Girlfriend charged in murder, fire

Nine months after a Westland man was found stabbed to death inside his burning home, his girlfriend has been charged with murder and arson. Police aren't discussing a possible motive for the crime.

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

The girlfriend of a Westland man found stabbed to death in his burning Westland home has been arrested and charged with murder, ending a nine-month police investigation.

Kylleen Hargrave-Thomas, 40, has been charged with first-degree murder and arson, amid accusations she stabbed 42-year-old Manuel "Joe" Bernal in the chest and then set afire his home at 625 Lansdowne.

Westland firefighters found Bernal's body — lying face down in his second-story bedroom — after a neighbor saw flames in the house and called the fire department about 7 a.m. Friday, Oct. 11.

Bernal's murder stunned neighbors and family members and sent shock waves through the quiet, upscale neighborhood near John Glenn High School. His stabbed body had been charred on the front thighs of both legs and on his right arm.

"We believe the fire was set in an attempt to cover up the homicide," Westland police Sgt. Russell Nowaczck said Monday.

Nowaczck declined to cite a possible motive, saying details would emerge as the case unravels in court.

Police arrested Hargrave-Thomas about 7:55 a.m. Monday as she was driving from her Westland residence to work in Livonia. Six hours later, she appeared in 18th District Court for an arraignment on the charges.

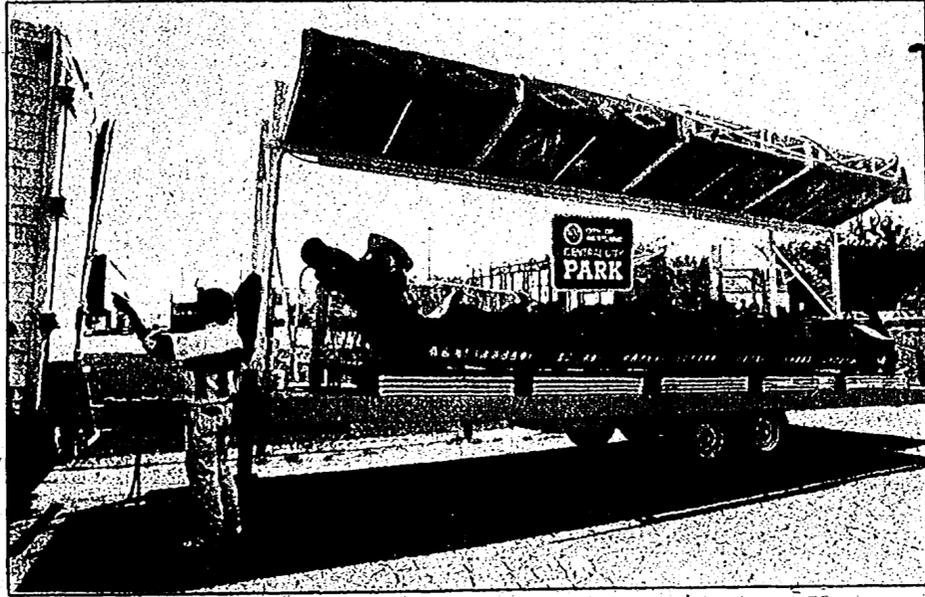

Showing little emotion, she stood mute before Judge Gail McKnight, and a plea of not guilty was entered on her behalf.

McKnight ordered Hargrave-Thomas to return to court July 10 for a preliminary examination to determine if she should stand trial on the charges. If tried and convicted, she could face life in prison without parole for murder and a maximum of 20 years for arson.

As several of Hargrave-Thomas' close friends and family members watched Monday, her attorney said in court that she "maintains very strongly her innocence in this case." The attorney, Rene

Same man suspected in 2 rapes

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Westland police suspect that a rapist who attacked a woman June 22 at her Westchester Street home may have raped another woman May 12 at her Birchwood Street residence.

The two women, both white and in their 30s, provided similar descriptions of a black male believed to be in his 20s.

CRIME

about 5-foot-10 and muscular, Westland police Sgt. Laura Moore said.

"We're not positive, but we believe (the rapist) might be someone in the area," she said.

Moore said the rapes should send a warning to women to make sure their windows and doors are securely locked at night — and that no locks are faulty. Both rapes occurred between 4 a.m. and 6 a.m.

Westland police have ruled out that the rapist could be the same man who raped three women last year at Hampton Court Apartments, Moore said. That attacker was white.

The latest rape occurred June 22 when a hooded man climbed through an unlocked window of the woman's Westchester Street home and attacked her as she was sleeping in bed, Moore said.

The intruder then stole the woman's car, a 1990 Mercury Cougar, which was discovered after it was abandoned the same day in Inkster, she said.

The woman wasn't hospitalized from the incident, Moore said. "She wasn't beaten."

The earlier rape occurred about 5:30 a.m. May 12, when an intruder came through a door wall that had a faulty lock and attacked the woman in her bedroom. She, too, was raped but not beaten, Moore said.

Although police have a description of the rapist or rapists, no suspects had been identified as of Tuesday.

In addition to warning local women to make sure their doors and windows are securely locked, Moore also suggested they have easy access to a telephone in their bedroom so that police can be called quickly if an intruder is heard.

She stressed that faulty locks were reported in both of the recent rapes.

"You're never going to make it impossible for someone to break in, but you should make it as difficult as possible," Moore said. "That's very important."

Testimony: Teen fired fatal shots

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Jermaine Stevenson, one of four Westland teens accused in a killing behind Adams Junior High School, fired the shots that killed crack cocaine dealer Everett Earl Bowen Jr. in November, court testimony indicated Monday.

Co-defendant Jerome Omar Ingram testified in Detroit Recorder's Court that he told police Stevenson fired the shots because he feared he would be blamed.

"I didn't want to be blamed for shooting someone that I didn't shoot," Ingram said Monday.

Ingram's testimony before Judge Denise Page Hood came during a hearing to determine whether statements that he and Stevenson made to Westland police should be suppressed in their impending trial. The hearing will continue July 10.

Ingram and Stevenson — both 18 when Bowen was killed — have been accused of conspiring with two 16-year-olds, Gregory Hister and Ian Bruce Cowen, to kill Bowen of Westland during a 10:30 p.m. Nov. 15 incident behind Adams School.

Prosecutors accused the teens of plotting the murder in retaliation for an earlier fight between Bowen and Cowen. In that incident, Bowen stabbed Cowen's legs eight times with a screwdriver.

Cowen and Hister have already been convicted and are expected to be sentenced later this month.

Bullets pierce house in drive-by shooting

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Two bullets were fired into an Eaton Street residence during a drive-by shooting last weekend and, in a separate incident, a fire bomb was thrown toward an Ann Arbor Trail home.

No injuries were reported in the two incidents. Both remained under investigation this week.

The drive-by shooting occurred about 11:50 p.m. Friday when a 30-year-old woman heard loud bangs that she believed were gunshots or firecrackers exploding in front of her home in the 28000 block of Eaton.

The woman told Westland police that her two sons, fearing for their safety, jumped to the floor when they heard the noises.

The woman initially shrugged off the incident, deciding the noises must have been firecrackers, but she noticed two bullet holes in the front of her home when she was mowing the lawn on Sunday.

Westland police learned during a subsequent investigation that one bullet pierced the aluminum siding front of the home and became lodged in a bathroom door, inside the residence. Another bullet was found outside in the aluminum siding.

Down-to-earth schools chief hates anything green

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

He's a John F. Kennedy fanatic and hockey enthusiast. He's a travel buff who's planning a Christmas trip to Paris. He likes Randy Travis, Willie Nelson and Neil Diamond.

He likes pepperoni and cheese pizza. But he hates green food — salads, broccoli, peppers, you name it. He's more likely to be found playing basketball with his two sons than hobnobbing with the social set. And at age 45, he's still happily married to his high school sweetheart.

Meet Larry Thomas, the new Wayne-Westland school superintendent. He'll earn $101,000 for leading the 16,000-student district for the next year.

He appeared at ease during a recent interview in his new office, where his motto now hangs in a frame on the wall: "The richest reward still comes from helping another succeed."

That's a lesson he learned from his father, a Scotland-born butcher and truck driver, and his mother, a Canada native and high school cafeteria baker who died 12 years ago. They worked hard so their three sons could become the family's first generation to get a college education.

His parents always placed a strong emphasis on education. They held teachers in the highest esteem and believed no other profession could top it.

Though he earned good grades in school, it was Thomas' hockey talents that landed him scholarship offers to Michigan State University and Ohio State when he finished high school.

But he rejected both offers because his mother was ill. He wanted to be closer to his Dearborn Heights home. He began working for Ford Motor Co. during the day and studied art at night at Schoolcraft College.

See CHIEF, 2A

PAUL HURSCHMANN/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Settling in: Wayne-Westland Schools new superintendent Larry Thomas was getting settled and meeting with his staff Wednesday.

He went on to earn his bachelor's degree in art education from Eastern Michigan University and, as a senior in 1968, married his high school sweetheart, Donna. They have two children: Matt, 20, a University of Michigan student, and Sean, 17, a Churchill High School senior.

Thomas has retained the qualities that sparked his high school romance.

"He's a down-to-earth kind of person. He has always enjoyed family and friends," Donna Thomas said. "That hasn't changed."

Neither has his aversion to green food. "He doesn't like anything green. That's one thing we've always laughed about," she said.

But Thomas loves to travel. His favorite vacations include Hawaii and London. The family has decorated an entire wall of their Westland home with photographs from their travels. Christmas in Paris is the next stop. That's mostly for his high school son, because Thomas is opposed to his children going on senior trips.

A self-described fanatic about John F. Kennedy, Thomas has read numerous books and articles about the former president's assassination. Oliver Stone's movie, "JFK," fascinated and thrilled him.

When asked how he'd rate "JFK" on a four-star scale, he quickly replied: "Four plus."

Thomas, who earned his master's degree in administration from Eastern and his doctorate from Wayne State University, has worked for the last 10 years in the West-Bloomfield school district — most recently as an assistant superintendent. He was nominated as the district's employee of the year in the mid-80s.

Still, he described his new job in Wayne-Westland — his first superintendency — as his "No. 1 professional thrill." He doesn't view the job as a rung on some endless career ladder.

"I'd like to retire from Wayne-Westland," he said. His wife, who taught in Wayne-Westland in the late '60s, now works as a teacher and reading consultant in the West Bloomfield district.

Thomas admits his main fault is impatience. "I'd like to make all of the changes that need to be made in this district in the next month," he said.

That appears at-odds with the "slow-moving bulldozer" description that a professional firm gave him when it developed a profile of West Bloomfield administrators.

The image of a bulldozer bothered Thomas somewhat. "I don't roll over people," he said.

Thomas prefers an image of a train that he and his subordinates — uh, better make that "teammates" — board together for a journey to excellence.

And he pledged his honesty to students, parents, teachers, colleagues — everyone.

He may have climbed above the rank of teacher — that profession that his parents so highly regarded. But he said he realizes he can never rise above — or sink below — honesty.

"I'm not smart enough to lie," he said. "I wouldn't be able to remember what lies I told and whom I told them to."

Albert Cooper, described the case as purely circumstantial.

Cooper tried to convince Judge McKnight to allow a bond for Hargrave-Thomas, saying she hasn't fled in the nine months she has been a suspect. Cooper also said the accused cares for her two sons, ages 14 and 16.

"There is no risk that she won't return to court," Cooper said.

But McKnight ruled in favor of Nowaczek, who had asked that bond be denied because of the seriousness of the murder charge. Hargrave-Thomas glanced at her friends and family shortly before authorities led her from the courtroom.

She and Bernal, a railroad track maintenance worker for Ford Motor Co., had been romantically involved for about six months prior to his death, Nowaczek said.

Initially, Hargrave-Thomas was "one of many suspects," Nowaczek said. "But we have evidence now that will dispute some of the things she has told us in the last eight or nine months."

Nowaczek indicated in court

Monday that as many as 17 witnesses could be called to testify at the July 10 hearing.

Firefighters who found Bernal lying face down in his bed on Oct. 11 initially believed he was suffering from fire-related injuries. The flames had caused extensive damage to the upstairs interior.

But when they pulled him from the bed to try to rescue him, they discovered that his body already had become stiff — indicating he had been dead for several hours.

"He died as a result of being stabbed. The fire was secondary," Nowaczek said Monday.

On the weekend of Bernal's death, neighbors told the Observer that Bernal had been a friendly man who had moved into the neighborhood 2 1/2 years ago. He lived alone.

"He was good-hearted and friendly. He was an excellent neighbor," Maureen Hilli said.

Neighbor James Hughey had described Bernal as a cordial man who'd use his snow blower to clear snow from other people's property in the winter.

Initially, all four teens had been charged with first-degree murder, conspiracy to murder, first-degree murder in the commission of another felony (robbery), and assault with intent to murder.

On June 9, a jury convicted Cowen of lesser charges that included second-degree murder and conspiracy to assault Bowen. He could face up to life in prison.

In a June 16 bench trial, Hood found Hister guilty of lesser charges that included assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder, and conspiracy to assault. He could face up to 10 years in prison.

Attention now has turned to Stevenson and Ingram and whether detailed statements that they made to Westland police will be allowed as evidence in their trials, which haven't yet been scheduled.

Prosecutors and police accused the four teens of arranging a supposed drug deal with Bowen to kill him. Bowen was shot in the face and back and died after he fled Adams School and collapsed on nearby Berville Court, in Westland's Norwayne neighborhood.

David Wayne Adkins, a self-described bodyguard who had accompanied Bowen to the school, also was shot in the head, but survived. Neither Cowen nor Hister was convicted in Adkins' shooting.

Defense attorneys said during the recent trials that Cowen and Hister didn't mean to kill Bowen and that they never knew a handgun was being brought to the school. The attorneys accused Stevenson and Ingram of arranging "a private agenda" to bring the gun and rob Bowen.

On Monday, Ingram testified that he initially knew Nov. 15 that someone had been shot by Stevenson, but denied that he knew immediately that a death had occurred.

However, that differed from a written police statement partially read in court Monday by assistant Wayne County prosecutor Robert Hood. He said Ingram noted in his statement that Stevenson had told him "They're dead" — an apparent reference to Bowen and Adkins.

Ingram testified he was under pressure and had been suffering from severe chest pains when he made his statement.

"The way I felt, I was forced" to make the statement, he said.

Stevenson and Ingram had shared a residence at Glenwood Orchard Apartments, on Newburgh Road between Palmer and Glenwood. Prosecutors have claimed that the four teens met at the apartment and planned the killing prior to meeting Bowen.

Stevenson, Cowen and Hister had attended John Glenn High School. Ingram had attended the Cherry Hill alternative program.

A neighbor told police that a powder blue Ford Escort had been seen driving in front of the residence Friday night, and that firecrackers were seen exploding near the car.

A police report indicated that the driver or a passenger may have ignited the fireworks to cover up the sound of the gunshots.

Police indicated that an apparent powder had been chased from the woman's back yard a week earlier by her father. The father had threatened the prowler and told him not to return, police reports said.

The prowler, described as being in his teens, countered with his own threatening remarks as he fled the scene, police reports indicated.

Man to lead conservation group

Robert Laich, past president of the Western Wayne County Conservation Association in Plymouth Township, has been elected president of Michigan United Conservation Clubs.

Laich will oversee the activities of the conservation and sportsmen organization's 140,000 members, 453 clubs, and a budget of $5 million.

The MUCC is the largest organization of its kind in the country.

"I'm still walking on cloud nine. I'm still trying to get myself together," said Laich a few days after his election at the MUCC's 55th annual convention in Marquette.

A longtime conservationist and a resident of Westland, Laich is responsible for spearheading the effort that resulted in the Johnson Drain being cleaned to the point where the DNR this spring was able to stock it with trout.

Laich has served as MUCC Region IV vice president as well as district chairman. He was honored last year with the MUCC's Harold Hackett Award for outstanding service as a member.

Laich succeeds Robert (Bud) Slingerland of Atlanta as president.

Folk dancing group will perform

Area residents will have a chance to see the portrayal of an ancient Mexican ritual when the "Grupo Folklorico Guetza" folk dancing group performs at Churchill High Friday, July 10.

The performance will be at 8 p.m. Tickets will cost $8 for adults and $5 for senior citizens and students under 12.

"People can look forward to about a one-and-a-half hour program consisting of about eight dancers. It's an enjoyable evening of folkloric dance," said Bill Cameron, a member of the Rotary Club of Livonia, which is sponsoring the group's stay in Livonia.

The group consists of 36 male and female 16-22-year-old students who will stay with several Livonia families.

During their stay in Livonia, they will also perform in Traverse City, Grosse Pointe, and an assortment

Funeral home, casket firm promote drug awareness

An area funeral home has joined with the largest casket making company in the world an effort to keep people alive.

Thayer-Rock Funeral Home of Farmington has joined with the Batesville Casket Co. of Batesville, Ind., in a three-pronged drug awareness program. Thayer-Rock said it draws a significant proportion of its customers from Livonia and Redford.

The program, which was initiated by the Batesville company, consists of a poster, a public service announcement, and a five-minute video, all of which are intended to discourage drug use.

Intended for mass distribution, particularly in schools, the poster depicts a casket with a headline reading "Another Buried Treasure." A caption below the casket says "James was a bright student. He wanted to be a teacher. English, science, or math. But one day he tried crack cocaine. Now he's history..."

Previously, Thayer-Rock participated in another Batesville drug awareness program, which involved distributing a poster which said "Grounded at age 16."

"We try to encourage communication and activism regarding community education, making people aware of death," said Bruce Lanto of Thayer-Rock. "This is just another step. We feel there is a real need to talk about the problem of drugs."

Lanto said Thayer-Rock is contacting superintendents of all area school districts to see if they are interested in receiving the poster and the five-minute drug awareness video.

He has contacted the Metrovision cable television group to air the 30-second, public service announcement.

"I think it's important that business does get involved in community issues. We're here to do more than just serve the needs of the family when a death occurs."

Monday is last day to register for primary

Unregistered voters interested in voting in the Aug. 4 primary must register by Monday, July 6.

Registration is continuing at all Secretary of State branch offices as well as at city, county and township clerks' offices.

Though most government offices will be closed Friday, July 3, they will be open July 6.

Those currently age 17 are eligible to vote if they will turn 18 before the Aug. 4 primary date.

Currently, there are nearly 5.8 million registered voters in Michigan, roughly 85 percent of the eligible voting population.

Sponsor withdraws bill to raid state boat fund

A controversial plan to raid a boat registration money to bail out the state general fund died last week without a whimper.

"The votes are not there to pass it," Chairman Harry Gast, R-St. Joseph, announced at the opening of the Senate Appropriations Committee meeting. "So why burn up a lot of energy and frustration on it?"

With that, Gast removed his Senate Bill 1033 from the agenda.

Waiting to denounce the "raid" and question the Legislature's integrity was Tom Washington, executive director of the 130,000-member Michigan United Conservation Clubs.

His prepared speech said, "If this dedicated fund is raided, how safe is the fish and game fund, the nongame fund, the natural resources trust fund, or any other fund used to operate recreation and resource programs?"

In 1988, said Washington, the Legislature set aside one-third of boat registration fees in a fund for harbor development. In three years, $9 million had accumulated.

Stealth, A-10 join lineup at Willow Run

The high-tech Stealth F-117A fighter and the A-10 Thunderbolt II, which became a workhorse of the Operation Desert Storm, will headline the military solo demonstration lineup at the Wayne County Air Show Saturday and Sunday at Willow Run.

