

Roger Stewart Martz is expected to be placed on five years' probation and to be ordered to cease contact with minors under a plea agreement worked out between his attorney and the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office.

He also is expected to be ordered to seek psychiatric help and to perform community service, his attorney, Marvin Blake, confirmed Thursday.

Martz' guilty plea Tuesday came six weeks after his daughter testified in court that he sexually abused her "at least once a week" from the summer of 1989 until April 1990, when she was 14 and 15 years old.

The girl's testimony was presented in September during a preliminary examination in Westland's 18th District Court — a hearing that resulted in Martz being bound over for trial in Recorder's Court.

However, Martz appeared Tuesday before Judge Harvey Tennen and pleaded guilty to one count of second-degree criminal sexual conduct. As a result, two counts of first-degree criminal sexual conduct and an additional second-degree count were dropped.

MARTZ, A Ford Motor Co. employee, is scheduled for sentencing on Jan. 5. Although the crime carries a maximum penalty of 15 years in prison, he will receive probation under the plea agreement, according to Blake and the prosecutor's office.

Under the earlier charges, Martz could have received life in prison.

Martz "has maintained his innocence from the start, but in relation to the plea agreement he did have to offer a plea to one count," Blake said. "He was willing to do this, so if he was satisfied with it, then I'm satisfied with it."

Martz is expected to be ordered to cease contact with all minors, including his daughter.

During the court hearing in Westland, Martz's daughter described specific events in which he ordered her to remove her clothing and let him fondle her. She also accused him of performing oral sex on her, but she said she managed to push him away on another occasion when he tried to penetrate her.

Although the girl remained silent for more than a year, she finally told her mother in July 1990. The parents are now involved in divorce proceedings.

When the girl openly confronted her father about the sexual abuse in July 1990, she said he became violent.

"He called me a lying bitch and then back-handed me across the face," she testified in court. "He broke my glasses and gave me two black eyes."

Martz never took the stand during the court proceeding.

Budget cuts close circuit court annex

By Darrell Clem
staff writer

State budget cuts will force the closing of the Westland annex of Wayne County Circuit Court that investigates divorces, child support enforcement and custody disputes for residents of western Wayne County, court officials have announced.

The closing, expected in January, will shift 21 employees to the Wayne County Friend of the Court (FOC) office in Detroit and result in long-term savings of $500,000 annually, said Ken Batty, circuit court executive administrator.

The two-building Westland annex is expected to continue to house operations of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department and the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office, Batty said. That means weekend arraignments in criminal arrests would continue here.

Money crunch could stall Nankin Transit

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Nankin Transit is near the end of the line.

The local bus service is in danger of running out of money before the middle of next year. Efforts to boost financing aren't going anywhere.

"We've been trying for months, and we're still hopeful, but the longer it gets the less hopeful we become," said David Wygonik, a spokesman for state Sen. George Hart, D-Deerborn.

The Nankin Transit Commission serves an estimated 12,000 people annually in Garden City, Westland, Canton Township, Wayne and Inkster. Many of its passengers are senior citizens or disabled adults.

Hart, who represents Garden City, has joined state Sen. William Faust, D-Westland and other local leaders, in seeking federal, state and local grants to keep buses running.

So far, none have been forthcoming.

"THERE'S NOT a whole lot out there," said Faust aide Nancy Green.

In addition to keeping the Westland-based transportation service operating through June, officials also seek to change the way it receives state money.

Loss of an expected $375,000 state grant prompted Nankin Transit's current crisis. The money was to have been administered through the Suburban Mobility Authority for Regional Transportation. SMART is the regional mass transit governing body.

The loss represents about 45 percent of Nankin Transit's $825,000 operating budget. Nankin Transit's five member communities provide the rest of the money from their own operating budgets.

"It's not as if our communities aren't doing their share," Nankin Transit chairman Thomas Kelly said. "But we're always last in the line when it comes to giving out state money."

Money passes through the state

Department of Transportation to the Regional Transportation Corporate Council, then to SMART and, last, to Nankin Transit, Kelly said.

Instead, Nankin Transit officials want their share to come directly to them. Officials said they fear SMART seeks to put the local agency out of business.

"I think the thinking is we shouldn't be funded," Kelly said. "SMART has started about eight bus routes through the area."

James Aho, acting general manager of SMART, said his agency had no intention of forcing Nankin Transit to close.

1 dead, 1 wounded in drug-related shooting

In a shooting police say was likely drug-related, one man was shot and killed and a second man wounded about 10:30 p.m. Friday night in Westland.

Shots were fired by an unknown assailant in a field near Adams Junior High School in the Nor-Wayne section of Westland, officers said.

The man who died fled several hundred yards from the field to a home on Berville Court south of Palmer and west of Venoy. Police were notified by a homeowner who found the man on the front porch. The victim was dead on arrival at Annapolis Hospital.

The second victim, who was still alive Sunday afternoon, was found in the field by a passer-by several hours after the shooting. Officers are not disclosing the identity of either man, nor the name of the hospital to which the second man was transported.

No arrests had been made as of late Sunday and the police investigation was continuing.

"The investigation is coming along quite well," said a police spokesman who declined to disclose more details. As for the condition of the second man, "It looks like he is going to survive," he said.

Teachers union backs targets of recall drive

WWEA leaders, in their memo, called on teachers to "think back" and then donate money to the board members' legal fund. "The union trusts it will receive 1,000 positive responses," the memo said.

"Although the (WWEA) has not always agreed with the positions of the three board members in question, the union totally opposes their recall," the WWEA leaders wrote. "The WWEA takes this position because it is very apparent that the recall is nothing more than a thinly disguised witch hunt. At this point in time, no evidence or facts have been presented by anyone to indicate either malfeasance or misfeasance of office on the part of Posey, Chorbaghan and Spisak."

Not surprising, the board members this week said they welcomed the teachers' support. The board members have not set a specific goal for the fund-raiser.

"To wage a campaign, you need

'It is very apparent that the recall is nothing more than a thinly disguised witch hunt.'

— a union memo money," Posey said. "I feel uncomfortable asking anyone to come to that (fund-raiser), but I guess that's the reality of politics."

Board members have defended the teacher pay raises as among the lowest in Wayne County. Moreover, they have stressed that the contract settlement emerged as teachers threatened to strike.

Board members don't perceive any conflict in accepting money from teachers to fight the recall.

"I don't feel that I'm any single interest group's candidate," Posey said.

Unlike Chorbaghan and Spisak, Posey also has drawn support from the 34-member union BOSS (Brotherhood of Specialized Skills), said Charles George, acting BOSS president.

Posey has worked "very hard" as a board member since being elected last year.

BOSS, the only district employee group working without a contract, has grown increasingly angry with some school officials. BOSS, which includes electricians, bus mechanics and carpenters, among others, has staged peaceful protests at some board meetings, carrying placards demanding a fair settlement.

Bus service at line's end

"Our goal is to provide as much transportation as we can," Aho said. The problem, he said, is that transportation isn't immune from state budget cuts.

"We are in a difficult financial situation, we just don't have the money," Aho said. "Even if we did, we couldn't justify giving it to them and not to everybody else."

Local bus services in Redford and Mount Clemens are among those that aren't financed through SMART, Aho said.

SMART is providing some $69,800 in additional services under a contract with Nankin Transit, Sho said.

'It's not as if our communities aren't doing their share.'

— Thomas Kelly
Nankin Transit chairman

But that contract, which covers bus maintenance and insurance, expires Dec. 31.

It isn't the first time Nankin Transit has faced a financial crisis. The 15-year-old agency experienced similar financing difficulties with the Southeast Michigan Transportation Authority — SMART's predecessor.

Three years ago, Nankin Transit commissioners proposed a half-mill local tax to keep the system operating. That plan was quickly scrapped.

Cure for low water pressure expected city has enough cash reserves to pay for the improvements, he said.

The report from the Livonia-based consulting firm of Orchard, Hills & McClimant is expected to recommend that the city install as many as four "booster pumps" at key locations in the central city area, Clark said. The pumps would dramatically improve water pressure.

Moreover, the study is expected to suggest that the city build a water storage tank that would hold as many as 3 million gallons of water for emergency use, Clark said.

The recommendations are expected to be accepted and implemented in time to address the water system problems before next summer, he said.

Last summer, city officials routinely had to demand that residents and businesses conserve water and refrain from such activities as watering their lawns. The city wanted to maintain enough water pressure for fighting fires.

"Green lawns are nice to have, but the safety and comfort of the residents of Westland far outweigh lawn care," Clark said Thursday.

When asked about the potential for a customer rate increase, he said, "We have money in the water and sewer budget to cover the costs."

Circuit court annex to close

In announcing the "permanent closing" of the Westland FOC office, circuit court officials blamed mandatory budget cuts imposed by the Michigan legislature. The annex has operated in Westland for nine years.

Western Wayne County residents will continue to receive the services that will now be handled out of the Detroit FOC office, Batty said.

In a news release, circuit court officials said the budget cuts will be accomplished "without reducing the level of services provided to FOC clients."

The annex has operated in Westland for nine years.

(circuit) court's staff," court officials said in a prepared statement. "The goal of the review is to improve the court's efficiency or, in some cases, to identify activities which should be discontinued because of their marginal utility."

Circuit court officials said that streamlining FOC operations by housing all employees in the Detroit office "will increase productivity while maintaining existing service levels."

One Westland annex employee indicated that local workers aren't pleased with the plan. "They have a different perspective than the downtown officials," she said.

The woman did not want to be identified, saying workers are not supposed to talk about the closure without authorization from supervisors.

THE LOCAL FOC workers will fill existing vacancies in the Detroit office, meaning circuit court officials won't have to hire new employees downtown, Batty said.

Jim Moryc, supervisor of the Westland annex, could not be reached for comment Tuesday because he was out of the office for medical reasons, said Eileen Harris, a downtown official filling in for Moryc. She referred all questions to the Detroit FOC office.

The decision to close the Westland annex stemmed from an internal study of cost-effectiveness, circuit court officials said. The study was undertaken in reaction to the state's 9.2-percent budget reduction imposed in December.

"The study of the annex represents the start of a systematic review of various operations by the

Drama students rehearse first major production

But they won't give away play's plot

Wayne Memorial High School drama students are gearing up for their first major production of the school year.

"Dandelion Wine" details the story of a 12-year-old boy who mentally makes the transition from childhood to adulthood, said cast member Michael Ramsey, a Wayne Memorial junior.

Drama students have been busy rehearsing the play, which will be performed at 8 p.m. Friday, Nov. 22, and Saturday, Nov. 23. It will be staged in the Wayne Memorial High School Stockmeyer Auditorium.

The play, written by Ray Bradbury, takes place in Greentown, Ill., in 1928. It has been adapted and is being directed by Adrienne Klemme, Wayne Memorial drama teacher.

We won't give away any more elements of the plot, but Klemme said the students are extremely excited about the performances.

About 20 students are involved in the play, Ramsey said.

Kevorkian attorney 'confident'

By Ralph R. Echlinaw
staff writer

Like radio talk show host Rush Limbaugh, attorney Geoffrey Fieger, famous for defending Dr. Jack Kevorkian, has been accused of especial arrogance but prefers to call it confidence.

Although Fieger doesn't claim to be the most dangerous man in America, or the epitome of morality and virtue, or walk around with half his brain tied behind his back as Limbaugh does, his confidence in his ability is monumental.

"I was meant to do what I do," he said. "And I'm as good at it as they come. I have a natural talent for this. I believe if you hire me, you've got the best there ever was and ever will be."

"SOME PEOPLE DON'T like me. Some people find me very arrogant. (But) I have self-confidence. They find that to be arrogant. I think that I'm kind. I like animals. I like cats a lot. I'm very approachable. I like to talk to people. I find people interesting," Fieger said.

But like former baseball player Pete Rose, who was often charged with having what one might call excessive pride, Fieger can convincingly back up his claim.

At 40 he has practiced law for just 12 years and already collected 10 $1 million-plus verdicts, mostly in medical malpractice cases. In addition, Fieger said he's accumulated 25-30 settlements of more than $1 million.

Earlier this year he won $12.6 million for a client in a medical malpractice lawsuit.

Fieger attributes his success to a coincidental collision of ability and the profession in which it could be most effectively employed. In short, he says he's been lucky.

"Everything in my personality happens to mesh well with the things I do," he said. "The best thing that can ever happen to anybody is to have a job that doesn't seem like work. You have to be awfully lucky to be in a situation that you can do what you want."

Fieger also finds that the means of his success consist, in part, of acting training he got at the University of Michigan. "It allows me to think on my feet," he said. "You have to have a sense of theatrics to maintain interest. (But) the idea that I could deceive (a jury) is just not true. Anybody who thinks it works like that knows nothing about the law."

While love of money motivates many people to become attorneys, Fieger says that, ironically, his success (and therefore his wealth) was made because he didn't seek financial largess in law.

"I really don't think about the money," he said. "I never really cared about money. (The job) is all-consuming to me. It was never important that I made money at it."

PERHAPS FIEGER can find the roots of his ability in the family tree. Growing up in Oak Park, he was exposed to law through his father-attorney Bernard. The younger Fieger joined the father's firm in 1979.

Surprisingly, or maybe to be expected, Fieger's siblings have also found prominence in life. Brother Doug is lead singer of The Knack, a rock 'n' roll band famous for the song "My Sharona," circa 1980. Sister Beth writes television scripts in Hollywood.

But Fieger's desire for passive entertainment is necessarily limited by his vocation/avocation. Although he admits to a predilection for football and boxing, "kicking my opponents in the ass is my hobby."

Speaking of football, Fieger's new-found celebrity, thanks to Kevorkian, has derailed his ability to have a meal in peace. Sunday he was at the Stage Deli with Kevorkian, watching the Detroit Lions game when "two news media saw (us) and started harassing us and we had to go. It's gotten to that point where almost I can't go out. It can't go on. It's getting a little crazy."

However, Fieger will accept the notoriety as the price of success. As one of Michigan's premier medical malpractice attorneys, custodian of a landmark case where Kevorkian is concerned, the owner of six lake-front houses in Oakland County and two Caribbean homes, the case Fieger makes for his competence is compelling.

"I'm not a risk-taker. I don't gamble. I never bought a lottery ticket in my life. I don't bet on the horse races. The only thing I bet on in my entire life is my own talent."

YMCA officials mum on Gillies

By Darrell Clem
staff writer

Top officials of the Wayne-Westland Family YMCA met in a special session Thursday night, but board members remained hushed about the sudden resignation of executive director Janet Gillies.

Board members have confirmed that Gillies stepped down amid allegations of YMCA policy violations, but they have refused to elaborate on the Oct. 31 resignation. Gillies also has declined to comment.

Officials from the metropolitan YMCA headquarters in Detroit have met with local board members at least twice, including Thursday, since Gillies quit her job in a shroud of secrecy that even puzzled some local board members.

"We just have to go forward, that's all," Sharon Arthur, local board chairwoman, said Friday.

The Y has 854 members from Westland, Garden City and Canton Township, among other communities.

Metropolitan officials have indicated to local board members that it may be early March before Gillies' successor is named. The job will be advertised nationwide, Arthur said.

"There's a regular procedure that has to be followed," she said.

Thursday's meeting came 10 days after metropolitan Y officials met with the local board in an emergency session to inform local officials of Gillies' departure. She had served as executive director for nearly four years.

Local board members have indicated that Gillies stepped down amid allegations of policy violations — some of which involved money. Specific details have been kept secret, though board members said that metropolitan officials haven't accused Gillies of personally taking any money.

In other developments, Arthur said she could not confirm nor deny rumors that some local Y board members are considering quitting the board in the wake of Gillies' departure.

"We may have gotten one (resignation)," Arthur said, though she did not name the board member.

But she added, "No one has officially resigned. When I say officially, I mean in writing. In these types of situations, there's always somebody who resigns. It just kind of goes with the territory."

One board member had stepped down prior to Gillies' departure, Arthur said, "but that was unrelated."

Meanwhile, operations at the Y — located on Wayne Road between Cherry Hill and Avondale — are continuing smoothly, she said. The Y's program director, Mary Rose Cartwright, has stepped in to temporarily fill the void caused by Gillies' resignation.

School board to put bond issue to voters

By Marie Chestney
staff writer

Ballot language for a $62.1 million bond issue that school officials call a "win-win" situation for the schools and taxpayers is expected to be approved tonight by the Livonia Board of Education.

Once approved, the bond application will be sent to the Michigan Department of Education, which is also expected to approve it, Superintendent Joseph Marinelli said.

On Dec. 2, board members are expected to set Feb. 10, 1992, as the date in which residents will vote on the bond issue.

LIVONIA'S TAX rate will neither rise nor fall if voters vote yes because the new bond issue will replace an older bond issue that is retiring.

If voters vote no, Livonia taxpayers will get a property tax reduction on the current 1.05 mill debt-retirement levy.

If the bond is approved, the district will use the money to upgrade its school buildings and to bring technology into the classrooms.

School officials are now informing principals what specific improvements will be made in their buildings if voters approve the bond issue.

Marinelli said both the district and taxpayers will benefit from the bond sale.

"It's a win-win situation," Mari-nell said. "It doesn't increase the tax rate and it provides desperately needed funds to enhance technology in the schools. It also will upgrade facilities that are 25-37 years old and need upgrading."

"It's easier to upgrade them than to let them deteriorate. It's the most economical way to go."

Neither objective, new technology and the upgrading of buildings, could be paid for through the operating budget, Marinelli said.

A PRIORITY list on how to use the bond money was put together by a planning committee of principals, teachers and administrators.

Computer labs and computerized libraries top the list, which ranks items in the order of priority.

The list sets standards committee members believe should be followed in each elementary, middle and high school.

For example, committee members believe all elementary instructional material centers should be the same size. If approved, this means the IMCs at seven schools — Adams, Cleveland, Garfield, Marshall, McKinley, Roosevelt and Washington — would be made bigger.

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR elementary schools include:

- Banks of computers in both the IMC and in a special computer classroom.

- Electronic information retrieval stations and a computerized card catalog in all IMCs.
- Recommendations for middle schools include:
 - Technology centers, or computer banks, in school IMCs.
 - Electronic information retrieval systems and a computerized card catalog in all IMCs.
 - Two more classrooms containing banks of computers.
 - Upgrading of science labs to include up to 10 lab stations.
 - Converting industrial arts shops to industrial technology facilities.
 - Developing a large group meeting center for team, teaching and small assemblies.

