Wayne-Ford tops accident list

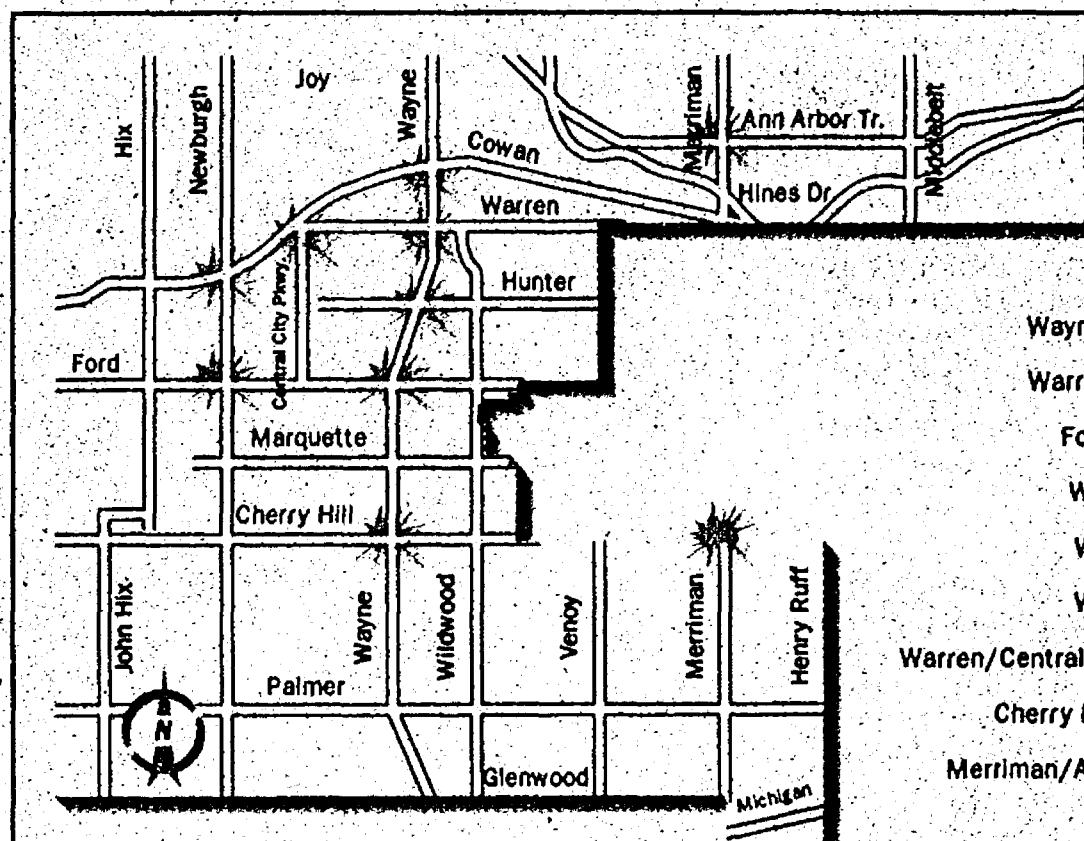

The Wayne-Ford intersection kept its long-standing No. 1 ranking for accidents, and the overall the number of roadway crashes in Westland climbed from 2,094 to 2,247.

More drivers collided at Wayne and Ford roads than at any other Westland intersection in 1997, a newly-released study shows.

The Wayne-Ford intersection kept its long-standing No. 1 ranking for accidents even though the number of crashes dipped from 110 in 1996 to 90 last year, Westland police Sgt. Peter Brokas said.

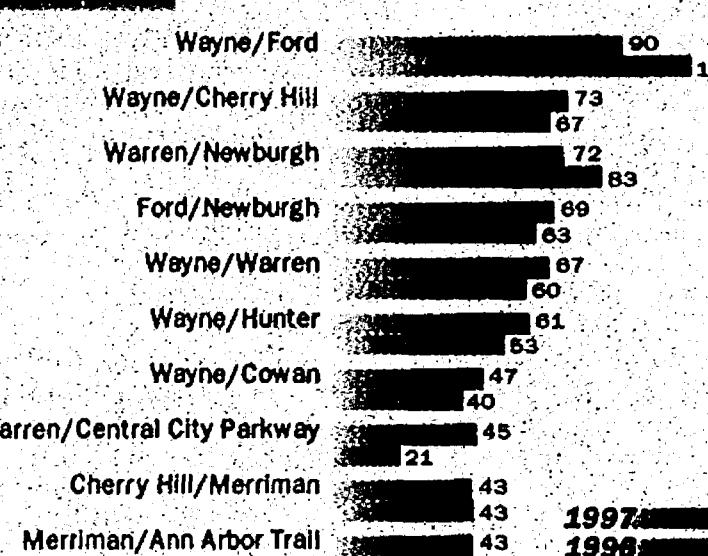

He attributed the decrease to closer police scrutiny of drivers making improper left turns out of commercial driveways near the intersection.

It's all about education

Teacher of the year: Nominated by Schweitzer Elementary colleague Carol Osterling, Patricia Colligan, was chosen by a committee of judges that reviewed 236 candidates for the Teacher of the Year award. Now she will be honored — along with Westland's top father, mother and high school senior — during the mayor's State of the City address at 7 p.m. April 8 at the Hellenic Cultural Center on Joy Road.

For top teacher, job is a calling

This is the third in a four-part series on the Salute to Excellence winners.

After finishing her spelling assignment, 9-year-old Stephani Rowley quietly left her desk and began writing on a chalkboard in a rear corner of teacher Patricia Colligan's classroom.

"I like my teacher," she wrote, not realizing she was being observed as she passed a few spare moments near the end of another school day at Schweitzer Elementary School.

Turning away from the chalkboard, Stephani smiled when asked to explain why she likes her teacher.

"Because she teaches us about things like the Titanic, the planets, the body system, the community we live in, the judges and the government," she said. "Plus she's nice."

Colligan has now reached a milestone in her 11th year of teaching by being named Teacher of the Year as part of Westland Mayor Robert Thomas' 1998 Salute to Excellence Awards.

Nominated by Schweitzer colleague Carol Osterling, Colligan was chosen by a committee of judges that reviewed 236 candidates. Now she will be honored — along with Westland's top father, mother and high school senior — during the mayor's State of the City address at 7 p.m. April 8 at the Hellenic Cultural Center on Joy Road.

"This is humbling," Colligan, 50, said during an after-school interview in her Westland classroom, where she

Lowell's future could involve use by Livonia

A lease that's been a "good deal" for both the Livonia and Plymouth-Canton school districts for nearly 20 years could come to an end in the year 2000 if elementary school enrollment continues to climb in southwest Livonia.

The old Lowell Middle School, now leased from Livonia Public Schools by Plymouth-Canton Community Schools for $90,000 a year, could resurface as Livonia's fifth middle school if attendance numbers show a need for another middle school, said Superintendent Ken Watson.

The school is in the city of Westland, in the southern portion of the Livonia district.

"There's been no proposal yet, it's too early to talk, and we've made no recommendations to the board yet," said Watson, stressing that all discussion is premature.

"This could surface next fall, as we look at the numbers and our finances."

At this point, Plymouth-Canton officials are assuming the worst — that Livonia will not renew its lease of the Westland school when the lease expires in Aug. 1, 2000.

District officials are now debating whether to ask residents to approve a bond issue to build a new middle school in Canton. Plymouth-Canton currently houses 730 middle school students at Lowell.

The lease expires in 1999, but the Livonia Board of Education will extend it for at least one more year, to 2000, Watson said.

"This is next year's problem for Livonia to consider," Watson said.

Dave Watson, Livonia's director of operations, said new housing developments in the southwest corner of Livonia most likely will lead to more students.

Overall, the number of road-way crashes in Westland climbed from 2,094 to 2,247 during the two-year period.

"People have too much to do in a car," Brokas said. "They're using cell phones and fiddling around with CD players. Men are shaving in the car and women are putting on makeup."

"A lot of our accidents are occurring because people are speeding and not paying attention," he added. "A lot of our accidents are rear-end accidents."

Brokas, who heads the Westland Police Department's traffic bureau, cited the Warren-Central City Parkway intersection as particularly troubling in 1997.

Even though it ranked only No. 8 for accidents, the number of crashes soared in one year from 21 to 45.

"That one's got me worried," he said. "We've looked at it, and it's basically people running red lights."

Patrol officers last fall launched a more intense effort to watch the intersection and issue tickets to drivers who race through red lights — an effort that Brokas hopes will reduce accidents.

In another troubling statistic, Brokas noted that Westland ranks No. 2 in Wayne County — behind Detroit — for traffic deaths, and it ranks No. 6 in Michigan.

"And we don't even have any expressways," he said.

Despite Westland's ranking for fatalities, the number of traffic deaths actually dropped from eight in 1996 to six in 1997.

In total crashes, Wayne and Cherry Hill roads gained on the Wayne-Ford intersection, ranking No. 2 as the number of crashes climbed from 67 to 73, Brokas said.

Warren and Newburgh ranked No. 3, dropping a notch as the number of accidents dipped from 83 to 72 during the two-year period.

Ford and Newburgh placed fourth and saw a slight increase in accidents, despite measures by county road crews to heighten safety by installing new left-turn signals on Ford Road.

"That made Ford Road traffic back up more," Brokas said, "but we believe it will level out when the motorists get used to it."

Moreover, the severity of Ford-Newburgh crashes appeared to ease. More minor accidents occurred compared to previous years that saw more injuries from head-on collisions, Brokas said.

Wayne and Warren ranked No. 5 in crashes — an intersection that consistently ranks in the top 10 because it is situated in the city's heavily traveled retail district that includes Westland Shopping Center.

Rounding out the 10 worst intersections were Wayne and Hunter; Wayne and Cowan; Warren and Central City Parkway; Cherry Hill and Merriman; and Merriman and Ann Arbor Trail.

The latter two intersections actually tied for accidents — they had 43 each — but Cherry Hill and Merriman ranked one notch higher because it had more injury crashes, Brokas said.

Westland is seeing more fender-benders than before due to heavier traffic from new condominium subdivisions and new businesses, Brokas said.

Changes sought

To reduce accidents, Westland police officials would like to see changes in at least two specific areas:

- Signs to prohibit right turns on red at Newburgh and Ford would help, Brokas said, but local police officials haven't been able to convince county and state officials to concede.

- Local police are studying the possible need for new road stripes on Hunter at Wayne to create left turn lanes from Hunter.

Brokas said Hunter has one lane of traffic in both directions, although the lanes are actually 1 1/2 lanes wide.

Motorists tend to treat Hunter as two lanes in each direction, particularly as they approach Wayne Road for left turns.

"It's confusing," Brokas said.

On winterguard

A flurry of winterguard flags, sabers and rifles, and the body-vibrating rumble of drumlines, filled the gymnasium of John Glenn High School on March 21. More than 600 students in 34 different units participated in the first annual John Glenn High School Winterguard & Drumline Show at the school.

The show, sponsored by the John Glenn Music Boosters, was titled "See the Grace, Feel the Thunder."

Among the spectators was Neil Thomas, principal of John Glenn and his wife, Helen de Julio, principal at Marshall Middle School where rehearsals take place, Lori Brickman, assistant principal at John Glenn, and Ed Turner, Westland school board member. James said all were very supportive of the program.

John Glenn's 20-member Flag Line took second place in its category with a score of 83.6 for its performance of "What's Up." Rocket Explosion, with 24 members, took fourth place and earned a score of 66.5 in the Scholastic A Winterguard category with a graceful interpretation of "Return to Pooh Corner." The 27-member John Glenn Drumline, G-Force, took first place in the Percussion Independent Open category with a score of 71.4 for its thunderous rendition of "Riverdance."

The program, which ran from 3:30 p.m. until nearly 10 p.m., drew a larger crowd than anyone had expected. It was estimated that more than 800 came to watch the spectacle of color, dance, music and dramatics offered by the high school students and one group from Michigan State University.

The guards have a maximum five-and-a-half minute performance with a total time including setup and exit of eight minutes. Any additional time used results in penalty points.

The drumlines have a total of 10 minutes with a maximum seven-minute performance time explained Todd Stehle, John Glenn's drumline instructor. "We practice hours and hours for a seven-minute show," he said.

Other Observer-area teams included Garden City's Winterguard competing in the Michigan A category where it captured second place and a score of 82.7 with its rendition of "Little Girl Blue."

The 30-member Livonia Franklin Winterguard took third place in the same category with its dramatic portrayal of "Ghost." This is the fourth year for Franklin's competing guard and its performance earned a score of 81.2.

Franklin added a competing drumline this year for the first time. The drumline earned a fourth place in the Percussion Independent Open category with a score of 71.4. The 18-member drumline performed the music "Psycho." Franklin Music Director Kristi Jasen gave high marks to her instructors, parents and principal Mike Fenchel, for the success of the programs. Of her students she said, "It's been a joy to see them compete. I'm really proud of them."

The Plymouth Canton Educational Park has not had a competing winterguard for the past five years noted Michelle Langley, guard instructor at PCCEP. "They're all new to this," she explained. Langley, a 1992 graduate of the complex, had been in winterguard all four years at the high school and was pleased to have her students participate in this year's competitions.

Plymouth-Canton captured second place in the Scholastic A category with a score of 74.6 for a humorous portrayal of "PC Ballet."

The state championships for winterguard and drumline will be held April 4 and 5 in Saginaw.

Local woman pleads no contest

A 30-year-old Westland woman who pleaded no contest to embezzling money from a Livonia fast-food restaurant must repay the owner nearly $63,000.

Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Brian K. Zahra also sentenced Jessica Leigh Kittka to five years' probation and court costs of $165. Kittka, the former day manager of the Burger King on Plymouth and Stark, pleaded no contest in July to embezzling $62,977.84 from the eatery.

Burger King went to police after bouncing checks in early 1997 and then finding that daily cash deposits between Dec. 17, 1996, and Jan. 5, 1997, had not been made.

Guilty plea

A man police say tried to take a car from a Westland woman last April after crashing a stolen car near Seven Mile and Middlebelt in Livonia received a two-to-10-year prison sentence in June.

Kenneth William Durbal, 29, pleaded guilty to one charge of possession of stolen property, and a charge of attempted unarmed robbery was dropped.

Durbal was sentenced as a habitual offender. Circuit Judge William Leo Cahalan gave him credit for 76 days served in the county jail.

Durbal, of Dearborn, was arrested early on April 11, 1997, after crashing a 1988 Chevrolet Corsica into a light pole and a utility pole on Seven Mile. He was being chased on westbound Seven Mile as a suspect in a string of thefts of cigarettes from gas stations in several communities.