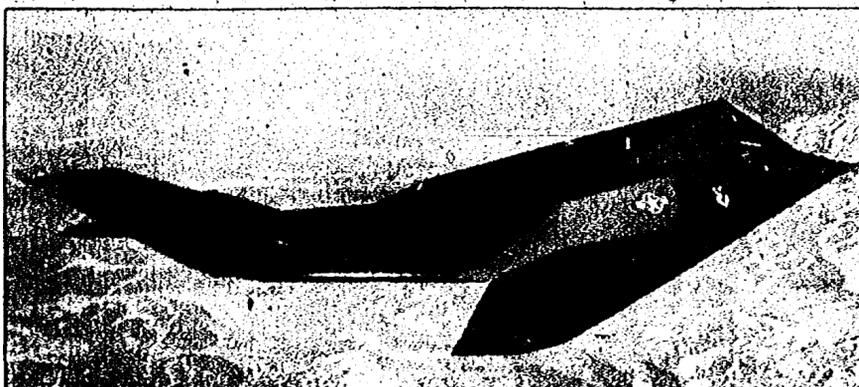

Gates open at 9 a.m. both days. Show starts at 12:30 p.m. at the airport on I-94 at Belleville Road (Exit 190). In advance tickets are $9 for adults and $6 for children ages 6-11. At the gate, tickets are $12 for adults and $9 for children. Children under 5 are admitted free. Reserved seats are $15.

Tickets are available through July 3 at the air show office and all Ticketmaster outlets.

The Stealth comes to Willow Run Airport from the 49th Fighter Wing at Holloman Air Force Base in New Mexico. The project to develop the radical-looking fighter was top secret until the Air Force admitted in November 1989 that it existed and had been operational for five years.

Since then, it has been demonstrated on a "fly-by" basis to the public at air shows and will make its first appearance in the Detroit area for this show.

During Desert Storm, the Stealth flew 1,270 combat sorties in the Middle East, flew more than 6,900 combat hours and dropped more than 2,000 tons of ordnance.

The A-10 comes to this weekend's show from the 355th Fighter Wing of the 12th Air Force at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base in Tucson, Arizona, flown by Capt. Scott Purdie.

The A-10 was used in close air support roles throughout Operation Desert Storm.

The air show also will feature Frece Tricolori, the Italian National Aerobatic Team and Team America, the three-ship precision formation that will fly 50 maneuvers in a 15-minute routine. The maneuvers include a high-speed head-on pass, bomb bursts, precision loops and the team's roll-back cross.

Other air show attractions include world aerobatic competitor Gene Soucy and his huge "Showcat" biplane; Teresa Stokes, the acclaimed aviation artist who has taken up a second career as a wingwalker, and Chelsea's Jim Mynning, who will perform a solo aerobatic demonstration.

Soucy brings a highly-modified Grumman AgCat to Willow Run for a solo routine, then Stokes joins him for a performance of the art of wingwalking from the barnstorming era of aviation.

Mynning, a veteran aircraft builder and air show announcer, got his start in aerobatics in the early '50s. His performance will include landing a Piper Super Cub on a speeding pickup truck.

The air show is sponsored by Wings Over Wayne, a not-for-profit corporation.

National Committee for Prevention of Child Abuse

Abortion issue gets hotter after ruling

BY WAYNE PEAL
STAFF WRITER

For Renee Chehan of Northland Family Planning Clinics, Monday's U.S. Supreme Court abortion ruling boils down to a single issue.

"We're concerned about the ruling, but we want to get the word out that abortion is still legal," said Chellian of the Southfield-based clinics.

The 5-4 ruling generally upheld abortion restrictions currently in effect in Pennsylvania — keeping abortion legal but paving the way for similar restrictions here.

"It's confusing, probably more confusing than if they'd overturned abortion altogether," said longtime pro-choice advocate Susan Rogin of Southfield. "If anything, I'm fearful for my daughters."

The ruling didn't surprise activists on either side, but local reaction was strong with neither side overly pleased.

"Distressed is a mild word for the way we feel," said Barbara Fanger, a founder of Republicans for Choice, a Birmingham-based coalition that formed in anticipation of new abortion restrictions.

"I'm very disappointed they left Roe v. Wade stand," said pro-life activist Lynn Mills of Livonia, referring to the court's 1973 decision legalizing abortion nationwide.

Other pro-life advocates praised the ruling, but stopped short of claiming victory.

"It is cause for hope and encouragement, but it's not the end of abortion," said Barbara Listing, executive director of Right to Life of Michigan. "If that were the case the court would have explicitly said so."

Right to Life is campaigning for a proposed Michigan law based on the Pennsylvania statute, including doctor counseling of women who seek abortions and a 24-hour waiting period.

"We'd like to see action on informed consent," Listing said.

"There should also be a shift to real alternatives such as adoption and crisis pregnancy counseling."

The high court also upheld Pennsylvania's parental consent statute as well as detailed record-keeping requirements for doctors who perform abortions. It struck down a statute requiring notification of married women's husbands.

The ruling injects the abortion issue into "almost every election race," said Carol King of the pro-choice Michigan Abortion Rights Action League.

"We're going to be very active," King said. "What we need in Michigan is a pro-choice Legislature and, especially, a pro-choice governor."

Legislative numbers are currently not in their favor, King acknowledged.

Forty-three of the 100 state representatives are clearly identified as pro-choice, King said. The same can be said of a mere eight of 38 state senators, she added.

The National Abortion Rights Action League listed Michigan as one of the 13 most restrictive states in providing abortion access.

Pro-choice and pro-life activists took comfort in various parts of the ruling.

Fanger praised Justice Sandra Day O'Connor's majority opinion to "define the liberty of all, not to mandate our own moral code."

"That's what we've been saying all along," Fanger said. "It's not scientific but our phone banking showed us that 76 percent of the registered voters we contacted felt the same way."

For Mills, the ruling opens the way for further Michigan restrictions.

"I'm not in favor of abortion, but we can make it as safe a procedure as possible," she said. "With (pro-life) Gov. John Engler I expect we'll see new legislation toward that end."

Schools brace for big aid cut

Despite heavy opposition from Observer-area legislators, a controversial school aid bill passed the state House on Monday, a move expected to cost many area schools millions of dollars.

The measure limits state Social Security contributions, tax base sharing credits and changes the formula for adult education grants.

The state Senate narrowly approved the measures last week.

The House initially rejected the measures but approved them, 56-49 in a second vote.

The measure passed without the votes of any area representatives. All voted no including: Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia; Justine Barns, D-Westland; John Bennett, D-Redford; William Keith, D-Garden City; James Kosteva, D-Canton. Keith is chairman of the House education committee. Richard Young, D-Dearborn Heights, who seeks to replace the retiring Bennett as Redford's representative, also voted no.

Out-of-formula districts — those that receive state aid only for specific programs are considered the biggest losers. They include Clarenceville, Livonia, Plymouth-Canton and South Redford.

Major changes include:

• Per-student aid — 18-20 year-olds with high school diplomas would no longer be counted, cutting aid to districts with aggressive adult education programs.

• Adult education — In an additional change, certain classes — known as "slot funded" — would no longer be automatically financed. Instead, money for these programs would be placed in a new, competitive grant program with payment capped at $25 million.

OU gets no new aid, that's the good news

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

The new kid in town was happy her university got a 0.0 state aid increase.

"I'm very appreciate there were no cuts," said Dr. Sandra Packard, president of Oakland University for the last two weeks. "We recognize how difficult it has been."

"I came from Tennessee where we had significant cuts — 13.6 percent last year. This year they're reinstating some of that."

Packard Wednesday got her first glimpse of a legislative conference committee on higher education appropriations in the Capitol's ornate Senate Appropriations Committee room, once the chamber of the Michigan Supreme Court.

Packard would have liked some capital but recognized "it's a time of fiscal restraint. Our first priority is a building for science and technology. That may become a possibility" in a future year.

OU trustees voted an 8.38-percent tuition increase for the fall semester, which former acting president John DiCarlo called "among the lowest in the state." OU's general fund operating budget will be $65 million, with $36.3 million come from the state treasury.

The conference committee Wednesday reported out a total state aid budget bill for 15 state universities of $1.2 billion, less than a half-percent higher than the current year's appropriation.

Gov. John Engler still must sign the bill.

Economy blamed

Michigan State University, the state's largest in enrollment, also settled for a zero increase at $232 million. MSU trustees there have voted a 9-percent tuition increase for the fall semester and 3 percent more for next winter.

The University of Michigan's Ann Arbor Campus, with its concentration of graduate programs, will get $274 million, up 6.2 percent. U-M regents will set tuition rates July 16-17.

Keith Molin, U-M's point man in the Capitol, was happy to come up with a new $271,000 in undergraduate research opportunities grants. "We have a series of initiatives to retain undergraduate students in projects as assistants. If not, we'd have to find the money someplace else or drop the projects. It's a kind of academic support," he said.

"The Presidents' Council (all state university presidents), in its annual financial recommendation, had called for 5-percent (more state aid) over inflation over a period of time — which is catch-up," Molin said. "If we're disappointed, it's with the economy, not the committee."

U-M, Dearborn stayed flat at $18.5 million, and Eastern Michigan University was voted a 1.2-percent increase to $64.8 million.

Wayne State University was raised 0.2-percent to $190 million.

Rays of light

Sen. John Schwarz, R-Battle Creek, was pleased at one development — an extra $3 million that turned up near the end of the budgeting process. No one university got it.

"We were ready to go until three weeks ago when the target was raised $3 million," said Schwarz, the chairman. "In a year with very little money, we're doing the right thing by putting that money in student financial aids."

Educational opportunity grants absorbed $646,000; competitive scholarships, $646,000; Indian tuition, $335,000; and the tuition incentive program (TIP) for welfare recipients, $1.2 million.

Other changes in the higher education budget:

• The total for student grants and financial aids was raised from the current $96 million to $102 million.

• The Olympic training center at Northern Michigan University, Marquette, had $300,000 restored.

• Grand Valley State University, Allendale, the state's lowest funded, was boosted over the $3,000 per student mark to $3,048.

• The Grand Rapids Applied Technology Center, a collaboration of Ferris State University and Grand Rapids Community College, was zeroed out entirely. Its current year legislative appropriation of $590,000 was vetoed by Gov. Engler, and the Legislature decided against restoring it in the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1.

Glenn gets major state arts grant

BY LEONARD POGOR
EDITOR

John Glenn High School students next fall enjoy an artists-in-residency program, thanks to the Michigan Council for the Arts' largest single grant.

The school gained MCA approval for a $29,400 grant which will have a professional artist, musician, dancer, artist and video instructor working with students and teachers.

The program was seen by the program's advisory committee "as a breaking edge that could serve as a national model for other programs," said Marie Pleuss, Glenn assistant principal and program coordinator.

"This program, which is a theater collaboration between artists and educators, is intended to be the first year of a three-year project. This is the first time the (state) council (for the arts) has funded a theater project in this way. The program will explore the integration of live and filmed performance."

being built at the level of the artists, teachers and students, she said.

"This will be an attempt to explore the medium of theater itself by bringing together artists from various artistic disciplines to create a theatrical piece."

At the advisory committee's first meeting last week, the panel adopted the name "Art Works at John Glenn" at the program's formal name with "works" to be a verb.

She said Moyer, Prusak, Alexander-Frank, Spicer and a musician to be named later will be the resident artists.

The high school is being used as a "university itself," not only a place of education for high school students but also a laboratory for creative research, Pleuss said.

When the program gets off the ground, students will work in their own specialty area before convening with others to develop a single theme in which all disciplines will contribute in conjunction with film and video.

Attending the advisory committee's first session last week at the high school was Herb Ferrer of the state arts council.

Detroit Attic Theater, Annette Alexander-Frank, an art teacher and graphics artist, and Vic Spicer, who has a professional and educational background in dance and video.

Others will be selected by the time school opens in the fall.

Also involved in the project will be John Prusak, media instructor at the Ford Center, who initiated the concept on an artists-in-residence program for the high school.

Glenn faculty members to be directly involved will be Simonne Grzesik, drama teacher; Jan Watson, visual art teacher; Richard Grzesik, instrumental music teacher, and Judy Premin, vocal music teacher.

Pleuss said that one of many advantages of the planned program is that it will give students a chance to be involved again in the school's dance instruction, which was cut two years ago in the wake of major budget cuts.

She said that the four resident artists will be dealing mostly with 60 students in the core arts classes with another 300 active in peripheral activities during the school year. When public performances are held, audiences of nearly 1,000 are expected, she added. Another 1,000 students will benefit from the program when the artists visit the school district's four junior high schools.

"The intent of the grant is to create a professional artists' company at the time as the residency is being established," Pleuss said.

Drug crackdown

Spoils of trade put dealers away

A Recorder's Court judge feels that the state forfeiture law is effective in helping finance the continuing campaign against drug dealers. Judge A. George Best II said the law is one of the best tools used in the ongoing drug battle.

BY LEANNE ROGERS
STAFF WRITER

Money, furs, cars, houses and other valuables are the spoils of illegal drug transactions that could end up being used to crackdown on drug dealers.

"Any way we can interfere with drug dealers, we should do it," said Detroit Recorder's Court Judge A. George Best II. "We should interfere with their ability to travel, their money. Why should we allow them to do business as usual?"

That's the premise of the state's drug forfeiture law, which also allows the confiscation of property that has been used to facilitate drug sales. The forfeitures are designed to take money and possessions from drug dealers with state law requiring all proceeds then be directed into drug enforcement efforts.

"The law has a whole list, but the basic thrust of the statute is any money, any asset derived from the sale of a controlled substance can be seized," Best said. "It covers if they are selling a joint up to a kilo. The best example is if a kid sells a joint for $1, the $1 can be taken."

The current state drug forfeiture law was enacted late in 1982, copying the federal statutes. The program blossomed the next year after the Detroit Police Department actively used it, Best said.

"As the other departments saw how well it worked, they got into it," Best said. Best created and ran the Wayne County prosecutor's office drug forfeiture program until the end of 1988. From January 1989 until his court appointment in August 1991, Best headed the federal drug forfeiture and money laundering unit in Detroit as an assistant U.S. attorney.

"This is extremely effective. It's one of our best tools. Forfeitures are criminal law and civil law working together." Criminal convictions are not required for a civil forfeiture proceeding to move forward. "Just because the law says a person is not guilty doesn't make them innocent. It means the prosecution couldn't prove its case beyond a reasonable doubt. In a civil case, the burden of proof is the preponderance of evidence."

A parallel to the coordinated use of criminal and civil statute, he said, would be cases like the murder of Vincent Chin where defendants were not convicted of a criminal act but subsequently were charged with a federal civil rights violation.

To reduce the paper trail of their assets, drug dealers often will lease vehicles or houses rather than making purchases. The forfeiture laws include the concept of an innocent owner to cover those situations.

A drug dealer in Detroit was arrested and a forfeiture filed on his car, which had been leased from GMAC, Best said. Officials of the General Motors financing arm told prosecutors they didn't know what the drug dealer had been up to and their vehicle was returned.

"The second time he was arrested for selling heroin, the guy had a new GMAC Corvette. GMAC claimed they didn't know. They knew about the earlier seizure. They didn't get the car back."

An innocent owner, whether of a house, vehicle or other property, is protected by law, he said, but that protection is lost if the owner knows of drug activity and takes no action.

A Macomb County business, which sold jewelry and stones, was seized after the owners also dealt in cocaine from the store, using the same building for storing drugs and writing receipts on the store letterhead.

"My attitude was that if a seizure was made, we were always willing to work with the owner and listen to what happened. If the person had a good reason why we shouldn't take the car or the house or if it didn't fall under the statute, we wouldn't take it."

Higher authority

State law tramples free speech

Nearly two years ago, the Observer called for repeal of Michigan's ethnic intimidation law — noting that it doesn't work, it deflects attention from the real issue of racism and, most importantly, it is unconstitutional. Let's try it again.

First off, be clear, the Observer believes racism and ethnic intimidation are the most difficult and divisive problems in our society. The issue needs to be addressed. But, these laws — and those at the University of Michigan and other colleges — are not the answer.

When the U.S. Supreme Court struck down a similar bias-motivated or hate crimes law from St. Paul, Minn., this week, the justices differed in their reasoning. But, the bottom line is that the high court confirmed the position that such laws indeed do violate constitutional tenets of free speech.

Free speech must be practically limitless. Anyone can say whatever they choose, though they should realize that some ideas and some phrases will draw a response. But it is up to the speaker and the listener to settle their differences; it's not up to the government to tell people what topics pass muster. That's censorship.

The Michigan law focuses on a person's choice of words or intent during commission of a crime or assault. The law is used to add punishment when a personal or property attack is involved.

Some feel the Supreme Court decision doesn't affect Michigan's law, since it's directed at actions or attacks aimed at individuals.

"It's the difference between symbolism and action," said state Sen. David Honigman whose 17th District covers the Bloomfield Hills and Township and Southfield Township area. "You can burn a cross on your own lawn, but if you do it on someone else's, without their permission, it's a crime."

But, when an 18-year-old spraypainted anti-Semitic slurs on the wall of a suburban store, a judge ruled correctly, that the ethnic discrimination law didn't apply; the teen was reacting out of anger, not deep-seated hatred of Jews. Nevertheless, it was still a crime and the teen was prosecuted for painting on the wall, not the words he painted.

Michigan already has laws on the books that punish people for burning a cross on your lawn — trespassing, malicious destruction of property, assault, arson, reckless endangerment or others might come into play.

We don't need an ethnic intimidation law that would likely be, and should be, overturned by the Supreme Court anyway.

Gamesmanship hurts education

Shame on state legislators for waiting until the zero hour to act on the state education act. Educators never have been satisfied that they were getting their full share of the general budget, but at least in years past they knew what to expect far enough in advance to settle their own finances.

That wasn't the case this year. Like it or not, the state Senate acted promptly in April to come up with something which school districts could use in budget deliberations, and on which staff layoffs were based. However, action on the education bill stalled until the Tuesday House vote, when legislators could only vote the conference committee action up or down.

Insiders say the delay was designed to ram provisions of the bill through without thoughtful discussions by those we've elected to represent us. One wonders why legislators seem so willing to put up with those political games.

The delay also may have been an attempt to help balance the state's budget by delaying state aid payments until October, forcing districts to borrow money to begin the school year.

"We'll be perpetually behind and borrowing to stay afloat," explained Redford Union Superintendent Ken Erickson.

That's no way to run a school district; it's also no way to run the state. And voters ought to take the state Legislature to task and hold Gov. John Engler responsible for showing such a lack of leadership.

Maybe the wait would be understandable if the Legislature had come up with a really creative way to end the inequities in Michigan's educational system. But that hasn't happened.

"We are quickly reaching equity. No one has

■ Voters ought to take the state Legislature to task and hold Gov. John Engler responsible for showing such a lack of leadership.

anything," Garden City Superintendent Michael Wilmut quipped in a March interview.

Indeed, legislators representing rich out-of-formula and poor in-formula districts from throughout Observer & Eccentric communities opposed the proposal. That ought to tell people that something wrong happened during the machinations of the joint House/Senate conference committee.