Recommendations for high schools include:

- Adding two computer labs and one industrial technology lab for the three high schools and the career center.
- Increasing the size of the Franklin and Stevenson IMCs.
- More lab stations for science classes.
- Two science lecture rooms.

The bond money would help the district accomplish one of its main goals set forth in its recently adopted strategic plan.

That goal is to update each school building technologically so that graduates can meet the demands of the 21st-century.

What if, overnight, someone replaced your pocket calculator with an abacus?

You are suddenly plunged into an alien world. Everyone else is using their abacus with ease, but you're frustrated, probably angry, and even ashamed that you can't come up with an answer to the most simple math question.

Do you admit that you haven't a clue to what those beads mean? Do you find clever ways to get other people to push your beads around for you? Or do you just avoid situations where you must add, multiply, subtract or divide?

These are some of the ways people deal with their inability to read. It's not fun. It's a constant challenge. And it doesn't have to be that way.

How can you help?

If you know someone who cannot read, contact one of the agencies below and give them the opportunity to open up their world.

Beyond holidays

Agencies struggling to meet '92 needs

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Thanks to seasonal generosity, area food banks should be stocked through the holidays.

After that, the cupboard could be bare.

"There's enough food through Christmas, but for March and April we can't say," said Gene Gonya, president of Gleaners Community Food Bank.

That's why area food banks are asking contributors to be especially generous this year.

Gleaners hopes to stock up on non-perishable items through a special holiday promotion offered in cooperation with area food merchants.

The Buy a Case of Food event provides cases of food — from baby formula, to soup, to canned stew — at wholesale prices. Individuals are encouraged to buy cases of food for donation to Gleaners.

Food banks aren't the only charity projects looking for more help this year.

Salvation Army volunteers will also be staffing their holiday kettles with an eye toward 1992.

"FROM WHAT we're seeing, I'd say things are going to get worse in the New Year," Salvation Army Major Robert Thomson said.

Already, requests for Christmas assistance are up 8 percent from last year.

The Salvation Army also provides gifts for needy children and helps needy families buy groceries.

It also staffs homeless shelters and soup kitchens.

In addition, the Salvation Army works with area utilities to help needy people retain their electricity.

This is the 100th anniversary of the Salvation Army's familiar holiday bell-and-kettle fund-raising drive. The project began on the docks of San Francisco back in 1891.

Another agency, Future Force Temporary Employment Services, is conducting a first-ever food drive of its own this holiday season.

"WE'RE REALLY on the front lines in terms of seeing the people who come to us after losing their jobs," district manager Kamela Torvinen said.

Future Force seeks to collect 100,000 cans of food at sites throughout Wayne and Oakland Counties.

While Future Force sees an increasing number of jobless white collar workers, Gleaners and the Salvation Army are bracing for an influx of former general assistance recipients.

"It's starting and we expect to see more former GA people next year," Thomson said.

Both agencies said they're spending an increasing amount of time with the working poor — people still employed but with low pay and no medical benefits.

"The agencies we deal with tell us they're seeing more and more of these kinds of people," Gonya said.

"In the 1980s a lot of people still had benefit packages, health care and the like. Now, those are gone."

To buy a case of food for Gleaners, call 923-3335. Prices range from $7.20 for a case of baby food to $18 for a case of peanut butter to $40 for a case of canned tuna.

To assist the Salvation Army, call 477-1153. Farmington Hills, 453-5464, Plymouth or 722-3660, Westland.

Future Force is collecting canned food at corporate headquarters, 1361 E. Big Beaver, Suite 3 and Westland offices, 1531 S. Wayne Road. Hours are 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. for corporate headquarters, 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. for clerical/technical headquarters, 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. for Redford and 6 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. for Westland.

Concert supports mental health programs

Ann Arbor's Galliard Brass Ensemble will perform a benefit concert for Northwestern Community Services at 3:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 16, in the O'Leary Performing Arts Center on Middlebelt Road in Garden City.

Tickets are $10 for adults and $7 for students and senior citizens.

The group will feature light classical and seasonal music and conclude with a caroling and sing-along.

Tickets are available at Thrifty Flowers, 35363 Ford Road, Westland; Northwestern Community Services Office, 5820 N. Canton Center Road (Suite 125 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.), Misty's Cards and Gifts, 30104 for Ford Road and the Northwestern Community Services offices at 6012 and 6221 Merriman Road, Garden City.

For information on tickets, call 425-6110.

The Galliard Brass has been heard throughout North America and Europe on radio, television and on its own commercial recordings. Known for its versatility, the ensemble presents programs that appeal to a wide range of audiences. Locally, they have been heard for several years at the Detroit Institute of Arts' "Brunch with Bach" series, as well as the first benefit concert held for Northwestern Community Services last December.

The agency (formerly Northwestern Guidance Clinic) is the original mental health agency in western Wayne County, treating emotionally and mentally impaired children and adolescents and their families for nearly 30 years.

Cold weather 'ruff' for pets, MHS says

The Michigan Humane Society reminds pet owners that cold weather and pets don't mix. Weather forecasters estimate unseasonably cold weather throughout the winter, which means extra care needs to be taken to protect all pets.

The indoor dog requires only a few precautions when traveling outdoors for short periods of time. If the indoor dog is a short-haired breed and goes for a walk be sure to protect him from the cold with a coat or sweater. Always keep a towel on hand to dry his coat, including his feet, when he enters the house. Sflush and salt deposits from sidewalks and streets can cause paw and skin irritation.

The Michigan Humane Society discourages pet owners from keeping dogs outdoors, especially during the winter months. If a dog is kept outdoors he needs special attention during the winter months. Following are some common sense approaches to caring for the outdoor dog in winter.

• Be sure the dog's house is in good repair. Fix any leads or gaps that might let moisture or wind enter.

• Elevate the dog house so that it is 4-6 inches from the ground. Any moisture that does enter the dog's house will be able to dry if the house is elevated.

• Place a flap over the door of the dog house to prevent drafts.

• Place the house so that it faces southeast and away from prevailing winds.

• Use clean straw as an insulating and bedding material. When straw becomes wet it loses its insulating properties, so be sure to change the straw frequently.

• Increase the intake of food to help maintain the animal's body temperature.

• Keep fresh food and water available for the animal at all times, and replace if either becomes frozen.

• When the temperature or wind chill falls below 0 degrees Fahrenheit consider bringing the pet indoors into warm surroundings. A basement or a heat porch will help to maintain the animal's body temperature. Do not house the outdoor dog in a warm portion of the house, because extremes in temperatures can be harmful.

Senate bill relaxes rules on gun safety information

A bill to correct one of last year's gun control laws won a lopsided 33-3 approval in the state Senate earlier this month week despite spirited opposition.

Senate Bill 528 eliminates the need for gun dealers to distribute pamphlets on gun safety and training classes.

"One gets information and safety pamphlets from the manufacturer," said sponsor Chris Dingell, D-Trenton. "I doubt they (buyers) are going to read a third pamphlet."

He added that some State Police posts are failing to make available lists of gun safety classes, putting gun dealers in a "Catch-22" situation.

Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, the only area member to vote no, said the bill "reduces the miniscule protections that are currently in law that would ensure the purchaser of a gun at least have some basic understanding of how to use the thing. We require more tests to use an automobile than we do to use a firearm."

Added Sen. Lana Pollack, D-Ann Arbor: "The provision repealed was for a basic pistol safety brochure."

A licensed dealer would (also) post in a conspicuous place information relating to the availability of local voluntary pistol safety programs.

"I don't think we should be removing the availability of needed information. I don't see any rationale for relaxing the laws."

Work force director

Sgt. Robert Sheldon has been appointed director of the Wayne County Alternative Work Force. Best known for cleaning area roadways and parks, the work force provides an alternative to jail for non-violent criminals. Sheldon, a 23-year sheriff's department veteran, had been the work force's enforcement officer. He lives in Wayne.

MHS holds dog wash

Is your pet ready for the holidays? If not, make an appointment for the Michigan Humane Society dog wash from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 24.

The dog wash and Santa photo session will take place in the MHS West Shelter, 37255 Marquette, Westland.

Baths range from $10-$50 depending on the size of dog. Afterwards, your pet can sit on Santa's lap and have his/her picture taken. Cost is $5 and all proceeds help fund MHS programs.

Reservations are required for a bath. Call 721-73000. Santa photos are open to all on a first come, first served basis.

Santa will also be at the shelter for pictures with pets from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 8.

S'craft hosts holiday buffet

Schoolcraft College is inviting area businesses to hold their holiday luncheons at a special Christmas Buffet, Friday, Dec. 20, prepared by the college's award-winning culinary arts department.

The luncheon buffet will be open noon to 2 p.m. at the Waterman Campus Center. It will include soups, salads, vegetables, main entrees and desserts. Cost is $8.25 per person.

Holiday treats prepared by college chefs will be available for sale after the meal. Treats include plum pudding, truffles and edible tree ornaments.

Reservations can be made by calling 462-4423. Schoolcraft is at 18600 Haggerty, between Six and Seven Mile roads, Livonia.

Eat breakfast with Santa

Breakfast With Santa is being offered 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 7 by the Schoolcraft College Alumni Association.

The event features a pancake breakfast at the college Waterman Campus Center, a picture with Santa and a small gift for each child. The charge is $5 per adult, $7 for each child. Visa, MasterCard and Discover will be accepted. There will be ample free parking in the north college lot.

Seating is limited. Reservations can be made by calling the college alumni office, 462-4400, Ext. 5046. Schoolcraft is at 18600 Haggerty, between Six and Seven Mile roads, Livonia.

Group to hear about Mensa membership

The benefits of joining Mensa will be discussed during the December meeting of the Metro Area Gifted Information Consortium, 6:45-9 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 10, at Birney Middle School, 27225 Evergreen, Southfield.

Mensa is an international organization serving gifted individuals of all ages. Representatives will be present to discuss Mensa programs for adults and children.

MAGIC is a non-profit support group for parents, teachers and others interested in providing programs for gifted children. Meetings are free for members. A $3 donation is suggested for non-members.

To make a reservation or for more information on MAGIC, call 451-0400.

CC offers test prep workshop

A three-week American College test preparation workshop is being offered at Schoolcraft College, beginning 6 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 27.

The workshop offers tips on taking the ACT, commonly used to determine college acceptance.

Students will practice on simulated tests. Fee is $47.

To register, or for additional information, call the college continuing education services office, 462-4400. Schoolcraft is at 18600 Haggerty, between Six and Seven Mile roads, Livonia.

Consider these doctors' accomplishments, and you will understand why they've earned women's trust.

Sinai physicians are known around the world for pioneering gynecological laser procedures for endometriosis and other menstrual disorders. Here, surgeries using lasers and tiny scopes mean less pain and shorter recovery times for women.

In our Mothers and Infants' Center, our doctors make sure that an obstetrician, an OB anesthesiologist and a neonatologist are on-site 24 hours a day. And our physicians' skills are reflected in a Cesarean section rate that's 15 percent below the national average.

From delivering quintuplets to providing breast imaging to tailoring oncology and psychiatry just for women, these physicians — and all our doctors — emphasize the utmost in quality and comprehensive care.

And for women, that's something you can really place your trust in. Call 1-800-243-3627 for referral to a Sinai physician.

GOP bill would 'open' primaries, unseat Dems

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Michigan Democrats may have to find another way to send delegates to their national convention if a Republican-backed change in the presidential primary becomes law.

"It looks like a change to zap the Democrats," said Sen. John Cherry, D-Clio, minority floor leader.

The Senate Thursday approved 21-11 an amendment that effectively wipes out the new requirement that voters in next March 17's presidential primary declare a party preference 30 days before entering the voting booth.

SENATE BILL 469 would allow voters to declare party preference the day of the primary and then cancel it on leaving, said sponsor Nick Smith, R-Addison.

It effectively keeps their choice secret from the political parties and amounts to an "open" primary.

Republicans Mike Bouchard of Birmingham, Mat Dunaskiss of Oxford, Robert Geake of Northville and David Honigman of West Bloomfield voted yes.

Democrats Jack Faxon of Farmington Hills and George Z. Hart of Dearborn voted no. Bill Faust, D-Westland, had an excused absence.

Altogether, 18 Republicans and three Democrats voted yes; all 11 no votes were Democrats.

The bill goes to the House where Democrats have a majority, although many Democrats are sympathetic to an "open" primary.

Corridor gossip is that the compromise will be same-day registration of party preference.

DEMOCRATIC PARTY national rules require that any delegation must be chosen in a same-year "closed" system, with only declared Democrats participating.

"Democratic Party rules are out of sync with public sentiment," said Republican majority floor leader

Phil Arthurhultz of Whitehall. "People say, 'We want to pick the party of our choice as well as the candidate of our choice.' Talk to the man or woman on the street."

Democrat John Kelly of Grosse Pointe said the current party affiliation rule doesn't invade the privacy of the voting booth. "This bill disenfranchises (Michigan) Democrats from the national convention," he said.

IN 1988 both parties held caucuses where a person declared a party preference. They were poorly attended, except for a massive outpouring of Jesse Jackson supporters in the Democratic caucuses.

In 1976 Michigan had an "open" primary for president, but Democrats boycotted theirs because of the national rules and used local conventions instead. It was widely believed that Ronald Reagan's strong showing against incumbent President Gerald Ford in Ford's home state was due to mischievous Democrats crossing over.

In 1972 President Richard Nixon was a shoo-in for renomination, and Republicans crossed over to back Alabama's segregationist Gov. George Wallace in the Democratic primary, to the acute embarrassment of the party's liberal leadership. That led to the Democrats' rule change.

MAVERICK DEMOCRAT Gil DiNello of East Detroit voted with the GOP for the nearly open primary because:

"Most people who talked to their clerks have objected strenuously to signing that white (party preference) card. I'm surprised at the Democratic national party that they're not listening to the people."

DiNello bitterly attacked the 1984 88 caucuses because of their union domination.

"The Democratic Party is happy with the caucus system," countered Chris Dingell, D-Trenton. He chuckled as he recounted how, in an "open" congressional primary in the 15th district several years ago, Republicans got their compunction when a white supremacist was nominated.

Senate — Employers can't stop workers from smoking

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Bosses couldn't require workers to quit using tobacco off the job, under a Senate-passed bill headed for the House.

In a war of words that ranged from the bitter to the grotesque, the Senate passed smoker Fred Dillingham's bill on a 26-6 vote.

"When we argue employers have a right to patrol employees 24 hours a day and pigeonhole an employee for legal behavior — absurd!" said Dillingham, R-Fowlerville, presenting his bill as a civil rights measure.

"Absurd! Ridiculous!" replied anti-smoking Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills. "I guess you want to go back to the good ol' days when men were men and could spit where they want."

Faxon threw the chamber and galleries into hysterics with his oral picture of tobacco chewers "drooling pus, brown, stinking, horrible stuff, like an abscess."

VOTING YES were Michael Bouchard, R-Birmingham, Mat Dunask-iss, R-Oxford, George Hart, D-Dearborn, and David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield.

Opposed were Faxon and Robert Geake, R-Northville. William Faust, D-Westland, had an excused absence.

Non-smoker Honigman guided the bill through his Labor Committee, though he admitted he requires his own mother to smoke in the garage when she visits.

If an employer were to prohibit all smoking because it's dangerous, Honigman said, he could also prohibit skiing and parachuting because they too are dangerous.

Bouchard, though backing the bill, said smokers should be charged more for health insurance "if they want to take that risk."

DILLINGHAM said half his mail was unsigned because smokers fear retaliation for supporting his bill.

"There is an absolute push to control a person's behavior beyond the workplace. There are help-wanted ads that say, 'If you smoke, don't bother to apply,'" said Dillingham.

That refusal to hire "falls basically on those most in need of a job — the poorly educated, blacks and women," he said.

If it becomes law, Dillingham's bill would:

- Prohibit employers from requiring that employees and applicants refrain from using tobacco outside the workplace.

- Prohibit employers from discriminating against tobacco users in compensation or promotion.

- Limit no-tobacco rules to the workplace — defined as "an area owned or operated by an employer or serving as a place of work for employees."

- Allow employers to have a life and health insurance policy "charges tobacco users more or otherwise makes distinctions among employees regarding the type of coverage or the cost of coverage based upon the employees' use of tobacco products."

WITH THE Senate nearly half-empty, anti-smokers restricted the Senate smoking area making the parties' caucus rooms off-limits for cigarette breaks.

The rule passed 11-3 with 24 members absent or excused.

Avoiding housework is a man's duty

ONE OF my favorite country and western songs is "Put Another Log on the Fire." It's a wonderful hillbilly lament about why some guy's wife is leaving him, because she does all the work around the house.

It's also one of those songs that hits home. It was running through my mind when my wife forced me to watch a segment of ABC's "20/20" on men and women sharing housework.

I watched under protest. That was Friday. By Sunday afternoon my wife was on a cleaning rampage, while I sat in the back room drinking Jim Beam and listening to my favorite country song.

I plead guilty to being a husband who not only doesn't do his share of housework, but doesn't even notice that things need to be done.

A wet towel on the bathroom floor only means I've got one more thing to step around when going to shave. Laundry on the bed means I've got one more obstacle on my way to bed. It just never occurred to me to put it away.

This wasn't an overnight process. It was a long journey to the blissful state of doing no housework. The irony is that my wife was the travel agent for the trip.

I found shortly after getting married that she and I had different standards of cleanliness. Her kitchen makes an operating room seem dirty, meanwhile, my idea of tidy is being able to walk through a room.

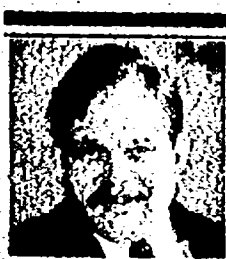

So, being a sensitive guy, I allowed her to retain her standards. Since then it's been a free ride.

The basic theory to operate under to avoid housework is to screw it up. That way you won't be asked to do it again.

But there are some ticklish situations that can arise when the basic theory doesn't work.

Here's a list of ways to handle them:

- Dishes. Put them away in the wrong cupboard. The woman in your life will never find them and never let you do the dishes again. It also helps to break a couple.

- Laundry. Make sure to mix the dark colors with the white stuff. Once you turn her best tablecloth blue, you'll never be asked to do that job again.

- Kitchen floors. Sweep the Cheerios under the stove. You'll end up with mice, but then you'll never have to do the floors again.

If those techniques fail, lie. It works. And the bigger the better. My lie is that my wife doesn't really clean the house, she just moves the stuff into the basement or the garage. When it lands in either of those two places, it's then my responsibility.

So, I just tell her that I'm really the one who cleans the house.