After the crash, he ran to a bagel shop and tried to get past the Westland woman, who was arriving for work at the shop, and into her 1979 Chrysler Newport, Livonia police said. She locked him out, and a Livonia officer arrived and arrested him at gunpoint.

The Corsica had been reported stolen in Redford Township.

Teen hit by bullet at party dies

Loving, outgoing and determined.

Annie Donna Saravoltatz had the world in the palm of her hand.

The 17-year-old junior at Rochester High School looked forward to career in medicine or computers. She played soccer, rode horses and dreamed of owning a Hummer one day, just like Arnold Schwarzenegger.

Those dreams were shattered when she was accidentally shot in the head by a stray bullet at a Jan. 24 house party in Hamtramck.

Saravoltatz was taken to Detroit Receiving Hospital, where she remained unconscious for eight weeks before passing away Saturday. Her funeral was held on Tuesday.

"It's so unfortunate," her father, Milos Saravoltatz, said. "But I think the lesson here is not to handle guns and to get away as quickly as possible if you're around a gun."

"It just seems like too many of our kids have this care-free attitude about guns."

Hamtramck police believe a gun was passed around at the house party on Comstock when it ended up in the hands of a 16-year-old girl and discharged.

The bullet hit Saravoltatz in the head before striking another girl, Rachael Lennox, in the face.

Lennox, 16, also a student at Rochester High, was treated for broken jaw and missing teeth.

The girl who fired the gun is a student at the Alternative Center for Education in Rochester Hills. She's charged with reckless discharge of a firearm and possession of a weapon. Two other people connected with the shooting, including a Westland man, also face felony charges.

Police are withholding the girl's name because she's a juvenile, but say more serious charges may be sought in light of Annie's death.

Her father will always remember his daughter's zest for life and acceptance of others.

"One of her teachers at Rochester High told me she couldn't believe how many students from different backgrounds came up to talk about Annie," he said. "Students who were scholastic, students who were active in sports — and some a little in between."

"But that's the way Annie was."

"If you look to see where there are fairly decent-sized tracts of land left in Livonia, it's in that corner," he said. "They could put good size homes on small lots. It won't take many of these developments to warrant the need for more school space in that corner."

Lowell is one of a number of school buildings not used by Livonia schools for its K-12 programs. In 1996, the district compiled a report of these buildings, outlining their future potential.

Besides Lowell, the list includes Clay, Cooper, Ford, Jackson, Jefferson, Perrinville, Rosedale, Wilson, Dickinson and Bryant.

The 1995 report states that Lowell one day could be used to "reduce enrollment in other Livonia buildings through realigning grades."

The report also describes Lowell as a potential "backup building" for either elementary or middle school students.

Watson, the superintendent, described the lease as a "good deal" for both districts. Plymouth-Canton gets a middle school at minimal cost. Livonia gets both an extra $90,000 a year from the lease, plus a building that is kept up by Plymouth-Canton schools.

Plymouth-Canton administrators estimate they spend about $300,000 a year to maintain the building. The district also has updated the school with new technology.

teaches 17 third-graders and five second-graders. "I'm just representative of all the teachers here," she said. "I really don't think I'm any better than anyone else."

Childhood ambition

Colligan recalls wanting to be a teacher when she was a third-grader. She was influenced by an aunt who went to college at age 40 to become an educator.

Colligan had an easy childhood. Her mother stayed home to care for three children while her father climbed the work ladder to become assistant vice president of Michigan Bell.

"It was like the Beaver Cleaver family," Colligan said, referring to the old television sitcom "Leave It To Beaver."

"I thought everybody had a great childhood," she said.

Colligan certainly wanted to ensure that her own children did. Rather than pursue her career early on, she stayed at home to care for her twins — Amy and Katie, now 25, and Maggie, 23 — until the girls grew out of early childhood. She let her husband, now-retired Wayne Police Chief John Colligan, provide for the family.

Colligan learned early in her teaching career that not all children have the same advantages she had. She worries about children who get bounced from parent to parent and to foster homes, and she is distressed by past incidents such as when two students brought guns to her former sixth-grade class.

"You can't be a teacher without caring, and there have been times when students disappointed me," she said. "When something bothers me, I go home and talk to my family about it."

Colligan's classroom is an inviting place for her students. She tries to make them feel loved and boost their self-esteem, and it shows:

■ Pictures of each student adorn one wall with the words, "We are busy bees."

■ Each week, one student's name is drawn from an apple jar for special privileges such as being first in line, passing out papers and receiving a pencil and candy, among other treats. "It's not based on popularity; everybody gets to do it," Colligan said. "It's like their 15 minutes of fame."

■ A long list of spelling words is posted on the wall, allowing students to check a word independently.

■ Students who finish certain assignments before others are allowed to quietly visit a "book nook" in the room and choose a book to read.

■ Colligan lets students have a pizza party if each pupil reads 800 minutes and receives a gold medal in her Reading Olympics program.

Student views

"She's a good teacher," David McCrary, 9, said. "Some teachers just talk really loud and they don't let you get your work done. But Mrs. Colligan lets you do your work."

"I like it when we learn about social studies and experiments," he added.

"She teaches us about our community," 8-year-old Colleen O'Brien said. "And she doesn't yell."

David Usheroft, 8, said his teacher isn't just nice, but "really, really, really nice."

Each afternoon before students leave, she makes them promise out loud to finish such tasks as studying their spelling words and practicing their multiplication.

In her spare time, Colligan golfs, does water aerobics and is active in Wayne Civitans. She also worked on the Playscape committee that built a huge wooden play structure in Westland's Central City Park.

As she was interviewed recently, her former student Patrick Palise, now a Wayne Memorial High School ninth-grader, came by to visit after making the honor roll. Colligan had encouraged him in the past to strive for such achievements.

"This makes me really happy," she told him.

After Palise left, Colligan said, "It's the nicest thing when students come back like that and visit. It makes me feel like I'm a lasting part of their lives."

That's the way she wants it.

"I can't imagine doing anything but teaching," she said. "I love working with the kids. It's so nice to see them get excited and to see them really try to learn. They grow so much in a year."

"I just want them to leave my class loving school and feeling like they're learners," she said. "I think teaching is like the ministry. It's a calling."

She seems almost apologetic that she gets paid for teaching. "It's like a job I would do whether I got paid or not."

Next, Student of the Year.

Presbyterian Village in Westland went to the dogs recently.

The Dan Morris K-Nine Drill Team, also known as the Dogmatics, performed for residents on March 20.

Members of the club and their dogs performed a drill routine to music and other tricks.

Fifteen people and their dogs belong to the club, which is an offshoot of the Dan Morris Dog Training Academy in Livonia. Members were handpicked by Morris after successfully completing training of their dogs.

Performing as a drill team, the club marches in area parades and gives performances at retirement homes and hospitals and for Girl and Boy Scout events, according to Chris Morris, whose husband has owned and operated the business for more than 25 years — 17 in Livonia. Dan Morris is director and chief executive officer of the club.

All sorts of dogs, French poodles, terriers, Dobermanns, shepherds, cocker spaniels, English springers, golden retrievers, Labrador retrievers, and a couple of mixed dogs, make up the team. Practice is two hours a week.

The training academy offers obedience training for dogs as well as training dogs in guard protection.

The training is to teach safety practices with dogs, for children to be safe around animals and to entertain as well, Chris Morris said.

The planned boulevard will extend one-third of a mile south from Kopernick almost splitting the property in half. The road ends in a cul-de-sac before reaching Warren and the Tonquish Creek floodplain.

A storm water line will run on the east side of the road skirting along the property the Holliday Nature Preserve Association is attempting to save as parkland. Some of the trees will have to be removed, DiMaggio said.

The water and sanitary sewer lines will run on the west side of the property. The water line tunnels underneath the Tonquish Creek. A 4.5-acre detention basin will be built to service the entire site.

Canton officials said they would act on a proposal by Thomas to develop a task force of township board members, environmental groups and residents to inventory remaining natural areas in Canton.

Trustee Melissa McLaughlin also encouraged residents to call the county parks and recreation department to dedicate a portion of the parks mileage for local efforts such as preserving the Kopernick area.

PROGRAMS FOR CHILDREN

The Friends' Spring Book Sale is in the planning stages and your assistance is needed. If you have a few hours to help set up, run the sale or put books away then contact Joe Birchill at (734) 794-4441.

VOLUNTEER CORNER

Are you a whiz on the Internet? Would you like an opportunity to share your "surfing" knowledge with others? The library is looking for volunteers to assist library patrons with the Internet.

Shifts are available on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday evenings and on the weekends. A basic knowledge of the Internet and search engines is required. Call (734) 326-6123.

PLACES AND FACES*Quite a spell

Winners of Wayne-Westland's 18th annual Earl Chorbagian Spelling Bee were honored Monday night by the Wayne-Westland school board. The top winner was Amanda Wilson of Adams Middle School, followed by runner-up Brittany Colwell of Walker-Winter Elementary School. Wilson is expected to participate in a regional competition March 30. The spelling bee is named after a former district educator.

All that Jazercise

Musical Chairs, a new "jazercise" program for people over 40 who like to exercise, will begin Tuesday, April 7, at the Friendship Center, 1119 N. Newburgh. The program, to be led by Robert Cassidy, provides a low-to-moderate workout for older adults, and it is aimed at improving strength, flexibility, balance, posture, coordination and cardiovascular endurance. Classes will be held 10-11 a.m. every Monday, Tuesday and Friday. Participants may sign up at the Friendship Center. Call 722-7632 for more information.

Contest winners

Four Westland students were among the winners in the "Stand Strong - Stay Sober" 1998 MADD poster/essay contest: Nathan Hill, first place in the grades 10-12 poster contest; Tim Cummings, second place, grades 10-12 poster contest; Jessica Erlingis, first place, grades 4-6 poster; and Stephanie Falkiewicz, third place, grades 4-6 poster.

Kids' safety

Parents are invited to attend a free workshop on "Teaching Personal Safety to Children" being offered Tuesday, March 31, by Youth Living Centers.

The workshop will be 6:30-9:30 p.m. at YLC, 30000 Hiveley Road, Inkster. It will provide basic information about what is personal safety, how to address personal fears and what simple games and teaching tools can be used with children. Information about signs that a child is at risk of mistreatment and how to respond appropriately also will be provided. The training will be facilitated by Sandra Murphy, local parenting and prevention expert. For more information, call Murphy at (734) 728-3400.

Tree sale

In its eighth annual tree sale, Global ReLeaf is offering bare root trees especially selected for their ability to prosper in both urban and rural settings.

Orthodontics
by Josephine Finazzo, D.M.D.
TIME TO REMODEL?

Orthodontic treatment relies on the gentle and constant force exerted by orthodontic appliances to move teeth. As a result of this force the roots of teeth press against the alveolar bone that surrounds them. The bone on the pressured side gradually dissolves, creating space for teeth to advance. In the wake of this tooth movement, new bone grows to fill in the space vacated by moving teeth. This new growth assures that teeth will stand securely in their new positions. The process involving bone dissolution in front of moving teeth and bone growth behind them is called "bone remodeling." The orthodontist must exert just the right amount of pressure over time to take advantage of this brand of nature's give-and-take.

Appliances may be removable or fixed, and made of metal, plastic, or ceramic. All corrective appliances have but one aim, to use gentle pressure to move teeth into their proper positions. Most patients adjust to braces quickly, and are not hampered in any way. Orthodontic treatment can be successful at any age. In fact, about 25 percent of orthodontic patients today are adults. For further information or to schedule a free initial consultation, call THE ORTHODONTIC GROUP, 19223 Merriman (422-8885).

Couple's shows teach Bible lessons

Using puppets, illusion, drama and music, Salvation Army Maj. Edward Jarvis II and his wife, Margaret, will try to teach the Bible during programs today (Sunday) through Wednesday at the Westland Salvation Army, 2800 Venoy Road south of Palmer.

"The Bible is usually taught through the spoken word," Capt. Mark Welsh of the Westland-based organization said Friday. "The goal here is to present the Bible in today's terms through different forms of expression."

Programs will be held at 11 a.m. today (Sunday) and at 6 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Welsh said.

The Jarvises have skits such as "In the Land of Oz," "Rappin' Rabbit" and "Puppet Evangelism" to try to teach youngsters about the Bible.

Maj. Jarvis II was commissioned as a Salvation Army officer in 1959 and has a doctorate in Christian counseling. Margaret Jarvis is an accomplished puppeteer.

The couple is known among magicians as Jarona and Company, and they have performed in more than 40 states and abroad. In 1985 they were named by their peers as one of the top gospel magical troupes in the United States.

For three years the Jarvises hosted their own weekly television show in their native Wisconsin. It was titled "Sal's Corner" and featured Sparkles T. Clown.

S'craft eyes tuition hike

Schoolcraft College students can expect to see a $1 increase in tuition and fees this fall semester.

Since that increase falls below the rate of inflation, students can claim it as a tax credit.

College administrators proposed Wednesday to trustees that students who live in the district should be charged $54 per credit hour. That total includes a $1 student activity fee incorporated in the tuition total and an increase in the technology fee from $1 to $2 per credit hour.

This year they paid $53 total per credit hour, consisting of $51 in tuition fees, a $1 student activities fee and a $1 technology fee.

For an in-district student with 12 credits that means a total bill of $648, up from $636. The college district includes the school Clarenceville, Garden City, Livonia, Northville, Plymouth-Canton and part of Novi school districts.

The $1 fee increase constitutes a 1.8 increase in total tuition and fees for resident students. "This is well below the 2.3 percent increase which the state has set as a limit to qualify for the Michigan college tuition tax credit," said Butch Raby, vice president of business services.

Students who live outside the district will pay $76, up from $75, per credit hour.

The tuition proposal was released with a $41.3 million budget for 1998-99. Trustees also scheduled a public hearing on the budget for 7 p.m. Wednesday, April 22, in the board's conference room in the administration building. The tuition rates will be set once the budget is approved along with the millage rate.

Some of the budget highlights:

■ Raby predicts that enrollment will increase less than 1 percent.

■ The 1.8521 mills will generate nearly $16.5 million in property tax revenue, up 5 percent over last year's $15.7 million.

■ Gov. John Engler has proposed no increases for community colleges, Raby said, but the State House has proposed 1.5 percent.

Raby distributed a comparison of tuition at community colleges for the 1998-99 school year which showed a $2 increase at Henry Ford Community College to $53, a $1 hike at Macomb Community College to $53.50, and $1 increase at Washtenaw Community College to $53.