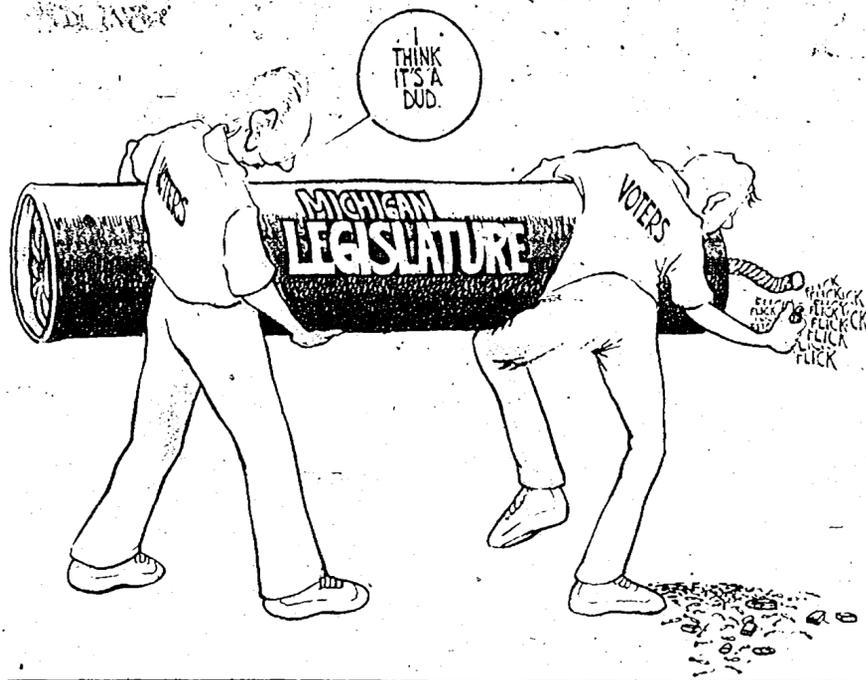

The bill, which was approved to the dismay of most suburban school districts, will limit aid for adult education programs, base Social Security payments on enrollment and suspend tax base sharing payments.

"It does not look good for us," said Rochester Schools Superintendent John Schultz. Rochester expects to lose $3.1 million. Other Oakland County losers include Farmington with a wrenching $7.6 million, Birmingham at $5.4 million and Troy at $4.8 million.

In Wayne County, Livonia and Plymouth Canton Schools are expected to be big losers — Livonia to the tune of $3.9 million. Poorer districts, like Garden City and Westland, may gain some under the bill.

The shame of it all is that a good educational program could help take the chill off of the hard economic times Michigan has been in. It's going to be up to the voting public to educate their state legislators about that.

LETTERS

Thanks voters

As I approach my first day as a Wayne-Westland School Board member, I wish to express my sincere thanks to the voters of the school district for their support in the June 8 election.

During my campaign, I attended numerous community functions, walked through neighborhoods and talked with people who have legitimate concerns regarding the schools. Not only did this give me a chance to share my views, but it gave me additional insight into the hunger that our citizens and our communities have for a change in the educational direction of our district.

I am truly fortunate to have been given this enormous responsibility and am very much aware that the voters have set high expectations for my performance.

I look forward to working with my colleagues, school district personnel, and citizens, to deliver an educational package which will propel us to new, exciting, heights!

Richard LeBlanc, Wayne-Westland School Board member-Elect

Thank you

We would like to thank the Westland Police Department and Officer Terry Donahue for their dedication in giving us the Drug Abuse Resistance Education program. Everybody in our class enjoyed having the D.A.R.E. program. It taught us a lot about drugs and how they affect your body. We are really glad we have D.A.R.E. because if we have D.A.R.E. some of the street drugs might stop being used.

D.A.R.E. has taught us what the consequences of using drugs are. There can be good ones or bad ones. D.A.R.E. means learning about drugs and how they affect your body and mind. Right now kids are confused, but once they start D.A.R.E. they will understand. People say drugs are a way of life. They're not a way of life, they're a way of death.

We would like to especially thank Officer Donahue for coming to our class for 17 weeks teaching us D.A.R.E. He brought us something new every week and was very nice to us. He went bike riding with us at Kensington Park and also went to the circus with us. The Westland Police Department paid for the tickets. He has done a lot for us. We just want to say again, "Thank you Officer Donahue."

State protections affirmed

Michigan's Constitution protects us better than the Bill of Rights in the U.S. Constitution.

Greater scholars than I have commented on this phenomenon. It's a point not just of scholarship but of practical government — as we saw June 17.

* The Michigan Supreme Court struck down our savage drug lifer law, under which we sent 30 drug "mules," mostly young, to the slammer for life-without-parole for possessing 23 ounces of cocaine.

Chief Justice Michael Cavanagh noted that the Michigan Constitution says "cruel or unusual punishments shall not be inflicted," while the Bill of Rights bars "cruel and unusual punishment." He called the difference important and deliberate on the part of the state constitution's framers.

Michigan case law calls for testing (1) the gravity of the offense with the harshness of the penalty, (2) the sentence imposed for cocaine possession compared to the sentences for other crimes and (3) a comparison to sentences in other jurisdictions, he said, concluding:

"The penalty in this case is so unduly disproportionate as to be cruel or unusual... comparable only to the penalty for first-degree murder... no other state imposes a penalty even remotely as severe."

It was a 4-3 decision, liberals Cavanagh and Charles Levin, moderate James Brickley and conservative Robert Griffin forming the majority. And so a law was struck down for violating Michigan's Constitution, although it had passed muster for not violating the U.S. Constitution.

Dissenting were Dorothy Comstock Riley, Patricia Boyle and Conrad Mallett Jr. Note: Riley and Boyle also dissented in the Milbourn case two years ago when the court sent back down a dozen harsh sentences that violated sentencing guidelines. Women really do seem to be tougher on crime. Further note: Riley and Mallett are up for re-election this year.

(Incidentally, in all the prosecutorial breast-beating over the drug decision, the law-and-order types neglected to notice that the court unanimously reinstated the convictions based on automobile searches. This is not a nambypamby court.)

The high court, upholding the ban on state-funded abortions, read the Michigan Constitution again but decided the "equal benefit" phrase didn't apply to that service. Yet it's noteworthy the Court of Appeals favored state-funded abortions for state constitutional reasons.

Michigan's Declaration of Rights also protects student speech and writing, guards our right to keep and bear arms for self-defense, and limits governmental aid to churches far more clearly than the U.S. Constitution.

But more on those topics another time.

Tim Richard reports regularly on the local implications of state and regional events.

POINTS OF VIEW

There's more to political signs than aesthetics

The large Honigman sign on Farmington Road in the heart of Livonia caught me off guard.

I'm not used to seeing the names of Oakland County politicians in one of our Wayne County communities.

But of course, the new 11th U.S. House District, once presided over by a trio of politicians — William Broomfield, Sander Levin and Carl Pursell — will soon be represented by someone from Oakland County.

Indeed all five candidates, David Honigman (West Bloomfield), Alice Gilbert (Orchard Lake) and Joseph Knollenberg (Troy) on the Republican side and Walter Briggs (Birmingham) and Michael Meyer (Novi) on the Democratic, are out of Oakland.

But I digress. My real reason for writing this column is the sign itself — or rather, the concept of political signs.

They're important. In this non-voting era, they are vivid symbols of democracy and the political process.

I know, I know. Politics is a tarnished profession. Politicians, at least on the national and state levels, appear to be putting party before the needs of the people.

But it is the process which can — and must — change that.

And political signs, tightly regulated and enforced by size and by how long a period they may stand, signal the vitality of a community and its residents' involvement in the political process.

Communities that deny them on the basis of aesthetics have a strange sense of what is beautiful.

Here's a tale of three cities.

• West Bloomfield allows the placing of any number of political signs with permission of the property owner, as long as they meet size limitations and are taken down immediately following an election.

JUDITH DONER BERNE

West Bloomfield is a township where local offices come up every four years. The August primary lists 24 candidates for major local office, including three for supervisor, three for clerk, two for treasurer and 16 for trustee.

• Rochester Hills is a city which limits political signs to two per homestead.

Rochester Hills has a history of political activism, from the county incinerator issue to the large number of residents running for various offices. No city elections are coming up, but local library and road proposals are on the primary ballot along with the various U.S. rep, state rep, and county races.

On July 15 the city council will hold a public hearing on whether to amend the ordinance to allow unlimited lawn signs.

• Bloomfield Township, where no political signs are allowed at all.

Bloomfield Township, which also has all its offices up this fall, has no one opposing the current supervisor, clerk, treasurer or four trustees and only one extra person running for library board.

I don't live in Bloomfield Township. But if I did I'd be pretty indignant that I couldn't campaign for my favorite candidate or issue in my own backyard, so to speak — if that was my way of becoming part of the political process. I'd think seriously about my First Amendment rights. And I'd certainly wonder why no one is interested in running against the local establishment.

As you drive the neighborhoods in our communities, from Rochester Hills to Canton Township, the communities that allow political signs signal populations that care.

Our sense of aesthetics depends on the season. A tree without leaves is ugly in mid-summer, but displays a stark beauty in the dead of winter. Pastel petunias planted in spring begin to look out of place as the leaves turn bright colors in fall.

Blocks of uncluttered lawns may be beautiful most of the year. But in a political season, color them sterile.

Judith Doner Berne is assistant managing editor for the Oakland County editions of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

July 4th: Tapes, lies and a revered piece of parchment

Tapes, notes, lies and intrigue.

For most of our country's history, Americans have taken pride in the fact that our most significant exports were the principles of freedom and self-determination that gave birth to this country.

As we observe the 216th birthday of the nation on Saturday, the Fourth of July, our revered Declaration of Independence, Constitution and appended Bill of Rights are still the bedrock of our republic.

Yet, there's an unease about what America stands for in 1992.

Did we secretly sell arms to Saddam Hussein of Iraq?

Did a presidential candidate plot to delay release of hostages in Iran for political gain a dozen years ago?

Does our government secretly do business with drug dealers?

Why did we invade the tiny island of Grenada?

Has the promise of America dried up for those who have no homes, no medical insurance, no prospect of higher education and no hope?

A symptom of the malaise is that while once great men wrote great documents to be publicly enunciated and proudly proclaimed to the world, now the notes and taped records of government leaders more and more are furiously hidden, later capturing headlines and coming on as the lead stories on the nightly news.

A decade after Watergate in 1980, the secret tapes of Richard Nixon, expletives undeleted, a man who thought himself above the law, were released and made accessible to the public at the National Archives in Washington, D.C.

Ten years later, historians today are fighting for access to many more Nixon tapes and papers locked in National Archive vaults so they can prove definitively if Nixon was central to the planning of the Watergate break-in.

Ironically, in the case of Caspar Weinberger, former Secretary of Defense, his own notes last week led to his indictment for culpability in knowledge of attempts to exchange weapons for hostages; knowledge of profits from weapon sales to Iran illegally going to the Contras and other matters. Weinberger was tripped up by his own notes that revealed the tale of his involvement.

In the National Archives, just a few feet from the Declaration of Independence, are provided 32 sets of earphones with which the public can listen to the tapes bringing history to life.

In fact, the Declaration came to a secure home 101 years after Jefferson wrote it and a committee adopted it, expanding on his list of grievances against the crown and deleting his denunciation of the slave trade.

From 1776 to 1877 the original parchment manuscript was kept in 10 different cities.

Twice the historic document narrowly escaped destruction by fire.

If there had been audio tapes and tape recorders in 1776, we might listen to the unfamiliar voices of Benjamin Franklin, John Adams and Jefferson as they wrangled during the Continental Congress' deliberations.

In this case, only in fantasy, for there are no audio tapes, just the worn parchment of the Declaration.

It is hoped that on July 4, 1992, the venerable document still stands as an inspiration for Americans who believe in the rule of law, life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness (and freedom).

State's child population loss spells tough economic future

The number of children in Michigan fell significantly between 1980 and 1990, according to an analysis of Census data by the Kids Count in Michigan project.

The decline of 10.7 percent was surpassed only in three other states, Michigan registered 2,761,986 children under the age of 18 in 1980. The youth population dipped to 2,458,765 by 1990.

"Only three other states experienced such significant declines in their child populations," said Bettie Landauer Menchik, a Kids Count researcher from the Institute for Public Policy and Social Research at Michigan State University.

"Sixty six of Michigan's 83 counties experienced some loss in their child population, and many of the most significant losses were found in the rural counties of Michigan's Upper Peninsula."

"The decline in the state's child population is startling and has significant public policy implications," said Pat Sorenson, project coordinator for Kids Count in Michigan.

"While Michigan's overall population has remained fairly constant, the youth population has dropped precipitously. Michigan's economic future and the well being of its aging residents will be in hands of a shrinking workforce, and their preparation for the responsibilities of adulthood will become more critical."

33 states lose

Nationally, 33 states experienced a loss in the number of children residing within their borders. The greatest losses were in West Virginia; Iowa and Kentucky, followed by Michigan and a host of Midwestern and Northeastern rust belt states where the loss of manufacturing and other higher paying jobs presumably resulted in population losses. Declining birth rates have also been a factor.

"For economic and other reasons, Michigan women in most counties are having fewer children than a decade ago," Sorenson said. "In fact, births to women ages 15 to 44 fell over the decade in 69 of the state's 83 counties."

The Kids Count analysis showed that 23 counties experienced a decline in their child population of 15 percent or more over the decade. Ontonagon County, located in the state's Upper Peninsula, experienced the greatest decline, losing 866 children for a 29 percent reduction. The areas of the state experiencing the greatest declines include the Upper Peninsula, the Saginaw Bay and Thumb areas, and portions of southeastern and northeastern lower Michigan. The 17 counties that experienced growth in their child populations are located primarily in the northern and western sections of the lower peninsula.

cent over the decade, from 2,337,891 children in 1980 to 2,111,687 in 1990.

Oakland County gained just over 7 percent during the 80s, from 1,011,793 children in 1980 to 1,083,592 in 1990.

The Kids Count analysis of the new census data also shows that during the last decade Michigan's adult population grew by 3.5 percent, resulting in a modest increase in the overall population. Children, however, are becoming an increasingly smaller portion of the total population.

"In 1980, children under age 18 represented nearly 30 percent of the state's total population. By 1990, only 28.5 percent of the state's residents were children," Landauer-Menchik noted.

Silverdome should host more games

It shouldn't have surprised. I'm not talking about the snub. Nine cities — or "venues," as the international soccer community prefers to call the World Cup '94 sites — were selected to host games last March. Detroit's Silverdome was one.

On Monday, eight of those nine venues were granted games extending beyond the four-game first round. Chicago will host the opening ceremonies and the first Cup game, featuring defending champion Germany against somebody on June 17, 1994.

The semifinals will be in Los Angeles, at the Rose Bowl, and in New Jersey, at the Meadowlands, July 12-13. The Rose Bowl gets the championship match July 17.

And what does Detroit get? Nothing beyond the first round. It's the smallest schedule of any of the venues, and it upset me. Here America gets to do something no one else has ever done — play a series of soccer matches indoors, under a dome, on real grass — and the Silverdome has agreed to do it, and to foot the expense.

After selling this unique proposal to FIFA, soccer's governing body worldwide — something even Roger Faulkner, chairman of Michigan's host committee, thought unlikely 18 months ago — one might think we'd try to take full advantage of it.

No confidence

But no. Instead, as Alan Rothenberg, chairman and chief executive officer of World Cup USA '94, ex-

Kelemen brings home the gold

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

Livonia rifle shooter Kate Kelemen hit most of her targets, then missed the recent earthquakes during her stay in Chino, Calif.

Could she have asked for a better scenario?

Kelemen earned both a gold and silver medal at the United States International Shooting Championships (USISC) and returned home Friday, two days before a pair of earthquakes shook southern California.

"I was like, 'Oh, I'm glad I missed them,'" said Kelemen, a 1990 Churchill graduate. "I just hope that everybody I shot with was able to get out of California in time."

Kelemen isn't eligible for the 1992 U.S. Olympic Team but her chances for the '96 Games in Atlanta have greatly improved. Kelemen's medal-winning performance in California while competing as a junior gave her a spot on the National Development Team — which makes her eligible to make the '96 U.S. Olympic Team.

Kelemen's parents (Steve and Judy) and a bunch of former coaches, friends and relatives met her at Metro Airport late Friday night. Banners and balloons also greeted Kelemen.

"I was more surprised than anything, because I just expected to see my mom and dad," said Kelemen, who will return for her junior year in the fall at Murray State University (which finished third nationally last year in women's shooting).

Kelemen, competing against juniors and seniors, finished eighth overall in the air rifle competition and 12th in the small bore rifle event at the USISC.

Kelemen won a gold medal for juniors in the air rifle and took the silver medal for juniors in the small bore rifle. Kelemen scored 776 points out of a possible 800 in the two-day air-rifle competition and she scored 1,137 points out of a possible 1,200 in the small bore rifle event.

Perhaps most satisfying for Kelemen was knowing she finished ahead of 1988 Olympian Dena Wigger in the air rifle competition. The performance took some of the sting away from placing fourth last spring in the Junior Olympics competition at the Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs, Colo.

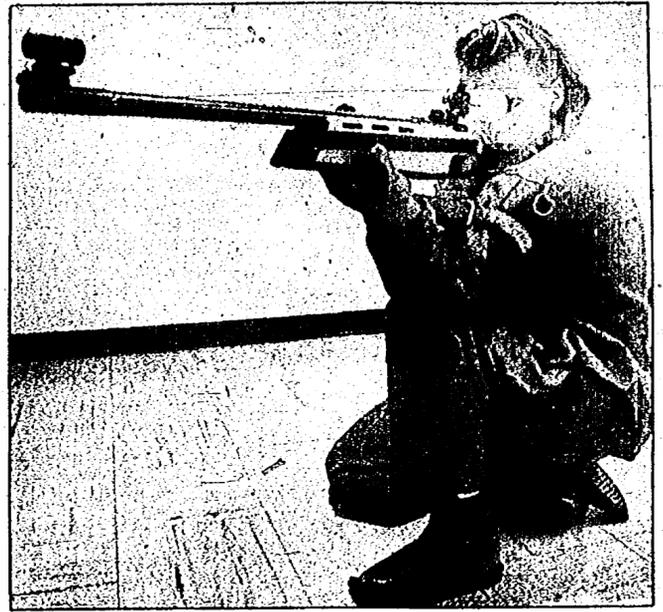

"I was very pleased, for this being my first international championship," Kelemen said. "I never shot against Olympians or world champions before so I was a little nervous and excited, too. I shot good for me (in the small bore rifle event) but wasn't quite good enough for the gold."

Kelemen, who won't turn 20 until Nov. 8, began shooting four years ago after suffering a knee injury as a dancer.

After undergoing two knee surgeries (including one last summer) Kelemen figures she's found her niche.

"I think I'd be a lot further ahead (if I started earlier) but starting later does have its advantages," Kelemen said. "You seem to be more mature, disciplined. Shooting is a very disciplined sport — you have to hold energy within yourself until you finish shooting."

"It's more of a mental sport. If you run around, get your heart rate and adrenaline going, that's not what you want."

Kelemen works at Kinney Shoe Store in Westland Mall during the summer. She also trains as often as possible at the Livonia Sportsmen's Club (at Eddie Edgar Arena) and the Western-Wayne County Conservation Association in Plymouth.

Kelemen, who won the state outdoor championship for both men and women in the spring, will compete later this month at the Great Lakes State Games.

Kelemen is coached at Murray State by Elvis Green. She said the inspiration provided at home by her parents also is important.

"My parents have supported me financially and mentally," Kelemen said. "If they hadn't supported me, I wouldn't have gotten this far."