Those work for me, but there are some poor guys who are married to feminist types who have the 50-50 view of housework. A friend of mine with a wife like that had his own technique. He used tire rotation as an out.

He told her that if she wanted him to do half the housework, then she would be responsible for rotating the tires on her car. And this came from a guy who didn't know a dip stick from a fiddle stick.

It worked, however, he did end up having to rotate the tires on his and her car, a task he had never done before.

It was worth it. It gave him and me time to spend our Saturday afternoons drinking beer and watching football at a bar.

There are priorities in life.

Jeff Counts is the editor of the Plymouth and Canton Observer Newspapers.

A look at life in a 'healthocracy'

Jack Gladden

NEWS ITEM: WASHINGTON — The Food and Drug Administration is proposing strict food labeling regulations that would allow consumers to tell at a glance the level of fat, sodium, calories, cholesterol and fiber in a product.

The proposals are the FDA's answer to the requirement that it find a way to enforce the Nutrition Labeling and Education Act passed by Congress last year.

The labels, which will be required on about 90 percent of all food sold in grocery stores, could revolutionize the way Americans eat by making them more aware.

The regulations are expected to fill more than 300 pages of tiny print in the Federal Register, the government's daily publication of new and proposed rules for enforcing federal statutes.

The Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms has even gotten into the act, announcing that it will consider a petition to require nutrition labels on all alcoholic beverages.

Patricia McGrath Morris of the consumer advocacy group Public Voice for Food and Health Policy called it a "good first step to transforming the way people eat."

"Rioting" broke out in New York's Attica State Prison this evening after a prison trusty was placed in solitary confinement for violating health regulations. Prison officials said the trusty, who was working as a cook's assistant, was locked up after guards discovered he had been cooking french fries in lard and smuggling them to other prisoners.

"More than 2,000 convicts barricaded themselves in the kitchen area. A prison spokesman said they were chanting 'No more tofu, no more soy, we want Mounds and Almond Joy!'"

NEWS ITEM: MONTGOMERY, ALA. — The Alabama Supreme Court today upheld an appellate court ruling removing two children, ages 10 and 12, from the custody of their parents and making them wards of the state.

In a unanimous decision, the justices ruled that the lower court was correct in taking the children away from the parents, who had been convicted of serving them ham, eggs and red-eye gravy for breakfast over a period of four years.

The court also upheld a decision in a similar case in which the parents were convicted of allowing their children to consume whole milk, buttered biscuits, salted potato chips and charbroiled hamburgers.

In Washington, Food Czar C. Everett Koop praised the ruling as "one more positive step in our goal of achieving a death-free America." And he issued a warning to other parents who might subject their children to similar dietary abuses.

"It's unbelievable to me," he said, "that practices like this still go on in a healthocracy such as ours. But we will continue to prosecute such outrages. We will not stop until every American achieves eternal life through proper eating habits."

THE YEAR 1999.

NEWS ITEM: Federal Food and Drug agents today raided a food processing plant in Skokie, Ill., and seized thousands of cases of canned asparagus with labels that allegedly misrepresented the amount of fiber contained in the product.

Health Minister Louis Sullivan called the raid the "largest one yet in the government's continuing crackdown on unhealthy diets."

SCENE CHANGE: A restaurant in Chula Vista, Calif.

"Hi, I'm Ken and I'll be your dietary consultant this evening. Would you like something from our organic juice bar while you study the nutrition list?"

"A glass of mixed vegetable juice? Uh, well... I'll have to check your health card."

"Sorry, sir, but according to your card, your last blood pressure check was too high for the vegetable juice. I can serve you two ounces of kumquat nectar with no additives."

Good reasons now to vote

To the editor:

It seems like we are getting less for our money than we were 25 years ago.

To start, President Johnson decided to dump the Social Security fund into the general coffer. This made you feel like the jackals were coming at you and that the glowing future was starting to dim. Their excuse: it's better to do this than raise the taxes. Better for whom?

The tax committee decided we shouldn't get our car license as a deduction. Then they said we shouldn't get to deduct the tax on gasoline. They said no to interest, other than on houses, paid to banks. Next came no deduction for state sales tax. What happened to "there shall be no tax on a tax?" These people on this tax committee, do they think they are looking out for our interest? Who do they think sent them to Washington and for what reason? Get this scenario, "I'm sending you to Washington to lower my living standard because I've been operating too high on the hog." I'm sure this is their fantasy and it is so wide spread it must be contagious.

The only answer is to throw the baggage out in the next election. Limit terms of office and make sure politicians cannot return to start over again. If ever there was a good reason to vote, it's staring you right in the face.

Gordon Bredesen, Redford

Don't limit auto health care benefits

To the editor:

This week in Lansing legislators are debating changes to the present No-Fault law in Michigan. Proposed changes will substantially reduce the medical benefits provided by your automobile insurance policies. The vote will be before Nov. 15.

Presently, if you are injured in an automobile accident in Michigan you are entitled to all medical and rehabilitation services deemed reasonable and necessary for the remainder of your life. Rehabilitation can turn tax burdens into tax payers.

Hospital bills alone after a serious accident can be as much as $250,000 or more. Under proposed changes, ceilings on medical expenses would be instituted in order to reduce your premium. If you select a ceiling of $250,000, minimal, or no, funds would remain to provide for your rehabilitation and care that may be needed for the rest of your life. Can you count on the public welfare system to take care of you? Would your family be able to bear the burden?

THE FACT is the savings to you on your automobile policy would only be approximately $42 per year if you select the above limit rather than lifetime medical coverage. Our youth and underprivileged populations, those most likely to choose the least expensive option, are those in the highest risk group for catastrophic injury.

"Across the nation Michigan No-Fault is often cited as one of the best auto insurance systems in the country... 17th in average premiums nationally... only 42nd in rate increases in the last five years... compared to (rate increases of) 21 percent in California, 31.5 percent in New Jersey, and 38.2 percent in Massachusetts (over the last five years)," said Patrick Templeton of the Automobile Club of Michigan at a January 1990 Cost Containment Conference at Rainbow Rehabilitation Centers in Ypsilanti.

Only 13 percent of your current premium is for health care costs. Thirty percent is for insurance administrative overhead. There are ways to cut insurance costs without limiting health care benefits. Managed care and coordination of benefits are two such ways.

Don't let our legislators give away the best insurance deal in the country. Call the following legislators today: Representative Alma Stallworth, (517) 373-2278; Senator Paul Warner, (517) 373-7946; Senator Dan DeGrow, (517) 373-7708. Tell them to vote against Senate Bill 154 as proposed.

Piano teachers help win Lansing skirmish

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Piano teachers and child care providers applauded each others' testimony before a state Senate panel last Tuesday as they sought to remain in business.

And the Senate Local Government Committee advanced bills to keep cities from shutting them down in residential neighborhoods. "Music teachers don't have lobbyists," said Jerome Stasson, husband of West Bloomfield Township piano teacher Betty Stasson, who once was told by an ordinance officer not to give lessons at home.

"The last place you want government is sticking its nose in your home," agreed committee chair David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield, sponsor of two of the bills to clip local governments' wings. Protesting the bills were lobbyists for the Michigan Municipal League and Michigan Townships Association.

THE COMMITTEE sent to the Senate floor:

- Three bills preventing municipalities, townships and counties from prohibiting music lessons and other tutoring in a private residence. Honigman said local units still may restrict noise, signs and traffic.

- A bill preventing cities from zoning out licensed "family day care" (up to six children) and licensed "group day care" (7-12 children) from residential areas. Sponsor is Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills.

Faxon's 1990 bills covering townships and counties became law, but his cities bill lost when a couple of senators weren't on the floor on the closing day of session. The music teachers and childcare providers applauded each others' speeches on behalf of home occupations. The mood was broken by mirth when a gray mouse, barely 1 1/2 inches long, scurried from behind the senators' table, under audience chairs and out a door in the ornate fourth floor meeting room in the State Capitol.

BEN MARKS, Farmington Hills councilman representing the Municipal League, drew fire from Honigman and Sen. Jim Berryman, D-Adrian, for his and MML's opposition.

"The existence of community is sacred. Numbers are what count in local government," said Marks. "When people buy in a residential neighborhood, they don't expect a business."

"What's next?" demanded Berryman, a former mayor of Adrian. "My grandmother can't sew dresses for money?"

"We don't oppose piano teachers in homes," said Gene Thornton, lobbyist for the Michigan Townships Association. "This bill is much too broad and needs to be narrowed down. I'm not certain, with this language, that we can restrict parking, employment and signs."

"As it's written, the Michigan State University band could play in a senior citizens' apartment complex."

Honigman said he would offer floor amendments clarifying local units' right to restrict traffic, employment and signs.

THE ISSUE was raised by Betty Stasson, a 40-year veteran of teaching and the concert stage, who got national attention when her township shut her down several years ago.

'Frosty' moon signals winter

By Raymond E. Bullock
special writer

Mercury is officially at its maximum elongation (greatest apparent distance) from the sun on the evening of Nov. 18th. Unlike Venus, which was 47 degrees west of the sun on Nov. 2, Mercury never gets far from the sun; it is only 22 degrees east (left) of the sun for this elongation. This is a very poor separation and very difficult to see. A better shot at Mercury comes in the morning sky late in December.

Full Moon is at 5:56 p.m. on Nov. 21. The moon is fully lighted by the sun and rises in the northeast as the sun sets in the southwest. It will be visible all night and set at sunrise. The Tull moon of September is known as the Harvest Moon, that of October is the Hunter's Moon. November's full moon is known as the Frosty Moon and the Beaver Moon, perhaps because Indians noticed great activity on the part of beavers as they prepared for winter.

Located directly above the full moon on the 21st is the Pleiades (PLEE a dees) star cluster in Taurus. The Pleiades will be difficult to see with the bright moon so close.

LOOK FOR the moon in the east northeast after 8:30 p.m. on Nov. 23. The bright reddish star 16 degrees below and to the right of the moon is called Betelgeuse (BEE tel juice). The name of this star means "Arm of the Giant," and refers to Orion the Hunter. Orion is the brightest of all the constellations.

Betelgeuse is a red supergiant star. Red stars are old; they are nearing the end of their life cycle. Red stars are also fairly cool, as far as stellar temperatures go. Red supergiants are big. If placed where the sun is, Betelgeuse would extend out to the orbit of Jupiter.

Betelgeuse is about 520 light years away, which means the light we see tonight left the star 520 years ago. It is the 11th brightest star in the sky. To appear so bright from that kind of distance, a star has to be very intense. Indeed, Betelgeuse has a luminosity of about 14,000 of our suns. It doesn't look like it because it is so far away.

Look for Rigel (RYE gel), a bright

blue-white star 18 degrees to the right of Betelgeuse. This is a blue supergiant; it is very hot and fairly young. Believed to be around 900 light years away, Rigel has a luminosity 57,000 times that of the sun. Rigel marks Orion's left foot and is the 7th brightest star in the sky.

By going from Betelgeuse to Rigel, you passed through three stars forming a vertical line. These three form Orion's belt. Above the belt, also above and to the right of Betelgeuse, is Bellatrix (BELL a tricks). This is Orion's left shoulder. Orion is rising at an angle and his right foot, a star named Saiph (safe), hasn't quite cleared the horizon yet. Orion is one of the most easily identifiable of all the constellations.

THE BRIGHT STAR above and to the right of the moon on the morning of the 26th is Regulus (REG u lus), the "heart" of Leo the lion. Above and to the left of the moon is Jupiter.

The moon is at last quarter phase at 10:21 a.m. on Nov. 28. The moon is beginning the last quarter of its orbit around the earth. It has passed Jupiter on the morning of the 29th.

Venus passes four degrees to the north of Spica on the morning of the 30th. Watch the two during the next few months. Venus will be lower in the sky each morning. Spica will be higher.

An excellent aid for learning constellations and keeping up to date with the sky is the monthly Sky Calendar. A one year subscription is $6 and is available from Abrams Planetarium, Michigan State University, East Lansing, 48824.

Raymond Bullock is former coordinator of the planetarium and observatory at the Cranbrook Institute of Science, Bloomfield Hills. He now works for a Troy company that specializes in laser displays and effects.

Social Security benefits will increase Jan. 1

Social Security and Supplemental Security Income recipients will see a 3.7 percent cost of living increase in payments beginning in January.

The average Social Security benefit for retired workers will rise from $607 to $629 monthly. The maximum federal SSI monthly payments to individuals will rise to $422 from $407, and for couples to $633 from $610.

The increases are part of an annual automatic cost-of-living adjustment based on the consumer price index for urban wage earners.

On average, an aged couple receiving social security benefits would see their check increase to $1,067 from $1,029, and an elderly widow or widower would see her or his benefits increase to $584 from $563.

Last year's increase was 5.4 percent.

Final 4 bound Redford CC runs over Henry Ford

By Steve Kowalski
staff writer

None of Redford Catholic Central's linemen made the All-Catholic League first team, but they all made an impression Saturday on Detroit Henry Ford coach Mike Marshall.

After a sluggish first half, CC dominated the line of scrimmage in the second half and rolled to a 38-8 win over Ford in a Class AA quarter-final game. The Shamrocks led 10-8 at halftime and capped all four of its second-half possessions with touchdowns in a devastating performance at Livonia Clarenceville.

CC scored on drives of 70, 61, 30 and 34 yards in the second half and ran 31 offensive plays after halftime compared to Ford's 15. Marshall was leery about CC's All-Catholic wide receiver Frank Yoakam prior to the game but came away just as impressed with the Shamrocks' line and the senior backfield of Jeff Tibaldi and Dan Gusoff.

"They wore us down and were stronger in the trenches," Marshall said. "When you know what's going to happen and you can't stop it, you know that's what it is."

"(YOAKAM) WASN'T the problem. The problem was their offensive line and they have big backs who run strong. We need to regroup, get in the weight room and get stronger."

CC, which had 348 yards and 21 first downs, limited Ford to 95 total yards and seven first downs — six of which came before halftime. Ford's dangerous quarterback, Orlando Fortunato, didn't complete a pass football

until 10:25 remaining in the game, and several of his passes were knocked down at the line by CC's linemen.

Jason Krueger sacked Fortunato once, while Dan Kelly, Paul Nemzek and David Bruhowski combined for another CC sack. Yoakam had a fumble recovery and John Ivezic had an interception.

Tibaldi, also left off the Detroit Free Press' All-Catholic League first team despite gaining 1,005 yards prior to Saturday, finished with 119 yards on 21 carries and a second-half TD.

"I think I proved that I was an All-Catholic back," Tibaldi said. "I don't want to sound cocky but, yeah, I think I deserved it."

CC, 9-1 overall, will meet Detroit Martin Luther King in a Class AA semifinal game to be played Saturday at Chippewa Valley High School. CC beat King in last year's Class AA championship game and earlier this season routed the Crusaders, 24-6.

KING BEAT Utica Ford, 27-12, in the other Region III game played Saturday.

Henry Ford took an 8-3 first half lead after a 1-yard run by Leon Merritt and a two-point conversion pass, but the Shamrocks gained momentum for the second half with an 80-yard TD drive just before halftime.

Quarterback Chris Barbara, who completed five of 12 passes for 64 yards, kept the drive alive with an 8-yard pass to Yoakam on third down and goal from the Ford nine. Gusoff, who finished with 62 yards on 16 carries, scored on the next play and Kerry Zavagnin kicked the extra point for a 10-8 halftime lead.

Zavagnin earlier in the half got CC on the board with a 42-yard field goal, his longest of the year.