Ragan and Board President Patricia Watson commended Raby for his work on the budget, which holds the "base" tuition rates at the same level as last year.

Hearing set on college millage rate

The assessment for Schoolcraft College will cost taxpayers slightly more this year, but only from the growth in the taxable values of homes and businesses.

The millage — which is used to figure property taxes — was proposed at 1.8521, which is unchanged from last year.

The college's board of trustees received news of the proposed rate Wednesday from Butch Raby, Schoolcraft's vice president for business services.

That means a home with a sales value of $100,000 or a taxable value of $50,000 will pay $92.61 this year.

"They should see about a 2.7 percent increase on their tax bills, so if they paid $100 last year, it will be about $102.70," Raby said.

The Schoolcraft district includes the school districts of Clarenceville, Garden City, Livonia, Northville, Plymouth-Canton and part of Novi school districts.

The college board of trustees has to meet state statutory obligations on the budget and taxation, so they approved Wednesday a resolution of "an intent to levy the full 2.27 mills ... as may be modified" by provisions under the Headlee Amendment, which limits increases of property tax collections by governmental units to inflation. Headlee and the increase in taxable values of homes will roll back the millage to 1.8521, according to estimates.

The millage will be set after a public hearing on the $41.3 million budget. Trustees scheduled the budget hearing for 7 p.m. Wednesday, April 22.

The college's state equalized valuation for the entire district is estimated at $8.94 billion for 1998-99.

County library for disabled moves to Westland April 1

Wayne County's Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped moves Wednesday, April 1, from its Van Born Road location in Wayne to a new facility in Westland.

Patrons will find several advantages to the new location:

■ The building is located on the more accessible Michigan Avenue, meaning patrons can use public transportation to get to the library.

■ A separate room is set up for patrons to work with computers and adaptive equipment.

■ The 120,000 "Talking Book" tapes will now be more conveniently stored on movable shelving.

"We're ready for the next century with this building," said Edward McNamara, Wayne County executive. "I am pleased we are able to upgrade services to the many residents who rely on them. And everyone should be reminded that the service is free."

The new office, a one-story red-brick building, located at 30555 Michigan Ave., across from the Kay Beard Building near Merriman Road, is a former credit union. The 7,500-square-foot building will house seven librarians and five student assistants.

Residents of Wayne County who are unable to read standard printed materials as a result of a permanent or temporary visual or physical disability qualify for service. This includes individuals who are unable to hold or turn pages of print books.

Persons with reading disabilities qualify if they are certified as having a physical disability by a medical doctor.

Both individuals and organizations, such as schools and nursing homes, may enroll in the Talking Book program. The library also has 200 descriptive videos available. A narrator describes what is happening; closed captions indicate the dialogue.

How people apply: The Wayne County Regional Library staff will be glad to send residents an application for enrollment in the program. Residents complete the application and have it signed by a "certifying authority" and mail it to 30555 Michigan Ave., Westland, Mich. 48186.

Persons who are visually or physically disabled may have the application signed by a doctor, optometrist, visiting nurse, counselor, etc. Persons who are reading-disabled must have the application signed by a doctor of medicine or osteopathy.

"The layout at our new building is so much better," said Pat Klemens, Wayne County librarian. "We plan to hold a grand opening soon to show the public just what a great facility it is."

To request an application, call (734) 727-7300 or call toll-free at 1-888-968-2737.

Library serves special needs

The Wayne County Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped has 125,000 recorded books, tapes and records. About 4,000 large print books are available. About 4,000 users are registered at the library.

Materials are available at no charge to qualified residents. Here are answers to some questions about the library:

Who may use the Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped?

Residents of Wayne County who are unable to read standard printed materials as a result of permanent or temporary visual or physical disability qualify for service.

What is available at the library?

Hundreds of books on tape are mailed from the library each day at no expense to persons who qualify. In addition, the library makes available about 50 recorded magazines. There is even a studio for recording custom-order books.

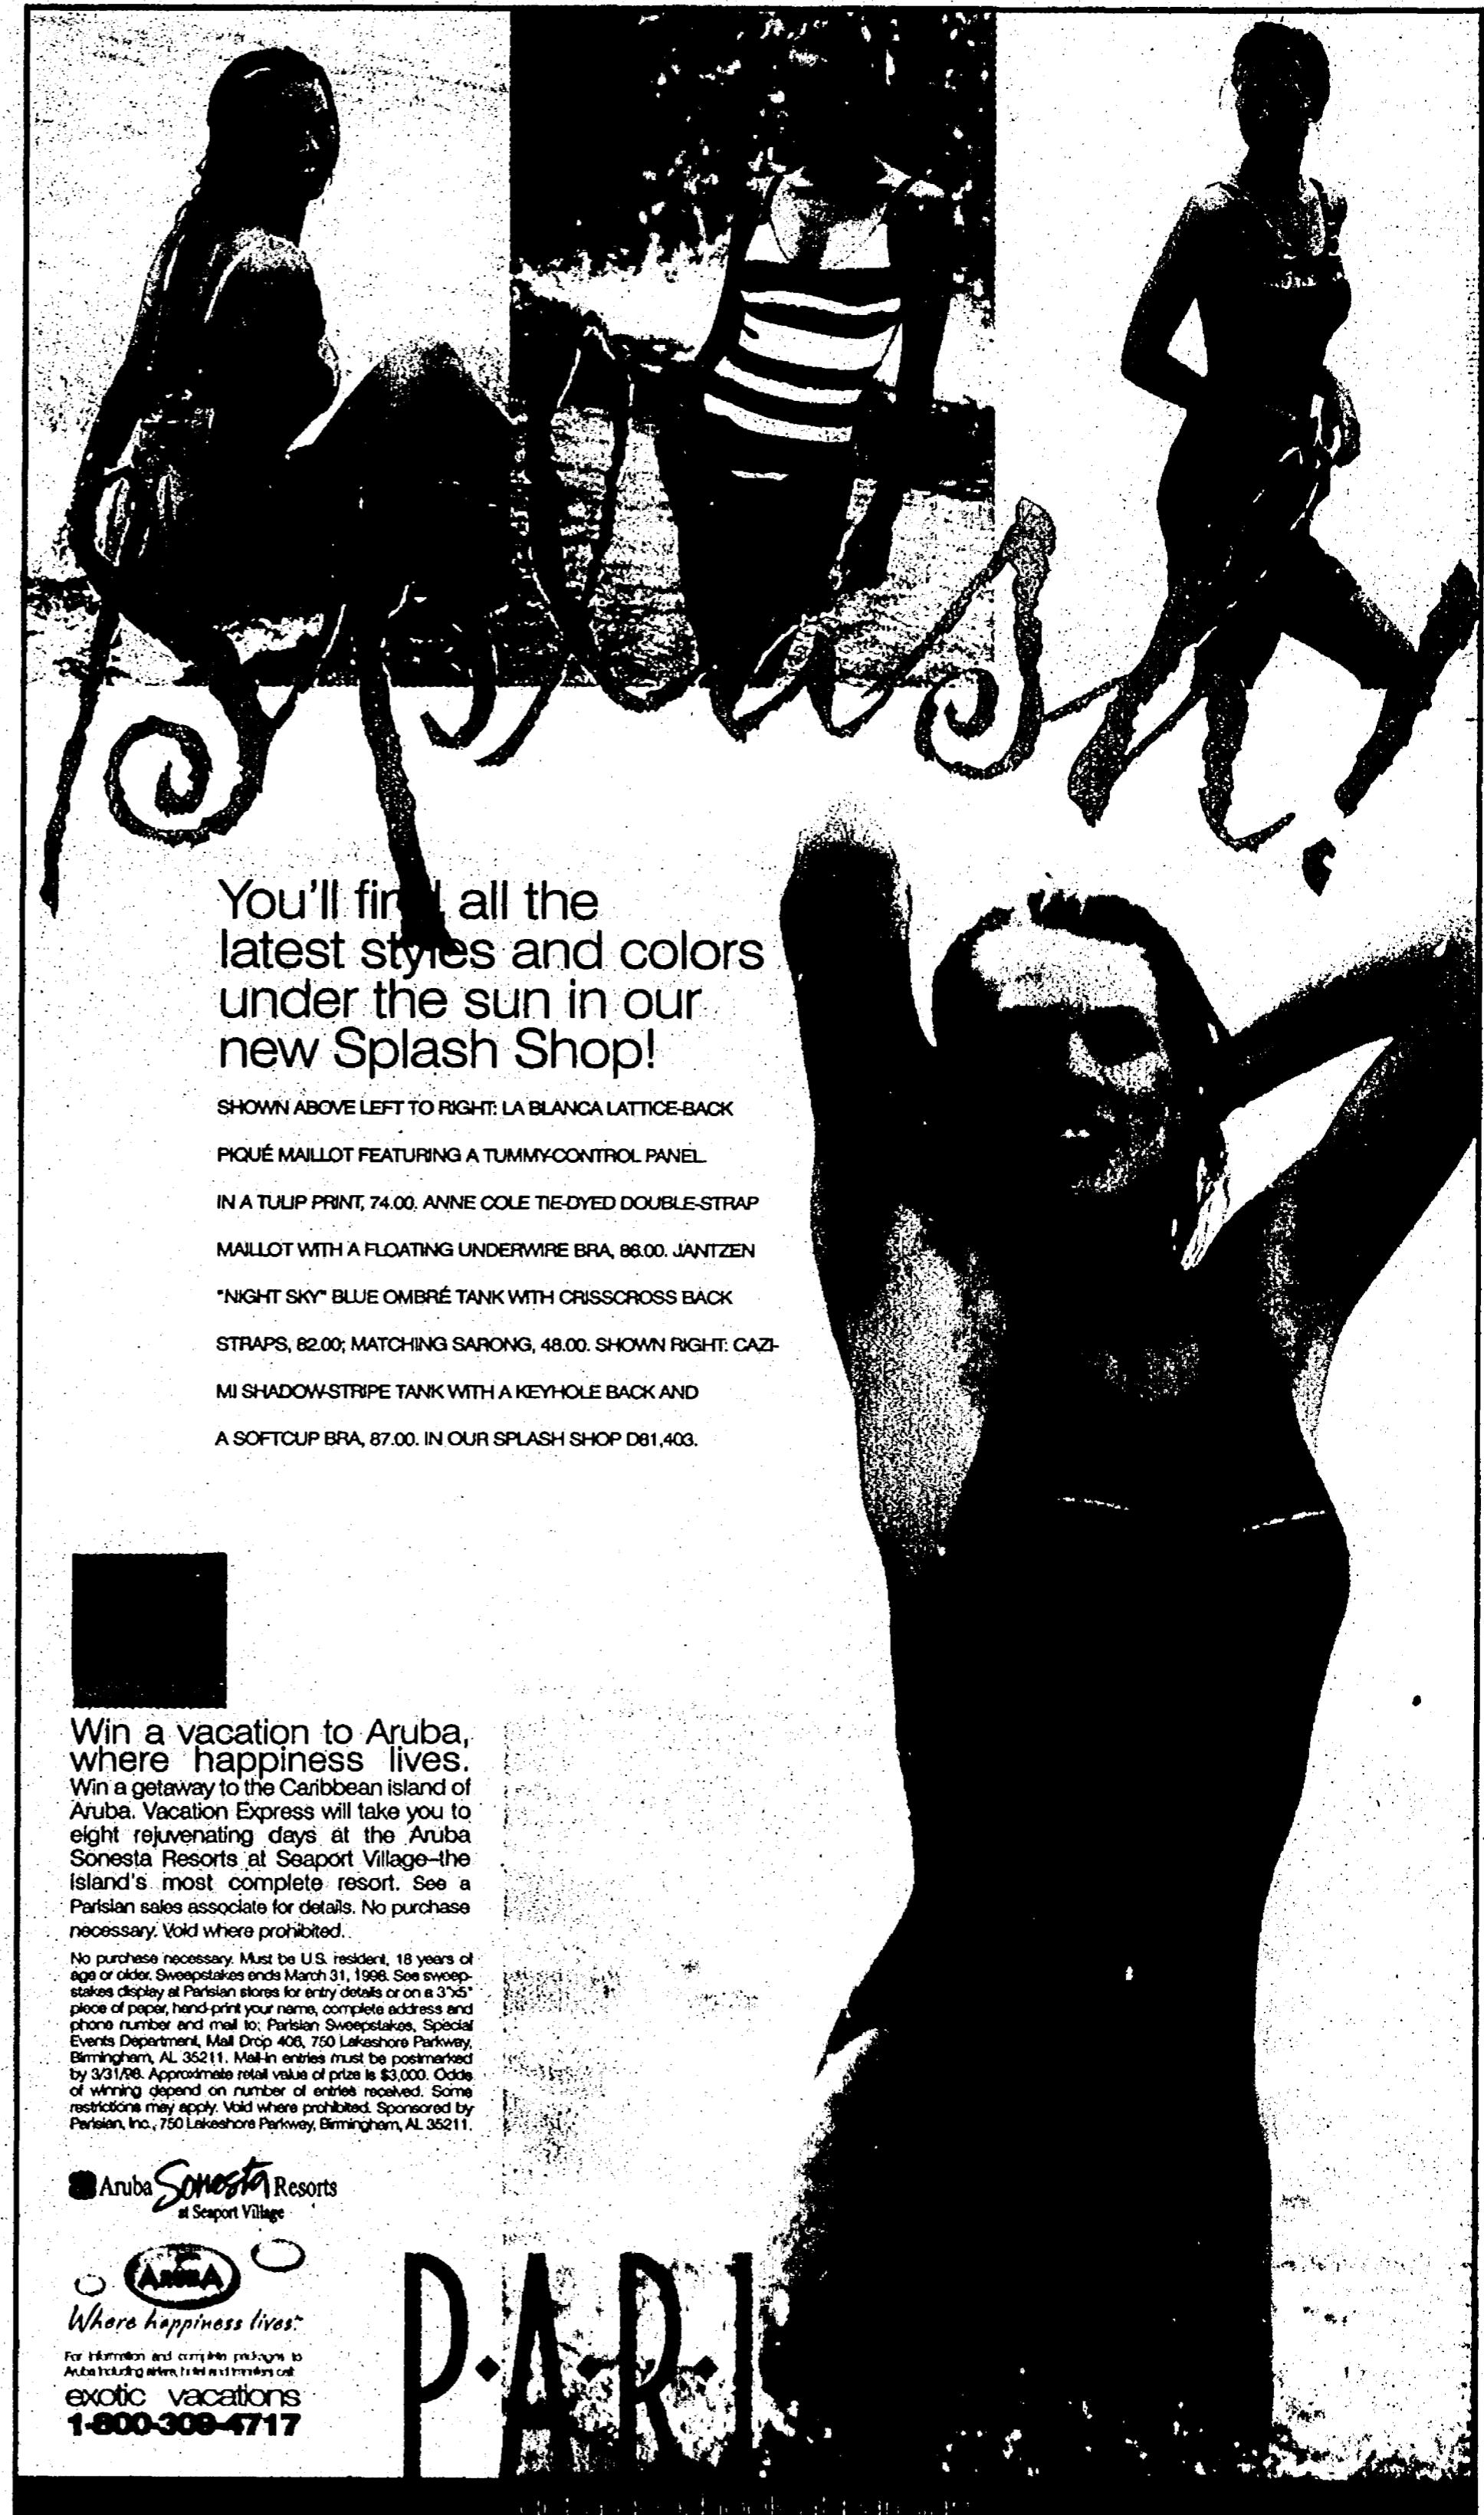

Large print books are available for adults and children in 14-point print and larger.