Wolverine XIII adds new look with divisions for recreation

The Ford-Wolverine XIII Soccer Tournament will be held Saturday through Monday at Bicentennial Park and Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

The tournament will attract 144 teams from states throughout the midwest, New York and Canada, according to Irene Saucedo-Smith, president of the Michigan State Youth Soccer Association and chairman of the Ford-Wolverine.

Games will be played from 8 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday at both Bicentennial and Schoolcraft. The championship games will be played from 8 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Monday at Schoolcraft. There is free admission at each site each day. Concession sales will go to help pay for Schoolcraft College athletic scholarships.

As in past years, the majority of teams playing for division championships will come from the select or premier level. But this year, divisions for boys and girls recreation players have been added, Saucedo-Smith said. Recreation teams for boys Under 10, U-12 and U-14 have been entered, as well as recreation teams for girls U-10.

"Throughout the state, the recreation players are the ones that make up the bulk of our membership so we're constantly trying to do things for the recreation player," Saucedo-Smith said. "We're hoping it grows."

SOCCER

Champions for premier and select teams will be crowned in the following boys age categories: Under-11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17 and 19. There will be four separate divisions for girls select and premier teams: Under-12, 14, 16 and 19.

Last year's Ford-Wolverine was highlighted by the appearance of Rick Davis, former captain of the U.S. National Team who signed autographs working for Chiquita Challenge. Saucedo-Smith said there were no guest appearances lined up for this year's tournament.

The Ford-Wolverine is the only tournament in the state run by the MSYSA, according to Sal Malek, the vice-chairman of the MSYSA.

"It's a very nice tournament," said Malek, who owns Soccer Locker in Farmington. "It's been getting better and better each year. Irene and the committee do a nice job with a lot of cooperation from Schoolcraft College and Livonia Parks and Recreation. It's a nice little touch for the area to have a first-class tournament. People almost make a vacation out of it."

Bob Bird Memorial tourney returns

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

Westland America baseball coach Jerry Pitcher will find out all he needs to know about his team at this weekend's fifth-annual Bob Bird Memorial Tournament.

Several of the country's best Mickey Mantle teams will attend, including the Baltimore (Md.) Yankee Rebels, who are defending Bob Bird Memorial champions. Games will be held Thursday through Sunday at three different sites — Westland John Glenn, Plymouth Salem and Redford's Capitol Park.

Westland America has an 8-1 record in the Little Caesars Amateur Baseball Federation League but last weekend managed only two ties and suffered four losses in a disappointing performance at the Cincinnati Midland Tournament. America opens play in the round-robin Bob Bird Memorial at 12:30 p.m. today against Dearborn Stitt at John Glenn. America also plays at 3:30 p.m. today against the Windsor Titans at Glenn. See schedule for America and Stitt on page 2B.

"I'm still trying to find out about my team," Pitcher said. "The competition in our league is down, we've played only two outstanding teams (Belleville and Huron)."

America beat Belleville, 7-3, and lost to Huron, 1-0. The Cincinnati Midland Indians look to be the best team headed into the Bob Bird Memorial, according to Pitcher. The Indians lost in the championship to the Yankee Rebels a year ago and have got three outstanding pitchers returning, according to Pitcher.

"I know him (Indians' coach Larry Redwine), he's a pretty honest guy, and he says this is one of the best teams he's ever had," Pitcher said.

As for the Yankee Rebels, Pitcher said "I can't picture them being as good as last year."

Despite the uncertainty about his team at this week's tournament, Pitcher believes he has talent throughout his lineup. Pitcher always has talent but last year America failed to get out of the district for the first time in 17 years.

"I've had pro scouts tell me we could win the (high school) Class A state championship," Pitcher said.

"Of 13 kids on the roster, I have 10 who are varsity players for somebody and they're all starters."

The top America player might be Aaron Scheffer, a senior-to-be at John Glenn in the fall who hit .500 last week in Cincinnati. Scheffer plays third base and pitcher. "But I wouldn't say he's too good for this level," Pitcher said.

Other starters hailing from Glenn include Greg Neabitt, first base; Brian Morrison, catcher; and Jamlo Murphy, outfielder. Pitcher David Susalla, pitcher/second baseman David Kapla, catcher Juan Sanchez and third baseman J. Rozum all attend Redford Catholic Central.

Wood leads Walter's sweep

Walter's Home Appliance edged its way closer to first place Sunday with a doubleheader sweep over the Tecumseh Green Giants in a Livonia Collegiate game at Ford Field.

Walter won the opener 8-0 and the nightcap 5-1, giving it a 10-6 record and placing it just one game behind first-place Little Caesars. Tecumseh remains in last place with a 3-12 mark.

In the first game, Dave Wood was solid on the mound for Walter's, going the distance and striking out five.

Walter's tallied 10 hits, including two from Craig Overaitis (Livonia Franklin).

Paul Pirronello (Redford Catholic Central) hit an RBI double to spark a three-run sixth inning for Walter's.

Kevin Young (Farmington) also had an RBI triple to help the cause, and Jeff Schaffer (Franklin) contributed a two-run double in the second inning.

BASEBALL

In the second game, Walter's once again received solid pitching, this time from Louie McKaig, who tossed a three-bitter and fanned four.

Walter's had eight hits. Pirronello paced the attack with two, including a double, and two RBI. Jay Gabel added a two-run single in the third.

Caesars, Delwal split

Little Caesars split a doubleheader with Delwal Sunday, winning the opener 11-6 but dropping the second game 10-4 at Novi High School.

In the first game, Caesars benefited from five Delwal errors, which led to seven unearned runs. Delwal also stranded 13 runners on base.

John Spoyler started for Caesars and went the first three innings. Dave Roman came on with the bases loaded in the fourth and fanned the side.

Caesars belted nine hits, including two from Mark VanAmedeys, Jim Solak and J.R. Taylor. Aaron Mach had a two-run homer and VanAmedeys a two-run double.

Delwal (9-7) had eight hits, including two apiece from Noah Bremen and Bill McCaig. Bremen also drove in three runs.

In the nightcap, Todd Boike turned in a solid pitching performance for Delwal, scattering nine hits and allowing just one earned run. Delwal committed two errors.

Delwal tallied 10 hits. McCaig and Tom Kretschmer each blasted two-run homers. Bremen, Mike Schwartzenberger and Billy Hardy chipped in two hits each.

Hines Park wins 2 of 3

Hines Park split a doubleheader with Ann Arbor Wendy's Sunday, winning the first game 4-3 and losing the second 10-3.

In the first game, Geoff Allen (Plymouth Canton) was the winning pitcher and Adam Morano suffered the loss in the nightcap.

On Friday, Hines Park tallied nine hits en route to a 3-2 win over Delwal at Ford Field.

Scott Rodgers (Plymouth Salem) won the pitching dual with Mark Temple (North Farmington). Delwal took a 2-0 lead into the final inning, but Hines Park rallied for three runs.

Ed Gundry (Plymouth Salem) led off with a triple, Jason Riggs walked, a wild pitch scored Gundry and a double by T.J. Raptis (Madonna University) tied the score. Raptis scored the winning run on a single by Mike White.

Gunn named as All-American

VOLLEYBALL

Maybe not much was expected from the Michigan team.

The SOVA 16-and-under squad coached by Tom Teeters was not one of the 12 "elite" teams; only four of the approximately 130 teams competing in pool play would survive to challenge the elite at the AAU Junior National Volleyball Tournament, which ended Tuesday in Chicago.

As it turned out, SOVA deserved the designation. The local team won nine-straight matches to reach the final 16 — which included automatic byes for the 12 elites. SOVA then won its first match against an elite team before finally falling to eventual tournament champion Fort Wayne (Ind.) 15-11, 15-10.

The impressive performance earned SOVA a fifth-place finish, and got some individual recognition for Liz Gunn of Livonia Ladywood. Gunn was named to the AAU All-American team.

A 5-foot-10 left-side hitter who will be a senior this fall, Gunn "got us back into some games with her soft-touch serves and left-side dinks," said Teeters, who coaches at both Schoolcraft College and Ladywood. "She's an extremely hard person to block, both because she's left-handed and she hits so well from the left side."

Gunn's honor was not expected. A player's team had to reach the final 20 before she would be considered for such status, and that was no sure thing for SOVA. "It did (surprise me)," said Teeters of Gunn. "There were some very good players there."

Still, SOVA romped past much of the competition, collecting five-straight wins in pool play. That put them into single-elimination division play, which they survived with four consecutive victories — among them a 15-12, 16-14 triumph over Sports Performance, (of Chicago), considered one of the tourney's top teams.

In their first match in the round of 16, SOVA defeated elite team Neris (Chicago) 15-6, 8-15, 15-9.

Teeters praised the performance of several players in the win over Sports Performance, including Valerie Adzima ("She put on a defensive clinic for us"); Amanda Ault, Bridgit Norris and Julie Heist ("Strong blocking"); and Jean Kegerreis ("Off the bench, she scored three of our last four points on kills in the second game").

plained at Monday's teleconference from Zurich: "We had to reduce from nine (sites) to eight. The only reason we did not continue forward with Detroit is because we are proceeding with something historic, playing indoors."

"We ought not to push our luck any further than that."

Now that's an endorsement, isn't it? Certainly, it is a truly American reaction; it will reinforce the world's impression of us. Those Americans. Put all this money into something outlandish, then stop halfway.

But, as I said, getting snubbed really didn't surprise me. And after I thought it over, neither did our local organizers' reaction to it.

Obviously, I don't like the decision. I would have liked at least two more games here. And considering the investment going into the Silverdome's transformation, I thought we deserved it.

But Faulkner didn't blast the snubbery. Following the course set when they fought an uphill battle to land Detroit's bid, the Michigan committee tried to make a positive out of a negative.

"I'm not in the least bit surprised," said Faulkner. "The gamble — and it's not really a gamble — but the decision to play indoors is a remarkable one. We have to consider ourselves blessed to have four games."

A test next June

Faulkner then began to call it a five-game series, because the Silverdome and its grass surface will be the site of a U.S. Cup match next June. Joseph Blatter, general secretary of FIFA, described next summer's match as a dress rehearsal: "Naturally, we have to have a rehearsal in this stadium."

That sounds a bit suspicious, particularly when they included alternate sites (Phoenix, Ariz., Columbus, Ohio, and Denver, Colo.) for World Cup '94 games in Monday's press conference. Of course, the optimistic Michigan committee isn't worried, even though the time allowed to develop a sure-fire indoor grass surface now is halved.

Already, the "great grass experiment" is underway in the Silverdome. Under the direction of a host of turf doctors and experts from Michigan State University, every possibility is being explored. Dozens of three-foot blocks are scattered at one end of the 'dome, to be studied and analyzed.

Wildcats reach Final 8

The Western-Wayne Wildcats 18-Under AAU girls basketball team advanced to the quarterfinal round of the national championship at Eastern New Mexico University.

The Wildcats, coached by Gary Schwann, played top-rated North Carolina in Wednesday's quarterfinal. (Results of that game and any further games played by the Wildcats will appear in Monday's editions of the Observer.)

Schwann acknowledged North Carolina's strong team but gave the Wildcats a good chance of winning the national title because the tournament is double elimination after pool play. The Wildcats can lose to North Carolina and still be alive.

"Of the eight teams left, seven or eight have a legitimate chance to win, including us," Schwann said. "This is really a special team. All our players have been key figures, contributing. We play real fast — you can see by our scores."

The Wildcats have averaged 96.5 points per game. After four games (including three in pool play), Livonia Franklin's Dawn Warner leads the Wildcats in scoring with 20.5 points per game.

The tournament began with 37 teams and the Wildcats were one of 18 who advanced out of pool play. The Wildcats finished in second place in their pool behind first place Ohio with a 2-1 record.

The Wildcats, who have Warner,

Darcie Miller (Plymouth Salem), Julie Nicastris (Plymouth Canton) and Laure DeMattia (Farmington Hills Mercy) on their roster, beat Missouri (78-73), West Virginia (113-63) and lost to Ohio (96-88) in pool play.

The loss to Ohio was disappointing, Schwann said, because the Wildcats led 50-34 at halftime and 72-60 in the second half. Ohio outscored Michigan 20-2 late in the second half and held on to win the game and the pool.

The Wildcats on Tuesday ambushed Massachusetts, 107-54, to advance to the quarterfinal round.

Regardless of what happens, Schwann said the national tournament will be quite a memory for the players and coaching staff. Schwann is assisted by Fred Thomann, the head coach of Plymouth Salem. Thomann took the '89 Wildcats, who included Plymouth Salem's Jill Estey and Plymouth Canton's Michelle Fortier, to the semifinals of the national tournament before bowing out.

"This is a very competitive tournament, everyone here is a state champion," Schwann said.

'Good people' buy Super Bowl Lanes

AL HARRISON

Good things happen to good people. That's exactly the case regarding the sale of a local bowling establishment to Mark and Diane Voight of Troy.

Mark and Diane recently purchased Super Bowl Lanes in Canton Township. The Voights have earned the respect of the bowling community as owners of Satellite Bowl in Dearborn Heights and Century Lanes in Waterford. Mark also serves as secretary of the Bowling Centers Association of Southeast Michigan.

Mark and Diane are very active owners. They are both involved in the daily operation of the business and anyone who knows them knows how they go out of their way to see that bowlers enjoy the game.

By purchasing Super Bowl, the Voights have obtained another 60 lane beds. They also have establishments in Charlevoix and Fort Wayne, Ind.

Mark and Diane have been successful in bringing the Ladies Pro Bowlers Tour to this area. Now we can look forward to them bringing more events to town.

Good things will soon be happening at Super Bowl.

Summer league scores are soaring at Town and Country

Lanes in Westland, including a 300 registered by Tony Sivako. Yves Szmansky came close with a 298. Brian Smith tallied a 300 a few weeks earlier.

Jim Lhamon of Farmington was the recipient of the Howard McCullough Memorial award from the Youth America Bowling Alliance at its recent awards banquet.

This annual award is presented for the dedication and contributions to junior bowling. Jim is the assistant director of the Sunday Youth Classic Traveling League. He is also a member of the GDBA Board of Directors.

Larry Walker, a Garden City bowler, will be one of the U.S. competitors in the Africa Cup, to be held July 11-20 in South Africa. Several other nations will also be participating.

As a member of this year's Team USA, Walker gets to pile up some frequent flier miles while taking part in his favorite sport.

There were seven other race divisions for both women and men and several local runners finished among the top three.

Metropolitan Musicafe features pasta

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER

Everywhere there's a view, not a bad seat in the house. No, we're not talking about a nightclub, although Metropolitan Musicafe at 34555 12 Mile, Farmington Hills is known as one of the area's hottest rock and roll bars.

With a fresh, yet simple approach to food, it's also a great place to eat out.

"I don't want to be known as just a bar," said Nino Cutraro of Bloomfield Township. He also owns the Metropolitan Musicafe in Royal Oak, and the Ultimate Sports Bar in Pontiac.

Steve Wren of Rochester, a graduate of the Culinary Institute in Hyde Park, New York is in charge of the kitchen. Wren worked at the Royal Oak Metropolitan Musicafe for two years, and moved to the Farmington Hills restaurant when it opened on Feb. 28. Pasta dishes are one of his specialties, and how is a great time to try them.

"Summer Pastabilities for Two," features dinner for two with choice of Seafood Ravioli, Grilled Chicken Tortellini, Shrimp Marinara Linguine, Shrimp and Crab Fettucini Verde, or Southwest Linguine, choice of Antipasto or Caesar salad, and glass of Chardonnay, Cabernet or White Zinfandel wine for $13.95, through July 31.

Eat inside, or outside on a balcony overlooking a beautifully landscaped courtyard with waterfall. No matter where you sit, there's something interesting and fun to look at. Cutraro collects rock and roll memorabilia, the walls are filled with guitars, gold records and photos. Some unusual from all backgrounds and ages. During the main season it offers major events by the Southfield Symphony and chamber events by accomplished artists at various locations.

South Oakland Concert Band entertains

"During the summer season, when most series take a well deserved break, this department offers a pleasant and entertaining series to fill the gap. The Southfield Summer Concert Series presented its first event this season in a concert featuring the South Oakland Concert Band. It was the first of the Gazebo Concerts presented outdoors near Civic Center Drive and Berg.

Combined with the cool weather for this season, this concert proved to be an entertaining event even for someone with a decided preference for heavy classical material like myself.

Nostalgic selections from the 1920s from musicals and marching band selections evoked an enthusiastic response from those attending.

The South Oakland Concert Band consists of amateur musicians, and as such, has its limitations when compared to the more seasoned and professional groups. But the sincere devotion and dedication of its members and leader make up for much of this gap.

Among the highlights of this event was a virtuosic coronet performance of the "Carnival in Venice," by veteran coronet artist Cleveland Autrie. It concluded with a vigorous "Stars and Stripes Forever," with its favorite piccolo acrobatics credibly performed.

Another attractive feature of this series is the fact that it is free to the public.

There are two series involved: the Gazebo series, where this aforementioned event took place and the Sun Bowl Concerts in the Prudential Town Center "Sun Bowl" off Civic Center Drive between Northwestern Highway and Evergreen Road.

The Gazebo Concerts are 7 p.m. Wednesdays through Aug. 26. Sun Bowl Concerts are 7 p.m. Sundays through Aug. 23. The Gazebo series also features a children's show, and picnic menu at reasonable prices.

Upcoming concerts include Dodworth Sax Horn Reserve Band, 7 p.m. Wednesday, July 8, Spirit of America Band, 7 p.m. Wednesday, July 15, The Red Garber Band, 7 p.m. Sunday, July 12, New Greystone Jazz Orchestra, 7 p.m. Sunday, July 19.

Bring your own lawn chairs for these concerts. For more information, call 354-4717.

Folk trio kicks off series

BY SANDY MERRITT
SPECIAL WRITER

No it's not golf. It's the first annual biweekly Summer Concerts on the Green series sponsored by the Troy Public Library 7 p.m. Wednesdays through Aug. 26.

The Felicity Strings Trio, consisting of two hammered dulcimers and one bass player, kicked off the first in the series of five outdoor concerts at the Troy Public Library, 510 W. Big Beaver Road in Troy's Civic Center Complex.

Pat Tait of Redford played one of the two hammered dulcimers accompanied by her husband Jim on bass. Pat Mallis of Livonia played the second hammered dulcimer.

For anyone unfamiliar with a hammered dulcimer, it's a trapezoid-shaped stringed instrument that originated in the Middle East over 2,000 years ago. Wooden hammers strike piano type strings creating sounds reminiscent of a harp.

Some people came to the concert because they were familiar with dulcimer music, others came to introduce their children to music. Like Diane Ives of Troy who brought her 2 and 5-year-old sons. She claimed she has no musical talent, but wants to expose her sons to music.

"I like dancing really pretty," said 4-year-old Sarah Rocheleau of Troy. Her parents, Tim and Vickie Rocheleau, discovered the concert when exiting the library. Tim said he would come back after seeing how much his daughter enjoyed dancing to the melodic tunes.

When Pat Tait, a University of Michigan music graduate sang and played "Have I Told You Lately That I Love You," on the dulcimer, the crowd joined in singing along with her. Pretty soon someone yelled out a request for "Danny Boy." The group cooperated playing it on the harp and dulcimer. The concert ended with a rousing medley saluting veterans of all the armed forces with songs like "Stars and Stripes Forever," and "Anchors Away."

Linda Morrow, the new assistant director of the Troy library, said she wants the biweekly series of folk an ethnic music concerts to represent the diverse culture of Troy. The series is funded by a grant from the Oakland County Cultural Council and the Michigan Council for the Arts and Cultural Affairs.