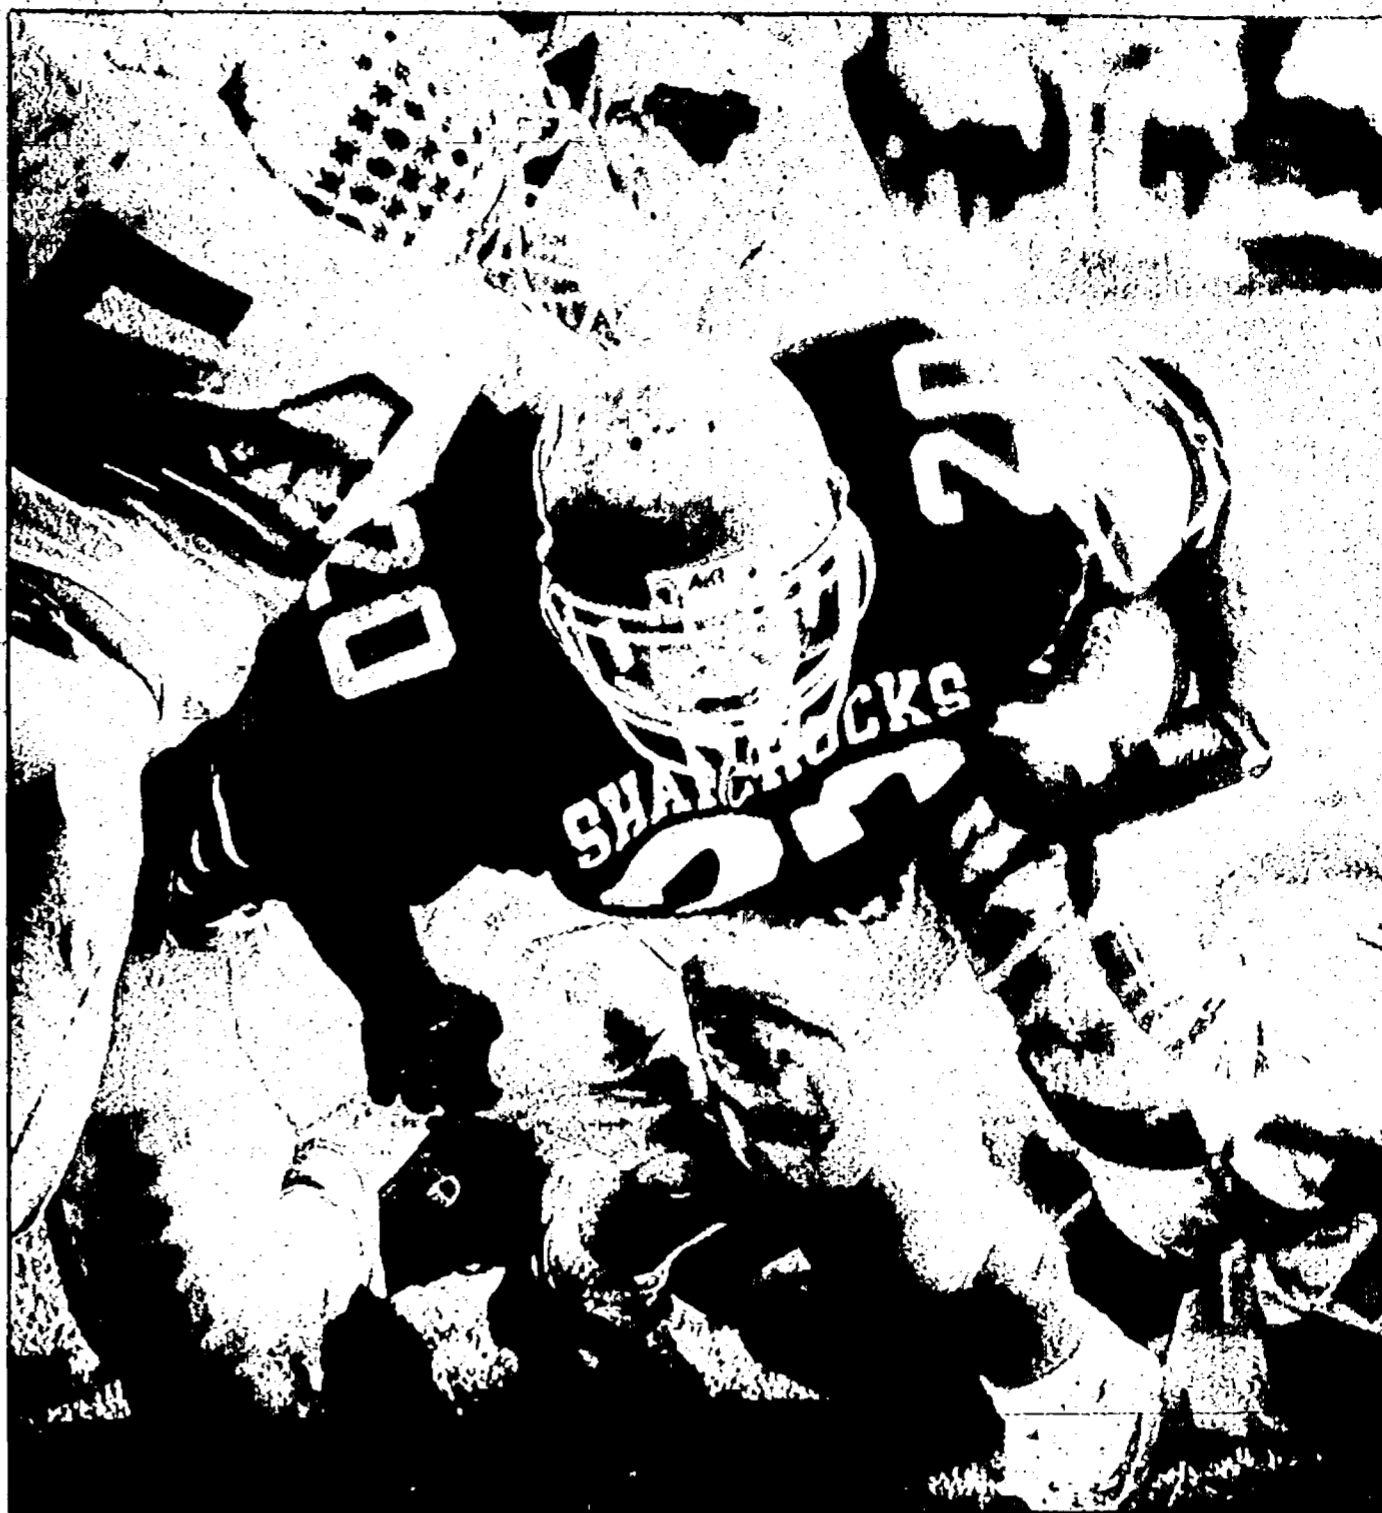

"I think the drive right before halftime was great to set the momentum for the second half," CC coach Tom Mach said. "It was a two-minute drill and we worked it very well to get us a TD and give us the spark we needed. Tibaldi and Gusoff ran real hard."

CC took the opening kickoff of the second half and drove 70 yards for a score and a 17-8 lead. Gusoff, following a block by Gary Stegall, scored from a yard out on third down to cap the drive.

AFTER CC's defense held on Ford's next possession, the Shamrocks drove another 61 yards for a TD, finishing the drive with a 6-yard run by Tibaldi. Zavagnin's extra point made the score 24-8 with 11:24 remaining in the game.

Yoakam made the score 31-8 with a 16-yard counter run with 6:21 left, and the Shamrocks finished the scoring with 1:42 left on an 8-yard run by Nemzek.

"We weren't really sure what they were doing in the first half and had problems blocking their middle line-backers," CC senior lineman Dan Cretu said. "But we made adjustments and went back to straight-on helmet-to-helmet blocking instead of doubling at the point of attack."

JIM JAGDFELD/staff photographer

Jeff Tibaldi rushed for 119 yards and a touchdown on 21 attempts as the Shamrocks pulled away from Henry Ford in the second half to win 38-8.

Northwood kills Madonna's quest

By Mike Stewart
staff writer

The eternal optimist would say the Madonna volleyball squad once again showed great improvement and should be proud of what it accomplished in the 1991 campaign.

The realist would probably agree, but might question why improvement must be so painful.

Sure, Madonna rolled to an impressive, 46-14 record — the best in the school history. Sure, the Crusaders earned their first regular-season title with a 7-0 slate, becoming the first NAIA District 23 team in five years to beat the bully of the block, Northwood Institute.

A very impressive season, indeed.

Those accomplishments, however, were hardly consoling following Madonna's agonizing five-game loss to Northwood in the district championship Saturday night at Madonna.

MADONNA LOST the opening contest 15-11 but rallied to win the next two games in convincing fashion, 15-4 and 15-6. The Crusaders held an 11-9 lead in Game 4.

It appeared the Northwomen were teetering on the edge of elimination, but they regrouped and showed that nine straight district championships don't happen by accident.

The Northwomen rallied for six straight points and pulled out the fourth game, 15-11.

Use any adjective you'd like for the final game: incredible, hair-raising, electrifying. They all work. The end result was a 15-13 Northwood victory.

The Northwomen (33-13) now travel to Cincinnati Mount Saint Joseph, where they'll compete in a Saturday, Nov. 23, bi-district match. If they win, they advance to the volleyball

NAIA national tournament and try to improve on their best-ever fifth-place finish in 1988.

"It's a shame," Madonna head coach Jerry Abraham said afterward, echoing the sentiments of many disappointed Madonna fans.

THE FACT that Madonna had beaten Northwood in three straight games less than one month ago made it even more upsetting for the Crusaders.

"They raised the level of their game a few steps since then," Abraham said. "Give them credit. They kept us off balance a little. They really played great."

In the finale, Northwood took a quick 7-4 lead. Madonna scrambled back, gaining an 8-7 advantage on the strength of three Dana Finley (NAIA player of the year) kills. The Crusaders upped their lead to 11-8 on a Finley block, a Tonia Smith kill and another Finley block.

But Northwood again jumped ahead 13-12, mostly because the Crusaders couldn't find a way to stop outside hitter Sara Slater, who had three kills during the run.

The Crusaders managed to knot the score — and a lot of stomachs — when a Finley kill made it 13 each.

Then, nearly a half hour after the game had started, a pair of consecutive Northwood kills finished the Crusaders' season.

NORTHWOOD HAD a similar confrontation with Aquinas College in the semifinals, squeaking out a 15-11 win in Game 5. Madonna advanced to the finals with a relatively easy four-game win over the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

The Crusaders might have been feeling the effects of illness. Elena Oparka, suffering from the chicken pox, didn't practice with the team all week but played Saturday. Several others were fighting the flu. But Abraham refused to use illness as an excuse.

"We played over that. It had nothing to do with our losing," he said.

In the final match against Northwood, Oparka led the team with 25 kills. Finley added 24 and Tonia Smith had 15. Smith and setter Penny Baker were named to the all-tourney team.

Northwood was paced by Slater (26 kills), Monica Brown (18 kills) and Cindy Choban (17 kills).

"We're making progress," Abraham said. "I'm exhausted right now."

This kind of improvement can wear a team out.

Warner's 42 gives Franklin OT win

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Dawn Warner added another chapter to her storied basketball career Saturday, scoring a career-high 42 points as Livonia Franklin edged city rival Stevenson for third place in the Western Lakes Activities Association playoffs.

The Patriots staged a come-from-behind 64-62 overtime victory thanks to Patty Shea's running layup with only four seconds left.

The game was one of four played on the day at Plymouth Salem.

In the championship final, the host Rocks beat rival Canton for their second straight WLAA crown, 48-41.

Warner, who set the Franklin scoring mark last year with 40 against Walled Lake Central, eclipsed her own record by hitting 14 of 26 shots from the floor, including six from three-point range. (She also made eight of 10 free throws.)

The performance capped a sterling week for the 5-foot-7 senior girls basketball

guard, who is bound next year to Western Kentucky University. On Tuesday, Warner had 37 in a 61-58 semifinal loss to Salem.

Her explosive outing did nothing but enhance her chances for Michigan's Miss Basketball.

"This one ranks right up there," said Franklin coach Dan Freeman of Warner's performance. "She certainly put on a show against Salem when she began posting up. Maybe she showed more in that game, I don't know."

IT WAS FRANKLIN'S 14th straight victory over Stevenson, and the third this season over the Spartans.

The Patriots trailed most of the way, behind as many as nine with 5:17 left in the game.

Warner's three-point shot with 2:07 left put Franklin ahead 60-58, but Stevenson's Julie Martin sent it into overtime with a basket with 1:52 remaining.

Warner hit the first basket in overtime, but Stevenson's Lori Shingledecker countered with a pair of free throws.

The Spartans played for the last shot and missed with 12 seconds left. Warner grabbed the rebound and threw the ball to Shea at mid-court, who took it in the rest of the way.

"Dawn got the rebound and I knew there was still a lot of time left when I got the ball, I wasn't worried about the clock," said Shea, a senior who finished with six points.

Wendy Rynklewicz added eight for the winners, who enter state tournament play at 15-5 overall.

Stevenson, which finished the regular season at 14-6, had four players score in double figures including Shingledecker (12), Mo Drabicki (12), Teresa Sarno (11) and Karen Groulx (11).

SALEM WON THE title game behind senior center Darcie Miller's game-high 19 points.

Cyndi Platner and Emily Giuliani contributed 11 and 10, respectively, for the victorious Rocks, now 16-4 overall.

Stephanie Gray, a junior center, had 17 for the Chiefs, who finished the regular season at 16-4.

In the first game of the day, Westland John Glenn evened its overall record at 10-10 with a 46-44 triumph over Walled Lake Western.

Senior center Cathy Mruk paced the Rockets, who claimed seventh place in the WLAA playoffs, with 16 points. Western's Jennifer Gross scored a game-high 19.

Northville garnered fifth place with 62-47 victory over Walled Lake Central as Kara McNeil led the victorious Mustangs with 24. Karen Pump added 13. Bridgette Norris tallied 18 for the Vikings.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

WLAA standout

Mandi Falk of Livonia Stevenson captured two events, including the 200-yard individual medley, as the Spartans captured the Western Lakes girls swim meet. See page 2B for more details.

Davis scores 14 in Ladywood win over Foley

Livonia Ladywood used an 18-5 second quarter Thursday night to defeat host Madison Heights Bishop Foley, 61-33, in girls basketball.

Ladywood finished the regular season at 12-8 overall.

Senior guard Janet Davis led three Ladywood players in double figures with 14 points. Freshman forward Tara Overallis had 11 points and junior guard Mary Jo Kelly added 10 points.

Darcel Rasch led Bishop Foley with nine points.

LUTH. WESTLAND 61, CLARENCEVILLE 29: Senior guard Kristen Strang led four players in double figures with 17 points Thursday as visiting Lutheran Westland defeated Livonia Clarenceville.

Junior forward Lori Mackay added 13 points, freshman guard Amy Gantz had 12 points and junior center Mindy Hardy scored 11 for Lutheran Westland.

Senior guard Leandra Hoffman led Clarenceville with 14 points.

Lutheran Westland finished the regular season at 13-7 overall. Clarenceville finished at 5-15.

Lutheran Westland outscored Clarenceville 18-6 in the second quarter and 17-7 in the fourth quarter.

HARRISON 42, CHURCHILL 26: Heather Hopkins had 26 points, 18 rebounds and six blocked shots leading host Farmington Hills Harrison to a win over Livonia Churchill.

Hopkins, who was 11-for-18 from the field, scored 18 of her points in the second half.

"Her shot was falling," Harrison coach Pete Mantyla said. "She had two girls on her most of the time because they played a triangle and two defense. She rebounded real hard."

Harrison finished the regular season at 7-13 overall. Churchill finished 2-18.

Freshman forward Krista Snow added four points and 11 assists for Harrison.

Chrissy Daly led Churchill with 22 points, including 17 in the fourth quarter.

"She got real hot," Mantyla said. "We weathered her little storm. She plays and goes to the basket real hard."

Girls hoop tourney means rock-n-roll

IT'S TIME to rock 'n' roll! The state girls basketball tournament gets underway this evening with teams throughout the state vying for district titles.

By mid-week or so, the music charts should be quite clear.

What groups do I like and dislike? Well, you won't see Milli Vanilli, but there are some familiar groups on my list.

Remember kids, booster club members and fans, this is done all in fun. Don't take this personally. As Billy Joel proclaims, "I like you just the way you are."

Heck, go out and prove me wrong even though I can strike some off-beat chords.

Try to emulate 1988 Grammy Award winner "Bobby McFerrin: Don't Worry, Be Happy."

It's time to put in those Compac Discs.

This is how I see things shaping up through my Bette Davis Eyes as far as Observerland teams go. See disthot draws.

bell, could have his team primed to pull an upset or two. This team is not afraid to face the three-pointers.

MOODY BLUES

Livonia Stevenson (14-5): A tough club to figure out. Came within three against Canton and beat a good Northville club on the road. Some nights they look like world-beaters, but other nights...

RED HOT CHILI PEPPERS

Redford Thurston (13-8): The Eagles, district champions a year ago, could catch fire. Coach Mike Schuette has the talent to capture his own district and reach the Class B regional final. Could be the surprise of the area as far as advancing. Detroit Benedictine stands in the way.

THE PRETENDERS

Westland Huron Valley Lutheran (7-10): Coach Harvey Kighlinger should get his Hawks into the district finals at Detroit St. Mary's of Redford. The host Rustics, however, are unbeaten and Catholic League C-D Division champions.

THE DRIFTERS

Garden City (9-11): The Cougars could be tough at home (in their new gym). And with a victory over Glenn in tonight's opener, they could be talking district final against tourney nemesis Franklin. This team beat RU, so don't underestimate them.

Westland Glenn (9-10): The Rockets were never launched this season. An injury to shooter Karen Olack hurt, leaving most of the scoring duties to Carrie Rachwal, who has enjoyed some big games. Glenn just doesn't handle tough defensive pressure very well. However, this team is good enough to reach the district final at Garden City.

Farmington Harrison (7-13): The record is somewhat deceiving. The Hawks were not among the top eight teams in the Western Lakes Activities Association, but with center Heather Hopkins on target, Thurston could be in trouble at home.

HUMBLE PIE

Lutheran Westland (13-7): This is not a bad Class C team, but facing Birmingham Country Day in tonight's opener at Bishop Borgess is not a favorable draw. But give credit to coach Ron Gentz for believing his team can win any game.

Redford Bishop Borgess (7-12): The Spartans did not make the Catholic League playoffs, but could win their district opener against Dearborn Heights Fairlane Christian. Coach Dave Mann's team won their last three games and could make it four tonight. Country Day stands in the way on Thursday.

Plymouth Christian (14-6): The Eagles are not in the same class as Lutheran Westland, but have enjoyed a good season. Winning the Class D district at Pontiac-Oakland Catholic, however, is a monumental task.

DIRE STRAITS

Wayne Memorial (7-12): The boys season can't start soon enough for coach Chuck Henry, who has been doing double-duty at practice of late. The Zebras have had trouble scoring points. Lateefa Moore has been their most consistent point producer.

Farmington (4-16): First-round opponent Southfield (8-11) is beatable, but beyond the first round is asking a little too much out of first-year coach Brian Swinehart. The Falcons beat Harrison recently. Can lightning strike again?

Redford St. Agatha (8-12): The Aggies improved their record from a year ago and could win their district opener at Borgess (against Clarenceville), but state-Class C favorite Detroit DePorres is a definite second-round opponent.

GRATEFUL DEAD

North Farmington (5-14): The young Raiders had trouble compensating this fall for the graduation loss of All-Stater Eva Clear. Coach Lance Davis is rebuilding and the future looks brighter in 1992. Walled Lake Central should end the Raiders' season on Wednesday.

Livonia Churchill (2-18): The Chargers have a fine player in Chrissy Daly, but getting by first-round foe and city rival Franklin is a fate worse than death.

Livonia Clarenceville (5-15): First-year coach Bob Wolf will try to get his troops past Redford St. Agatha on Tuesday. The Trojans did not come close against Lutheran Westland last Thursday. That's not a good sign.

Note: Records are only through Friday.

Stevenson controls meet from start

By C.J. Rieak

Was Livonia Stevenson confident of victory going into the Western Lakes Activities Association girls swim meet finals, Friday at Plymouth Salem?

The Spartans' coach, Greg Philli, answered that when he said, "Once we won the medley relay, I wasn't too worried."

The medley relay was the meet's first event. So I guess you could say they were pretty sure of themselves.

So was everyone else, for that matter. The only team that challenged Stevenson's supremacy at all was Plymouth Canton. The Chiefs hung tough until the 11th event (out of 12), the 100-yard breaststroke, trailing the favorites by just eight points.

Unfortunately for Canton, the 100 breast happens to be one of Stevenson's strongest events. The Spartans finished first, second and fifth, with Jill Knapp winning in 1:10.50, sister Jennifer placing second (1:10.87) and Lisa Morrison taking fifth (1:13.70).

Stevenson outscored Canton 72-30 in the breast, after which Philli could smile and say, "It's over."

INDEED IT was. Stevenson won with 542 points; Canton stayed second (496), followed by Plymouth Salem (356), Northville (341), Livonia Churchill (315), North Farmington (291), Farmington Harrison (204), Farmington John Glenn (84), Livonia Franklin (79), Walled Lake Western (65) and Walled Lake Central (58).

The Spartans benefitted from two wins by Mandi Falk, in the 200 individual medley (2:14.75) and 100 butterfly (1:01.25). They also got the first Philli said was necessary — in the 200 medley relay (1:54.30).