Entertainment and educational videos, described for the visually impaired also are available.

The Library for the Blind does not offer recorded textbooks or music, since these are available from other private or commercial sources.

How do people get the materials?

Items are delivered free directly to a patron's address by the U.S. Postal Service. Mailings to and from the library may be sent via "Free Matter for the Blind

HOME SENSE

LOIS M. THIELEKE

Choose chicken for quick, easy nutritious meals

Chicken is mild flavored, easy to digest, quick and easy to fix, economical, tastes good, and is good for you. Chicken is served around the world. It is the meat of choice for Mexico, France, Italy, Spain, Russia, Japan, China, India, West Africa, and the United States.

There are endless ways to cook and serve chicken. Unfortunately, every once in awhile, the safety of eating chicken makes headline news.

There are two types of bacteria that we usually associate with raw chicken: salmonella and campylobacter. These organisms can be killed by heat or their growth inhibited by refrigeration.

Always cook chicken thoroughly. The juices should run clear, not pink. On a meat thermometer, white meat should register 170°F and dark meat 180°F. If you don't have a meat thermometer, cook the chicken until it's "falling off the bone."

Storage

Chicken is very perishable and should be kept refrigerated or frozen. When buying chicken, choose packages with little or no liquid on the bottom. Avoid buying any chicken where the package is torn: If the bird has not been stored airtight, it has probably lost moisture. Just-bought chicken can be stored in the refrigerator for about two days. Always place a plate or tray under refrigerator-stored chicken to stop the possible dripping juices from contaminating other food.

If you find that you can't use the chicken in two days, freeze it. Maximum freezer storage time for well-wrapped chicken is one year (for uncooked) and six months for cooked chicken dishes.

Never defrost a chicken on the countertop at room temperature. Place the still-wrapped chicken in the refrigerator to thaw. Whole frozen chicken will require 12 to 16 hours to thaw; pieces will need four to nine hours. If you have planned ahead when you initially froze the chicken and packaged only what you needed or packaged pieces separately, you can cook the chicken frozen without thawing. Add 15 to 30 minutes additional cooking time for frozen chicken dishes.

If you have to cut up a chicken, wash your hands before and after touching the bird. Wash the cutting board, utensils and work area with hot soapy water. Any of the juices or bacteria from your hands or equipment could be spread to other foods. Be very cautious and very clean when fixing chicken. Never marinade chicken on the kitchen counter; Always marinade in the refrigerator. Throw the marinade away or, if you plan to serve it, boil it thoroughly. Better yet, make a new batch that does not have any of the raw chicken juices in it. Always rinse the chicken before cooking.

Cooking chicken in the microwave does not kill harmful salmonella and other bacteria. The reason is that microwave ovens heat food through molecular friction. This leaves the surface temperature too uneven to kill bacteria.

Cook the chicken in a regular oven at 350°F until the meat thermometer reads the right temperature or until the juices run clear. When cooking chicken, remember that white meat cooks more quickly than dark.

Fat savings

There is a fat savings if the skin of chicken is removed. Chicken skin is almost pure saturated fat, so removing it cuts the fat almost in half. Poultry is a good source of the B vitamins, zinc, magnesium, and a high-quality protein food. Chicken is a short-fibered meat, and that makes it easy

What to watch for in Taste next week:

- Celebrate Easter
- Focus on Wine

Family Favorite: Char Kerman makes this special Pineapple Kugel for Passover.

PASSOVER DISHES PASS GENERATION TO GENERATION

When Char Kerman and her family gather to celebrate Passover, which begins at sundown on Friday, April 10, Pineapple Kugel is one of the dishes they'll pass to one another.

"It's a recipe my mother always used when I was younger," said Kerman who recently moved to Clarkston from Bloomfield Hills. "It could be served for dessert, it's very light."

Kerman and her family, husband Brian, and three grown children, Sean, Staci and Jodi, will be together for Passover. "I set a beautiful Seder table," she said. "We have the traditional Seder plate with bitter herbs, shank bone, charoset, parsley, roasted egg, and salt water."

There will be matzah and a cup of wine for Elijah, and they will retell the story of Passover — which commemorates the liberation of the Jewish people from Egyptian slavery, and exodus of the Jews of Israel from Egypt.

Seder means "order" of the service. It is a ceremonial dinner marked by the retelling of the story of the Exodus from Egypt through prayers, songs and ceremonial foods.

As a reminder of the lamb eaten by Jewish families on the eve of Passover in biblical times, a roasted lamb bone is placed on the Seder plate. Horseradish or Maror are the bitter herbs, which remind Jews of the bitterness of slavery.

Charoset, a sweet mixture of chopped apples, nuts, cinnamon and wine, symbolizes the mortar made to hold together the bricks the Jews produced while slaves in Egypt. Karpas is a green vegetable, usually parsley or celery used to symbolize spring and renewal. It is tipped in salt water, which symbolizes the tears of the Jews in Egypt.

A roasted or hard-boiled egg is placed on the plate as a token of grief for the destruction of the temple in Jerusalem. A special cup of wine is placed on the Seder table for the prophet Elijah, the messenger who will foretell the coming of the Messiah. During the service, there is a time when the door of the house is opened and Elijah is invited to enter.

During their Seder, the Kermans will read the Haggadah, which means "the telling" of the story or narrative. The head of the household serves as the leader of the Seder, directing the reading of the Haggadah. Everyone present participates.

No leavened bread is eaten during Passover, and certain other foods containing yeast or other leaving agents are forbidden by Jewish law to be eaten at this time. In their haste to leave Egypt, there was no time for bread to rise.

"Our food has changed over the years," said Kerman. "But once a year we eat what we grew up with. Passover brings everyone together."

Simplicity is the beauty of "Pomodoro Veneziana," Ristorante Cafe Cortina's Venetian style, garden fresh tomato sauce now available at the restaurant, and local specialty markets.

"This is the sauce I remember waking up to Sunday mornings," said Rina Tonon who owns Cafe Cortina, an elegant Northern Italian restaurant in Farmington Hills. "It's so Italian. My mother would begin making it early in the morning."

Customers have been asking the Tonons to bottle and sell their tomato sauce for years.

Adrian, Rina's son, got interested in the concept of bottling and marketing the family's tomato sauce, and did some research. One of the people he talked to was Jim Hiller of Hiller's Market, who encouraged him to develop the product.

On Feb. 1 they began manufacturing "Pomodoro Veneziana," and one of the first places to offer it was Hiller's Shopping Center Markets. A 16-ounce jar of "Pomodoro Veneziana," sells for $4.99. The house on the label is the Tonon family home in Italy, where Adrian's father, the late Adriano Tonon, was born.

"This was Adrian's project," said Rina who is well pleased with the result. "Adriano is probably smiling on him."

The sauce is made with plum tomatoes and basil, not dried basil, onions, celery, carrots, sugar and salt. "It's a sauce for the new millennium," said Adrian. "The freshness and quality is there, it's low-fat and simple."

Adrian is a graduate of the Michigan State University Hotel and Restaurant Management program, and completed a six month apprenticeship at Hotel Cipriani in Venice, Italy.

"I always had a passion for cooking," said Adrian. "I grew up in the business, but I wasn't sure that's

Andiamo chefs share award-winning recipes

See story Taste front.

The creator of the Bolognese Sauce is Master Chef Aldo and the recipe bears the name Bolognese Alla Aldo in his honor. This sauce is a menu offering at all the Andiamo restaurants.

Roasted Peppers with Sausage in Marsala Wine Sauce, also a Chef Aldo original, is served on request at all properties.

SAUCE BOLOGNESE ALLA ALDO

- 1 Spanish onion
- 2 celery stalks
- 2 carrots
- 1/4 bunch fresh parsley
- 1-1/2 tablespoons dry basil
- 2 cloves garlic
- 1/8 pound pancetta
- 1-1/2 cups extra virgin olive oil

1/2 pound ground veal
1/2 pound ground pork
1/2 pound ground beef
1/2 teaspoon marjoram
1 pinch thyme
3 tablespoons salt
2 pinches pepper
1/4 cup Burgundy-style wine
6 tablespoons tomato paste
2 (32 ounce) cans pear tomatoes, peeled, seeded and chopped
3 cups water
1/2 cup heavy whipping cream
1 teaspoon sugar (optional)

Begin by grinding in a food processor or blender, onions, celery, carrots, parsley, basil, garlic and pancetta. Heat a large sauce pan with olive oil and cook the above mixture until hot.

Add veal, pork, beef, marjoram, thyme, 1 tablespoon salt, 1 pinch pepper and cook until meat is browned. Add wine and cook until completely absorbed. Add tomato paste, chopped tomatoes, water, 2 tablespoons salt, 1 pinch pepper, and let simmer until hot.

In sauté pan, heat whipping cream, add to the tomato sauce and mix thoroughly. Note, sugar may be added if sauce is too tart. Simmer until the oil rises to the top. Remove excess oil and serve tossed with pasta. Serves 6.

Recipe compliments of Chef Larry Fanale, Andiamo Italia Ristorante.

ROASTED PEPPERS WITH SAUSAGE IN MARSALA WINE SAUCE

- 3 roasted red bell peppers, cut as rough julienne
- 3 roasted yellow bell peppers, cut as rough julienne
- 3 roasted green bell peppers, cut as rough julienne
- 1 pound cooked Italian sausage, sliced
- 2 tablespoons tomato paste
- 1 cup Florio dry Marsala
- 2 cups water
- salt and pepper to taste
- 2 pinches chopped parsley
- 2 garlic cloves
- Olive oil to coat bottom of sauté pan

In a large sauté pan, heat olive oil and garlic cloves until garlic is brown. Remove garlic and discard.

Add roasted peppers and sausage. Sauté until warm. Add Marsala and cook until absorbed.

Add tomato paste, water, salt and pepper to taste. Cook until desired consistency is obtained. Serves 6-8.

Chef's note: For added interest, individual portions of this recipe can be served in a potato basket. To make baskets, use a V Slicer Plus (available at Kitchen Glamor $35). Slice potato to using waffle cut. Place three waffle cuts in a Bird's Nest Basket (available at Kitchen Glamor $13). Deep fry in oil at 325 degrees F. until golden.

Recipe compliments of Chef Larry Fanale.

The recipe for Chef Aldo's original Tiramisu is in his book "The Magic of Chef Aldo" $24.95, sold at Andiamo restaurants.

When Chef Lee Sharkas prepared Tiramisu in Chocolate Cups, he used the filling in Chef Aldo's original recipe. Using a pastry bag he filled 4 chocolate cups with filling then topped lightly with cocoa.

Chocolate cups can be made by melting unsweetened chocolate in a double boiler over low heat. Using a pastry brush, brush inside of 2-ounce plastic molds with melted chocolate. Harden chocolate at room temperature and pop out cups. Serves 4.

what I wanted to do. My apprenticeship in Italy sealed my decision on what I wanted to do — carry on Cafe Cortina's quality reputation."

That reputation, built by Rina and her husband Adriano, who passed away in 1993, is synonymous with quality. Last year Cafe Cortina won a Distinguished Restaurants of North of America award, and the National Restaurant Hospitality Magazine just honored them for their wine list.

Adriano is general manager, but also maître d'. "I pick out a lot of wines for customers," he said. "Every night is a show, this is an entertainment business. You drive here; it's an experience."

This summer, look for improvements in the family garden opposite the parking lot, which supplies fresh herbs and vegetables all summer.

"We've also been working to carry Tonon Wines exclusively at the restaurant," said Rina. "They're available all over Europe, but not here. The winery is operated by cousins in the Veneto Region of Italy where Adriano grew up, near Venice."

With her son in the restaurant traveling, Rina has more time to travel, and relax, although she's still very much involved in the restaurant.

"Adrian has inspired me," she said. "I feel fortunate that he has chosen to continue the legacy of the Tonon family at Cafe Cortina."

Jeffrey Hoffman, a graduate of Hyde Park Culinary Institute, was appointed executive chef six months ago. "He has the same passion we do," said Rina. "He cooks with his heart."

Sous Chef Jeffrey Blinder was trained by the Tonon family.

"We've known him for years," said Rina.

complemented the slightly burnt character of the Amarone. Additionally, the sweetness of the Marsala matched the concentrated fruit of the wine."

About the competition

In its third year, the Michigan Culinary Food & Wine Extravaganza, attracted 800 foodies looking to sample food and wine pairings created by Metro Detroit's top chefs.

The event, held annually at Mac & Ray's harborfront restaurant in Harrison Township, benefits the Michigan Culinary Team and Scholarship Fund. This year's event raised more than $50,000.

The goal is to provide funding for Metro Detroit high school and trade school students who plan to pursue a culinary education at the college level," said Birmingham restaurateur Norm LePage, who has been instrumental in planning the Food & Wine Extravaganza.

Additionally, funds are used to support the Michigan Culinary Team's participation in the World Culinary Salon, a chef's olympics, held every four years.

The Michigan Culinary Food & Wine Extravaganza is both a chefs-helping-chefs and a toque-to-toque competition. "It sharpens my skills," said Fanale, who plans to try out for the next Michigan Culinary Team.

"It brings the area's best chefs together and we get around to see what others are doing at their tables. We're all working 80-hour weeks and rarely get out to taste each other's food in a restaurant setting."

Up close and personal

Both winning chefs are 29 years old and started at Andiamo Italia together six years ago. Fanale was a sauté sous chef and Sharkas a dinner chef. Fanale has been executive Chef at Andiamo Italia for the last four years. Sharkas became executive chef at Andiamo West with its opening in June.