"I bring the kids and it's free, and they're exposed to music," said Ives. "If they get restless and want to leave, I don't feel bad about leaving."

The concert lasted a little over an hour which was when Ives' 2-year-old began crawling away requiring Ives to crawl after him. But she said her 5-year-old could have stayed all night listening to the beautiful music.

For the over 100 attendees the weather cooperated by not raining. Most of the crowd sat on picnic tables or brought blankets or folding chairs to sit on. Many of the small children attending danced and kept time to the music. One enthusiastic 2-year-old even kept time to the music on her old brother's head until the mother stopped her. The next scheduled concert 7 p.m. Wednesday, July 8, will feature Golden Rain Percussion, African and Mexican folk music with snare drums, mallets, timpani and traps. Concerts are free, bring a chair or blanket to sit on. If it rains the concert will be held inside the library. For information, call 524-3438.

Mitzi Gaynor, charming, enthusiastic and busy performing

MARY JANE DOERR

"Come on, Yolanda, I know it's you," said the caller on the other line. Little did the caller know that the laughing voice at the end of his wrong number was stage and screen star Mitzi Gaynor.

Chuckling, Gaynor returned to our telephone conversation from her Los Angeles home as naturally as Nellie Forbush handled her colonel in "South Pacific." At 61, the bright eyed dancer/singer has lost none of the enthusiastic charm that has kept her in front of the lights since she first danced for Cole Porter when she was 16 years old.

"I hadn't had enough experience to be scared," said Gaynor who auditioned for Porter at his Mockingbird home in L.A. "What did I know about silver framed pictures of the King of England. All I wanted was a Coke with two cherries and a chance to sing 'You're the top'."

When the star starts asking the questions, you know their friendliness is real. I am not Bing Crosby, Gene Kelly, Joshua Logan or Richard Rodgers or any of the famous stars with whom Gaynor has worked, but during our conversation, Gaynor found out almost as much about life in Michigan as I did about touring with super duper Las Vegas stage shows.

On June 30, the audience at Northland Theatre, on J.L. Hudson Drive near the Plaza (former Sheraton) Hotel in Southfield, had the opportunity to ask Gaynor questions when she introduced the 1955 movie classic "Guys and Dolls" for Continental Cablevision and American Movie Classics as the spokeswoman for the American Movie Classics channel.

As Nellie Forbush in 1955, then 25 year old Gaynor made her name in musical theater history. When that career in the movies tapered off after "For Love or Money" in 1963, she began her Las Vegas shows, and has been on the road at least six months a year ever since, including several appearances at the Fox Theatre in Detroit. She is booked through 1993.

"I never saw the Fox when it wasn't bright and shiny," said Gaynor who grew up near Wayne State University between Second and Merrick in the 1930s. Going to the movies at the Fox, visiting the Detroit Institute of Arts, and making clay pots at Pewabic Pottery was what she did for entertainment.

"Then I moved to California and majored in boys and a suntan. I always had a great tan," said Gaynor. The other phone rings again. "Jack says 'hi'."

Jack Ban, Gaynor's husband of 37 years, is the talent scout she married in 1954 who rejuvenated her career at Paramount and other studios resulting in leads in films such as "Anything Goes" with Bing Crosby, "Les Girls" with Gene Kelly, "Surprise Package," with Yul Brynner, and "We're not Married," with Eddie Bracken and "The Joker is Wild" with Frank Sinatra.

Auto media feels advertiser wrath

DAN McCOSH

AUTO TALK
GM canceled advertising in Automobile Magazine's after editor David E. Davis delivered a scathing speech critical of GM management at the Washington Automotive Press Association's annual awards dinner.

Well, sort of. As an award recipient at that dinner, the consequences of which were recently reported in the New York Times, I find myself in an uncomfortable position for a working journalist — reading an account in the general media of some event you actually participated in. Neither the incident nor the aftermath seems to have much to do with the stories about it. Unfortunately, an accurate account tends to confirm the worst opinions held by the general public about how the media really operate.

First, Davis was in rare form that night. He opened bragging about the $1 million he had just received as a bonus for successfully launching Automobile magazine, then sort of drifted into a meandering diatribe, mainly about incompetent management at General Motors. More than incompetence — he questioned the breeding and social class of GM executives, 'products of land-grant universities,' and finally admitted what some folks had suspected all along — that Mr. Davis thought the folks that bought domestic cars were sort of lower class as well.

'Wow,' I was thinking, here is the Washington Post, the New York Times, the Wall Street Journal — all taking this in. Unfortunately, not taking notes. The big guns were all at the WAPA dinner because auto executives at most of the major manufacturers had paid for it. In the end, this is what pushed GM corporate types attending the dinner over the edge — being singled out in the midst of a meeting of their corporate peers as the butt of Mr. Davis tirade.

They went home and canceled Automobile advertising. They deny it, but they did.

To the best of my knowledge, nobody wrote a word about the speech itself. Unfortunately, including me. I took my award and went home. Subaru paid for my dinner. Canceling advertising, however, steps on the toes of the publishing industry, and it's first amendment time. Hence the column in the New York Times about GM's assault on Automobile's ad revenue, which followed stories in Advertising Age and Automotive News.

I can hardly condone using an economic bludgeon to curry favor in the press. But to some in the business, this is getting a bit old. Toyota in particular has canceled advertising at Car and Driver, Motor Trend and Road and Track when mildly critical articles appear — or even when they don't get mentioned when they think they should.

This is, in fact, the second time in recent years that Mr. Davis has had his ads canceled by GM after giving a speech. As an admirer of both Mr. Davis' editing style and Don Quixote types in general, I would like to be able to credit him with editorial guts, but he told the Times that Automobile gets about 90 percent of its ad revenue from import car companies anyway, so GM is actually his cheapest shot.

And in the back of my mind is the response I got from a Toyota executive about the ethics of canceling ads when magazines are critical: 'I keep telling our management that it's unethical. But the problem is that it works.'

"Growing up as a youngster in Hawaii, I always felt that someday I wanted to have my own business. I sold newspapers when I was young. I always had a dream," Tsuha said.

"At GM, we had an electronics start-up group in the early '70s. Rockwell had an auto electronics start-up group and TRW had a start-up group. After TRW, I said the next one will be my own," he said. Tsuha was a manager in transportation electronics at TRW before starting his own company.

Saturn initially was capitalized by an enterprise fund sponsored by GM, the Michigan Strategic Fund, personal investment and a bank loan, Tsuha said.

Growth will come from new products, internal cost savings and acquisitions where they fit into the company's mold, he said. He projects revenue this year of $25 and $70 million by 1995.

Tsuha, who lives in Rochester Hills, has a daughter, Jennifer, and son, Christopher. Tsuha enjoys golf, but acknowledges that he's spent a

Saturn's founder reaches for stars

Wally Tsuha's dream of developing a full-service electronics supply firm has become reality. His entrepreneurial style includes team-building among employees and diversification of product line.

Wally Tsuha, owner of Saturn Electronics & Engineering in Rochester Hills, has enjoyed tremendous success since founding his company in 1985.

Last year, Saturn doubled sales to $16 million and boosted employment at its plant here by nearly two dozen to 116. Tsuha acquired instant production capacity in Mississippi and Mexico, low-cost labor locales, by purchasing Beta Manufacturing.

Saturn, a major automotive supplier, has taken steps to diversify into the military and commercial subcontracting arenas.

Those were a few of the reasons that Tsuha was selected Master Entrepreneur of the Year by a panel looking for excellence in financial performance, innovation and personal commitment to business and community. The program was sponsored by Ernst & Young, a professional services firm; Inc. Magazine; Merrill Lynch; Comerica; WJR Radio; and Crain's Detroit Business.

"We have a good base of customers, very supportive, giving us an opportunity to work on products and prove ourselves," Tsuha said.

GM, Chrysler and Ford account for about 75 percent of his company's business now, Tsuha said. "By 1995, we hope other areas will grow faster than automotive so automotive will be about 50 percent," he said.

Saturn currently is working on tank components with General Dynamics Land Systems and with IBM and Masco on commercial applications, Tsuha said.

"Our original plan was to be a full-service electronics supplier, to take an idea, develop it into a concept, build a prototype, put it into production and deliver it to the customer," he said.

Quality check: Wally Tsuha, president of Saturn Electronics & Engineering, visits with Wanessa Wight in the production assembly area.

"Today, that turns out to be the right strategy."

"We believe we have some of the best people in Michigan working on our team," Tsuha said. "We try to stress team spirit, team effort. People are very responsive to that. We empower them to make decisions, come up with ideas. Because we're a young company, we can establish that culture."

Tsuha, 48, was selected Minority Entrepreneur of the Year last year in the same program. Judges this year included William Parfet, president of Upjohn Co.; Rick Inatome, president of InaCom Corp.; Florine Mark, president of the W.W. Group; and David Brophy, associate professor at the University of Michigan.

"We're pretty aggressive trying to be a success," Tsuha said. "I devote a lot of time to projects. We're very team-oriented. We try to spread the entrepreneurial spirit all the way down the team. "We look for improvement in all areas of operation, not just production, but finance and accounting," he said. "We set quantifiable goals, what things are, where we're headed."

Saturn has posted a profit every year since its inception, Tsuha said. Last year's amounted to some $750,000, he said.

Dynamic duo says goodbyes

Leo Roddy doesn't work there anymore. For that matter, neither does Marilyn Wells.

Both retired last weekend from Model Wallpaper & Paint in Livonia. Roddy, the manager, had 51 years of service with the family-owned company. Wells, a sales rep hired by Roddy, had 20.

"When I was 14, my father sent me to the store to buy a roll of drywall tape," recalled Roddy, now 65. "When I went into the store, the gentleman (owner Carl Schramm) said, 'Do you want a job?'"

Roddy went back the next day and, except for a two-year stint in the Army, has worked for Schramm ever since. Roddy was paid $5 a week for helping out after school and on Saturdays.

He has managed the Livonia store the past 27 years and has watched the industry evolve — at a considerable increase in pay.

"There's a lot more wallpaper sold," Roddy said. "It dresses up a room a lot more than a coat of paint. It lasts a long time. It gives you beauty, gives you a good feeling looking at wallpaper rather than a blank wall."

"Paints (today) hide better, cover better," he said. "They go on easier. Latex paint now cleans up easier. There's no odor to them."

Wells sought a job after her children were grown.

"I've probably helped decorate half of Livonia," she said. "We have some pretty nice customers. We know them personally. We were invited out to a lady's house the other day to see the results of our decorating. That happens frequently."

Wallpaper customers today seem to prefer contemporary design, Wells said, but traditional has a strong following.

"I don't think we'll ever lose the country look because people are so into antiques," she added.

Both Roddy and Wells kept up to date by talking with manufacturers reps. "I've always been good with color," Wells said. "When you like something, you learn."

Customer service is what the smaller independents use to compete against large department and specialty stores, Wells and Roddy agreed. "It's personal help," Roddy said. "They (customers) will tell us what they've got and we'll help them."

Roddy is stepping down now because he figures he's of retirement age and tax laws will take a big bite of his Social Security earnings if he continues to work. He plans to spend time finishing a second home in Kalkaska.

Wells, who plans to divide time between Michigan and Florida, said she's no longer physically up to the rigors of lifting heavy wallpaper sample books and paint cans.

Roddy said he never really thought about getting into another line of work or working for someone else.

"It's nice being able to work by yourself and with your helpers and not having anyone to tell you what to do because you've been left in charge of the whole operation," he said.

Schramm, retired for 15 years, remembers Roddy well.

"I worked at the bomber plant (in the early 1940s) and the three of us, my wife, and him, kind of carried on during the war. It was a small store, a tiny hole in the wall, not much really."

"He was a loyal employee. He was on a level with my children. They all joined the business as they grew up," Schramm said.

"He's an honest and honorable man. I think he will be in and out. He's not just wiped out. If we need him, we'll call on him. He lives the business like I did," Schramm said.

New book has what it takes to stay young

BY SUE MASON
STAFF WRITER

Old age. It happens to all of us. Some of us see it as a curse, others as a challenge. There's no way of avoiding it, but there are ways of delaying it. Just ask Kathy Keeton.

It's obvious Keeton, the author of "Longevity: The Science of Staying Young" (Viking, $24), practices what she preaches. She doesn't look a day over 35 even though she's 53. And, if she has her way, she'll live to age 120.

"There's so many things I want to do and see," said Keeton on wanting to live so long. "I want to die as late as possible."

Based on the belief that each and every person holds the power to lengthen their life, Keeton has spent four years working with researchers to come up with the definitive book on staying young.

While it contains as much information as an encyclopedia, the book shouldn't be mistaken for a reference work. What Keeton does is examine the latest in anti-aging theories and take a close look at the many things available today to delay the aging process... to keep people looking, acting and feeling younger than they are.

Kathy Keeton

The depth of the work reflects her almost lifelong interest in living longer. It was her grandmother, she said, who got her interested in the subject as a young child.

"I had a grandmother who taught me that middle age started at 70," she said. "She lived until she was 98 and died in her sleep. She exercised daily, ate chicken, fish, fruit and vegetables... all those things doctors want us to do now."

The wife of Bob Guccione of Penthouse magazine fame, Keeton's first brush with the issue of longevity came in an article on scientific efforts to extend the human life span that appeared in her first issue of Omni, the leading consumer science lifestyle magazine.

Response to the article was so great that Keeton kept printing articles about aging. That in turn led to her founding of Longevity, a magazine dedicated to the art and science of staying young, in 1986.

For all ages

Admittedly, the book is geared for younger people, but what Keeton puts forth in the book are things that even older people should be doing to revitalize their lives.

"The human life span is 115-120 years (the optimum number of years you could live) and the life expectancy (the number of years you do live is around 70)," Keeton said. "A number of people are living into their 80s, 90s and beyond and it's important to keep these people active."

"The reality is that everybody should be doing this whether they're 18 or 80."

Keeton's lifestyle includes an hour workout each day — "It's wonderful." She also indulges in fruit peel massages and collagen injections, watches her diet and uses vitamin therapy to keep her youthful appearance.

In fact, her vitamin therapy is a supplement package of 40 different minerals and vitamins, developed by Michael Colgan of the Colgan Institute. Colgan believes each person has his or her own vitamin profile. He does extensive series of blood tests, hair and nail analysis and a comprehensive lifestyle questionnaire to determine exactly what supplements in what amount should be taken.

The basics

But, she stresses staying younger doesn't involve just one change in a lifestyle. Massive doses of vitamins isn't going to hold back the wrinkles or keep the physique sleek. Staving off aging involves 10 "very, very basic" things that "will change your lifestyle and your attitude about life," she said.

Some of those basics? Some are simple like eating right, using a sunscreen and getting more exercise. Keeton also recommends staying slim by not dieting. Rather than a life of up and down weight gains, she favors finding a weight that you feel comfortable with and keep it relatively constant.

She also recommends the power of love. Experts have found that strong emotional bonds pay off in better health and longer life and, while the jury is still out on sex and longevity, it does help lower the blood pressure, relieve arthritic pain and alleviate insomnia, Keeton said.

"If you look in the mirror and you look good, then that makes you feel good," she said. "And if you feel good, it helps your immune system and makes you treat others better."

Keeton is pleasantly surprised with the response to her book.

"There was enthusiastic response to the book all along and with the magazine out, that helped," she said. "But I did have one person say I was doing it because I'm vain and I said 'Of course, I'm vain.'"

Copies of Kathy Keeton's "10 Tips on Staying Alive" from her book are available free of charge by writing to Longevity, 1965 Broadway, New York, N.Y. 10023-6965, Attn: TIPS.

Stylin' — the Hines Park way

What the Pacific Ocean is to surfers, Hines Park is to sun worshippers. On any given sunny day, you can find the devoted on top of cars, sprawled on the grass or participating in games as they soak up the rays. And like the beach, half of being there is what you wear.

BY REBECCA HAYNES
STAFF WRITER

From suits to G-strings, it's anything goes in apparel at Hines Park. But if you're planning on hanging out, make sure your stomach doesn't do the same.

"If you've had a lot of pizza during the week, you keep your shirt on," said Russ Andrews of Garden City. The 22-year-old was burning calories in a volleyball game with a group of friends after work.

Physical fitness is vogue for many parkgoers, and articles of clothing are chosen for comfort in activity, such as cycling, rollerblading, playing volleyball, Frisbee throwing and playing hackysack and baseball.

Bike shorts and loose cotton shorts were spotted most on males, some wearing T-shirts and others working on tans. And denim shorts and stretch bike shorts seemed to have the most popularity among females, most of whom wore bikini tops instead of shirts.

Baring it all

When Glenn Rzepecki of Livonia was asked what he sees people wearing while enjoying the great outdoors, "as little as necessary," was his answer.

Rzepecki, 26, says he frequents Hines Park several times a week, either to bike, rollerblade or sunbathe, squeezing it in between classes at Eastern Michigan University and work at Dearborn's Ritz-Carlton Hotel. He points to his well-weathered lawnchair and says it's a two-season veteran.

"Usually, after Memorial Day only about half as many people are here because they go to Heath Beach," he said. "I'll come and work on my tan, and when it cools off in the evening I'll come back and ride my bike or rollerblade."

Nineteen-year-old Kristen Barnstable of Livonia also comes to the park several times a week. The Ladbroke DRC employee said she always carries a towel in the back of her car for impromptu sunbathing stops after work. Wearing biking shorts over her one-piece bathing suit, she said she often sees a rather large girl who enjoys sunning herself in her G-string bikini.

"She has to wear shorts over it (the bikini)," Barnstable said, grinning. "When I come down here with my girlfriend we keep track of the 'owwws' and 'oooh baby's' we get."

Rzepecki nodded, saying the bikers who ride by "usually slow down in reverence to the female flesh."

Feet first

He added that although going barefoot would be his preference while enjoying the outdoors, the broken glass and bottle caps found strewn throughout the park make that too risky.

High tops were the most frequently spotted footwear, but brands varied.

'Batman' thrives in print, on screen

BY PATRICK KEATING
STAFF WRITER

Batman has returned in the form of "Batman Returns," the highly successful sequel to the 1989 film "Batman."

Fifty-three years after his pulp-influenced origins, Batman continues to be an enormously popular character. And the medium in which he appears, called, somewhat erroneously, comic books, continues to thrive as well.

The comic book industry is booming. You need only look to Sotheby's, where on Dec. 18, 1991, $1.25 million was netted in its first-ever comic book auction. What some people consider funny books intended only for little kids is now big business.

A decade ago, comic books were mostly available in drugstores. Today, specialty stores, dealing exclusively in comic books, can be found in almost every major city in the United States and Canada. And comic books are recognized and respected as an art form in Europe.

Batman, created by Bob Kane, Bill Finger and Jerry Robinson, first appeared in "Detective Comics #27" (May 1939). Originally, a somber, mysterious avenger, Batman became more lighthearted with the inclusion of Robin, whose colorful costume and horrendous puns were a counterpart to Batman's grim mood.

In the late '60s, Batman was the unlikely hero of many science fiction stories and in the '80s, just another superhero despite the faddish popularity of the TV series.

In the '70s, with Robin off to college, Batman returned to his roots of the lone vigilante. However, it was not until the publication of "The Dark Knight Returns" by Frank Miller in 1986 that Batman became a really hot item.