"I wanted us to win the medley relay so we would start off right," he said. "If we lose that, it's a 12-point turnaround."

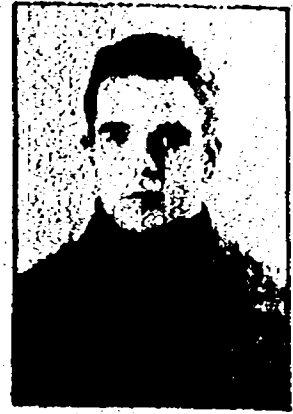

The breast, of course, made a difference, too. But Philli refused to single any Spartan out. "My whole team swam well," he said. "I can't pick a person."

In reality, the only way Stevenson could have lost — especially after a strong performance at Wednesday's preliminaries — was if its bus had a flat tire on the way to the finals.

CANTON HARDLY came out flat in the finals. "We had no business being that close to (Stevenson)," said Canton coach Hooker Wellman. "We just had great depth."

Indeed, the Chiefs won just one event: Amy Kodrik in the one-meter diving (402.70 points). But others "made some incredible drops," said Wellman — like Jeni Cooper and April Billins in the 50 and 100 free, Katie McWhirter and Susan Pritchard in the 200 and 500 free, and Jill Mellis in the 100 fly and 200 IM.

The outstanding swimmer of the meet was, without doubt, Churchill's Ellen Lessig. The senior missed last year's WLAA meet with the flu, she made up for it this year.

FIRST TEAM

Dave Clinard, junior, Farmington: Clinard was fifth in the WLA meet, fourth at the Haslett Invitational, ninth at West Bloomfield and 12th in the Oakland County Meet.

"Dave was consistent all year," coach Jerry Young said. "He's a good student and leader."

Mike Deans, senior, Farmington Harrison: Deans was 12th in the Class A regional and 37th at the state meet. He was ninth at the Redford Union Invitational, 10th at Walled Lake Western and 11th at Schoolcraft and West Bloomfield. Deans took 13th at the WLA meet.

"Mike ran consistent all year, he never ran a bad race," coach John Reed said. "He's a solid runner all-around. He's a hard worker, team leader and dedicated."

Jason Zdyrski, senior, Farmington Harrison: Zdyrski was a runner-up at the Walled Lake Western Invitational and took third at the regional and WLA meet. Zdyrski also placed 65th at the state meet and during the season had a pair of fifth place finishes at the West Bloomfield and Schoolcraft races.

"Jason's the best runner I've ever had," Reed said. "He ran fantastic all year. Other than the state meet he had a tremendous season."

Jeff Martus, senior, Livonia Churchill: Martus' best time was 16:40, coming at Cass Benton. He won six dual meets and failed to win only one. Martus was sixth at Schoolcraft College and 16th at both the regional and WLA meet.

"Jeff's a hard worker who shows by example," coach Dave Westover said.

Casey Moothart, freshman, Plymouth Canton: Moothart recorded his best time of 17:14 at Cass Benton on two occasions - in a dual meet against Walled Lake Western and in the WLA meet. His 17:14 time is the sixth best time ever for a Canton runner - and he has three more seasons to try to top that prestigious list. He was eighth in the league meet, 15th at regional (17:22) and 28th (17:30) at the state meet.

"Casey's development as a runner this year has been swift and without any real plateau," coach Jim Hayes said. "Knowing the kind of going out he is, I am sure that he will continue to improve and will attain any goal he sets for himself."

Derek Cudini, junior, Plymouth Salem: Cudini's best time of 16:49 earned him 23rd place at the Jackson Invitational, but he had a pair of Top 10 finishes: sixth in the Ann Arbor Pioneer Invitational and seventh at the WLA meet (17:10). He was 14th at the regional (17:30) and 17th at both the regional (17:26) and West Bloomfield Invitational. "Derek led the team consistently all year and was a very valuable asset to our team," coach Geoff Baker said. "His hard work ethic this year has enabled him to achieve all-conference and all-area honors for the second time. We look forward to his future success next year."

Mike Mittman, junior, Redford Catholic Central: Mittman took third in the Operation Friendship meet (17:18). He was 13th at Sturgis, 14th at the Class A regional and 33rd in the state final (17:41) after recovering from an illness.

"Once he regained some strength, he gave us some good performances when we needed them the most in the last three big races," coach Tony Magni said.

Steve Witek, senior, Redford Catholic Central: Witek, running cross country for the first time, won all four dual meets in which CC competed. Witek has running experience, however, being a two-time Observer first-team choice in the 3,200 yard meter relay in boys track. Witek was second in both the Sturgis (16:29) and Catholic League (16:35) invitational meets. He took third in Operation Friendship, fourth at regional (16:48) and ninth at state (17:06). He was sixth at the Haslett Invitational and seventh in both the West Bloomfield and Holly races. "Steve is a confident runner who thrives on competition," Magni said. "He has a great deal of determination and ambition, but he's always looking out for his teammates. He's consistent, works hard and is determined - a well-rounded individual."

Jamie Fitzgerald, junior, Redford Catholic Central: Fitzgerald saved his best for last, recovering from a mid-season demolition to the junior varsity to finish 11st at the state meet (17:45). Fitzgerald was ninth at the regional (17:09), fifth in the Operation Friendship (17:15) and 11th at the Catholic League (17:26) race.

"Jamie focuses on the big meets at the end and paced his season just as he paced his races," Magni said. "He is very well liked by everyone and a good runner who often sacrificed his personal gain for team gain."

Aaron Simpson, senior, Wayne Memorial: Simpson overcame a leg injury, which caused him to miss three weeks, to finish 20th at the Class A meet (17:48.3). He was 19th at the Class A regional and recorded his best time of 16:40 at Belleville prior to his injury.

Bowling lanes can be stuffed on Thanksgiving

THANKSGIVING BRINGS families together for the traditional turkey dinner, but it is also a day the local bowling centers stay open for people who wish to engage in their favorite pastime.

Many of these centers have scheduled some special activities for Thanksgiving weekend. Most of the events will take place in the morning, but there are also several houses with no-top bowling parties in the evening.

The action varies from one place to another and I will explain just a few of the events here. You can find out more specifics on Thanksgiving activities by calling your local bowling center.

Drakehire Lanes in Farmington Hills will host an adult-child tournament at noon Nov. 29. The cost is $15 per adult-young team. For more information call 478-2230.

Livonia's Merri Bowl Lanes will be the site of a tournament on Nov. 28 with a $100 first-place prize. The entry fee is $10 and the tournament begins at 7 p.m. Check-in time is 6:30 p.m.

Westland Bowl will have an adult-young tournament in the morning and a no-top doubles tournament in the evening on Thanksgiving Day. Call 722-7570 for starting times.

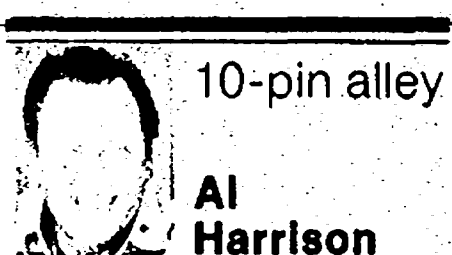

Westland's Oak Lanes will also have an adult-young tournament. For more details, call the center at 422-7420.

Bel Aire Lanes in Farmington will host a "Turkey Shoot" for adult-young teams on Thanksgiving Day at 11 a.m. The entry fee is $12; however, one bowler must be a league bowler from either Bel Aire, Mayflower Lanes or Woodland Lanes.

Check your scores! Is the arithmetic correct? It's wise to take a moment to review the league scoresheet for errors before you turn it in and sign the score cards.

This would have been good advice for Chris Campbell of the Sundowners League at Merri Bowl in Livonia. She bowled a fine 254 game and 698 series. With that being her first 600 series, she brought the scoresheet home.

At home, Campbell discovered a two-pin error by the scorekeeper. She should have been given a 256 which means a 700 series. Unfortunately, once the cards are signed and the scoresheet has been removed, the scores are official. Nice bowling anyway!

Meredith's 25 sparks SC in 93-86 triumph

After leading by as many as 13 points Friday, the Schoolcraft College men's basketball team held off a late rally and defeated Kellogg Community College, 93-86, in the Macomb College Tip-Off Classic.

The game was the season opener for the Ocelots.

Macomb pulled to within one, 71-70, with about seven minutes left but the Ocelots pulled away and met Muskegon College Saturday.

Results of that game will appear in Thursday's editions of the Observer.

Sophomore center Scott Meredith led four Schoolcraft players in double figures with 25 points and 10 rebounds. Freshman Jarvis Murray scored 18 points and led the Ocelots with 12 rebounds, while Raheem Woodson scored 18 points and Mitch Fyke 14.

Scott Coltran led Macomb with 16 points and teammate Kevin Bradley added 12 points, including a trio of three-pointers near the end of the first half. Jim Ross contributed 11 points.

Kellogg finished with nine three-point field goals while Schoolcraft netted three. Schoolcraft led 42-38 at halftime.

"It was a good first game, the kids did an excellent job," Schoolcraft College coach Dave Bogataj said. "We really started to own the boards and that was the difference."

Remedial reading help available at Madonna

The Madonna University Learning Center offers a program to help students from the first to 12th grades experiencing difficulty in school.

The center is accepting applications from parents whose children would benefit from its remedial reading program.

The major thrust of the center's activities focuses on reading and its related skills. A student's learning problem is identified through diagnostic testing, a remedial and developmental program of study is formulated and progress is continually monitored.

Application deadline is Monday, Dec. 2.

The 12-week session begins Jan. 20 and includes 12 one-hour blocks of instruction scheduled for after-school hours. Group (2-3 students) and individual sessions are available.

For more information, call 591-5180.

WAITING FOR THE DOCTOR

When you come to a rheumatologist for a scheduled appointment, you may be faced at times with an inordinate wait. The doctor is not trying to assert his importance, rather, the delay is a result of a scheduling problem faced by every rheumatologist in daily practice.

First is the unpredictable nature of joint pain and immobility. Second is that the schedule must make room for elderly persons who live alone, and who cannot drive. The office, almost daily, receives a call from a harried elderly person, living alone, who suddenly cannot walk, but must do so to continue self care and independent living. Furthermore, the person must see the doctor immediately, as now is the only time a friend or relative can volunteer to drive the patient.

A home visit later in the day is not practical. X-rays and a joint aspiration may be needed and require an office or hospital setting. The alternative of going to an agency room is expensive, and likely will take up a volunteer helper's complete day.

A crisis exists for the caller; the office must see that person now. Scheduled people will have to wait.

Most individuals with arthritis can imagine themselves as needing such attention at a future date, and accept the delay in their appointment with grace.

Chris Staels (left) initiated the CD project, "Dream Catchers, Volume One" to benefit the Bay Mills Tribal Community. He's joined in Paradise Post Studios by other collaborators on the effort: Reginald Smith, sound engineer, with Mary McGuire, Tina Micorich, Dennis Forbes, Linda Nahas and Tina Stover in the background.

Compact impact CD to benefit Native Americans

By Larry O'Connor
Staff writer

Chris Staels went on a camping trip and ended up pitching a compact disc.

"Dream Catchers, Volume One" is a 14-song compilation CD featuring a brimming array of this area's musical talent.

More so, the release is the culmination of several phone calls and tireless fund raising in what has become a unilateral effort from this area's music community — all to help the Tribal Bay Mills Community College of Michigan.

Staels initiated things. He made a Fourth of July excursion through the Bay Mills Reservation in the Upper Peninsula en route to a camp site. What he found was a rather depressing atmosphere in the Chippewa community.

"I was a bit disappointed in what I saw," said Staels, a 1979 graduate of Bloomfield Hills Laher High School. "The kind of living conditions they just seemed to need some help."

Instead of just sending a check, the chief engineer of Paradise Post studio in Farmington Hills asked bands to contribute a song to a CD to sell.

The numbers vary from folk to an anti-drug heavy metal song. Most of them center on Native Americans or the environment.

The goal is to raise $12,000 for the state's only Tribally Chartered Community College, which provides career oriented programs for Native Americans and residents of their neighboring communities. The money is matched by the federal government $2 for every dollar contributed.

PART OF the money will come from the sale of 1,000 CDs at $10 each — all proceeds go to the reservation. "Dream Catchers, Volume One" is available at area record outlets.

Other funds will come by way of live shows, such as the one Saturday, Nov. 23, at Alvin's.

Native American artist Richard Cyr will perform along with other bands who contributed songs to the compact disc — Dropping Names, Billy Brandt, John D. Lamb & the Wild Blue, Cafe Zero, Red C, Deep Blue Lake, The Hope Orchestra, Barb Barton, The Pedestrians, The Waykools, Spiral Dance, The Lovekings and Four Winds.

Each act will perform 15-minute sets. The show starts at 8:30 p.m. with admission $5 at the door.

To get that many bands on one stage is a remarkable feat in itself. Part of the reason organizers say the effort has been largely devoid of egos, mainly everyone is more than happy to help out.

"I think people are more open to this because the other (benefits) were so political," said Asta Jurgutis of Farmington Hills and lead vocalist for The Hope Orchestra. "This one is different. . . . A lot of us are getting more into the problem than just, 'Ya, we'll play.'"

Jurgutis typifies the depth in which many people have become involved.

She's made a couple of pilgrimages to the Bay Mills Reservation to meet officials in order to convey the group's sincerity in the project. She's also helped organize publicity for the CD and the upcoming benefit show at Alvin's.

Then there is Mary McGuire of Dropping Names, who went around to businesses asking for donations and raised $2,300, not to mention awareness to the plight of Native Americans.

Not all contributions have been monetary. Security personnel and stage technicians at The Palace of Auburn Hills are providing their services at Saturday's show.

Other acts are lending drum kits, amplifiers and even helping arrange limousine transportation to Saturday's show for officials of the Bay Mills Reservation.

All of which hasn't gone unnoticed by people like John Lufkins, who is tribal administrator for the Bay Mills community college.

"You get a bunch of people calling, 'What can we do to help out?'" Lufkins said. "I think they're send a bunch of clothes to sell at a garage sale or they send a check.

"THEIR EAGERNESS and dedication to do something was most impressive. You hear from people who will say, 'Yes, we'll do this,' but it never comes to fruit. These young people got together and worked hard at it and brought it to life."

Lufkins said the money will go toward a trust fund, part of an overall plan to raise $1 million during a 10-year period. The money would then be invested, with the interest used to pay for school operations.

Initially, there was wariness when Lufkins received the first call from Staels when he proposed the idea of a compact disc.

Then two weeks later, Jurgutis went to the reservation to meet with Lufkins.

Periodically, Staels called to keep Lufkins updated on the progress of the project.

First, Lufkins said Staels told him "Dream Catchers, Volume One" could raise $8,000. Then a month later, Staels upgraded the figure to $10,000 and then recently to $12,000.

"I said, 'Wow, I'm getting so I like to hear from you more and more,'" said Lufkins with a laugh.

Though the project has been the dream of Staels, he's rather low key by the early success of the effort. This is only the first part of what he sees as an ongoing quest to help Native Americans.

"The '90s especially, I think, is going to generate some awareness and provide some justice," Staels said. "I think they deserve it. I think they're owed."

"Dream Catchers, Volume No. 1" CD release party will take place 8:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 23, at Alvin's, 5756 Cass Ave., across from Wayne State University, Detroit. For information, call 832-2355.

Accidental tourists on pop front?

By Larry O'Connor
Staff writer

Amid the buzz from the frontal guitar attack, Happy Accidents' lead singer Paul Einhaus realizes he's not being heard.

He doesn't stomp his feet or throw a fit. Instead, he calmly removes the hair from his eyes and cordially asks the sound man to give his microphone a boost.

And Einhaus says thank you, not once but twice.

But don't confuse politeness for pop passivity. Happy Accidents will floss your teeth with their steel guitar strings, tearing through a gauntlet of ripe songs with unequivocal zeal on this night at Lili's 21.

"I think when you're playing live you play things faster because your adrenaline is pumping," said Einhaus, who lives in Farmington.

Happy Accidents curry contradiction. On the one hand, there is this pop band with a lead singer whose voice cracks with vulnerability as he tackles the universal postpubescent pop themes about teachers hated and mythical girls fanned.

Then there is this band — guitarist Mike Crimmins, bassist Steve Presti, drummer Jim Faulkner and Einhaus

But don't confuse politeness for pop passivity. Happy Accidents will floss your teeth with their steel guitar strings.

— with the sonic crunch of punk without the sneer or the posturing.

Listen to the outfit's seven-song compact disc, "Mouthful of the Sun," (Permanent Records, Box 173, Farmington 48332), and call them purveyors of infectious pop melodies. They won't mind.

BUT THEIR hooks won't merely sway you to their melancholia, angst-ridden world view. They police the sensibilities and offer no bandages for the wounds.

"I think what's missing in music today is that songwriters are afraid to embarrass themselves a little bit," Einhaus said. "I think you should expose yourself a little bit."

Undoubtedly, Einhaus does that as the front man for the Happy Accidents willing to drape his soul over the microphone while stabbing away at his guitar on stage.

Einhaus' doesn't immediately strike you as someone who had a career history of playground pugilism. Rather, he comes across as someone who felt alienated during the whole process of growing up and is just feeling the need to strike back.

Or, at least that's what songs such as "All My Teachers Were Failures" would suggest.

"I'm in my mid-20s and I think I would've gotten over that by now," said Einhaus, 1982 graduate of Farmington High School. "I did hate high school, but that's beside the point. It was a good title for a song."

TEENAGE REBELLION, though, did serve Staels Alphabet, Einhaus' previous band that also included Crimmins for all of a few weeks. That group was laden with punk-inspired humor, not to mention a bit of the sloppiness associated with the late-'70s sound.

Happy Accidents was formed with an intent to mold a brash '80s sound and '60s pop musings into a combustible form. Einhaus rejoined Crimmins and added Faulkner — both of whom were members of the Dancing Smoothies. Presti joined in April from Standing Shadows, replacing Steve Carlson who was on bass for the recording of "Mouthful of Sun."

The band has sought to find "the marriage" of pop and punk stylings on the stage at clubs such as Lili's, 3-D, Finney's Pub and Paycheck's. The four-man outfit has had brief tours of the Midwest. A record deal would be fine, but not the sole catalyst in performing.

Initially, one might be taken in by the group's keen pop sensibilities but the unglided passion in their performances wins people over in the long haul.

"We're not the most talented musicians. I think we're pretty good, though," Einhaus said. "It's a commitment thing and a sheer love of what you're doing."