Fanale who admits "I love to cook," said he started working at age 11 in a bakery. As an educationally challenged student with dyslexia, he credits his teachers for helping him overcome his handicap.

While following studies toward a business degree at Macomb Community College, he realized he'd only be happy cooking and pursued a degree through Oakland Community College's Culinary Apprentice Program at age 21.

Sharkas has been cooking since age 13 when he began making pizzas at Larco's Restaurant. After 10 years there, he joined the Andiamo restaurant group and worked directly under Chef Aldo for five years. He describes himself as a "European at heart and lover of old-country foods."

Both Fanale and Sharkas credit Master Chef Aldo for honing their skills. "He refined my techniques," Fanale said.

"He taught me that sauces must be intensely flavored. Marsala sauce must be made to order." Fanale added that it takes three hours to make a good chicken stock from scratch.

"The veal stock begins by roasting veal bones in an oven with onion, carrots and celery. It takes time to make a great sauce," he said.

to digest. This is important if you are feeding children, older people, or those who have digestive problems. The bland, mild texture is good for people on special diets.

When cooking chicken, use a good recipe to maintain the low calorie, low fat and low sodium advantage.

The color of the skin of a chicken does not have anything to do with nutritional value; it has to do with what the chicken has been fed. Fresh chicken should be bright, not gray looking.

Chicken soup just may hold off a minor illness or be the best cold treatment. Making chicken soup with carrots, celery, onions, parsley, onions, garlic and spices gives a boost to vitamin A in your diet. Chicken soup can help thin the mucus in your lungs so you can get rid of the germs. Soup is just one of the hundreds of ways to fix chicken.

Chicken takes on the flavors of the herbs, spices or vegetables added to it. Tomatoes, cheese, hoisin sauce, fennel seeds, pasta, teriyaki, limes, cilantro, and chutney are just a few ways to make chicken more flavorful.

Chicken certainly doesn't have to be boring, and you can make it the meat of choice. Handle chicken safely, make sure the chicken is cooked well done and served the way you like it.

PINEAPPLE KUGEL

1 1/3 cups sugar
8 eggs (separated)
1 can (19 ounces) crushed pineapple, well drained
1 grated lemon rind (be sure to remove all the pith)
1 cup matzo meal
Optional Topping
1/2 cup finely chopped walnuts or pecans
1/8 cup sugar

Beat the egg yolks, add 1 1/3 cups sugar, pineapple, lemon rind, and matzo meal. Stir well. Beat the egg whites until stiff, and fold into mixture.

Preheat oven to 325°F. Lightly grease a 9- by 13-inch pan. Pour kugel mixture into pan. If you like, sprinkle sugar (about 1/8 cup) over finely chopped nuts, and sprinkle over kugel before baking.

Bake for approximately 30 minutes, until the kugel is a soft brown color. Test the same as you would a cake.

Recipe compliments of Char Kerman.

Richly satisfying: Experiment with vegetables when making kugel. Spinach and Eggplant Kugel is a healthy combination of vegetables, yet as richly satisfying as some traditional recipes.

Cook's tip: Char says you can substitute Spice Islands lemon peel for the freshly grated lemon peel.

SPINACH & EGGPLANT KUGEL

2 pounds eggplant, peeled, cut into 1-inch cubes

10-ounces frozen chopped, defrosted

1 small onion, finely chopped
1 apple, peeled and shredded
1/2 teaspoon salt
Freshly ground pepper
1 egg, plus 2 egg whites, beaten
1 piece matzo
1 teaspoon unsalted butter

Preheat the oven to 400 degrees F. Spray a nine-inch square baking dish and two non-stick cookie sheets with cooking spray.

Arrange the eggplant in a single layer on the cookie sheets, cover each one loosely with aluminum foil and bake for 10 minutes. Uncover the eggplant and turn the cubes. Recover the pan with foil and switch the position of the pans in the oven. Bake until the eggplant is soft when pierced with a knife but still maintains its shape, 5-10 minutes. Place the eggplant into a large bowl.

Reduce the oven temperature to 350 degrees F.

Squeeze the spinach dry. Mix it with the eggplant. Add the onion, apple, and salt and stir to combine. Mix in the eggs and season with pepper. Crumble in the matzo and blend well.

Spread the mixture in an even layer in the prepared baking dish. Dot the top with the butter.

Bake at 350 degrees F., until the top is browned and crisp. Let the kugel sit 10 minutes before cutting and serving hot or warm.

Start your day with an 'eye opener'

AP — Eggs are a favorite breakfast dish and Eye Opener Eggs, a variation on the egg theme, is nutritious and tasty start to the day.

Eggs cooked this way, in small gratin dishes or ramekins and baked in an oven or toaster oven, are traditionally called "shirred eggs."

They may sound fancy, but they are a snap to prepare. You could pop them into the oven before getting dressed, and they'll be ready to eat when you are.

Make your choice of toppings from bacon, cheese, ham or chives.

EYE OPENER EGGS

4 eggs
1 tablespoon water
1/4 teaspoon hot pepper sauce
1/8 teaspoon salt
Cooked crumbled bacon

Shredded Cheddar cheese

Diced cooked ham

Snipped chives

Preheat the oven to 325 F. For each serving, break and slip 2 eggs into a greased ramekin, shallow baking dish or 10-ounce custard cup.

In a small dish, mix water, hot pepper sauce and salt.

Spoon one half of mixture over eggs in each dish, gently mixing it in with the whites of the eggs, being careful not to break the yolks.

Top with your choice of crumbled bacon and shredded cheese or diced ham and chives.

Bake until whites are completely set and yolks begin to thicken but are not hard, about 15 minutes.

Remove from oven and serve immediately.

Makes 2 servings.

Easy Chicken Bruschetta ready in 30 minutes

AP — This recipe from Joan Baker, of Estacada, Ore., is one of the 100 winning recipes from the recent Pillsbury "Quick & Easy" BAKE-OFF cooking contest.

It was featured in the 30-minute main dish section.

CHICKEN BRUSCHETTA

4 boneless skinless chicken breast halves
1 teaspoon garlic powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
Topping
2 tablespoons olive oil
1 4.5-ounce jar sliced mushrooms, drained

5 garlic cloves, minced
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup chopped red onion
1/2 cup loosely packed chopped fresh basil or 1 teaspoon dried basil leaves

3 medium Italian plum tomatoes, seeded, chopped
4 teaspoons balsamic vinegar
1/8 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper

1 ounce (1/4 cup) shredded fresh Parmesan cheese
Fresh basil sprigs, if desired

Spray broiler pan with nonstick cooking spray. Sprinkle chicken with garlic powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 1/8 teaspoon pepper; place on sprayed broiler pan.

Broil 4 to 6 inches from heat for 6 to 8 minutes on each side or until fork-tender and juices run clear.

Meanwhile, heat oil in large nonstick skillet over medium-high heat until hot. Add mushrooms, garlic and 1/4 teaspoon salt; cook 1 to 2 minutes or until garlic is tender, stirring occasionally.

Add onion, chopped basil, tomatoes, vinegar and 1/8 teaspoon pepper; cook 30 to 45 seconds or until thoroughly heated. To serve, arrange chicken on individual plates. Sprinkle with half of cheese. Top each serving with mushroom mixture; sprinkle with remaining cheese. Garnish with basil sprigs.

Makes 4 servings.

LEARNING PROPER IMMEDIATE CARE CAN BENEFIT INJURED

FIRST AID 101

The fundamental idea of first aid is the initial administration of care following an injury or illness. And while everyone isn't a nurse or paramedic, there are some basic measures that can be taken immediately to benefit the victim before professional medical attention can be sought.

One of the most important considerations is to remain calm.

Through actions can mean the difference between stabilizing the patient or causing further harm. Performing first aid procedures in a panicked state increases your risk of misjudgment and does nothing to reassure the victim.

Livonia dispatcher Fran Toth said remaining composed when calling 911 quickens the process and helps medical personnel en route be more knowledgeable of the situation. "If people are getting hysterical we tell them 'You have to calm down,'" said Toth a 12-year veteran of the dispatching department.

Toth said having information of the victim's condition is important as the dispatcher will need to know if the individual is conscious or breathing — then make an assessment if intervention (such as CPR, Heimlich maneuver) is necessary.

When it comes to first aid for the treatment of minor and common injuries, there are many misconceptions about remedies that actually hinder the healing process.

According to Lt. Clint London, Garden City Fire Department paramedic, basic first aid can be administered following an injury or illness prior to the arrival of professional help. London also encourages persons to take a first aid and/or CPR course through their local American Red Cross, American Heart Association chapter or hospital to improve their understanding of practical medical treatments.

■ Minor burns

One of the most popular misunderstandings about burns is that butter or oil can be administered to soothe the pain from a minor burn. False.

London said butter, oils, grease, ointments and lotions are not a good idea because they might induce infection and be more painful. Also, ice and burns don't mix. The ice won't do anything for the pain but make it worse.

First, make a determination as to the degree of the burn and whether you should call 911. As with any injury or illness, paramedics, emergency medical technicians and hospital personnel are trained to care for the sick and should be contacted if you are unsure about a course of action. Get help immediately.

However, if the injury is minor you can take some degree of intervention, then seek medical attention from your primary physician, hospital or urgent care facility.

The symptoms of a burn include redness, pain and swelling. Typically, the skin will become moist and oozing blisters will appear within several hours. Carefully remove clothing from the burned area if it isn't stuck to the skin. Flush with cool water, cover the burn with sterile bandages and seek medical attention.

London, a 10-year veteran of the Garden City Fire Department, said one of your biggest worries relating to burns is the danger of infection. Thoroughly wash your hands with soap, avoid coughing on the affected area and bandage the burn with loose, sterile dressings (not adhesive bandages). Avoid putting pressure or causing friction to the burn and do not disturb blistered skin.

■ Minor cuts

Minor cuts typically show signs of pierced skin with bleeding and pain. If the cut is deep and bleeding appears heavy, apply gentle but firm pressure and call 911.

If the cut is minor, bleeding should cease in a short time. Apply pressure to the area and rinse thoroughly with mild soap and water. Make an effort to keep the soap out of the cut to avoid further irritation. Apply a sterile bandage and follow up with a physician, depending on the severity of the cut.

London said the use of tourniquets to stop blood flow actually puts the victim in danger because the device cuts off circulation and blood flow — possibly leading to the loss of a limb.

"In my years on the job I have never once had to use a tourniquet," said London. "Tourniquets are used in last resort situations." London instead suggests direct pressure be applied to the wound and elevation. If the cut is on the arm or leg raise the wounded area higher than the heart to slow bleeding.

Bandages should be changed regularly to keep the area clean and dry during the healing process.

■ Electric shock

Symptoms of electric shock caused by exposure to an electrical current include burns at contact points, muscle spasms, unconsciousness and difficulty breathing. Call for help immediately. If the source of the electricity has not been turned off do not touch the victim with your bare hands. The body can conduct electricity from one person to another.

■ Insect bites/stings

Indications of a bite or sting include itching, redness, pain and swelling. If the victim is allergic and having difficult breathing and swallowing, call 911. If there is no known allergy attempt to gently remove the stinger (do not squeeze area of bite or sting with tweezers). Wash with soap and lukewarm water and apply a cold compress. Follow up with a physician.

Monitor the site for the next 24 to 48 hours for infection (inflammation, pain, redness). Seek additional medical treatment if necessary.

■ Broken bones

Evaluate the severity of the broken limb including whether bone is protruding through the skin. Seek medical attention right away. If no bones are showing, find the position of comfort or create a homemade splint to secure the arm in hopes of minimizing the bones from moving together.

If bone has broken through the skin, make sure the victim is as comfortable as possible until help arrives and cover the open area with a sterile bandage. Do not breathe or cough on an open air wound.

■ Poisoning

Call 911 and poison control (1-800-POISON-1) if you suspect poisoning. The Poison Control Center will advise you on a course of action. Be prepared to tell the center, if you know, what the victim consumed that led to the poisoning. Symptoms can include unconsciousness, convulsions, difficulty breathing, sweating, vomiting and diarrhea.

Poison Control might advise you to collect vomit and urine if possible for testing by the hospital. Remain calm when speaking to the Poison Control Center to expedite treatment. Poisons act fast and you should, too.

■ Shock

Shock, a life-threatening and deteriorating condition, is the effect of any sudden disturbance or agitation of the mind or emotions that can lead to very low blood pressure and the rapid shut-down of the body's vital functions. London said shock can occur from a traumatic disturbance and stress following an injury or accident.

"If someone goes into shock that's an indication something is seriously wrong," said London, who advised getting help immediately.

Symptoms of shock can include pale, clammy skin; general weakness; rapid, shallow breathing; rapid, weak pulse; and confusion caused by the loss of blood and body fluids (due to hemorrhage, burns, dehydration, severe vomiting, diarrhea).

Other causes:

Severe pain, heart attack, toxicity (blood poisoning), spinal injuries, overwhelming fear.

Intervention is necessary to treat a shock victim until medical help arrives. Depending on the severity of other injuries, control bleeding and treat the victim by having him/her lay back with legs elevated. If you suspect a head or back injury, do not move the victim. Keep the victim warm and comfortable and monitor breathing and pulse rate. Remain calm.

Just as important as a smoke detector, flash light, and fire extinguisher can be to your safety so too are first aid kits. Many area stores and medical supply retailers sell prearranged kits that include many necessary items for basic first aid in the event of minor injuries. No kit should ever take the place of calling 911 if you are unsure about an illness or injury.

However, a first aid kit can include several items (see chart) to treat minor injuries.

In the event of an injury or illness remember to check the victim for a Medic Alert bracelet for a pre-existing condition, allergy or illness. This is important to know when calling 911, as is remaining calm.

The Livonia dispatcher said special directions about the victim's location should be relayed to the dispatcher including if doors to a residence are locked or specifically where the victim can be found (upstairs, basement, backyard, vehicle, etc.) to benefit the rescue team.

Basic first aid should never take the place of treatment by a physician or professional medical personnel. Keep in mind first aid has its limitations. London said 911 should be contacted if you are unsure about anything to ensure your and the victim's safety.

Clean out, restock medicine cabinet

With the cold and flu season just about behind us, now might be a good time to clear the clutter in your medicine cabinet.

"It's amazing how fast a stock-pile of medicine can grow, especially over the winter months," said Christyne Lawson, M.D., family practice physician at Providence Hospital. "But you can easily and inexpensively be ready for any minor injuries or illnesses by getting rid of expired medicines and stocking the shelves with the essentials that every home needs."