Batman appears in four regular titles — "Batman," "Detective Comics," "Legends of the Dark Knight" and the recently debuted "Shadow of the Bat." In addition, the character has recently appeared in a crossover series with Dark Horse Comics' Predator, the alien hunter that battled Arnold Schwarzenegger in the 1988 movie of the same name.

Sales of Batman-related books during the release of the first movie were extremely high, and John Curtis, manager of Classic Movie and Comic Center in Livonia, expects increased sales with the sequel. But overall, sales of regular Batman books have been low recently, he said.

Curtis attributes the low sales more to the quality of the artists and writers than to the popularity of the character. Sales are not low on the crossover series, however.

"Stuff like that sells very well," Curtis said.

Low sales on current sales notwithstanding, back issues continue to be highly sought after. The value of "Detective Comics #27" has increased dramatically in the last decade. Today that comic book is valued at $80,000, according to the "Comic Book Price Guide." The 1981 edition of the guide values that same comic at paltry $8,000.

The originals

The forerunner of the modern comic books were reprints of newspaper strips, which began around the turn of the century. It wasn't until 1934, with the publication of "Famous Funnies #1" by Eastern Color, that the comic book as we know it appeared.

"Famous Funnies" became the first monthly comic book to be published, and followed Eastern's success with newspaper strip reprints. Eastern had been approached about the idea by a man named Max C. Gaines, whose son William published "Mad" magazine.

In 1938, what is considered the Golden Age of comics began when what is now DC Comics introduced Superman to the world in "Action Comics #1." Superhero comics would then fall by the wayside as western, romance and horror titles became the vogue of the '50s.

In 1968, DC editor Julius Schwartz brought back the popular golden age character, The Flash, with a new costume and new origin. This character, who appeared in "Showcase #4," ushered in the Silver Age of comics. Fast on the Flash's heels came the revised Green Lantern and the Justice League of America.

See 'BATMAN', 2C

Silver Age

Pat S. Calhoun, a columnist for the "Comic Book Marketplace," and Gary M. Carter, co-author of the "Overstreet Comic Book Grading Guide," point out in an article in the 22nd edition of "Overstreet" that although DC is credited with beginning the Silver Age, Marvel Comics publisher Stan Lee brought back the 1940s characters of the Human Torch, Captain America and the Submariner briefly in 1953, three years before "Showcase #4."

According to Calhoun and Carter, while Lee's attempts at revival did not bear fruit at the time, they should not be overlooked.

DC Comics may be credited with the creation of the Silver Age, which lasted until 1969, but Marvel Comics had a tremendous impact on it as well. In 1961, Lee introduced the Fantastic Four to the world. They were followed in 1962 by The Amazing Spiderman, the Incredible Hulk and Thor and in 1963 by the X-Men.

The Marvel heroes were different from those who had come before in that they were presented as being ordinary people who happened to have super powers. Spiderman, for example, had super powers but still had everyday problems like paying the rent.

Marvel characters continue to be extremely popular among comic readers. According to Curtis, Marvel's X-Men and related books are the hottest sellers at his store.

In comparing DC and Marvel, Curtis said the former "has probably the best comic characters, but they're not as good at marketing as Marvel... they're missing the boat in a lot of ways. They're just developing Batman."

The new guys

Today, DC and Marvel remain the top two comic book publishers, although a number of independents have cropped up in the last decade. Among them are Dark Horse, Innovation, Now and Valiant.

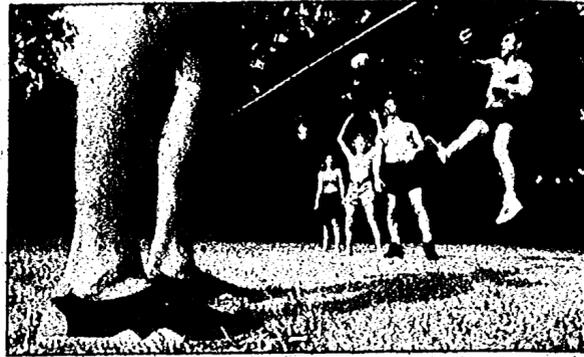

One of the most successful independent titles of recent years is "Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles," published by Mirage Studios. The Turtles first appeared in 1984 as a one-shot parody of the superhero genre. It was so well received that it went through five printings and became an ongoing series.

Eight years later that first issue is worth $325. And in 1986, the Turtles themselves were parodied by Eclipse Comics' "Adolescent Radioactive Black Belt Hamsters."

The superhero remains popular, although no doubt influenced by the Marvel titles of the 1960s, and is a much more three-dimensional character than his counterpart of the '30s, '40s and '50s. However, superheroes no longer dominate the field. DC's titles "Sandman," "Hellblazer," "Swamp Thing," "Shade" and "Doom Patrol" are more literary in scope than their costumed counterparts and deal with more esoteric themes.

According to Curtis, readers of those comics are a small but dedicated part of the market.

"It's the only area DC seems to be putting any development into," he added. And that development is more in terms of artistic creativity than marketing.

Fancy footwear: There may not be any water as in beach style water to be found in Hines Park, but water walkers are a popular footwear among those that frequent it.

"Whatever's cheapest," said Mike Cetnar, 24, of Detroit, when asked about his purchase.

Cetnar was playing hackysack with friend Ron Ewald, 25, also of Detroit. Both were wearing long, loose cotton shorts, high tops and were shirtless but wearing the shades necessary for a sunny day.

Flourescent, brightly colored shorts are what they notice people wearing the most, and Cetnar said they try to spend time in the park every day, weather permitting.

George Camaj of Farmington Hills and Luigi Kalaj of Canton were hanging out at the park after work, sitting on the back of their parked car. One wore cotton shorts and a T-shirt and the other a tank top and jogging pants made of windbreaker-type material.

Camaj was wearing his baseball cap with brim forward. "If my hair's real messed up I wear it backwards," he said.

Bring sunscreen

Madrene McNally was part of the volleyball game being played in the Haggerty Field area of the park. She rode her bike to the park with roommate Barnstable and was decked out in shades, bikini top and biking shorts.

"You always wear a bathing suit and sunscreen," she said when asked about her favorite park wear. "And whether or not I wear bike shorts depends on the day of the week, because sometimes I drive down after work."

James Haushaw of Garden City said he prefers his water walkers to his sneakers when spending time in the park. The 22-year old said that way he's prepared to go in the water, and added they're good for playing sand volleyball.

Haushaw and Fred Schmittou, 23, also of Garden City, both were wearing their baseball caps backwards.

"It's easier this way," Haushaw said. "You can pull it down all the way and it doesn't hit your ears."

"And people can't tell you didn't do your hair," said Schmittou, laughing.

Michael Myers, 27, of Dearborn Heights was sitting on the hood of his car drinking a cola and soaking up the sun. Wearing shorts, a T-shirt and his "imitation Oakley" sunglasses, Myers said he comes to enjoy the outdoors and people watch as often as possible.

"I've seen people down here in suits and I've seen people down here in G-strings," he said. "If you want to see something, it's probably down here."

A special reverence for a comfortable bridge partner

I am grateful for the circumstances that gave me the opportunity to rub elbows with a handful of men who are a part of my gallery of great people.

A few of them have in time become close friends. The real I hold in special reverence, even though I can't say that the events of my life allowed me more than a passing chance at enjoying their pleasures and personalities.

One was Jack Dreyfus, a man in many respects I hardly knew, yet a person in whose company I felt very comfortable. Jack was a very good bridge player and a favorite partner of many, for he handled his cards and the union proficiently.

Silence was probably his only chastisement — I never heard a word from him but praise. In the two years we played, I can't remember a sensitive moment, even though that goes with the game. Sometimes two people just mesh well together, and that was our good fortune.

Jack has been accused of being "the best American player of gin rummy in history," and the Encyclopedia of Bridge supports that contention in print, even though I'm not sure whether he has dealt a hand in many years. I sometimes wonder what it might be like to skirmish with him at this favorite amateur pastime of mine, but then reality brings me back to my senses and I gladly pass on such a utopian hope.

It is unfortunate that the duplicate bridge world has never known this champion, for he would certainly capture a case full of match points fast. His natural ability, table presence and personality are well suited for this wonderful intellectual challenge, but stake play is his game, and away from the table his foremost love, medical research, comes first.

Jack established the Dreyfus Medical Foundation some 30 years ago because of an extraordinary series of events in his life which had a profound effect upon his health. Since then he has unselfishly given immeasurable energy and funding to this cause, yet much is still to be accomplished, and this takes a great deal of his time.

If today's hand from my scrapbook of well-played melodies was introduced at duplicate, approximately 50 percent of the field would be playing two no trump after a Stayman search was made for a major suit fit. Some wouldn't even get that far, and a few might go further. Pending the brilliance of declarer's play, eight tricks are there while difficult to find, but game in no trump has absolutely no play. Note with homage how Jack handled this hand one sunny afternoon at New York's celebrated Cavendish Club.

Jack's third call was audacious, but he knew his partner held four hearts and some quantity of high cards and his 17-plus exceptional middle card texture was monumental. North's final call displayed arrested development, but he obviously was spurred by declarer's reputation for performing miracles and bid the game with no comprehension that his partner would be playing a Moysesian fit opposite his sub-minimal holding.

When the dummy was introduced, Jack quietly scolded himself for not passing two no trump. Appreciate that this was as good a stake game as one could play in, and it was being contested for the love of a lot of money. Nevertheless, declarer concluded the contract was remotely possible if he could hold his losses to a trump, a club and one diamond. He won the opening lead in his hand and immediately played a club, West ducking smoothly, and won by dummy's king. The heart finesse lost to West's king and at trick 4, 5 and 6, the diamond ace, the club ace and diamond 3 ruffed, with dummy's heart 8. Now three rounds of spades ending in declarer's hand, and this was the position at trick tend.

You can see the space and diamond are now ruffed in dummy and dummy's two clubs are ruffed in the closed hand, limiting the defense to the three losers Jack had consciously contemplated.

Writer wants to separate from past, have new challenges

Dear Lorene,

GRAPHOLOGY PROFILES

LORENE GREEN

I am right handed and I am 56 years old last March. I am extremely interested in learning all about handwriting analysis, as I would like to take up a class to learn to do so. Could you send me more details on how I can accomplish this? I would be very grateful. And thank you so much.

B.M.,
West Bloomfield

As I study today's handwriting, I can't help wondering if something has happened to our writer recently. It seems that she would like to separate herself from some of her past and reach out for new challenges.

Some of her past experiences have taught her not to show her feelings freely and to limit her responses. Some self-pity is also suggested.

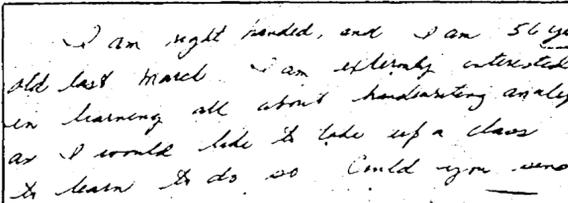

Ostensibly, she is experiencing ambivalent feelings in several areas and may be making it difficult for her to make decisions.

Her need for security often seems in conflict with her need to be independent and separate herself from a traditional background.

Our writer is caring and emotional. Even if she tries to conceal her feelings, her body language gives her away. She has mood swings and they can happen without too much provocation.

Sometimes, she is vulnerable to criticism. Other times, she hides it. Wide word spacing tells us she needs her time and space. She tends to put distance between herself and others and may feel lonely at times. This suggests some lack of trust in people.

Self-discipline is not a strong trait here. She starts out on a project with optimism, but may begin to have second thoughts about her ability to handle it. Then her initial enthusiasm wanes and a certain amount of her energy and/or determination to complete the project is also lost. This creates inner tension.

Her philosophic outlook is somewhat narrow. A tendency to argue cannot be missed in this handwriting. Once her mind is made up, she can be rather firmly based.

She has been blessed with a sense of humor which can lend perspective to her life. A tad of tact is here and can be an effective way of dealing with people. When used in combination with the humor, it can ingratiate her to others. Humor is a very valuable trait in any relationship!

And now to answer your questions. First, let me say I am happy to learn of your interest in graphology. Classes are offered at Oakland Community College. Most complete bookstores, such as Borders, carry a selection of graphology books. Also check your public library for books on the subject.

If you would like your handwriting analyzed in this newspaper, write to Lorene C. Green, a certified graphologist, at 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Please use a full sheet of white, unlined paper, writing in the first person singular. Age, handedness and full signature are helpful. And objective feedback is always welcome.

Most modern Bible versions deny that David killed Goliath! That's right, see 2 Samuel 21:19 to prove the above. But we want to help you identify which Bible version is the true Word of God. If you look to the west as you drive along Farmington Road north of Five Mile, you might wonder where the new church came from that sits at the edge of Ford Field.

But Christ Our Savior Lutheran Church isn't a newcomer to the religious community in Livonia. It's been around since the late 1970s. What has brought it to the forefront, so to speak, is its third building program that includes the construction of a new church.

It's quite a change for the church that has seen its membership double in size in the last five years.

"When I came here, it was principally a neighborhood church," said Pastor Luther Werth. "Our asset is being near a freeway exit (Farmington Road). Now our growth is coming from far away."

The dedication was the third for Christ Our Savior. The first came in 1979 when the first church, with seating for 300, two classrooms and offices was completed. The second was in 1984 with the addition of a gymnasium, three classrooms and an office wing.

The current addition includes an 800-seat church, with the capability of seating another 150 worshippers in the balcony, a big change from the school gymnasium where services have been held since May 1991.

The design of the new church was dictated by the original church and the 19th century altar and reredos (the ornamental screen behind the altar), given to Christ Our Savior in 1978 following the closing of Gethsemane Lutheran Church in Detroit.

Creativity was the password for the $2.2 million project. The floor plan of the new church resembles a Greek cross with the altar area and balcony forming the east-west arm and the nave where the congregation gathers for worship forming the north-south arm.

Old and new

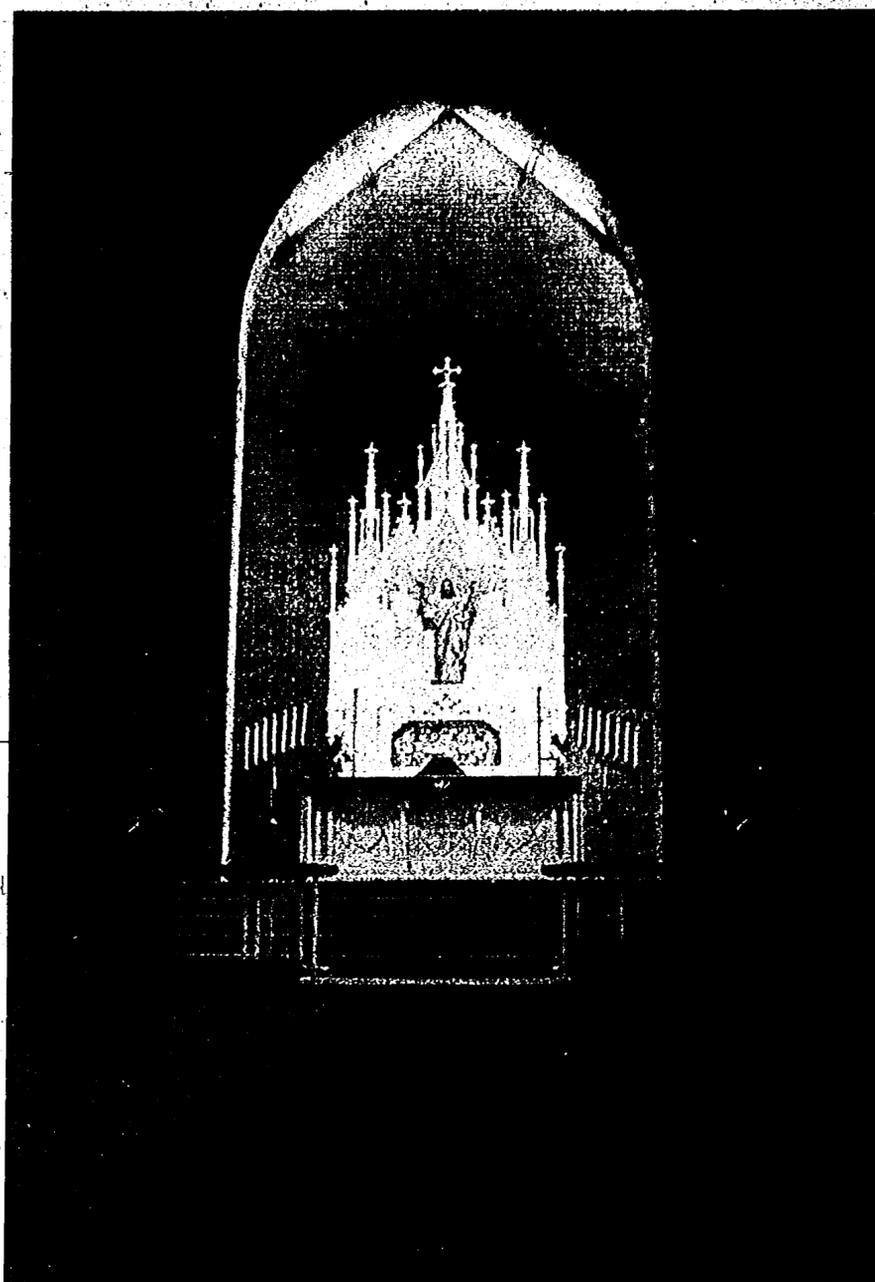

"We tried to combine the old and the new which dictated the design of the church," Werth said. "The congregation men built a base for the upper portion of the reredos; it's an exact copy of the one in Trinity Lutheran Church in St. Louis, Mo., the first congregation of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod."

Other artifacts from Gethsemane Church have been used. The baptismal font sits to the left of the altar on an inlaid marble floor, depicting the dove, the symbol of the Holy Spirit. The pulpit, placed on its original pedestal, is to the right of the altar.

A stained glass widow, depicting Christ at Gethsemane, is the focal point of the small Gethsemane chapel built in the original church as part of the construction.

"The women of the church are making all the paraments (vestments) for the ministers and the altar," Werth said. "We'll have clothing and cloths embellished with crewel, needlepoint and cross stitch."

Modern technology has been included in the design. An elevator has been installed to service the balcony and in a small room off the nave is the audio-video control room. Four video cameras have been installed in strategic spots in the church proper to allow for recording services.

"We want to establish a video ministry," Werth said. "We have an audio ministry for shut-ins and those in nursing homes, but especially with special services, we can take the video and they can have the feel of being in church."

Church members are being trained to operate the equipment from a small glass booth on the northside of the nave.

The Advent narthex

The original church has been incorporated into the design. The front portion serves as the Advent narthex (lobby), so named for two sets of stained glass windows depicting Christ's coming and Judgment Day that had to be moved due to the construction.

The narthex includes a welcome center for visitors and new members, a nursery suite, cloak room and parent's room for services. There also is a smaller mother's room with lavatory for nursing mothers.

A second floor was added to the rear portion of the original church, creating a rehearsal room for the choirs. It is connected to the new church by a cat walk, which has an enlarged ledge, ideal for performances by the hand-bell choir, Werth said.

If that isn't enough expansion to keep the congregation in awe, there also is the pastor's sacristy on the northside of the church, built with windows that can be replaced with doors to accommodate the next phase of construction — three large classrooms.

There also is talk of a fifth phase — eight classrooms on two floors — on the west side of the gymnasium. Christ Our Savior currently offers an educational program for preschoolers and kindergartners.