Happy Accidents will perform with Weeping Rachel and Fingernail Moon Saturday, Nov. 23, at Paychecks, 2932 Caniff, near Jos Campau, Hamtramck. For information, call 874-0254.

Paul Einhaus (front) along with Mike Crimmins, Steve Presti and Jim Faulkner lead the Happy Accidents' sonic pop charge.

Scorsese goes off deep end in 'Cape Fear'

By John Monaghan
staff writer

The camera never stands still. It careens wildly around rooms, zooms in dramatically on characters' faces during key scenes, even tips upside down on occasion. Psychedelic-colored yellow, orange, and purple storm clouds gather over the homes of potential victims.

It's no surprise that "Cape Fear" looks more like a Ken Russell movie than the work of Martin Scorsese. The director of "Taxi Driver" and "Goodfellas" wasn't originally taken with the idea of remaking the 1962 thriller but decided to have some fun and not treat too seriously the revenge tale he inherited.

The result is a visually inspired but still nasty little nail-biter that adds an even greater psycho-sexual slant to an already sicko story.

The credits lead off with bizarre widescreen images, shot in black and white negative, of wild staring eyes, storm clouds, and birds of prey sweeping down for the kill. "The only thing to fear on those enchanted nights," remembers the young girl whose narration opens and closes the film, "is that reality would come crashing in."

That reality arrives in the cigar-puffing form of parolee Max Cady (Robert DeNiro), recently released from a 14-year stretch for rape. He has a score to settle with attorney Jack Bowden (Nick Nolte), who defended his case but withheld evidence that may have resulted in a lighter sentence.

tickets please

John Monaghan

Cady, illiterate upon entering prison, not only learned to read but devoured countless law books and the Bible. Craving emotional compensation from Bowden, he threatens to rape and torture both the lawyer's wife (Jessica Lange) and his 15-year-old daughter (Juliette Lewis).

THIS PSYCHO is smart. He knows how to manipulate the law, staying just this side of breaking any rules.

Among other things, "Cape Fear" is about the injustice of the legal system and how past sins, even for the sanest of reasons, can return to haunt you.

DeNiro is brilliant, as usual. Here he's covered from head to toe with tattoos, primitively executed symbols of Truth and Justice and a broken heart bearing the name Loretta. He tries desperately to manipulate the frazzled emotions of the Bowden women, and has some success with the daughter Danielle.

By posing as a drama teacher in an Izod sweater, Cady lures the high schooler to a secluded auditorium, where the set recalls a cottage scene from Little Red Riding Hood. Cady wins her confidences by "connecting with" her like an adult, offering her marijuana and coaxing a nervous kiss.

He tries to get at Bowden's wife, who suspects that her husband is having another affair. As played by the talented Lange, she's vulnerable but not stupid. Scorsese has enough sense to not have her fall for Cady's Big Bad Wolf jive too.

The 1962 "Cape Fear," which the film follows in most respects, was pretty nasty stuff for the time. It's not much prettier today, as Scorsese adds trademark pools of blood and a graphic torture scene.

Scorsese offers original stars Hobbit Mitchum and Gregory Peck minor roles, but really pays homage to film history with the soundtrack and camera. He actually resurrects the full 1962 Bernard Hermann score (conducted here by Elmer Bernstein). He also employs veteran cinematographer Freddie Francis, a master of unnatural colors and moving cameras.

IF "CAPE FEAR" isn't a major Scorsese film, it's fascinating from a purely visual angle. The man called "America's best director" may finally get the box office recognition he deserves. Too bad he has to finally achieve it with such crass subject matter.

"The Killer" (Hong Kong - 1990). 7, 9:30 p.m. Nov. 22-23. From Hong Kong action director John Woo, a high-octane detective thriller in which a professional hitman decides to go straight after a beautiful singer gets in his line of fire. Full of campy, colorful shootouts where they never run out of bullets. Highly recommended.

"Opening Night" (USA - 1978). 3, 6 p.m. Nov. 24. Completed in 1978, John Cassavetes' slice of backstage life didn't premiere until a decade later at the New York Film Festival. Gena Rowlands stars as an actress facing midlife crisis, devastated by the death of an adoring fan on the opening night of her new play. Joan Blondell co-stars. Concluding a five-film tribute to the maverick moviemaker.

HENRY FORD CENTENNIAL LIBRARY, 16301 Michigan Ave., Dearborn. Call 943-2037 for more information. (Free)

"Mine Own Executioner" (Britain - 1947). 7 p.m. Nov. 18. A brilliant psychiatrist in London attempts to help a disturbed war veteran while trying to sort out his own problems. Starring Burgess Meredith and Kieron Moore.

ROYAL OAK. Call 542-0180 for showtimes. ($6)

"My Own Private Idaho" (USA - 1991). The latest from Gus van Sant, the director of "Drugstore Cowboy." Here Keanu Reeves and River Phoenix play a pair of street hustlers who make their way from Washington state to Idaho on their way to Rome, where they hope to come to grips with their past. Slow-paced and inventive, though it bogs down when the director decides to borrow from Shakespeare's "Henry IV."

MAPLE THEATRE, 4135 W. Maple, Bloomfield. Call 855-9090 for showtimes. ($6; $3.50 twi-light).

"Twenty-One" (USA - 1991). Patty Kensit plays a 21-year-old English woman who confides her amorous adventures to the camera.

"Black Robe" (USA - 1991). A true story based on the adventures of Father LaFourgue and his apprentice as they struggle for survival in the first clash between Indians and Native Americans in 1634. From Bruce Beresford, the director of "Driving Miss Daisy" and "Breaker Morant."

"The Man in the Moon" (USA - 1991). The relationship between two sisters is severely tested when they fall in love with the same boy. Starring Sam Waterston and Tess Harper. Directed by Robert Mulligan.

A telling story of fascism's rise

Seriously wounded in battle, Austrian soldier Klaus Schneider spends the rest of World War I recuperating. In the hospital, he becomes friends with the doctor who runs the clinic, a psychiatrist who treats him with hypnosis. Schneider, played by Klaus Maria Brandauer, becomes adept at hypnosis and hones his natural skills as a clairvoyant.

Soon the former soldier has transformed himself into Eric Jan Hanussen, the clairvoyant who amazes audiences in the former Austro-Hungarian empire then becomes the toast of Berlin during the late 1920s and early 1930s.

The 1988 film, now video, "Hanussen" looks at the forces that led to Hitler's rise in Germany and the cost of letting others control your future, even under the pretext of being non-political.

The film opens with imperial soldiers poised in trenches, awaiting a signal that will send them charging across a cemetery to be cut down by enemy machine gun fire. The camera follows the serpentine trench looking at the frightened men as one pass the popcorn

soldier can be heard reciting the Lord's Prayer.

AT THE army hospital, the emperor is coming for an inspection of the wounded troops. One aide in the advance party agrees that the severely wounded and amputee soldiers are symbols of loyalty but complains "there are too many of them" as he directs some out of the military formation. Quite the benevolent monarchy.

While at the hospital, Schneider tells the doctor that he feels there is a deep dark void, which he fears falling in. It's an expansion of that feeling of foreboding which recurs throughout the film as Hanussen's accurate predictions — this is based on a true story — become increasingly more specific.

Defending himself on in court on charges of being a charlatan, Hanussen says he reads the question on everyone's mind. "What will happen to us?" In the political turmoil and severe economic depression the shattered countries of the former empire, everyone is at loose ends. "A void is created. People fill it with the only thing left, hatred," he says.

Hanussen himself is startled as even his off-handed remarks prove to be accurate predictions. Political parties seek to use him for propaganda purposes although he remains independent until his abilities are publicly challenged.

HANUSSEN'S fate becomes intertwined with Hitler, who shares the same birth date, as the Nazis grab control, offering structure and order to a beleaguered and often paralyzed society.

The film doesn't make excuses for the Nazi horror. Hungarian director-writer Istvan Szabo captures pain and helplessness that many Germans and other middle Europeans felt when their social structure and economy collapsed after the first world war. Too many were willing to lay blame on scapegoats and overlook the devastating dark side of the Nazi party.

Brandauer, who always seems more animated in his German language roles, is very good as Hanussen, growing confident in his abilities but trying to watch his step in tumultuous Berlin.

Brandauer was brilliant as another Nazi era performer in the outstanding 1981 film "Mephisto," winner of an academy award as best foreign language film. "Mephisto" and a lesser film featuring Brandauer, "Colonel Redl" were both written and directed by Szabo.

Time for teens to think spring

By Iris Sanderson Jones
special writer

Spring may seem a long way away to you, but seniors from Novi, Livonia, Farmington, Groves and other high schools in the area are thinking about Easter week and spring break.

They have started gathering travel brochures about Daytona Beach and South Padre Island, about cruise ships and Caribbean destinations.

Charlotte Boedighelmer of Around the World Travel in Farmington spends a lot of her time as a travel agent thinking about the young. Every year she is involved in trips for the Global Education Department at Stevenson High School in Livonia. At this time of year, she thinks spring break.

A lot of cruise lines and resorts will not accept high school students traveling in groups during spring break, because they have learned the hard way about damaged rooms and injured guests. Those that will accept groups of students often ask for a very high deposit, just in case.

"Some travel agents accept a booking and don't tell the destination that it is a spring-break booking. Sometimes the kids get to their destination and they won't let them in."

"We always tell the destination that young people are coming, so we can ensure the spring breaker that he will get what he wants."

Around the World Travel has scheduled three Easter week packages for high school students and others.

A seven-night package to Cancun, Mexico, April 18-25 costs $704 a person for three people and $774 a person for two people. The price includes roundtrip air, transfers, the Calinda Viva Hotel, plus taxes and gratuities.

A seven-night package for the same dates to the Radisson Hotel and Resort in South Padre Island costs $589 per person for four people in a room, $661 per person for three people in a room.

Charlotte thinks her cruise package aboard Royal Caribbean Cruise Lines' Song of America is of special interest, because both parents and cruise line know that the students are chaperoned by high school teachers.

"Cruise ships will book one cabin at a time but they won't normally book groups. Our group tour is sanctioned because of the way we handle it," she said. "We hold a meeting ahead of time with the students, the teachers and the parents. We ask the students to sign a letter of agreed behavior."

The price for the seven-night cruise April 19-26 is $1,095 per person for four people in a cabin, $1,193 per person for three people in a cabin. The cruise goes to Grand Cayman, Jamaica, Cozumel and Labadee.

For information, call Charlotte at 476-3433. Or contact your own travel agent for information.

If you have traveled on a high school or college spring break trip and have some advice for your peers, or if you recommend a particular spring break package, drop us a line at 22000 Springbrook, 206C, Farmington Hills, Mich. 48336.

A merry old English inn in Michigan

By Iris Sanderson Jones
special writer

Dusty's English Inn is about treed lawns and English gardens wrapped around a Tudor mansion on a grassy knoll near Eaton Rapids, Mich., but most of all it's about people.

It's about the auto magnate whose family frolicked down the sweep of lawn to the Grand River. It's about the local diners who were once groundskeepers and ladies maids on the property. It's about Dusty Rhodes, who was in the radio and newspaper business in Michigan for many years before he moved to Britain and fell in love with English country life.

Ask Dusty to show you the old photographs taken when the house was being built by Irving J. Reuter, president of Oldsmobile, especially the photo dated August 1927. Dusty was born Clarence Rhodes on Aug. 8, 1927, son of a Flint assembly worker. He was destined to be called Dusty Rhodes and he was destined to own this inn.

When I turned off M-99 13 miles south of Lansing I saw at once why this 23-room Tudor mansion, that looks like a little sister of Meadowbrook Hall in Rochester, is called an "English inn." The two-story brick mansion, with the sloping slate roofs, is straight from the midlands of England.

In England, boaters might punt along the Grand River and enter the inn from the river side, climbing uphill past the colonnaded swimming pool and the gazebo, through the stepped gardens to the house. I entered along the slate path from the parking lot.

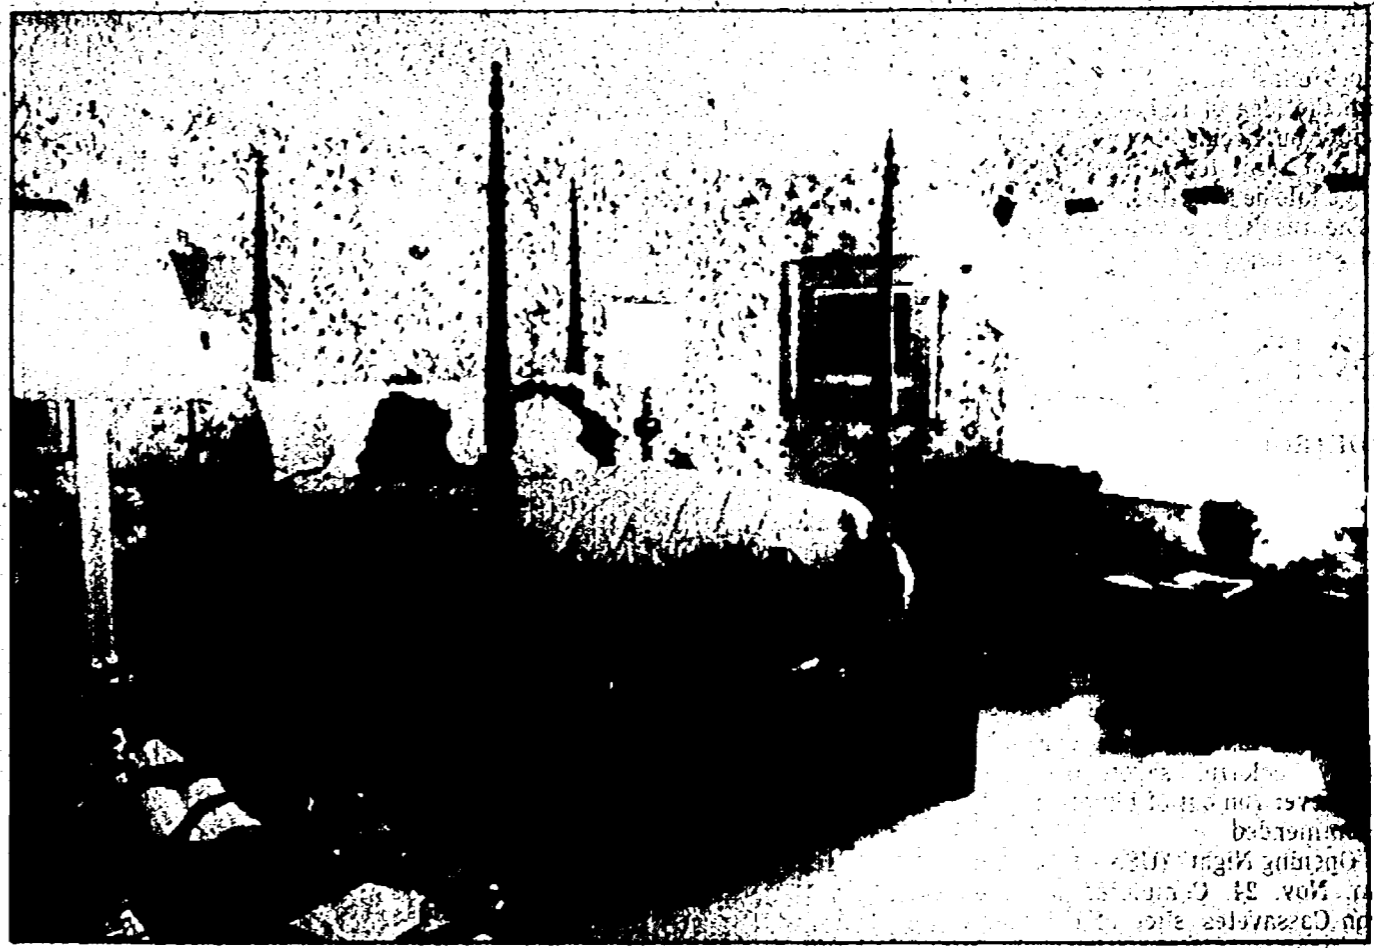

Inn worker Jane Kuderko, born and raised in Howell, welcomed me into the large open hall, which has full views left to the Devonshire Room, right to the Midford Room and up the staircase with its hunter green carpet to the second floor.

Jane led me upstairs, past rooms with names like Windsor and Avon to the end of the hall. "You're in the bathroom." At least that is what I thought she said. I had asked for their least expensive room, but I didn't expect to have to sleep in the bathtub.

It was, of course, the Bath Room, a huge green-tiled bathroom that led into a smaller 10-by-12-foot bedroom, with a four-poster bed and leaded windows that opened front and side. A bit of Dusty Rhodes whimsy. Dusty has a second home in Bath, England, so you will find small references to Bath all over the inn.

Dusty was still a television news executive when he moved to London with his wife and five children in the 1970s. He fell in love with English country life and spent his weekends exploring inns, pubs and bed-and-breakfast places. He came home to Michigan, quit the news business, opened a bakery and later a wine bar and pub in Okemos.

Dusty knows how to answer when opportunity knocks. In 1989 he heard about this mansion from the author of a bed-and-breakfast guide book. He saw the initial "R" carved for auto magnate Irving Reuter on the fireplace mantle and knew he was home.

Reuter had sold the place to the Catholic Diocese of Lansing in 1940; the bishop's chapel is now the Charles Dickens Pub. The diocese sold the house to Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Sumner in 1962. The Sumners sold it to Dusty on condition that their granddaughter could be married there the next summer.

The inn has been open for nearly two years and has become a popular dining place for Lansing people and those who know enough to turn south off I-96 near Lansing. The inn opened a full-service dining room that spreads through all its downstairs rooms this year.

The least-expensive guest room in the house is the Bath Room, $75 for two; the most expensive is the Windsor Suite, $155 for two. Dinner entrees, which include salad, vegetables, potatoes and bread, range from $13.50 to $18 during Monday through Saturday seatings or at the special English Sunday lunch. Weekday lunches feature soup, salad and sandwiches.

For information, contact your travel agency or Dusty's English Inn, 728 S. Michigan Ave., Eaton Rapids, Mich. 48827 or call (517) 663-2500.

ABC's of turkey cookery

Anyone in the food business has heard all there is to hear about the tragedies involved with preparing the traditional holiday turkey. The stories of cooking the bird with the bag of giblets and neck intact abound.

Today, this space will be devoted to the simple basics of turkey cookery. If you need recipes for "caper-basted turkey with lingonberry stuffing" look elsewhere.