Lawson says that all prescription and over-the-counter medicines, including creams and ointments, that have passed their expiration date or are not in their original containers have probably lost their effectiveness and should be discarded. Also, medications not clearly labeled should be thrown away because they could be mistaken for something else.

Lawson suggests the following items for all household medicine cabinets:

■ Band aids, bandages, gauze and tape in various sizes; antibiotic ointment; thermometer.

■ Pain and fever medicine like acetaminophen or ibuprofen. Aspirin should not be taken by individuals under 21 due to risk of Reye's Syndrome.

■ Antihistamine syrup or tablets for minor allergic reactions like sneezing or rash.

■ Tweezers for removal of splinters and small ticks.

■ Syrup of Ipecac for accidental poisoning. Always consult with your doctor or poison control center before using.

■ Telephone numbers taped to the inside door, including ambulance, family doctor, poison control center and pharmacy.

■ Ask your doctor or pharmacist if you have any questions about these or other

Seinfeld-mania, television devotee sites clog cyberspace

MIKE WENDLAND

The world seems transformed by the imminent demise of the Jerry Seinfeld show on NBC. And as the word goes ... so goes the World Wide Web.

Seinfeld mania has captured cyberspace.

Start with the site that bills itself as the "Seinfeld-est Spot on the Internet" (<http://www.seinfeldest.com/>). As soon as you log on, you start hearing a MIDI sound file of the theme song. From there, you can move to a downloadable archive of tiny little video clips from some of the favorite episodes.

You'll have to squint. The video plays in an inch by inch widow, but contains almost all of the classic scenes from recent episodes.

The site is filled with trivia from the show, including an interactive quiz about silly moments from past shows or bizarre relationships between characters. But where most of the action is these days is on the "Say it Isn't So!" section that details the latest news about the final episode and what may or may not happen to the stars.

Also found here is bogus synopsis of the yet-to-be-taped final episode called "The End." While the online script is not bad and indeed did fool a lot of Seinfeld fans for a couple weeks, it is, insist show producers a fake.

Think this is a bit much? There's a whole web ring (<http://www.seinfeldest.com/ring/s/rings.html>) of related sites devoted to the sitcom. At last count, there were links to no less than 49 other sites. Among some of the more unusual:

A fan's online "Shrine to Seinfeld" (<http://www.thex-files.com/>) for the official line — just do a (<http://www.geocities.com/TelevisionCity/Set/8747/>), proving that some people really do need to get a life.

■ Episode guides (<http://www.auburn.edu/~hollij/seinfeld.html>) that synopsize every single show.

Jerry's sayings (<http://www.seinfeldest.com/temps/sos.html>), offering Seinfeldisms that have crept into our vocabulary, like "Not that there's anything wrong with that," or "Get out!" and "Yama hama."

■ A collection of Kramer S o u n d s (<http://www.angelfire.com/ny/shiney/kramer.html>), devoted to the clumsy neighbor's best one-liners.

There are even more sites devoted to The X Files. My count with the Alta Vista search engine returned almost 300 sites devoted to that show of the bizarre. Try Fox's site (<http://www.thex-files.com/>) for the official line — just do a search on "X-Files" using any popular web browser.

Another show with an amazing cult following on the Internet is Mystery Science Theatre 3000, or MST 3K as it's referred to on the Net. This wacky take off of bad science fiction flicks airs on the Sci-Fi Channel on cable and has over 200 sites. The official site can be found at <http://scifi.com/mst3000/>.

The multimedia capabilities of the Web are also heavily utilized by these TV sites. My favorite online source for audio files and sound clips is called The Sound Archive (<http://www.betabase.com/sound/s/>).

And if you want to capture your own sounds, there's a Web site (<http://www.dancopublishing.com/x-files/howto.htm>) that shows you how to do that, too.

Here are some of the more specialized and unusual sites devoted to television shows.

Cop TV Shows from the Mining Company (<http://coptv.miningco.com/>). And you thought COPS was all there was? This site chronicles dozens of them, offers mailing lists and online bulletin boards.

■ LinxNet television Index (<http://www.linxnet.com/tv.html>)

■ Whew! This is the most extensive program guide you'll find, linking you to detailed information about almost every program out there.

■ TV Game Shows of the World (<http://www.dcs.wm.ac.uk/~chidney/Humour/GameShow.html>)

This is a British site that describes mythical game show offerings from other countries and manages to spoof all game shows everywhere.

■ Freshwater Fishing Shows (<http://fishing.miningco.com/libra/yearly/aad060997.htm>)

I had to include this because, well,

I had absolutely no idea that there is so much cable space that there are currently more than a dozen shows devoted to... fishing. My favorite name? "Go Fish," which airs in Georgia.

There was a survey that came out in this week's edition of Advertising Age magazine that measured the dramatic effect the Internet was having on television viewing. Nearly 22 percent of the 100,000 Web users surveyed by investment bank Hambrecht & Quist and ad network LinkExchange said they regularly sacrifice TV for surfing time.

Another survey I read last fall said the average Net surfer cuts their weekly TV viewing by six hours. I wonder how many of them are scrolling through TV sites on the Web.

Mike Wendland covers the Internet for NBC-TV Newschannel stations across the country and can be seen locally on WDIV-TV4, Detroit. You can reach through his PC Mike Web site at <http://www.pcmikey.com>

FINDING THE RIGHT AUTO REPAIR SHOP

SHOP CREDENTIALS: The State of Michigan requires two things as a minimum in order to perform automotive repairs. First, the shop must have a repair registration number with the state. Second, any technicians performing automotive repair within that shop must be state licensed. The state has eight categories for automotive repair licensing. A technician that is licensed in all eight categories is called a "Master Technician." Although the state mandates and requires technician licensing, this does not necessarily mean the repair shop has the qualifications to repair your vehicle.

In my opinion, you should find a repair facility displaying this symbol. This symbol stands for Automotive Service Excellence. The National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence was founded in 1972 as a non-profit, independent entity dedicated to improving the quality service and repair through the voluntary testing of automotive technicians. Shops that display and hire ASE technicians are within the highest degree of certifications within our country.

GOOD REFERENCES: Talk with people you know and ask them if they could recommend a shop. Ask them whether they were satisfied with the work they had done and whether they feel they got value and good service for their money. You may also check with agencies such as the Better Business Bureau, your state or local Consumer Affairs Department or Motor Vehicle Department to make sure the shop you select has no significant outstanding complaints against them.

CONVENIENT LOCATION: Whenever possible, deal with a local shop where the personnel will get to know you and your vehicle. Always try to find a shop that has abilities to repair any type of mechanical problem that may arise. Ideally, you would like to find a shop that can perform your oil changes and regular scheduled maintenance as well as replacing a motor or transmission if required. Lastly, if you find a shop that is not so geographically convenient, if they want your business, they will accommodate you to or from your home or workplace as good customer service.

FAIR PRICING: Find out your shop's hourly labor rate to get a general idea of the prices you can expect. In the Detroit Metro area, a fair labor rate will range from $60.00 to $70.00 per hour. A shop that employs ASE technicians may be at the higher end of the scale. Keep in mind that this is only a guide and it may be ultimately less expensive to pay a little more for the services of a more experienced technician at a better equipped shop. YOU GET WHAT YOU PAY FOR!

PROFESSIONAL APPEARANCE: A clean and orderly shop is a good indication that people take pride in their work. Employees should be in uniforms and the customer should never have a problem trying to determine who works there, along with persons being in charge.

CUSTOMER RELATIONS: To a great extent, your satisfaction will depend upon how well communication is relayed. Does the Service Advisor treat you with courtesy and listen to your explanation of why you are bringing your vehicle in? Do they make certain that they understand exactly what work you want done? Are they careful to ascertain how much you are willing to spend and when you need your vehicle? Do they offer you courtesy transportation? Do they clearly explain, in nonprofessionals' terms, what is wrong with your vehicle and choice if any? Is your vehicle returned washed and free of any grease marks?

These are just a few of many questions that should be addressed. Good customer relations also depend upon good record keeping in the sense that all questions about maintenance and warranties are easily dealt with by a shop where personnel have access to your vehicle's history. Again, this is the importance of dealing with just one shop. Ideally, a shop should have computerized customer records. In summary, a superior shop will educate their customers about what a truly professional service facility is all about. Then, and only then, the customer will realize what separates the paparazzi from everyone else.

Club lights library atrium

Color excites Billie Thompson. The jewel tones in a new series of abstracts by the Livonia watercolorist richly attest to that fact. Thompson along with two dozen other members of the Livonia Artists Club will exhibit their works Saturday-Sunday, April 4-5, in the light-filled atrium of the Livonia Civic Center Library. The show is dedicated to club founder Olive Harrington, who died last year.

"I think I've been heading this way for a long time," said Thompson. "I love color and form and in its purest form (color) is abstract."

Overcoming obstacles

Thompson began painting seriously about seven years ago. She is a member of the Livonia Arts Commission and education coordinator for the Visual Arts Association of Livonia.

"Unfortunately life interferes," said Thompson. "You work. You raise kids and time slips away."

Thompson frequently enters shows where artists compete for ribbons and prizes. Judge Suzanne Haskew will award best of show; first, second and third place; honorable mentions, and the Grumbacher Award for best use of color for the Livonia Artists Club show.

Haskew is president of the Village Fine Arts Association and owner of the Murky Bottom Studio in Milford. "It's a judged not a juried show," said Thompson. "Every piece entered is shown. It's one of the few shows in the area to handle entries that way. It gives beginners a chance. It encourages them tremendously."

Exhibit

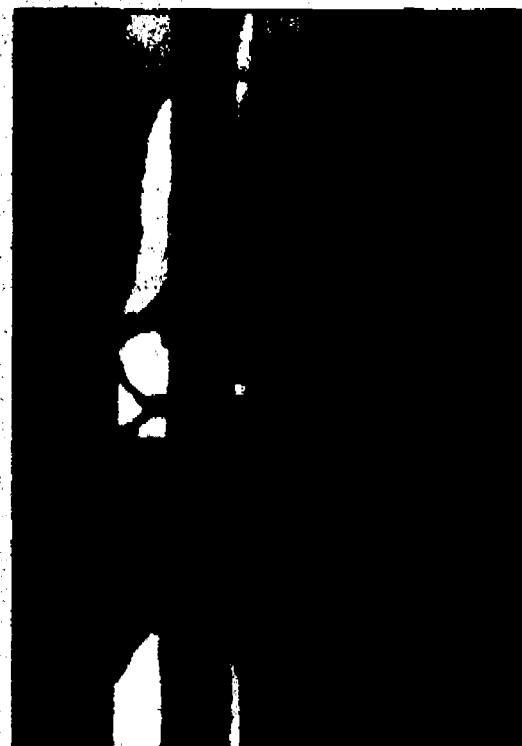

Livonia Artists Club members are allowed to exhibit up to five paintings each in the show. An unframed area of paintings will offer works at reduced prices. Pick up a monotype for as little as $2 or a larger painting for $60 and frame it yourself.

"We're excited about the show," said Yvette Goldberg, exhibit co-chair with Ruth Ann Platt. "Besides paintings, we'll have wood carving by Paul Maceri. He was one of the original members of the club."

Many members also belong to other clubs including the Visual Arts Association of Livonia, Farmington Artists Club, and Palette and Brush Club. So what sets the Livonia Artists Club apart from other area organizations of like minds?

"People enjoy the Livonia Artists Club because it's small and friendly and laid back," said Thompson. "For a small club, the Livonia Artists Club has many excellent, professional artists, and we have quite a few oil painters. Most clubs have a majority of watercolorists."

The Livonia Artists Club meets monthly at the Livonia Civic Center Library. For more information, call Yvette Goldberg at (248) 476-2313 or Marge Masek at (313) 464-8772.

Color her excited: This is one of the new abstract watercolors that Billie Thompson will exhibit in the Livonia Artists Club show.

Choir rises above differences for Requiem

★ St. Genevieve Choir director Laverne Lieberknect agrees with the adage that music is universal. No matter what a person's race or creed, everyone understands the emotion written between the lines.

While working on a master's degree in choral conducting at Wayne State University in 1991, Lieberknect came up with the idea for the St. Genevieve Choir to present a Good Friday concert. Once the concerts became reality, Lieberknect's dream was to build a choir consisting of singers from a multitude of religious and choral organizations to perform the annual program.

This year the St. Genevieve Interdenominational Festival Choir will present John Rutter's "Requiem" with the Livonia Symphony Orchestra under conductor Volodymyr Schesiuk Friday, April 10. The singers represent more than 25 Lutheran, Catholic, Methodist and community choir groups from St. Genevieve, St. Michael's, Newburgh United Methodist Church, the Livonia Civic Chorus, Christ the King Lutheran Church, Madonna University Chorale Singers, and Schoolcraft College, to name a few.

"We decided to open up membership to anyone who wanted to sing," said Lieberknect. "We only get together about six weeks before the Good Friday concert. It truly is interdenominational and music is the international language."

Written in 1985 by Rutter, the 40-minute "Requiem" was not styled as a setting of a Requiem Mass (otherwise known as the Mass for the Dead) as laid down in Catholic liturgy. It was taken from several different texts including the Requiem Mass and the 1662 Common Book of Prayers. The seven sections form an arch-like meditation on themes of life and death. The first and last movements consist of prayers on behalf of humanity. Movement two and six are psalms, and three and five, personal prayers to Christ. The central Sanctus affirms the divine glory of Christ.

When Lieberknect attended a music workshop with Rutter a few years ago, the composer revealed that he'd traveled to Paris to research Faure's "Requiem" before returning to Cambridge, England, to write his own. The choir has performed both requiems. This is the first time with a symphony orchestra. In past years, a chamber orchestra and harp provided accompaniment.

"I think a lot of people come because it fits in with the Easter theme and makes Holy Week and Easter special," said Lieberknect. "And what makes this requiem interesting is that it's sung in both Latin and English. During the Agnus Dei, while the men sing in Latin, the women sing in English."

Nearly five dozen singers responded to the flyers Lieberknect sent to area high schools and churches the first year she gathered singers to form the St. Genevieve Interdenominational Festival Choir. The fact that 60 to 70 singers return year after year to perform in the Good Friday concert attests to the choir's popularity and the commitment of its members. This is the fourth time, Bill Scruggs will sing Rutter's "Requiem" with the choir. Scruggs joined the St. Genevieve Choir 39 years ago.

"It's a very beautiful Requiem," said Scruggs of Livonia. "It's the beauty of the melody that's sort of haunting throughout the piece. It's a challenging piece of music, one of the more difficult ones because of the timing."