And there's more. The old church offices will be converted to a youth center with a lounge. The new offices, along with a church library, are across a courtyard from the new church. The library sports another set of stained glass windows, depicting the creation, the commandments and the writings of the prophets.

The new construction has been a costly endeavor for the congregation, which is in the third year of a three-year $600,000 pledge drive. The remainder of the cost, some $1.6 million, had to be borrowed.

But a price can't be placed on the work of church members, according to Werth.

"They've been fantastic," he said.

Restoration planned in tribute to Quakers

Talk about keeping a long-term commitment! Eleven years after moving it to Greenmead Historical Village, the Livonia Historical Commission is about to restore the Friends Meeting House, once home to the Religious Society of Friends, better known as the Quakers.

The 146-year-old building is the oldest Friends Meeting House in Michigan. Legend theorizes an existing building was put over a fieldstone foundation on land owned by David Lapham, a Quaker.

With the Geer Bungalow at Greenmead now restored to 1910-1925 vintage, commissioners have turned their sights to restoring the Friends Meeting House to 1850s vintage.

The plan is to again use the one-story, white-clapboard house for meetings. Small weddings and concerts also are envisioned.

The city plans to complete the $180,000 restoration over three years. Local Quakers have chipped in $1,000. "We plan to at least do architectural drawings this year," said Sue Daniel, commission chairwoman.

Some windows and the floor are original, historians have found.

Hand-hewn oak beams provide the building frame. Bark remains visible on some.

The joists are 10-inch logs of black walnut and maple. The rafters consist of rough log poles.

The ridge pole — a hand-hewn, pentagon-shaped timber — runs the length of the building. The rafters are wood-pegged to the ridge.

Initial work will bring a new foundation, new wood shingles and basement improvements.

The hand-hewn oak posts and beams that provide structural support to the house also must be improved.

New York roots

George Fox, who preached brotherly love and reaching God through an "inner-light," founded the Religious Society of Friends in England during the 1600s.

During the early 1800s, many Quakers from New York settled in the Livonia-Farmington area. In 1827, the more liberal Hicksite sect ("that of God in everyone") formed.

About 1834 in western Wayne County, Hicksites formed the Livonia Monthly Meeting, part of the Michigan Quarterly Meeting and the Genesee, N.Y., Yearly Meeting.

The Livonia group's first meeting place: a log-frame house built in 1838 near Farmington Road and Seven Mile.

When their new meeting house went up in 1846, Livonia Quakers hosted a Michigan Quarterly Meeting of Hicksites.

By 1853, changes at the yearly meeting level of Hicksites in Genesee, N.Y., led to the end of monthly meetings in Michigan.

The Congregational Friends and the Friends of Human Progress, who were avid abolitionists, later formed in Michigan but faded after the Civil War.

The Friends Meeting House has an unusual stone cellar entered by a trap door. It may have been used as a hiding place on the underground railroad, Ruth Knight relates in her 1984 pamphlet, "The Meeting House."

House becomes home

In 1860, David Lapham sold the Friends Meeting House to Quakers Sarah and William Roberts, who converted it to a farmhouse.

The Roberts lived there until 1880. Other families — the Kahrs, Dietrichs and Gullens — followed.

Ceilings were dropped, a staircase was built and partitions were added. Fireplaces replaced chimneys and stoves. "Heating, plumbing and electricity were necessary modern conveniences," according to Knight's account.

Livonia Historical Society member Joanne Potter has a special interest in the restoration. Her mother, Lillian Skaggs, was born in the house in 1912.

Potter's grandmother, Martha Peck, was the youngest of six girls born to Frederick and Fredica Dietrich. "I'm disappointed it won't be taken back to a farmhouse, but at least it's being restored," Potter said. "We're going to throw a big family reunion at the dedication."

China, silver and family pictures are among the heirlooms Dietrich descendants will donate for display in the house, Potter said.

The city acquired the Friends Meeting House in 1962.

From 1976 to 1977, the house, by then called Quaker Acres, served as a historical museum and a meeting place for historians. Potter was a tour guide.

Until Greenmead opened in 1976, the Quaker Acres grounds provided a gathering spot for historic buildings the city was acquiring.

Turn a small space into a garden oasis

BY ARLENE FUNKE
SPECIAL WRITER

Carol Wedge of Birmingham enjoys listening to the gurgle of her back-yard fountain. "It's so peaceful," she said.

Along with her fountain, Wedge has small cement statues of wildlife, blended to create an inviting scene. "There are little and discreet pieces," she added. "They are so beautiful and natural."

Joan Hintzke has filled the garden of her west Dearborn home with Oriental statuary. "It's serenity and peace," Hintzke said. "I like graceful things."

Statuary available for every budget and taste, said Linda LaMaumaux of Cliff Green Sales, a Livonia statuary company.

"Even with a tight economy, people can take a small fraction of the money they would spend for a vacation and create a back-yard retreat," said LaMaumaux, formerly of Redford Township and now living in Livonia.

Statues range in cost from a few dollars to several hundred dollars. An elaborate fountain may cost up to $1,500.

If you enjoy a wildlife look, there are little cement statues of raccoons, turtles, foxes, frogs and deer.

Fountains are available in a variety of themes, including Oriental, aquatic, floral, Victorian and whimsical.

Birdbaths are perennial favorites.

In Oakland County, the contemporary look is very popular, said Dean Darin, spokesman for English Gardens Nursery, with several stores, including a West Bloomfield location. "It's all square blocks, or rounds," he said.

Fountains, which start at under $100, also are available in a variety of themes. "They all have re-circulating pumps, so you don't waste water," Darin said.

Selecting painted or unpainted statuary is a personal choice. With care, the pieces will last for many years. Darin suggests spraying a clear lacquer on the statue to preserve it from the weather.

Art camp instills creativity, confidence

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
SPECIAL WRITER

The dog days of July are lurking around the corner for vacationing school children — and moms.

If you're a parent who'd like to turn some of those free hours into a creative learning experience, a summer art camp run by D & M Art Studio and Gallery in Plymouth has the answer: a week full of art activities.

"I'm really excited about all the things we're going to do," said Sharon Dillenbeck, D & M Art Studio owner and producer of Art Camp Mania.

"I'm looking forward to Monday. It's clay day. It's a real creative way for children to express their feelings in an open environment, a fertile way for them to use their imagination."

D & M's art camp is structured for three age groups: preschool, ages 3-6; student, 6-10; and teens, 10-16.

Local artists, including Dillenbeck, Bladen McClellan, Susan Argiroff, Sandy Banks and Janie Tucci, as well as visiting artists will teach a variety of media at the weeklong camps, running through Aug. 7. Children will explore drawing, painting, pastel, print making, paper mache, clay, cartooning, marbling, design, calligraphy, gold rubbings and more.

"Everyone will get to do a gold rubbing. Gold rubbings are similar to brass rubbings. It's a very old art form. Brass rubbings have been popular since the age of Queen Victoria," Dillenbeck said.

Daily sessions include printmaking with vegetables, creating paper mache puppet heads and field trips into Old Village.

"There will always be two adults and a student aide, Kerry Iconelli, on hand at all times," Dillenbeck said. "We keep the classes small enough (no more than 10 per instructor) that the kids receive one-on-one instruction."

The D & M summer camp provides all art materials. Upon registering, stu-

Mayor honors Livonia Civic Ballet

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
SPECIAL WRITER

Mayor Robert Bennett has designated the Livonia Civic Ballet Company the city's official ballet company.

City Clerk Joan McCotter presented the ballet company's artistic director, Jean Gloria Newell, with Bennett's proclamation at the final performance of the company's spring production, "An Evening of Ballet Divorissements," at Stevenson High School.

The non-profit, professionally oriented company was founded more than 25 years ago by Miss Jean, as she is affectionately known. The ballet company has 24 members ranging in age from 8 to 27.

Dancers hail not only from Livonia, but also Farmington Hills, Novi, Redford, Madison Heights, Sterling Heights, Detroit, Dearborn and Ann Arbor.

The Livonia Civic Ballet Company has performed at the Power Center for the Performing Arts on the University of Michigan campus in Ann Arbor, Madonna University in Livonia and with the Oakway Symphony, now the Livonia Symphony.

Jean Newell established the second ballet school in Livonia 30 years ago. She has danced professionally since age 10, studying ballet in New York where she became a member of the Joey Harris Ballet Company.

She danced two years on Broadway in productions such as "Oklahoma" and "High Button shoes." She also danced with national touring companies and on the straw-hat circuit.

Miss Jean is one of the foremost authorities on teaching the Cecchetti method of ballet as well as the Russian method. A past president of the Cecchetti Council of America, she travels throughout the country as a permanent examiner.

Besides teaching ballet and jazz at Miss Jean's School of Dance in Livonia, she has choreographed musicals for Stevenson High School, Players Guild of Dearborn and Wyandotte Community Players.

Miss Jean's daughter, Arnell Janet Newell, is assistant artistic director of the company.

SAVE HOUGH

Volunteers are still sought to help save Hough School.

In disrepair and open to vandals, the little red schoolhouse stands forlornly at Old Haggerty and Warren Road, along an old stagecoach trail, in Canton Township.

The recently formed Committee to Save Hough School hopes to build public support for saving and finding adaptive re-use for the historic landmark, now privately owned.

Livonia developer Mel Belovicz has no immediate plans for the 10-acre site he bought in 1987 and rezoned to office use four years later. He said he'll cooperate with the committee to save the school from the wrecker's ball.

The building dates back to the 1890s. It served as a public school until 1958. It later housed a nursery school.

Hough is one of five one-room schoolhouses gracing the Canton countryside.

CZECH ART

Madonna University in Livonia will display a Czechoslovakian collection of folkloric and embroidery art dating as far back as the 17th century.

The collection includes antique embroidered costumes, aprons and headpieces that depict the various villages' cultures in Czechoslovakia as well as bobbin-lace, framed items.

The art collection is in the Exhibit Gallery in the library wing at Madonna, 1-96 and Levan. Hours are: 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday-Thursday, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Friday, 1-5 p.m. Saturday.

Let's talk about your dream home.

Have you been dreaming of buying a new home? Something with high beams and comfort written all over it—something like this one? Or perhaps you prefer an uncluttered condo? Or a stately old Victorian?

At this very moment you're holding hundreds of wonderful homes right in your hands. Our Creative Living and Building Scene pages are filled with them.

Why are our Real Estate sections such a wonderful marketplace for you, whether you're looking for your dream home or dreaming of quickly selling your present home?

There are a number of reasons.

First, The Observer & Eccentric reaches some of the most affluent households in Oakland County. In fact, our readers have a median household income of $61,000. Belden Associates, of Dallas, Texas, has just completed a study of our prime market area for us and their figures show that this income is $10,000 higher than that of people who don't read our newspapers.

Second, our newspapers are trusted. That may not sound like much, but when it comes to selling homes, people come to us for just that reason—they want to list their home in a reputable publication. They come to a place where they've clipped coupons for years, advertised their garage sales, enjoyed stories of their neighbors and friends and learned what's happening in their community government and on the high school football field. They choose their hometown newspaper because they know they are choosing a respected newspaper that has been around for more than a century. They come to a friend.

Third, we have extremely high home ownership in our circulation area. Belden research also revealed that 90% of our readers own their own homes!

UGLY ART

Donations of artwork — the uglier the better — are being solicited for the fifth annual Ugly Art Show and Auction July 15 at Historic Trinity Church on Gratiot in Brewery Park, downtown Detroit. Last year, the event raised $12,000 to carry on the work of this central city catalyst church, under pastor David Eberhard. "It's an ugly affair but every time we try to cancel it, there's an uproar from those who love to come and the number keeps growing every year," Eberhard said.

Those wishing to donate art objects — from paintings to sculpture, lamps, pottery, weaving, whatever — may call Edie Miller at 567-3100 or drop off the art at Eberhard's office at Historic Trinity.

The event is a kind of comic relief for people bombarded all year with demands from serious auctions and fund-raisers. "It's a chance to let your hair down and have some fun in the middle of summer, and we do have some good stuff here, too," Miller said.

Because some people insist on donating decent and worthwhile art, the event can now be called "The good, the bad and the ugly" in art.

The theme this year: "Made in Michigan."

A special committee, headed by honorary chairwoman Shirley Eder is soliciting auction items from celebrities either from the state or who had their start here. It already has a tie from Gerald Ford and an autographed duffel bag from Wayne Fontes.

CREATIVE CLASSES

Workshops in tissue collage, monotypes and relief printing using linoleum are coming up through the Visual Arts Association of Livonia. Callie Thomson will teach tissue collage 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Thursday-Friday, July 16-17. Lily Dudgeon will teach monotypes 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturdays, July 25 and Aug. 1. Sandra Steed will teach relief printing using linoleum 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Friday, Aug. 7, 14 and 21. For registration and fee information, call Marge Masek, VAAL class chairwoman: 464-6772.

VAAL classes are held in Room 24 of Jefferson Center, 9501 Henry Ruff, Livonia.

VAAL is dedicated to advancing the knowledge and appreciation of the creative arts by offering studio classes, workshops and twice-yearly exhibits. Supporters include the Livonia Arts Commission, the city of Livonia and the Livonia Cultural League.

Enrollment is open to everyone. Members, however, receive reduced tuition fees, the VAAL newsletter and reduced exhibit entry fees. Meetings are held the third Thursday night of September, October, February and April.

Children's novel result of writer's bold move

VICTORIA DIAZ

BOOK BREAK
David Skinner, 29, doesn't believe in giving up easily.

About three years ago, Skinner, then living in Livonia and working at Borders Book Shop in Novi, got an idea for a children's book that he wanted to write.

At the time, although the University of Michigan graduate had put together dozens of stories and a number of novellas already, he'd never actually received anything from publishers except the standard rejection slips.

There was something definitely different about this story, though, Skinner believed.

As he began to write, he realized he'd never come across anything quite like it — not in the books he'd read as a boy growing up in Michigan and Ohio nor in any of the children's literature he saw each day on the shelves at Borders.

Over the following nine months, Skinner worked entirely on his own, squeezing in daily writing sessions between his working hours at Borders. He belonged to no writers' groups and nobody read the work as he went along except himself, he says.

"One friend saw the manuscript," he recalls. "But he didn't critique it."

After finishing the first draft, Skinner read the manuscript through and decided it needed radical "re-building," a procedure that required several more months of work.

Then, finally satisfied he'd done the best he could by the story, he packed it up and sent it off to a publisher. He didn't have to wait long for an answer. It came back in the form of yet another rejection letter, to add to his already sizable collection.

But the rejection, instead of discouraging the aspiring writer, seems to have acted as a kind of shot in the arm for Skinner. Determined more than ever to find a "home" for his rather unconventional story, he decided to try a rather unconventional route.

"I'm not really one who usually makes bold moves but I was trying to think of a way to circumvent all those readers at a publishing house," he recalls. "And mostly I wanted to find out if the story was really any good."

He packed up the manuscript again and sent it, along with a letter, not to another publisher, but to an award-winning children's author whose work he much admired. (Skinner, when being interviewed for this column, declined to reveal the name of the author; he worried she'd be deluged with other such pleas from aspiring writers if he did so.)

In the letter, he asked the writer to read his manuscript, and then kindly let him know if she felt it was worthy of publication.

Not only did the author read the book but she liked it very much. In fact, she liked it so much, she recommended it to her editor at Simon & Schuster. And the editor, on reading "You Must Kiss A Whale," liked it enough to provide David Skinner with his first letter of acceptance — not to mention a welcome check plus a request to see more of his work.

"After the editor called me, I just went around the house, saying, 'Yes! Yes!' for the rest of the day," Skinner says. "She didn't even request any significant revisions."

"You Must Kiss A Whale," brought out last month by Simon & Schuster, is a many-layered, story-within-a-story, brimming over with symbolism and flavored with a peculiar, dream-like quality.

It is also flavored with a touch of fantasy (perhaps reflective of Skinner's admiration for the work of author Roald Dahl?).

The story is told mostly from the point of view of an adolescent girl named Evelyn, who one day discovers in an old chest a mysterious tale written by her father, a man who has earlier walked out on Evelyn, her mother, and her baby brother, Zack.

As Evelyn seeks to decipher her father's words (especially the cryptic message, "You must kiss a whale"), she makes some important discoveries. A huge, strange storm bears down on the house of "broken rooms" she shares with Zack and her strangely remote mother.

Now that Skinner has sold "You Must Kiss A Whale," he's already at work on his next children's book. (He's since left Borders and moved from Livonia to North-Braich, near Lapeer, where he helps out at the family apple orchard-cider mill-country store when he's not writing.)

"At this point, I really don't want to say much about the (new) story," he replies, when asked to comment on the work-in-progress.

"I'm not trying to be coy about it. It's just that I don't know, really, until I'm done, exactly what a story is going to be. I will say, though, that this time around, it's told from a boy's point of view. And it will be written for approximately the same (adolescent) age group."

To celebrate the former employee's publishing success, Borders Navi will hold an open reception at 7 p.m. Saturday, July 11.

dents receive a bright yellow T-shirt that helps staff identify D & M students.

This summer, the camp's theme is "Medieval Madness," with the focus on dragons and damsels the first half of the weekly camps. The second half, beginning July 20, centers on knights of the roundtable.

At the end of the summer, a children's art show hosted by the Plymouth Cultural Center will showcase the summer's creative works. At an open house Aug. 18, awards will be given to the artists who participated in the show and attended the camp or art classes at D & M in the last year.

Lynn Massucci of Canton Township is sending her youngest daughter, Jennifer, to the summer art camp. She believes the camp and art show at summer's end will increase Jennifer's creativity and self-confidence. "I usually encourage any activity that keeps them busy, especially in the summer," Massucci said. "Jennifer has always been creative. She's been taking lessons with Sharon since she was 3 or 4."

A student at Fiegel Elementary, Jennifer, 9, and her older sister, Stephanie, 13, have studied art during the regular school year at D & M.

"Each of them has a particular interest in drawing and creativity," Massucci said. "I think children can benefit from the programs regardless of their artistic level, and they're reasonably priced."

Mary Jean Lankes of Farmington Hills has two children, John, 11, and Lauren, 9, enrolled in art camp this summer. The Lankes children enjoyed the camp so much last year, they attended two different sessions, one early in the camp, one later.

"I was looking for something for them to do last summer. I read about it in the Observer. I can't say enough about the art camp. I thought they had wonderful kinds of activities," Lankes said. "It's just been wonderful. They were treated nicely. This was a fun thing. They always came home happy."

John and Lauren, both students at Hillside Elementary, have also attended art classes and workshops held at D & M during the rest of the year.

"They have always shown an interest in drawing. They worked with clay sculptures when they were younger. They're geared towards that. Last year, they had a wonderful learning experience because they saw art in the real world," Lankes said.

"At the end, they had a show where they were able to display their art. It was kind of fun to walk around and see what'd been done at the camps. It was not a competition. Everybody felt good about themselves."

Established in 1985, the objective of D & M is to further art awareness in the community by providing art instruction for adults, seniors and children; commissioned artwork; studio space; and a gallery for local artists to exhibit work.

A graduate of the Art Institute of Pittsburgh, Dillenbeck is an art instructor for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools adult education, Our Lady of Victory in Northville, Canton Parks and Recreation, Plymouth Cultural Center, and D &

M Art Studio, 710 N. Mill Street, Plymouth.

Her teaching philosophy and main objective "is to supply masses of art materials in a lively and creative atmosphere, to show the techniques of the medium and to step back and let the child create."