During this time of year, turkeys are available two ways: frozen and fresh. If you're just starting out, you'll probably be buying a frozen bird because they are the least expensive. Be prepared to pay from 69 cents to upwards of $1.39 per pound for a basic frozen turkey. Prices start at $1.59 per pound for a fresh turkey, and the more organic and naturally fed, the higher in price they are.

BEFORE COOKING, you will have to defrost a frozen turkey. The safest way to defrost a frozen bird is to remove it from the freezer 3 days before cooking and allow it to defrost slowly in the bottom of the refrigerator. Countertop or sink defrosting is not recommended because bacteria loves room-temperature food. Contrary to popular belief, microwave defrosting is not defrosting but actually "cooking" at a lower power, so last-minute nuking is not advised.

After the turkey has been defrosted, remove it from the package. This is a feat in itself, especially when trying to wrestle with a 30 pound dead-weight bird. Using your best ingenuity, remove that metal bracket that holds the leg tips close to the body cavity. It's very difficult but should be done. Now reach inside the cavity and search the crevice as far as you can reach, looking for a plastic or paper baggie filled with the giblets and neck. Remove this bag and rinse the bird under cold running water.

Now check the entire skin on the outside of the bird, looking for misplucked pinfeathers. Remove them with a knife or tweezers if necessary. If the bird is to be stuffed, it does not need to be seasoned before roasting. If you wish to cook an unstuffed bird, lightly salt and pepper the inside of the cavity. Do not stuff the bird until ready to roast.

If the bird is to be stuffed, pack the stuffing loosely into the bird, as the stuffing will expand during roasting.

When it comes to roasting the bird, momma always recommends placing the bird on a rack in a roasting pan. You can purchase poultry racks, but I have found that a cheap stainless steel cake rack works just as well.

PLACE THE bird breast side up on the rack and brush with butter, margarine, vegetable oil or shortening or a combination of any and all. Do not add water and most of all, do not cover. This is a highly debatable point, as momma covers and I don't. I think the bird tastes "steamy" rather than "roasty" when covered. Roast the bird in a 325-degree oven. You can, if desired, place a tent of foil over the bird when it begins to turn golden to keep from over-browning it.

After about one hour of cooking, baste the bird with the pan drippings or continue to brush with fat mixture or a very rich chicken broth. Continue basting bird every 30 minutes until cooked.

The most accurate method for doneness is checking with a meat thermometer inserted in the most meaty part of the bird, away from a bone. When it reaches 185 degrees, the turkey is done. Cooking times are: 6-8 pounds, 3-3 1/2 hours; 8-12 pounds, 3 1/2-4 1/2 hours; 12-16 pounds, 4 1/2-5 1/2 hours; 16-20 pounds, 5 1/2-6 1/2 hours; 20-24 pounds, 6 1/2-7 hours; 24-28 pounds, 7 1/2-8 hours. Subtract 30-45 minutes for unstuffed birds.

Maltese relish home-cooked, varied cuisine

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

THE CUISINE of Malta is as varied, adventurous and colorful as the history of the Mediterranean nation itself.

Like the people of Malta, Maltese food is straightforward and inviting. Since the sixth century, the archipelago 58 miles south of Sicily has been occupied by the Phoenicians; Romans; Arabs; a military order of the Roman Catholic Church; the French; and from 1814 to 1964, the British.

MALTESE COOKS have capitalized on the best of each culture, excelling with the most plentiful foodstuffs — dishes such as rabbit, octopus and fish.

Mainstays include homemade soups; vegetables like stuffed artichoke and eggplant; pastas; meat pies; pastry; and desserts made with cheeses, custard, dates and macaroons.

An accomplished cook, Livonia's Michelle Pisani lived in Malta from the age of 5 until she moved back to the United States with her family a few years ago at the age of 20.

In a recent interview, she didn't disagree with a reporter who opined that Maltese food is delicious.

"That's why everyone in Malta is overweight," said Pisani with a laugh. "The Maltese love to eat. I've been on a diet most of my life."

It's no accident that the Maltese relish their cuisine, and spend a large amount of time preparing three home-cooked meals a day. Food wasn't always as bountiful as it is now.

"During the war (World War II), people had to eat dogs and cats, or they would have starved," said Pisani, adding that Malta was one of the most heavily bombed targets in the war. "Our sugar, flour and eggs were rationed until 1975 when the English finally left."

Years ago the Maltese weren't as

Upcoming events, dinners

One of the largest Maltese communities in the country took root in Detroit's Corktown near Trumbull and 12th Street, eventually branching out to surrounding suburbs.

The Maltese-American Benevolent Society still thrives in Corktown, the city's oldest neighborhood, at 1832 Michigan Ave.

The club is a favorite gathering place for pool, card and bingo-playing retirees, and on the first Friday of every month, the society serves a dinner preceded by a Mass.

For more information, call 961-8393.

Members of the American Maltese Community Club of Dearborn at 5221 Oakman Blvd. in Dearborn also gather the first Friday of every month for a 7 p.m. Mass and a meal.

Upcoming events at the club include the Miss Malta Contest Nov. 30, a Children's Christmas Party Dec. 22 and a New Year's Eve Party Dec. 31.

For more information, call 846-7077.

concerned about their sugar or cholesterol intake.

"A lot of people my dad's age are experiencing heart trouble. There were years they didn't eat balanced meals. People now are getting to be more conscientious about healthful eating," said Pisani, who in Malta worked as a secretary for the man who is currently prime minister.

Pisani now buys her octopus and rabbit at Kroger or Meijer. In Malta, it was much simpler.

"My brother would fish for octopus, knock it against a stone, clean it and barbecue it. We would add tomato sauce, bay leaf, and red wine. You can't get any fresher than that," said Pisani, whose Maltese-born parents met in Detroit.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Mary Ann Alcala learned how to make baked macaroni, a family favorite, at her mother's side.

Pisani learned not to name or play with the rabbits and chickens her dad raised in the backyard. "My brother-in-law would come over, kill them and skin them, and we wouldn't talk to him for a week," she said, admitting that rabbit is more tender and flavorful than chicken.

At John Hancock in Farmington Hills where she works, Pisani's Maltese "timpana" is a hit on ethnic food days.

"They always want that, and pastizzis," Pisani said of her co-workers at Hancock. Timpana is baked macaroni (see accompanying recipe) covered with a layer of pastry crust.

kitchen — vending machines.

Just think of the possibilities, no fuss, and best of all, no complaints as each family member would be able to simply press a button and get exactly what he or she wanted to eat. Now before you start ripping out your kitchen cupboards to accommodate a bank of machines, read on, as this week's Winner Dinner is an easy to make, delicious meal that is sure to be enjoyed by all.

SUBMITTED BY Nanine Savole Flechsig of Birmingham, this week's menu includes recipes for Spinach Lasagne served with a tossed salad and garlic bread and Swedish Creme with raspberries.

The mother of two young children, Flechsig and her husband, Peer, have lived in Birmingham all of their lives. Flechsig assists her husband at home with some of the paper work generated from his company, Peerless Painting and Improvements, a building and contracting company that he started more than five years ago.

He recently added a second story to their bungalow which took over seven months to complete. Flechsig laughingly commented that while he built a house, she built a baby and they were thrilled to be able to complete both projects about the same time.

Flechsig enjoys gardening in her spare time, but mostly loves being with her children. Although she enjoys baking cookies and cakes, her husband does most of the cooking on a daily basis — lucky girl!

Nanine Savole Flechsig, the busy mother of Jack, 4 months, and Leigh, 4, presents Spinach Lasagne, a meatless entree.

IN THE summer, they enjoy boating and often take their speed boat to her husband's family cottage on Anchor Bay.

Thank you, Nanine Flechsig, for sharing your recipes with us, and congratulations on being selected this week's Winner Dinner Winner.

Until next time, have a happy Thanksgiving, and please keep those Winner Dinners coming.

WINNER DINNER

Recipes

SPINACH LASAGNE

This is a tasty, meatless dinner that can be made in advance and only takes minutes to assemble as the noodles do not have to be precooked.

This recipe makes about 12 pieces with about 7.5 grams of fat per piece, 5 grams if non-fat cottage cheese is used.

15 ounces low-fat ricotta cheese or non-fat cottage cheese
2 cups shredded mozzarella cheese, divided
1 egg
1 package frozen, chopped spinach, thawed and drained, 10-ounce size
1 teaspoon oregano
salt and pepper to taste
1 package lasagne noodles, uncooked, 16-ounce size
1 cup water
1 jar spaghetti sauce, 28-ounce size (Ragu Fine Italian Sauce has a lower fat content than others)

In a large bowl, mix the ricotta and 1 cup mozzarella cheese, egg, spinach, salt, pepper and oregano. In a 13-by-9-by-2-inch greased baking dish, layer 1/2 cup of the sauce, a layer of the noodles and 1/2 of the cheese mixture.

Repeat and top with noodles and sauce and the remaining mozzarella to make three layers.

Pour the water around the edges. Cover tightly with foil and bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour 15 minutes.

Let stand for 15 minutes before serving.

TOSSED SALAD

1/2 head iceberg lettuce

1 head red leaf lettuce
1/4 pound mushrooms
1 green pepper, cut into thin strips
1 tomato, cut into wedges
1 red onion, cut into rings
Wash and drain lettuce. Cut up mushrooms, green pepper, onion and tomato, mix with lettuce. Red lettuce adds color to the salad. You also might want to try radicchio or grated red cabbage.

ITALIAN DRESSING

1/2 cup oil
1/4 cup red wine vinegar, or part lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon Dijon mustard
1 small clove garlic, finely minced
1 scallion, minced
1/2 teaspoon oregano
salt and pepper to taste
Place all ingredients in a jar with tight-fitting lid, or salad dressing cruet. Shake well before serving. Makes 1 cup.

For variety, try olive oil or different flavors of vinegar like white wine vinegar or balsamic vinegar. Different kinds of mustard, and seasonings like red pepper flakes, also add zip.

SWEDISH CREME WITH RASPBERRIES (or your favorite fruit)

Totally fat free, this easy dessert can be whipped up in minutes.

1 small package sugar free vanilla pudding
1 cup skim milk
1 cup non-fat sour cream substitute
1 cup non-fat plain yogurt
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
Combine all ingredients and beat at high speed for 2 minutes. Chill for 3-4 hours and serve with fresh fruit sprinkled on top.

Cooks share baked macaroni, other family favorites

BAKED MACARONI
Imquarrun Fill Form

This recipe is delicious served with beef vegetable soup.

2 pounds ground chuck
8 finely minced garlic cloves
29 oz. can of tomatoes chopped in a Cuisinart or cut up
2 12-oz. cans of tomato paste 18 oz. can tomato sauce
salt and pepper
2 pounds mostaccioli or ziti
8 eggs
½ cup grated parmesan cheese

Brown the ground chuck, drain off all fat, and set aside. Saute minced garlic in a small amount of light olive oil. When yellow, add the meat to the garlic. Add chopped tomatoes, tomato paste, the tomato sauce, and salt and pepper to taste.

Simmer, stirring often, for 45 minutes to an hour. Put aside and let cool. Yield is 3 to 3½ quarts. Use 7 cups for baked macaroni recipe, freeze remainder and use for any pasta.

Prepare a 9 x 13 2-inch deep pan with Crisco on bottom and sides. Then dust with flour.

Cook two pounds of pasta. After macaroni is cooked, rinse with cold water to avoid sticking. Mix the sauce and the macaroni together in an eight-quart pot. Whip eggs and parmesan cheese. Add mixture into sauce and pasta.

Pour into prepared pan and bake at 400 degrees for 35 minutes, or until slightly brown on top.

Low fat version: Prepare the sauce the same way. Spray the pan with Pam instead of Crisco.

Instead of eggs, use two cartons of thawed Egg Beaters. Decrease grated parmesan cheese to 1½ cup. Bake the same way.

FISH SOUP
(Aljotta)

2 pounds fish, cut up (any kind can be used)
1 medium onion or 1 small leek
1 clove crushed garlic or 1½ teaspoons garlic powder
2 tablespoons olive oil
1 bay leaf
1½ teaspoons mint
4 tomatoes or 2 tablespoons tomato paste
salt and pepper
3 pints of water

Slice onions and fry in oil with crushed garlic. Add tomatoes or tomato paste, bay leaf, mint, salt and pepper. Add fish and cover with water. Bring to a boil. Cook slowly until the fish is done.

1½ cup rice may be added, if desired.

Potato, celery and carrots may be cooked in salt water and put into soup.

RIKOTTA PASTIZZI

Filling:
1 pound of Ricotta cheese
1 egg
1 tablespoon grated cheese dash of salt and pepper

Mix the filling ingredients together. Set aside.

Cut pastizzi dough roll (recipe below) into one and one half inch sections. Lay each piece on its side so that the circles are facing up. Spread each circle out carefully so as not to disturb circles. Now put approximately one tablespoon of filling in the middle. Fold both sides over the filling. Press each end down.

Place on an ungreased cookie sheet 1½ inches apart. Bake at 350 degrees fahrenheit for one hour or until brown.

bread, approximately 15 minutes or knead together by hand for approximately 20 minutes. It should feel slightly moist and as soft as a baby's behind. Cover and let stand for one hour. Cut about one eighth of the dough. Open like pizza dough on a table that has been slightly greased. Pull and spread in all directions a little at a time until dough is very thin. Spread a generous amount of shortening all over the top of the dough. Start at one end of dough and roll, pulling back and up as you roll. Repeat this process adding each layer to the same roll until the roll is about 1½ inch thick. Cut to about 8 to 10 inches in length. Refrigerate or freeze until ready to use.

When ready to roll out, cut the dough roll into one and one half inch sections. Lay each piece on its side so that the circles are facing up. Spread each circle out carefully so as not to disturb circles. Now put approximately one tablespoon of filling in the middle. Fold both sides over the filling. Press each end down.

Place on an ungreased cookie sheet 1½ inches apart. Bake 1 hour at 375 degrees. The pastizzis should be lightly browned.

¼ teaspoon almond extract
¼ cup small pieces of chocolate
¼ cup almonds slivers

Mix together ricotta and sugar until smooth. Add all other ingredients. Put in the refrigerator. Keep cool.

Fill into shells (recipe below). Roll in powdered sugar and dip ends into chopped nuts or chocolate pieces.

Fill shells the same day you are going to serve them.

Cannoli Shells:
2 cups flour
2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup wine water

In a small bowl, mix flour and butter with fork until butter is mixed well. Add wine and water. Mix with hands. Knead until dough is smooth. Mix dough into a ball. Cover. Let stand for one hour.

Special molds are needed to make shells. They are called cylinders. They are made of tin and are about 4 inches long and ¾ inch in diameter and open at both ends.

Cut a small piece of dough about ½ inch square. Roll very thin. Place each piece of pastry over cylinder, wet ends and press together. Fry in deep hot oil, only about 30 seconds. Do not burn or overcook.

Use tongs, hold shells in oil for a few seconds, so they do not open. Drain on a paper towel. Remove tins. Cool and fill when ready to use. Do not cover or refrigerate.

Maltese relish home-cooked food

Mary Ann Alcala, baked macaroni is a treat her Maltese-Mexican family look forward to on Sundays and holidays.

Alcala's husband, sons, daughters-in-law and grandchildren "love Maltese food, especially baked macaroni. It's a favorite," said Alcala of Farmington Hills.

Alcala's baked macaroni recipe (see recipe this page) was difficult to put on paper, because she learned it not from a cookbook, but at her mother's side. It was a recipe Josephine Cassar knew by heart from the time she was a girl growing up in Malta.

Alcala has changed the recipe a little. "It's derived from my mom's recipe, but everyone when they cook puts a little bit of themselves into it. I don't put pork in, and I add tomato sauce. But it's basically my mother's recipe," she said.

In the Cassar household in Corktown where Alcala spent her childhood, home-cooked family meals were a high priority. Homemade red wine and bread baked by her father were served, and Alcala was in heaven when her mom made her favorite — baked rice. That dish is made with long grain rice, milk, pork, beef, bacon, ricotta cheese, eggs, tomato sauce and seasoning.

"We always ate at home. We rarely went out to eat," said Alcala, adding that it was the same in most Maltese households in Corktown.

"On Sundays, my mom went to early Mass, then got dinner ready. We had dinner at 1 p.m. In the afternoon, we'd go for a ride, to Belle Isle or Elizabeth Park. In the evening, my mother would warm up whatever she had if we were hungry. Then I'd do my homework, or listen to the Lux Radio Theater with my family."

In Malta, the family, Catholicism, education, and family meals still occupy center stage. "Malta just recently got diet Coke. We had no junk food whatsoever," said Pisani. "And we didn't have color TV until five years ago. People take a lot of things for granted in this country."

Trivia, tips, cider-glazed turkey breast recipe

Thank you readers for making our Turkey Tale essay contest a success. We received many entries and our sides are still sore from laughing. Look for the winners, and their essays in next week's Taste.

Turkey trivia — Domesticated turkeys cannot fly. Wild turkeys can fly for short distances up to 55 miles an hour and can run 24 miles an hour.

According to the National Turkey Federation, in 1991, about 300 million turkeys were raised. They "guesstimate" that 45 million of those turkeys were eaten at Thanksgivings, 23 million at Christmas and 19 million at Easter.

FOR THOSE of you headed to the store to buy the big bird, allow at least a pound of uncooked turkey per person when buying a whole turkey.

As far as feasts go, Thanksgiving is one of the most economical. The American Farm Bureau Federation reported that the traditional Thanksgiving meal cost $28.85 to serve 10 people in 1990. The menu included turkey, stuffing, sweet potatoes, peas, rolls, cranberries, a relish dish, beverages and pumpkin pie with whipped cream.

If you have a small family, hate dark meat, or are counting calories, here's a wonderful recipe: Lynne Loren of West Bloomfield sent in. Made with apple cider, and two kinds of apples, this turkey breast recipe is sure to please. The recipe is from Elwin's Tu-Go in Royal Oak.

tidbits
Keely Wygonik

CIDER-GLAZED ESCALLOPES OF TURKEY BREAST

Yield: 6 to 8 servings

1 small or one-half of large fresh turkey breast, skin removed ¼ cup smooth Dijon mustard
¼ cup canola oil coarse-ground black pepper
1 bay leaf
¼ cup apple cider
¾ cup de-fatted chicken stock

8 delicious apples (4 red & 4 yellow), cored & cut into rings or wedges

Preheat oven to 475 degrees. Combine the mustard and canola oil, and smear all over the turkey breast half. Shake the pepper evenly all over (amount of pepper, your choice). Place the turkey on a roasting rack on a baking sheet or shallow baking pan. On the bottom of the baking sheet, place the bay leaf, cider and chicken stock.