The setting for the "Requiem" is the 1300-seat St. Genevieve Church designed by architect Joseph St. Cyr. Livonia Symphony president Robert Bennett describes the church as "modest but elegant." The architecture gives a "warm feeling of being inside a giant parasol supported by massive wooden beams.

The wide aisles and a gently sloping floor coupled with the unique ceiling/roof design creates an atmosphere of beauty and strength."

According to Lieberknect, "because there's so much wood, the acoustics are just marvelous."

Writing history: The Livonia Symphony Orchestra scores a first by performing a Good Friday Concert with the St. Genevieve Interdenominational Festival Choir.

"We're excited about where we're playing, the venue, it's rather a unique structure," said Bennett. "That plus the fact we're playing Rutter's 'Requiem.' It's a piece of music that's not as depressing and maudlin as other requiems. It speaks of the spirituality of life. This could be a nice experience for people, much more emphasis on strings and woodwinds and very little brass. It's all in keeping with the time of year."

In addition to the "Requiem" the orchestra will perform the first movement of William Albright's "Concerto for Harpsichord and

DANCE

Spring collection: Dancers prepare to kick up a storm

Anne Bresler knew after the bright lights of Broadway cast their spell on her in third grade that theater and music were in her future.

She had gone to see the musical "Les Misérables." The dancing and singing proved so powerful that performing on the "big stage" has become the goal of this 15-year-old Churchill High School student.

In preparation for that day, Bresler rehearses several times a week for local performances. She along with the rest of the Dance Ensemble West company will present "Dance Collection - 1998" Saturday, April 4, at Plymouth Canton High School's Little Theater.

The non-profit dance company's senior (ages 14-18) and junior (ages 10-14) divisions will perform an eclectic program encompassing everything from ballet to modern dance. All of the dancers study at Dance Unlimited of Plymouth.

A senior company member, Bresler will dance the 11-minute modern ballet "A Simple Journey" set to the music of the Forrest Gump soundtrack, "Replaced By Everyday" to music by REM, and "The Roll Dance."

"I've always wanted to be a performer," said Bresler. "It's all I want to do. Dance Ensemble West has given me the opportunity to do that."

Bresler and Sarah Kwas, a fellow Dance Ensemble West member, have had a lot of late night rehearsals lately. Both are students in the Creative and Performing Arts program at Churchill High School and will dance in the all-school production of "42nd Street" April 2-4. They're also preparing with Dance Ensemble West to perform in the Michigan Youth Arts Festival May 7-9 in Kalamazoo. Dancers from all over Michigan recently adjudicated for the honor.

Bresler never seems to tire of the hectic schedule and neither does the 17-year-old Kwas, who plans to be an actress on Broadway. Kwas will dance four numbers with Dance Ensemble West's senior company and by herself in "Fusion." She describes the choreography of the solo number as "an upbeat jazzy style of dance with ballet steps to it."

"I'm all right as long as I eat right and get a lot of sleep," said Kwas, a dancer since age 4. "I always want to dance. Dance lets me express myself. I love to perform."

Nine-year-old Rebecca Birman is looking forward to dancing with Dance Ensemble West's junior company for the first time. Her favorite number on the "Dance Collection" program is "I

Lyric Chamber Ensemble offers a bonbon

"A bonbon filled with snow" was the way French composer Claude Debussy described the music of Edvard Grieg.

But inside Grieg's distinctively melodic-Nordic freshness is more than a mere trifle of cool delight.

There's a percolating passion that'd make Rachmaninoff and Tchaikovsky put down their pop-sicles.

This Sunday, four members of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra will perform the feverish-paced Grieg Quartet as part of the Lyric Chamber Ensemble's spring concert, "Three plus Four plus Five."

The DSO members will also join renowned pianist Louis Nagel in Brahms' Quintet in F minor, Op. 34.

Rounding out the program will be The Schuster Family Trio performing a movement from Mendelssohn Trio in D minor, Op. 49. The two brothers and a sister trio are the Lyric's featured "emerging artists."

The performance of the Grieg Quartet is also a preview of the piece to be performed during the DSO's European tour, which begins in May.

"There's an unbelievable appreciation for classical music throughout western Europe," said Geoffrey Applegate, second violinist with the DSO who'll perform the Grieg and Brahms pieces this Sunday as part of a quartet and quintet.

"The audiences turn out and the enthusiasm is almost like playing a rock concert," he said.

Instead of traveling abroad, local groupies can congregate at the acoustically pleasing Birmingham Unitarian Church, concert site for many nomadic classical music groups.

'The audiences turn out and the enthusiasm is almost like playing a rock concert.'

Geoffrey Applegate
Musician

Applegate calls the Grieg piece "tuneful and possibly the most exciting" music for string quartet ever written.

Not so small praise from a 12-year veteran of the DSO who has performed pieces by all the major classical composers.

Expanding chamber

Over the years, the Lyric Chamber Ensemble has continually shown innovative flair in expanding the notion of chamber music.

While many concerts have featured hard-core composers like Bach, Mozart, Beethoven and Brahms, others have featured pop composers like Gershwin.

"There's a lot of room for experimentation," said Valerie Yova, executive director of Lyric.

Nearly two-thirds through its current season, it seems audiences have approved.

Both February's concert, "Valentine Rag," featuring

Alexander Zonjic, and the annual Piano Festival held earlier this month, attracted large audiences.

Next year, according to Yova, the concert schedule will likely include more ethnic and folk music and jazz along with a tango dance concert.

The Lyric Chamber Ensemble also has a mission to showcase local musicians.

"We're not only trying to provide a forum (for chamber music), but we want to give our audiences a chance to meet local musicians," said Yova.

A distinguishing feature of Lyric Chamber Ensemble concerts is a greet-and-meet the musicians period after performances, she said.

"Chamber music is very intimate," said Yova.

"We want to give people a chance to know some of the local musician celebrities."

Bonbons are extra.

Melody makers: DSO musicians turned string quartet, include Marcy Chanteaux, left, James Van Valkenburg, Geoffrey Applegate (seated), Lenore Sjoberg.

Rhymes and reasons are plentiful at Elizabeth Stone Gallery

Nearly anyone who's picked up a book owes a bit of gratitude to Margaret Hillert of Beverly Hills.

As the author of 76 beginning-to-read books, the retired first grade teacher has an uncanny style that combines the music of words and the utility of language.

"You probably read one of my books when you were in school," she said matter-of-factly.

Fair enough. Hillert was probably the first influential author for many students.

Hawthorne, Melville, Twain, Fitzgerald and Hemingway came after Hillert.

Anyone with kids under 6 are probably reading along to Hillert's books each night.

A few years after she began teaching in the late 1940s, Hillert started "doodling" her own version of the "Three Bears" in a basic vocabulary.

Her doodling turned into a series of primers for young readers, who learned about language while reading about playful bears, pigs and cats.

Then, in the early 1960s, her first book written in the "Dick and Jane" genre was published.

Today, Hillert's total number of published books is just two less than her age.

Sixteen years after she retired from the classroom, she continues to teach.

Not so far away

Hillert is among the nine Michigan authors and illustrators featured at the Elizabeth Stone Gallery's current exhibit, "Books and Art of Michigan Children's Authors and Illustrators."

What: "A Gallery of Stars: Books and Art of Michigan Children's Book Authors and Illustrators" about cause and effect, empirical verification and the coherence theory of truth, there was simply a place called "the world."

A place of wonder, mystery and enchantment.

That was before adults learned how to rationalize, make excuses and call their bad habits merely a routine.

In Hillert and Hooper's words and Moore's illustrations the world of "once upon a time" comes to life for anyone — at any age — who can simply recite, "I acre."

From there, a long list of questions about life, the nature of the universe, and even the nature of these people who share the same planet might come to mind.

Some lessons shouldn't be forgotten.

Hare styles: These little gems are at Pier I Imports, from $3.

Funny bunnies hop into baskets at Easter time

Hippity hoppity, Easter's on its way, April 12! If you've been hunting for things to put in kids' baskets, here are some ideas:

At the top of the list are Ty Beanie Babies. These soft, bean-filled critters are as popular as ever with boys and girls of all ages — even adults collect them. They won't rot teeth and make great stand-alone gifts or Easter basket fillers.

Un-retired Beanie Babies cost $5 to $7 each, depending on where you shop and if you can find them at all (stores tend to sell out faster than shipments arrive).

I recently found them for $5.99 at the Country Peddler, Livonia Mall, for $5 at Jacobson's and at the F&M on Middlebelt in Livonia.

Beanie Babies are collectors items because Ty, the company that makes them, retires each one after a while. But the animals lose their value if their red and gold heart-shaped tags are missing or damaged, so never cut them off. You can buy clear plastic tag protectors for about 25-cents each at most stores that sell Beanie Babies.

Enesco makes a line of pastel-colored, bean-bag animals called Precious Moments Tender Tails. Some of the animals have already been retired. I found them for $7 each at McDevitt's Hallmark at Laurel Park Place in Livonia. Other Hallmarks carry them, too.

You can find bean-bag dolls of animated Disney characters at The Disney Store, for $6 each, some Warner Brothers characters at Jacobson's for $7 each, Rug Rats and Sesame Street characters at Crowley's for about $6 each, and a variety of bean-bag dolls at Target, $2.99 and up.

Just be careful about giving a bean-filled doll to any child under 3, because the beans could spill out and a child could choke on them, if the doll develops even a tiny tear.

If Beanie aren't your bag, then how about giving your child a famous bunny in the form of a book or stuffed animal. I know of seven (besides the Easter Bunny).

There's Bugs Bunny, Winnie-the-Pooh's friend Rabbit, Buster from the popular "Arthur" books and PBS TV show, and the bunnies in the famous children's books, "The Velveteen Rabbit," "The Runaway Bunny," "Pat the Bunny," and "Guess How Much I Love You?" Look for these books at your favorite book store.

Try the Warner Bros. Studio Store for Bugs Bunny stuffed animals and The Disney Store for Pooh's Rabbit. I found Buster, Velveteen Rabbit and "Pat the Bunny" stuffed animals in the children's department at Hudson's, and big "Runaway Bunny" stuffed animals for $15 at Target.

At B Dalton Books you can buy the mother and baby bunny from "Guess How Much I Love You" for $12.99 a pair, with the purchase of the hardcover version of that book, which sells for $15.99.

At Target you can also get: Bunny Babies dolls by children's photographer Anne Geddes (photos of infants in bunny costumes), $19.99 each; Hot Wheels or Match Box cars for under $1; Easter Egg Hunt Barbie & Kelly, $19; and a six-pack of egg-shaped sidewalk chalk by RoseArt for $2.99.

You can buy a girl's handbag at Sears ($5 and up) and fill it with your child's favorite candy. (Now you can get big Reese's or Butterfinger chocolate bunnies! Mmm.)

Most Hallmark stores sell Easter or springtime lapel pins, $2.95 to $4.95; Snowbabies collectible figurines by Dept. 56, $15 and up; and WWJD (What Would Jesus Do?) woven friendship bracelets for $1.50.

New shoe stores open around town

Because North Americans spend almost $18 billion dollars each year on footwear, it comes as no surprise that shoe stores are popping up all over, and remain one of mall owners' most lucrative tenants.

Three new shoe retailers are opening stores in Michigan — Columbus-based Magnifete, Chicago-based Chernin's Shoes and Nashville-based Jarman's Shoes.

For the 91-year-old Chernin's, their first store outside the Chicago market opens April 4 at the Novi Town Center, a second is planned for The Oakland Plaza in Troy in May.

Chernin's sells name brand shoes for every member of the family from manufacturers Kenneth Cole, Johnston & Murphy, Hush Puppies, Timberland, Rockport, Stride Rite, Nike, Adidas, Fila, Skechers, Vans, Nunn Bush and Florsheim.

Magnifete, opening at Fairlane Town Center in Dearborn, specializes in placing hard-to-fit customers with easy-to-find shoe sizes — 9 to 14 for women, and 11 to 18 for men, in a range of widths — narrow to wide.

Magnifete will carry more than 100 styles of both dress and casual footwear from 50 name brand manufacturers who usually sold these larger sizes by special order only.

Magnifete is a division of Shoe Corporation of America, based in Columbus, Ohio, which operates leased shoe departments in more than 500 department stores nationwide.

CEO Dennis Tishkoff is pioneering this new concept of shoe selling, crediting baby boomers for the niche.

"A significant — and growing — percentage of the adult marketplace requires larger shoe sizes and widths," he said. "These men and women have either sacrificed comfort for style or style for comfort. They've paid inflated prices for custom service or ordered from catalogs only to find the shoe they bought did not look or fit as they expected."

Eureka! Hard-to-fit shoe shoppers will find their "odd sizes" the specialty at Magnifete in the Fairlane Town Center.

"Magnifete will have these large shoe sizes in stock with trained fitters on hand to insure they fit comfortably and affordably." Jarman Shoes, recently opened at Northland Center in Southfield, Summit Place Mall in Waterford, Fairlane Town Center and Eastland, sells casual, dress and athletic shoes for men, but draws a fair share of fashion-forward women, who buy Jarman shoes for the unisex look. Jarman is a division of the Jenesco Corp.

Resale clothier finds the world is her oyster

BY AMY MESSANO
SPECIAL WRITER

If you dream of owning an Armani suit or drool when you see Joan and David shoes (but know you can't afford them), think again.

Nicole's Revival in Westland could be your best bet for a hassle-free, easy-on-the-checkbook shopping spree. You could walk away with your very first pair of Ferragamo shoes, but you must be willing to pick through racks of "gently used" upscale clothing and accessories.

Store owner, Nicole Christ, 27, who credits God for her energy and success, has carved out a niche for her shop through years of hard work and aggressive, innovating marketing ideas.

That perseverance is paying off in the form of national exposure. Besides being mentioned on the Crook and Chase cable TV show, Moneysworth, magazine named Nicole's Revival "one of the best high-end consignment stores in the U.S."

Her favorite, a $500 pair of Chanel shoes she got for $80. "I've come a long way since I started coming here," Schneider said. "Nicole will help me find whatever I need. She even sent me to a good hairdresser."

Schneider, decked out in bargains from the store, Chanel sunglasses, Bernini earrings, a leather Kenneth Cole purse and a Donna Karan top (she got it for $88) has even converted her daughter and husband to resale shoppers.

"Nicole knows her regular customers and she'll call me when something arrives in my size that she knows I'll like," Schneider said. She admits to leaving the store with garbage bags full of goodies.

The best bargain Renee Williams of Inkster can recall is a $4,000 Stephen Yeager gown she bought for $150.

"Nicole makes the difference," Williams said. "Not only does she have a great variety of sizes and styles, but she genuinely wants to help her customers."