"They're so receptive. They're like sponges. We give them enough creative space and teach them how to use watercolor and brush stroking, things they never learn in school. Then we turn it over to them to create their own unique pieces of artwork," Dillenbeck said.

"There are no mistakes. The feeling we want at the end of the camp is that they can do anything they want. We want to instill that confidence."

The weeklong art camps are priced between $50 to $90. For information or to register, call D & M Art Studio: 453-3710.

"Pads come and go," said LaMaumauiex of the many styles available.

Hintzke has purchased several Oriental statues from Cliff Green Sales. Her pieces include a Buddha and a delicate female figure.

"I need things to make me feel pleased," said Hintzke, who enjoys dining while looking out into her rose garden.

Wedge favors unpainted pieces, placed throughout her yard. She has even purchased some statues and pedestals to accent the interior of her home.

The Southwest look — cactus and burros — appeal to many customers, LaMaumauiex said.

So-called "fashion geese" are becoming popular, according to LaMaumauiex. These are statues of geese, which can be dressed up in clothing.

These geese figures cost around $30 unpainted and $40 painted. Clothes, which cost extra, are available in a variety of themes.

LaMaumauiex agrees with the impulse factor. Cliff Green Sales, on Inkster Road, north of Plymouth Road, attracts the attention of passersby. The company, started by LaMaumauiex's father in 1953, is located in a house.

During the outdoor season, the front yard is chock-full of statues. There are cherubs, swans, Oriental pagodas, boy-kissing-girl statues and animals of all sort.

"It's almost a landmark," said LaMaumauiex, who runs the business with her husband, Gene.

REAL ESTATE NEWS

For a cool million, here's what's on the market

Those in the real estate field report that there are more than a million more millionaires today than in 1992. And the nation's real estate stock is keeping pace with the increase in affluence.

For example, there are more than 70 houses currently in the market in Lake Forest, Ill., listed for $1 million or more. There are more than 100 such listings in the Los Gatos/Saratoga area of California.

Century 21 Real Estate Corp. surveyed brokers nationwide to see what $1 million will buy in different parts of the country. They range from a 12,000-square-foot, six-bedroom house with five fireplaces, pool and wine cellar in Atlanta to a three-bedroom, three-bath ocean-view house with 2,600 square feet of living space in Maui.

Closer to home, the magic million was enough to buy a 4,650-square-foot home in Orchard Lake with lake views, four bedrooms, three full and two half baths, two California driftwood fireplaces, marble foyer, window walls, large decks and 590 feet of private beach shared with three other houses.

In almost all areas surveyed, Century 21 brokers agreed that good location topped the list of things wanted by affluent buyers. And the better the view, the higher the price tag. In the Seattle area, large newer properties with panoramic views of Lake Washington or Puget Sound can sell for $1 million.

In areas where housing costs are higher than the national norm, a $1 million house can seem shockingly limited in size and amenities.

On the island of Maui, in Hawaii, where prices are among the highest not only in the U.S. but the world, $1 million will buy a condo with ocean frontage or a single-family house with 2,600 to 3,000 square feet of living space and an ocean view.

New owner responsible for past unpaid maintenance fees

CONDO QUERIES

ROBERT M. MEISNER

My husband and I recently bought a condominium from a private owner. Shortly thereafter, we were notified by the management company that a substantial balance is owed in back maintenance fees. The prior owner evidently did not pay the fees but has promised us that he will send the money to the management company promptly. Can we be held responsible if he does not pay the debt?

Yes. A purchaser or grantee of a condominium unit in Michigan can be held liable for any unpaid assessments (such as maintenance fees) against the condominium unit, together with any interest, costs and attorney fees incurred in collecting the delinquent assessments. The condominium association can sue you for money damages and foreclose its lien against your condominium.

The Michigan Condominium Act only protects those buyers who obtain a written statement from the condominium association at least five days before the sale setting forth the amount of unpaid assessments. Any assessments owing in excess of that stated amount may not be collected from the new buyer. You may wish to consider paying the delinquent assessment balance to prevent a foreclosure action from being instigated against you, and then consider suing the seller for reimbursement unless your purchase documents somehow insulate the seller from any such liability.

I am planning to develop a commercial condominium, which will be established as professional offices and sold to accountants, lawyers and the like. I heard that a new law was passed that requires specific handicapped accommodations. Would this new law apply to my proposed development?

Yes. Title III of the American Disabilities Act requires that any commercial facilities, such as your proposed development, which are being designed and constructed for first occupancy after Jan. 26, must be made fully accessible to and usable by persons with disabilities in line with specific technical ADA requirements to the extent it is not structurally impracticable due to unique characteristics of terrain that would prevent the incorporation of the accessibility features.

Your development would be considered new construction subject to the requirements of the act if the last application for a building permit or permit extension is filed after Jan. 2, 1992, and the first certificate of occupancy is issued after Jan. 26, 1993. The technical requirements encompass, without limitation, accessible parking, curb ramps, stairs, elevators, platform lifts, drinking fountains, bathrooms, assembly areas with fixed seating, storage facilities, alarms, signage, public telephones and possibly other elements. You should consult with your legal adviser for more details.

Robert M. Meisner is a Birmingham attorney concentrating his practice in the areas of condominiums, real estate and corporate law. You are invited to submit topics you would like to see discussed in this column by writing Robert M. Meisner at 30200 Telegraph Road, Suite 467, Bingham Farms 48026. This column provides general information and should not be construed as legal opinion.

Home prices, sales fall

(AP) — Sales of previously owned homes fell 1.7 percent in May, the second consecutive monthly decline.

Sales totaled a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 3.43 million units, down from 3.49 million in April, the National Association of Realtors said.

The report also showed the 0.6 percent decline in April was even larger than the 0.3 percent initially estimated last month. It had been the first drop in three months.

Analysts said the slow sales pace was due to continued lack of job and income growth.

Sales fell 3.1 percent, to a 1.23 million annual rate, in the South and 2.2 percent, to 900,000, in the Midwest. They were unchanged at a 790,000 rate in the West. But in the Northeast, sales were up 3.9 percent, to a 630,000 rate.

Nationally, sales were off 1.4 percent from the 3.48 million rate in May 1991.

Tuccillo said the second straight decline in the median price of a used home suggested that people are buying lower priced homes, which usually indicates active first-time buyers.

The median price means half of the homes cost more and half cost less. It was $100,900 in May, down 2.3 percent from April and 0.4 percent from a year ago.

Steel expansion

Contractors Steel Co, with its main office in Livonia, will add a 35,000-square-foot addition to house new equipment, including a five-ton capacity stacker crane to access 1,500 steel storage compartments. The $2-million project is slated for completion by mid-1993.

Rightizing: Fewer offices, more cubicles and a small budget for office art are some of the signs of the times as corporations change their buildings to match management styles.

Interiors reflect state of business

Modest budgets for interior design are resulting in modest furnishings and the placing of more employees in less space. Even companies that are doing well are reluctant to flaunt their success with pricey art and luxury furnishings.

By R.J. KING
STAFF WRITER

Management efforts to streamline corporations are having an effect on the streamlining of offices too.

While no one is suggesting new interior designs incorporate wood planks, milk crates and cardboard, interior designers will continue to incorporate smaller offices, more work stations and less ostentation into their work as clients continue to hold the line on costs.

"Even though we see signs that the economy is starting to rebound, our clients are still very sensitive not only to the bottom line but also to the market they're doing business in," said Thomas Ernst, president and CEO of Ford & Earl Associates, a Troy commercial interior design firm, which had revenues of $3 million last year.

Within the commercial interior design industry, the use of more work stations and other space-saving devices is known as rightizing, a catch-all term that refers not only to workforce reductions but also the consolidation of facilities and operations.

From a fact sheet provided by Ford & Earl, rightizing has led to several trends in how designers plan the office spaces of tomorrow. The movement includes a reduction of private office space, more work stations, smaller-scale furniture and greater attention to ergonomic furnishings and space design.

"For a client planning a move, every department may ask for their own conference room, but only one might be approved. And for a client of ours in the health-care industry, which is doing very well, while they might have the budget for the expensive, they've been extremely conscious of practicality."

Chrysler Corp., which completed its 3.3-million-square-foot technology center in Auburn Hills, purposely kept individual offices to a minimum in favor of wide open spaces pocketed by work stations.

Costs, creativity concerns

The reason was two-fold: to promote the free flow of ideas and to cut down on costs. As a general rule, work stations are a much more efficient use of space, taking up a third of the room an office might occupy. Because of this, their use has soared in recent years, not only for secretaries and bookkeepers, but also account executives, entry-level professionals, even managers.

"The advent of the personal computer really spurred sales of the work station, because as companies continued to update their equipment, they couldn't very well continue to afford knocking down walls, getting permits and hiring contractors," said Jim Sturdy, commercial sales manager for ROP Business Interiors Inc. in Livonia.

Peter Jeff, a spokesman for Grand Rapids-based Steelcase, one of the world's largest office furniture makers, said sales of the company's Avenir-product line, a mid-priced system of office furniture, have more than doubled since 1990. Steelcase operates a design studio in Southfield.

Other interior designers of office space have cited the same trends.

Fewer clients are ordering mahogany desks and leather chairs. Even once large art budgets are being curtailed in favor of less expensive creative offerings.

Practically speaking

The movement toward practicality is expected to continue well into the current economic recovery, said Ernst. No firm wants to take a chance on ordering rosewood furniture only to have the economy sputter and stall. The same goes for expensive frescoes and portraits.

For a client that recently moved to Auburn Hills, Ernst said his firm created small squares, circles and triangles from different colors of plexiglass to highlight interior halls in place of works by Degas or Warhol. Still, clients have not lost sight of quality.

"As far as selection goes, quality still rules," said Ernst. "Clients continue to favor natural wood doors as they wear better than paints and laminates."

"And for lobby floors, they might choose granite because it lasts much

Builders, architects contend with anti-discrimination act

By R.J. KING
SPECIAL WRITER

The second phase of what has been called the most sweeping anti-discrimination law since the Civil Rights Act of 1964 goes into effect July 26, requiring small businesses to join their larger brethren in giving equal access to the disabled.

For area merchants, retailers and restaurant owners with 25 or fewer employees and annual revenues of more than $1 million, the law, the Americans with Disabilities Act, means more than merely providing adequate parking spaces or ramps for the handicapped.

In restaurants, braille or large-type menus must be provided for the blind or visually impaired, or waiters may read the menus aloud; grocery stores have to provide lower display cases for the disabled; and movie theaters have to provide space for customers in wheelchairs.

While the act may prove costly to those who must comply, it does offer opportunities for area builders, contractors and architects by providing additional work orders at a time when the construction industry is showing signs of a rebound from a five-year lull in business.

"Anytime something is mandated by federal or state law, there will be a cost impact," said Tom Landry, president of the A.J. Etkin Construction Co. in Farmington Hills.

"We're just now seeing some of the provisions take effect. Under the law, new buildings (and those undergoing major renovations) must be completely accessible to those with physical handicaps. In some cases, that means wider doors, making curb cuts in sidewalks and entrances, and installing flashing alarm lights."

Broad provisions

While it is up to architects and attorneys to interpret the law, some provisions are written so broadly that businesses are flocking to legal seminars armed with a checklist of items that include proper parking spaces, restroom and elevator accessibility, and the state of high pile, low density carpeting (it must be removed).

"You have to be very careful about what you build under the new law. We go over the drawings with a fine-tooth comb to make sure everything is in order," said Gene Belltari, president and co-owner of Carpentry By Mastercraft and Euro-Tile of Michigan, both based in Livonia.

"Already some of our commercial clients are calling to inquire about work they may need done to come in compliance with the act. And in the past, we've been very careful to see that such things as ramps are installed properly and with a gentle enough slope to accommodate wheelchairs and walkers."

Disability

The first provisions of the act went into effect Jan. 26 and required existing buildings and businesses with 25 or more employees to make good-faith efforts to remove barriers to the disabled.

Businesses adjust

Rick Halberg, co-owner of R.I.K.'s, a restaurant in West Bloomfield, said when the establishment was remodeled three years ago, a ramp was installed from the main dining room to the rear dining room to accommodate wheelchairs. And designers worked around the ramp when the restaurant was redecorated in the spring.

"The ramp was one thing we did. We also made the bathrooms large enough so people in wheelchairs could turn around easily. Our waiting staff has also been trained to treat everyone the same, but if someone with a walker needs special assistance, we'll do whatever we can to help them."

In conjunction with the public accommodation section of the law, an employment provision also takes effect on July 26. Under this section, employers may not discriminate against qualified disabled individuals in hiring, advancement, compensation or training.

Employers must also adapt the workplace for people with handicaps if necessary, for instance, by providing more accessible furniture for workers in wheelchairs who operate computers. Those companies with fewer than 15 employees are exempt.

"If in the hiring process, an employer routinely provides a written test, a person with dyslexia should be given an opportunity to take the test orally," said Jennifer Sweeney Buckley, a partner with Clark, Klein & Beaumont, a law firm with offices in Bloomfield Hills and downtown Detroit.

Tax incentives

"People should also know there are tax credits available to help businesses comply with the law. Some businesses may also be exempt from portions of the law if compliance would cause undue hardship. Someone who is almost blind and works in a night club and needs bright light to work would more than likely be an undue hardship."

Under guidelines set out by the Internal Revenue Service, small companies can get a $5,000 tax credit and large ones can qualify for a $15,000 tax deduction to help defray the costs of bringing their businesses into compliance. The tax break can be applied to the cost of structural changes, consultant's fees, staff training or changes in business practices.

Maintenance a must for asphalt drives

AP — An asphalt driveway needs regular maintenance to protect and preserve it. Cracks invariably develop and must be filled. The entire surface should be sealed every year or two.

Before you patch cracks or holes, it's important to remove loose gravel and bits of asphalt. Clear weeds and dirt from the area with a wire brush or trowel, followed by a shop vacuum or leaf blower. To remove dust, hose down the area. Then let it dry.

You can fill wide cracks and potholes with blacktop patch, a prepared asphalt sold in 60-pound bags. Fill the prepared hole about halfway with blacktop patch and compact it before filling it the rest of the way.

Mound the material slightly, then flatten it down hard with a tamper. You can make your own tamper by fastening a scrap piece of plywood or particleboard to a length of two-by-two.

Use a flat shovel to cut away excess so the patch will be level with the surrounding surface. Freshly filled spots should cure for about 90 days before they are sealed. You can patch in the spring and seal in late summer.

As an asphalt driveway ages, narrow cracks develop along the edges. To repair these cracks, clean them with a wire brush and vacuum the loose material. Then fill them with an asphalt crack filler that pours from a bottle. This leaves a patch resembling tar strips on an old highway. However, you can subdue the effect by brooming a small amount of fine sand into the filler.

There are three types of sealer for a blacktop driveway.

An asphalt base sealer, the most expensive, should be used only on new asphalt or on a surface that has been previously sealed with the same material.

Tar emulsion sealers are the least expensive and probably the most popular because they seal against gasoline, oil spills and drips.

A third kind is a tar base sealer which contains fine black aggregate to give it extra body. This is used to fill large areas of cracking and to provide traction on steep drives. A five-gallon can of sealer will cover about 350 square feet.

You can mix fine sand with standard tar base sealer to give it body. However, the surface will take on a salt-and-pepper appearance as the sealer wears.

The outside temperature should be about 60 degrees Fahrenheit when you apply sealer. The driveway must also be prepared before application. Cut away grass that grows over the edges so the sealer can cover them. Sweep the driveway clean, concentrating on ditched areas where rainwater and dirt collect. Then hose down the driveway.

Look for water beads on the surface that indicate oil or gasoline. Remove softened material from these spots and replace it with blacktop patch. You can work around the patch when you apply sealer to give the spots time to cure. If there is no softening, use strong detergent or trisodium phosphate and hot water to scrub away oil.

longer than tile or carpeting, but it all depends on economic factors and the length of time a firm plans to stay."

And design firms themselves are not immune.

Hanging in the lobby of Ford & Earl is a reproduction of a floor plan the firm created for one of its clients.

"When we moved here (six months ago), we, like most companies operating in a recession, didn't have a great deal of money in our art budget, so we improvised," said David Elston, chief operating officer and general manager.

"I suppose in a best-case scenario, we would like to have spent $10,000 on a work of art, but we didn't have it in our budget. We simply had an artist recreate one of our recent floor plans on canvas. I think the entire work costs us $300."

A house for all reasons

With only two bedrooms and a bathroom upstairs, the American Rose is a medium-sized house that can accommodate a growing family, one with older children, or empty nesters who wish to have space to entertain guests without feeling cramped.

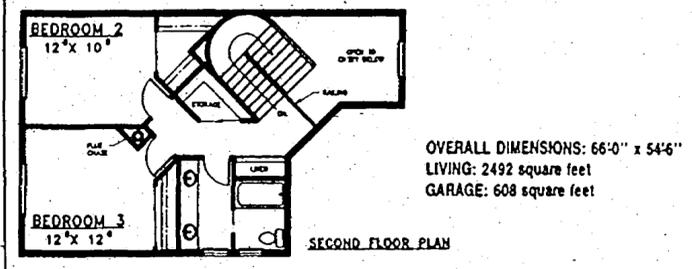

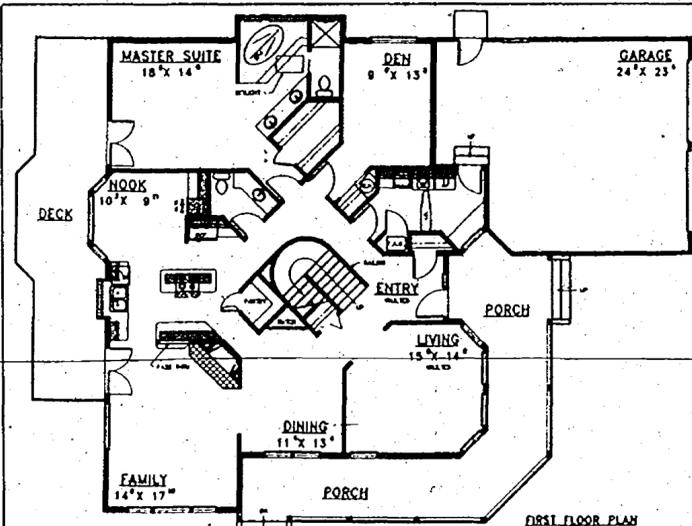

Built over a full basement, it has the possibility for expanding living and storage spaces.

Stepping into the high vaulted entryway, the first impression is one of vastness. This area, and the formal living room, are both vaulted to the second floor. The landing at the top of the curving stairway overlooks the living room.

The kitchen, with both a garden window and a bay window has a bright, airy feeling. Cooks can work together without bumping elbows. The upper of the double ovens has microwave features, and there are plenty of cupboards in addition to the pantry.

This design makes excellent use of oddly shaped spaces. A hutch is tucked into an angle in the dining room, a fireplace in another in the family room, and small angled half bath is close by.

The master suite has an oversized tub and a shower that is brightened by a skylight and glass block. A sliding door provides pri-vacancy, and steam containment for the shower and toilet. Double sinks are outside this area, close to the walk-in closet.

For the many people who find they are doing at least some of their work at home, this design includes an office close to the master suite.

The utility room has all the amenities: laundry sink, appliances, fold-down ironing board and a window-lit shelf that looks out to the front porch. The two-car garage includes extra space for a workbench or storage space.

For a study plan of the American Rose (330-99), send $7.50 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307, Eugene, Ore. 97402. Include plan name and number when ordering.