Place in the oven and roast for about 20 minutes. Reduce heat to 325 degrees and cook for approximately 45 minutes (check for doneness), basting periodically with pan liquids. Ten minutes before it is completely cooked, add the apple pieces to the bottom of the pan to cook. When done, remove turkey and cut into an equal number of scallops with a serrated knife. Place them on a warmed platter. Remove the cooked apples and garnish turkey with them. Remove bay leaf from pan juices, place juices in gravy boat and serve with turkey.

Make chicken stock using chicken pieces that have been skinned and have had all fat removed.

TALK WITH your children during dinner, and they just might grow up to be scholars. A survey of National Merit Scholars found that these outstanding children come from homes where conversation is the heart of the daily dinner hour. Positive conversation, not just eating should be the focus of the meal.

Tip of the week, compliments of Betty Crocker. Thanksgiving turkey will taste best if roasted on Thanksgiving Day. If you're trying to save time, mix all dry ingredients — bread crumbs and spices for stuffing and have them ready to mix with remaining ingredients just before stuffing the turkey on Thanksgiving Day.

What it means when the label says reserve wine

Value-laden descriptors adorn the modern-day, domestic wine label. The consumer is faced with Reserve, Proprietor's Reserve, Private Reserve, Private Selection, Cellar Selection, and Special Selection to name a few. If vineyard designations and proprietary names are added, the array of descriptive words borders on bewildering.

Do the host of wines bearing such designations merit the distinction they confer? Are these loaded terms persuasive marketing devices for the uninitiated wine drinker?

Italy has particular laws governing the use of the descriptors riserva and riserva speciale on the label. Riserva wines are aged in wood one year longer than a non-reserve wine. Riserva speciale wines receive two to three years' additional aging in wood before bottling.

DOMESTIC WINE laws do not regulate the use of reserve label designations and only a few wineries employing them make an effort to inform consumers of their meaning. Are these phrases a guarantee of high quality or merely a sales gimmick?

Sonoma County's Simi Winery looked to Webster's to define their focus. "Reserve means to set apart or to hold for the future," says president Zelina Long. "This clearly expresses our intention — to create wines of exceptional quality that will age well."

"The concept of a reserve wine is always relative to the producer's regular line of wines," says Jim Clendenen, winemaker at Au Bon Climat Winery, Los Olivos, Calif. "It means nothing in relation to products produced by other wineries. The only thing a well-intentioned winery can guarantee is that their reserve wine will be closer to an optimal expression of their stylistic intentions than will any of their regular bottlings."

focus on wine
Eleanor and Ray Heald

"Private Reserve has traditionally designated our best wine," comments Beringer Vineyard's winemaker Ed Sbragia. "We want to be able to put our best lots of wine into a blend in order to make the best wine possible in a particular style."

"Developing reserve wines gives us a chance to take small quantities of the very best wines we produce and craft them into special wines with no compromises," says winemaker Paul Dolan of Fetzer Vineyards. "Instead of just disappearing into our regular wine program, they provide us with a challenge and enhance our image as a winery producing a super-premium product."

tool, successful or not, depending upon the public's gullibility.

Certainly, the term reserve has been degraded by some wineries seeking to justify a higher price rather than greater quality.

Special designations have been overused on wine labels, and the public has been misled in certain cases. How about Reserve White Zinfandel or Reserve White Grenache? Give us a break!

"Let the consumer beware!" says one winemaker. "The consumer paying $5 a bottle for a reserve wine is having delusions of grandeur. The customer paying $20 plus buys by the reputation of the individual product."

Understanding of what reserve wines mean has been lost in large volume, inexpensive wines that use the same designations. If they haven't been lost, they've been de-based.

Basic turkey stuffing, gravy

See Larry Janes Taste Buds column on Taste front.

BASIC BREAD STUFFING
1½ cups chopped celery, with leaves
¾ cup finely chopped onion
¾ cup butter or margarine
9 cups soft bread cubes or dry stuffing mix

1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ground sage
½ teaspoon dried thyme
½ teaspoon pepper
Sauté onion and celery in 2 tablespoons of butter or margarine until tender, about 4 minutes. Melt remaining butter or margarine. Combine all ingredients in a large bowl and mix well. Makes 5 cups stuffing, enough for an 8-10 pound bird.

For a different stuffing:
a) Try cornbread chunks instead of bread for a cornbread stuffing.
b) Add 3 cups chopped apples and ¾ cup raisins that were soaked in water, wine or liquor for 1 hour for an apple-raisin stuffing.

c) Stuffing can be cooked in a lightly greased casserole. (Cover and bake at 325 degrees for 1 hour.)
d) Giblet stuffing is very tasty. Simmer the heart, gizzard and neck from turkey in water or white wine for 2 hours at a slow simmer. Drain. Remove neck. Chop giblets and add to any stuffing mixture.

e) For a sausage stuffing, crumble and brown 1 pound sausage and drain before mixing with any bread stuffing.

TURKEY PAN GRAVY
2 tablespoons turkey drippings
2 tablespoons all purpose flour
½ cup liquid (turkey juices, broth, water)

Place turkey drippings in a pan and stir in flour. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until mixture is smooth and bubbly; remove from heat. Stir in liquid, then slowly whisk in milk, a little at a time. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Stir 1 minute. Sprinkle with salt and a hefty pinch of pepper. Makes 1 cup gravy.

IF THE reserve designation does not correspond to a special quality in the wine, then it is just a marketing

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

DEADLINES: 5 P.M. TUESDAY FOR THURSDAY EDITION / 5 P.M. FRIDAY FOR MONDAY EDITION

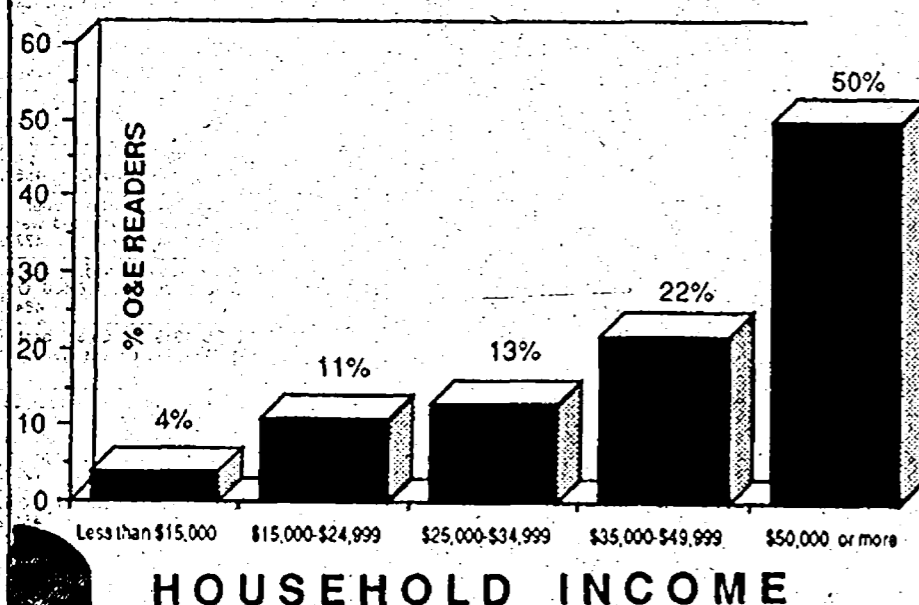

How interested are you in selling your home?

Interested enough to spend a few moments and discover the best place to advertise the fact that your home is for sale?

Good. We knew you were intelligent.

In fact, more than 40% of our readers have college degrees or better.*

And if knowledge is power, let's look at a few powerful facts: this newspaper, the one you're reading right now, reaches some of the most affluent households in Wayne and Oakland counties:

That's a median household income of more than $50,000—$10,000 more than the income of the people who don't read our newspapers. So when you advertise in your Observer & Eccentric newspapers, you not only reach thousands of smart people, you reach people with substantial incomes.

Now, that's something to smile about.

Our circulation area has 90% home ownership and look at the value of our reader's homes:

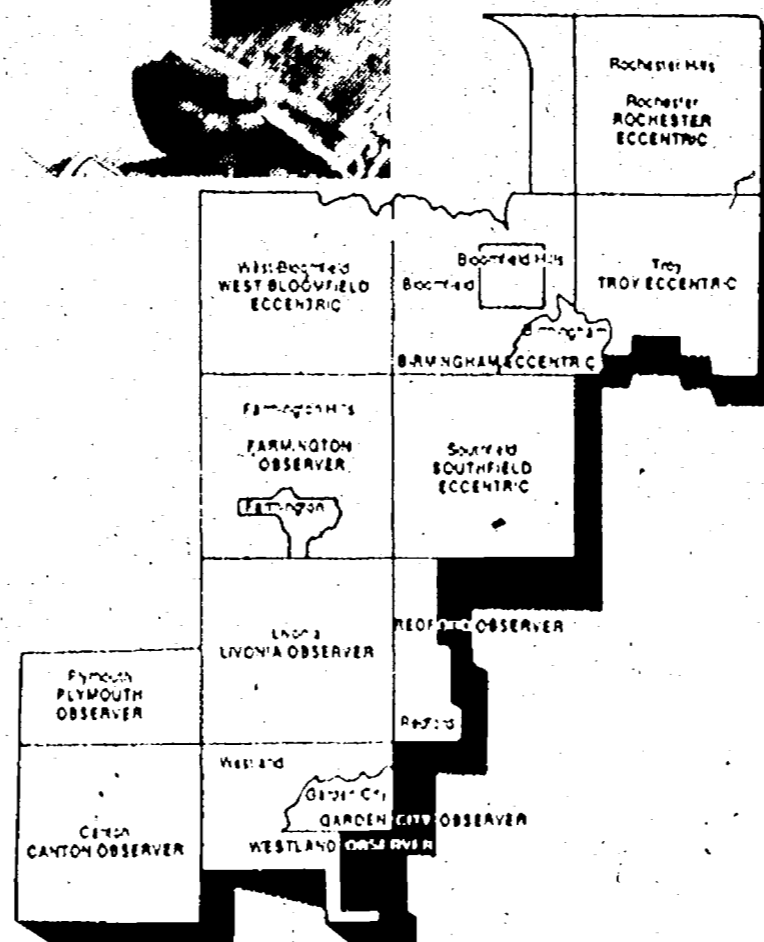

FACT: When you advertise with us you will reach 9 out of 10 adults in the Observer & Eccentric market area who have read weekly classified advertising.*

FACT: 91% of the adults in our market area who had read classified advertising in the past seven days had read it in the Observer & Eccentric*.

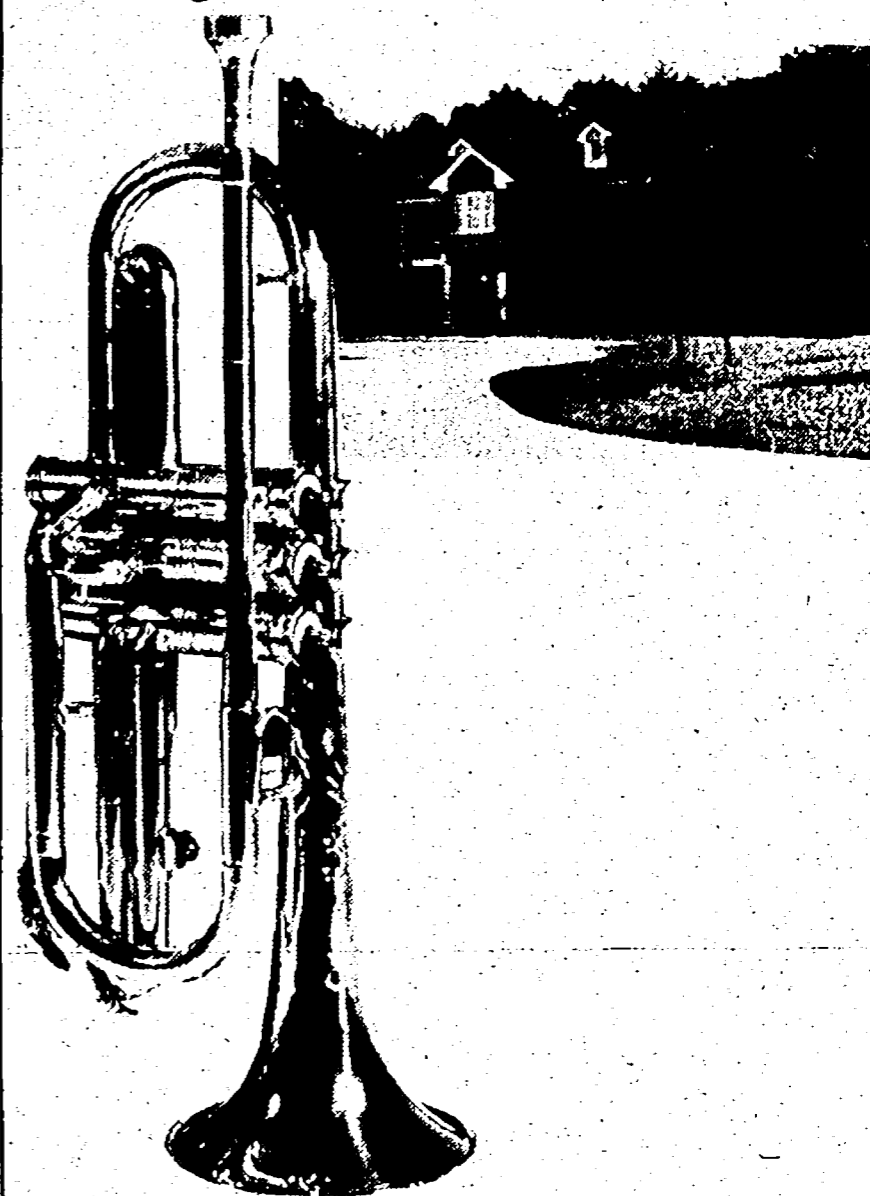

So, we can offer you one quarter of a million adult readers and a very rich market, what else do we have for you? How about an award-winning newspaper— a newspaper that people trust and look forward to reading? One that reaches 25 communities with important local news that's not available anywhere else.

That's us.

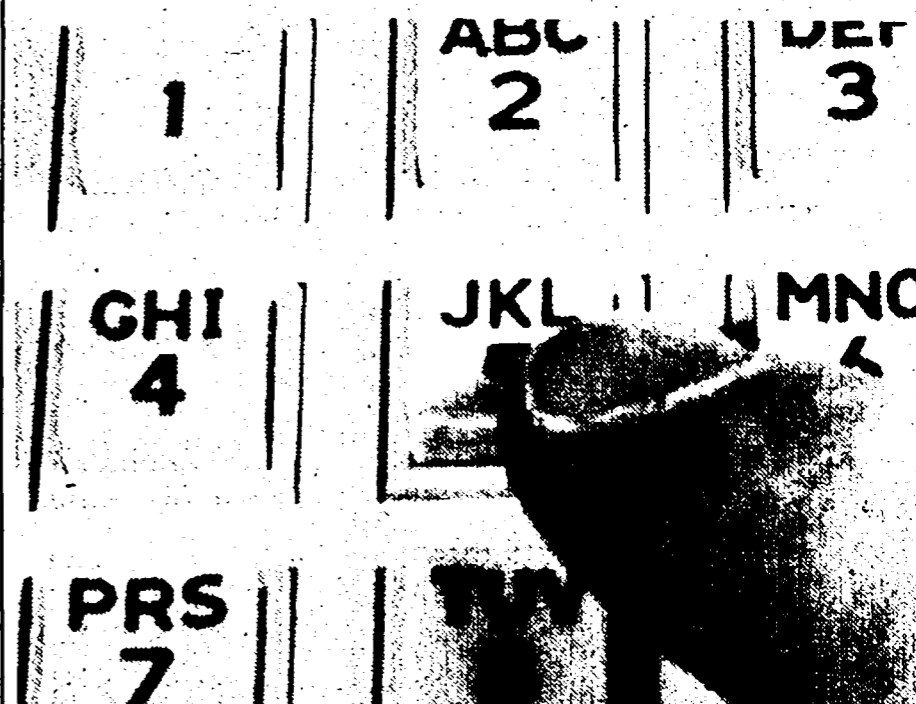

By the way, did you know that all those little ads in the back of this newspaper—the ones placed by people like you—are published in all 12 newspapers?

Therefore, when you advertise anything from a horn to a home, you will automatically reach this huge, interested reading audience.

What else can we say? We've had years of experience in publishing newspapers and are proud of our record for successfully putting home buyers in touch with home sellers.

In fact, we've just introduced HOMELINE, a great new way to find out about open houses simply by using your touchtone telephone.

Be sure to mention it to your Realtor® so that when it comes time to show your home, it will be described on HOMELINE.

On the cover

Elizabeth Marie Lear and David Earl Brown were married on July 27 by the Rev. Ronald Grant in St. Matthew United Methodist Church, Livonia. She is the daughter of Marsha and Bruce Lear of Garden City. He is the son of Dean Brown of Dearborn.

Loretta Goodwin served as maid of honor with Barbara Brackenridge as matron of honor and bridesmaids, Kathryn Guezen and Joanna Vincent. The maid and matron of honor wore long mauve gowns made of satin and lace. The bridesmaids wore long light pink gowns of the same material.

Scott Kiroff and David Reinowski served as best men with groomsmen David Forest and Craig Hoover.

The bride wore her mother's wedding gown and pearls. The 25-year-old gown featured chantilly lace with a contoured bodice and scalloped neckline with west point sleeves. Just for brides

The Monthly Album is published the third Monday of each month for the announcement of engagements and weddings. All announcements are published on a first-come-first-served basis.

Information sent must be legible and include a daytime telephone number so if there is a question the staff can call.

Photos submitted should, preferably, be black-and-white glossies, 5 x 7 inches in size. Color photos can be submitted and will be accepted, but they do not reproduce as well.

Due to the volume of photographs handled, the newspaper will not be responsible for any that may get lost or damaged. Photos can be picked up after publication in the Farmington Observer office, or if a self-addressed sufficiently stamped envelope is received with the photo, every effort will be made to return it. However, photos do get lost because so many are handled every month. There is just no guarantee the photo will be returned.

Engagement and wedding announcements pertinent to Livonia, Redford, Garden City, Westland, Farmington and Farmington Hills should be addressed to Suburban Life Editor, The Farmington Observer, 21898 Farmington Road, Farmington 48336.

Inquiries are taken by Rose Butler in the Farmington-Observer office, 477-5450.