Christ goes the extra mile for her customers from fashion shows that feature models of different ages, shapes and sizes, to a newsletter, a website (www.nicolerevival.com) and "resale party nights" available to groups of 10 or more complete with refreshments and discounts.

For customers who spend $500 in one trip to Nicole's, the next visit will be in a chauffeured limousine that will pick up and drop off customers from any location.

"I have customers from Ohio and Canada and if that's where the limo needs to go, then that's where it will go," said Christ.

The most popular resale activity that Christ coordinates for her customers are resale bus tours.

For $35, bargain hunters enjoy a continental breakfast with an informal fashion show, a box lunch of your choice, coupons and appetizers while browsing.

Christ said the tours are "fun-filled days and a great way to meet people and find some great bargains."

Nicole recently expanded her tours to include resale shops in Chicago. She's even planning a European resale tour that will hit Paris and London.

Christ got the idea while e-mailing other resale store owners in Europe. She just returned from a scouting mission to check out possible shopping sites.

"I'm so excited about the idea," Christ beamed. The European tour is still in the planning stages, but she hopes to take 20 to 30 people and to keep the cost to less than $1,000.

"I love this kind of shopping," said Gloria Schneider. "This is my sport."

And if you're a serious bargain hunter, this may be the shopping safari you've been waiting for.

Nicole's Revival, 958 N. Newburgh Road, Westland. (734) 729-1234.

What a deal: Nicole Christ believes in resale and has built a successful retail career networking with sources and customers across metro Detroit and overseas.

Beauty at the Oscars is in the eye of the beholder

Am I getting old? Are you? Do you look at the latest crop of "actresses" and ask yourself "Who is that?"

I certainly did while watching the 70th anniversary of the Academy Awards on Monday evening (and Tuesday morning!)

Are you shocked that on the same stage with 70 years of Oscar winners, including Anne Bancroft, Luise Rainer, Teresa Wright, and Shelly Winters, they ask Neve Campbell to be a presenter. Okay, she looked presentable.

But for Ashley Judd (the less said about that dress the better), and Drew Barrymore (daisies in the hair; sleeveless dress-let's hit the gym, Drew) to present, and Cloris Leachman, Shirley Temple and Kathy Bates to be presented as "oldies but goodies" — something is terribly wrong.

Now that I got that off my chest, let's talk about the most important event of the evening ... how they looked!

Cher: We know how patriotic she is, but did she really have to come as the Statue of Liberty (such an attractive look on a 51-year-old!)

Eva Marie Saint: Now this is how a star should look. The hair, makeup, the elegance. Understatement is everything! (Did you hear that Madonna and Ms. Winslet?)

Linda Hamilton: Amazing that the wife of James "Titanic" Cameron arrived at the Oscars with clippies in her hair! What was she thinking?

Minnie Driver: Superb! Everything worked. She is 5'11", the hair, the dress... everything was in proportion!

For the opposite, did you see Elisabeth Shue? Big girl, broad shoulders, should never wear the hair slicked back (makes the rest of her look disproportionately larger).

Faye Dunaway: Magnificent. The makeup was classic, the hair just right. Here is a true "star."

Sigourney Weaver: Tell her that Prada designs for refugees, not the classy actress that she is.

Helene Bonham Carter, Judi Dench, Gloria Stuart, Julianne Moore: All were wonderful examples of how women of various ages should look.

Angelica Huston: A classic beauty. But it is time for a change of look (perhaps shorter, lighter hair that flatters her magnificent bone structure?)

And the winners are:

Best Makeup: A tie. Anastasia's singer Alecia. Everything worked... the makeup was flawless, the hair divine. Marlee Matlin — What a beautiful young woman! The hair was ideal on a perfectly featured face... A great improvement. Obviously marriage has worked wonders for Marlee, since she no longer "hides" behind the glasses and hair.

All Around Perfection: The unique Sharon

Stone. When I worked for Ann-Margret, she took great pride in telling her friends she "worked with the best in the biz. Hair, makeup, stylists." Obviously that belief has been passed on to Ms. S. Have you ever not seen her looking 100-percent? And a smart cookie as well. Superb! This is the future of Hollywood glamour (for proof of that, shall we not discuss Frances MacDormand?)

Most Improved Hair: Michael Bolton. Nuff said.

Most Beautiful Woman in the World: Who amongst us has not been in love with Julie Christie at some time in our lives? Pardon me while I gush. If I had to pick one woman in cinema who represents exactly what I believe a woman should look like, it's Ms. Christie. That face! That profile! Yikes!

I know that many of you disagree with the above, but all it represents is my opinion and you are certainly entitled to yours. While I'm at it, one more parting shot...

Am I alone in believing that Judi Dench and Robert Duvall were robbed? Did you see "Mrs. Brown" or "The Apostle"? Don't miss them.

I would like to hear from you personally. I promise to answer. You may reach me at 1-800-944-6588 to find out if I am going to be appearing in your neck of the woods in April or May. My new web site is: jeffrey-brucecosmetics.com, and if you care to "e" mail me, please do so at jubb@worldnet.att.net.

Beauty pageant contestants preview Parisian fashions

Parisian department store at Laurel Park Place, Livonia, presented spring fashions modeled by former Miss Teen/Miss Michigan contestants, at a fashion luncheon last week for current pageant teens.

Hosted by the UFO Modeling Agency, the afternoon included tips on beauty and poise. The agency invites teens interested in the pageant to call (248) 332-0800. The event takes place at the DoubleTree Guest Suites in Troy, May 24.

Kathleen McConnell. Parisian's Midwest regional special events director Jane Bassett coordinated the show which included interview suits, swimwear, gowns and shoes. Following the program contestants and their mothers enjoyed dessert in the Parisian Room and went shopping.

Crate & Barrel opens new store

Crate & Barrel opens its first furniture store in the Detroit area, Thursday, April 2, downstairs from and adjoining its expanded housewares store on the second level of Somerset Collection South in Troy.

The expanded housewares and new Crate & Barrel furniture stores will reflect the company's select point of view in home furnishings. Created by international and American designers and craftspeople, Crate & Barrel merchandise emphasizes value, color, distinctive lines and new shapes.

This store will showcase an eclectic mix of furniture that fits into many local lifestyles. Shoppers will find sofas and chairs, wooden pieces from dressers to cocktail tables, dining room sets, beds and bedroom furniture, and accessories from antique chests to contemporary lighting.

AVOIDABLE ULCERS AND THE LAW

This coming year it is estimated that over two (2) million people will suffer pressure ulcers or bed sores (typically of the heels) in American hospitals and nursing homes. The vast majority of pressure ulcers are preventable if doctors and nursing staff properly identify those patients at risk for development of the ulcers and then take proper precautions to avoid them.

A patient's sensory perception, activity level, mobility and nutrition status are some of the important factors that should be assessed on a "Braden Scale" for predicting pressure sore risk. Patients who sustain pressure ulcers can be helped to achieve fully healed, intact skin with proper diagnosis and prompt optimal wound care.

The law requires hospitals and nursing homes to take reasonable care to try and avoid the development of pressure ulcers in their patients. The law further requires that pressure ulcers be properly treated when they occur. A failure to do so is negligence for which an injury claim can be filed.

If you have a relative or close friend who has developed a pressure ulcer, you may wish to consult with the LAW OFFICES OF STUART M. FELDHEIM at 30300 Northwestern Hwy., Suite 108, Farmington Hills, MI 48334. For a free consultation call toll free 1-888-505-4900 or 248-932-3505. There is no fee if we don't win your case.

HINT: The nursing staff follows a doctor's orders but nurses are supposed to make the doctor aware of any unusual change in a patient's condition.

TRAVEL

Zoo offers opportunities to explore Peru's rainforest

BY HUGH GALLAGHER
STAFF WRITER

The Detroit Zoo is offering some unusual travel opportunities this year that will allow a traveler to visit an exotic location, experience high adventure and do a good deed.

As a result of an on-going primate census project in Peru, the zoo is seeking volunteers to help with an Adopt-a-School program to furnish supplies for schools along the Amazon River and its tributaries. The zoo also needs volunteers for its ongoing research and census programs.

Terry DeRosa, director of conservation and animal welfare at the zoo, said the primate census project began in 1993, first along the Rio Tapiche and then, also, along the Rio Napo. It is a joint project involving the Detroit and Dallas zoological parks, the Peruvian National University of the Amazon, Explorama Lodges, International Expeditions, and Senor and Senora Roberto Botondo.

"When the river is high, you can paddle along and take a census from the trees, but when the water is low, it's hard to navigate the river," DeRosa said. "We wanted a second site along the Napo River which has the additional merit of having an Explorama lodge there, used by tourists who visit the rainforest. We use it as a research site and spend six months on the Rio Tapiche and six months on the Rio Napo."

The Adopt-a-School program was started in 1994 by teachers who were staying at the Explorama lodges and is co-sponsored by CONAPAC and the ACEER Foundation, two non-profit institutions working for the conservation of the Peruvian Amazon Rainforest.

"People who have visited the lodge, many of them teachers, saw the schools didn't have information about conservation, it wasn't part of their curriculum and they didn't have school supplies," DeRosa said. "In Peru, they teach by a rote method. If they don't have paper, it makes it difficult for them to learn."

Each April, when the Peruvian school year begins, Adopt-a-School delivers supplies to the 256 schools in the region. A school classroom can be adopted for $300, which buys enough supplies for a year. In 1997, the program raised $14,000 for 2,200 school children.

The Detroit Zoo is seeking 15 volunteers to deliver supplies. Five volunteers will be needed

ITALY TOURS

■ Anria Del Pizzo is organizing a tour of Italy for Sept. 17 to Oct. 1. The tour will include three nights in Venice, five nights in Florence and four nights in Rome. Highlights include a visit to St. Marks Basilica and the Ducal Palace in Venice; sites in Florence featuring mini-lectures as your tour museums, churches, cafes and other sights; and in Rome, the Catacombs, the Coliseum and the Vatican. Special highlights include a dinner at Anria's cousin Alberta's in Florence and a visit to her Uncle Toscano's olive orchard to watch how extra virgin olive oil is pressed.

Cost of the tour is $2,600 and includes air fare, rail-pass, accommodations, breakfast and a personal tour.

For reservations, call Anria Del Pizzo at (248)474-4519.

■ David Groen is organizing a tour of Italy including Turin, est," DeRosa said.

In August, the zoo will send down an expedition to study bird, reptile and amphibian populations in addition to primates. For that expedition, the zoo needs 12 volunteers for two weeks. The cost for a volunteer is $2,300 plus airfare to Iquitos. In addition the zoo needs volunteers for its on-going primate census, two volunteers a month through the year. Volunteers pay $1,000 plus airfare.

The zoo, in cooperation with the Dallas Zoo, is currently surveying a 250,000-acre, sparsely populated area north of the Rio Tapiche and Rio Napo areas for possible recommendation to the Peruvian government that it be set aside as a nature preserve.

All of these programs are part of the zoo's ongoing outreach, which includes community programs, cooperative programs with other zoos and captive breeding programs for endangered species. The zoo has also expanded its work with local universities to provide hands-on experience in zoo work for juniors and seniors interested in zoo careers.

DeRosa said the zoo wants "to be part of the process."

Participation in these programs does not require special skills. The zoo will train volunteers. To find out more about these programs or to sign up, contact Terry DeRosa at PO Box 39, Royal Oak, MI 48068-0039 or by phone at (248)898-0903, ext. 3231, by fax at (248)691-4194 or by e-mail at tderosa@detroitzoo.org

Crusaders sign 2 more

Madonna University women's volleyball coach Jerry Abraham received two more volleyball commitments to play for the Lady Crusaders in the fall.

Abraham now has four in the fold, including Jennifer Wind, a 6-foot middle hitter and outside hitter from Birmingham Groves, and Fort Wayne, Ind. native Nicole Burns, a 6-0 middle hitter who is transferring from Coastal Carolina.

They will join Livonia Ladywood's 5-10 outside hitter MaryLu Hemme and 6-1 middle hitter Donna Birkenhier of Dearborn Edsel Ford.

Mite Flyers win title

The Livonia Mite Flyers defeated the Livonia Mighty Ducks, 4-3, to win the championship game of the Shamrock Tournament held recently at Glacier Pointe Ice Complex in Port Huron.

After a five-minute overtime, the game was decided by a three-man shootout.

The Flyers, coached by Mark Tuttle, reached the final with a 4-1 win over the Port Huron Bulldogs. They also defeated the Kentwood of Grand Rapids, 3-0, and tied the Livonia Leafs, 4-4. Their only loss occurred against the Muskegon Chiefs, 5-3.

Assistant coaches include Don Miller and Dave Garbutt. The team is sponsored by Alpha Title Agency, Inc. and Equivalent Base Company.

Senators rule in Chicago

Winning four of five games, including a 5-2 championship win over the Darien, Ill. Huskies, the Livonia Hockey Association Pee Wee B Senators captured the Chicago Sports Weekend Extravaganza Tournament (March 20-23).

Defenseman Ryan Drose was named tournament MVP.

Assistant coaches are Sam Martincic and Mike Drose. The team managers are Kathy Cooper and Colleen Lasecki.

Squirt Devils victorious

The Livonia Squirt Devils wrapped up a successful season recently by winning the Grand Rapids Spring Showdown Invitational with a 4-2 win over the Farmington Hills Heat.

Nick Karebian led the Devils with nine goals in four games, including a pair of hat tricks. Teammate Nick Leadford added eight assists and two players, Kyle Kolasinski was named defensive forward for the year.

The Devils opened tourney play with a 5-1 win over the Grand Rapids Centennial Stars followed by a 4-2 triumph over Grand Rapids Pfeiffer Lincoln Mercury.

Goalie Sam Burrows notched the shutout in an 8-0 semifinal win over the Heat, a team the Devils defeated in the finals of the Farmington Christmas Tournament.

Rounding out the Devils, coached by Steve Kolasinski, include: Jamie Donahue, Colin Fitzgerald, Brad Fischer, Cody Brehm, Jeff Wilson, Alex Burrows, Frank Gribek, Andrew Cesario, Alan Perreault, Garrett Cheshire, Chris Roskelly and Alan Fritsch.

Assistant coaches include John Karebian, Steve Cesario, Gary Leadford and Terry Jobbitt.

Team sponsors include Mr. Bob's Chicken of Redford, RSI Wholesale and Rhe-Tech, Inc.

BOYS TRACK PREVIEW

This season's boys track-and-field season begins with many questions.

Can Westland John Glenn repeat its incredible success of last season despite losing most of its core athletes?

Will Livonia Franklin be able to recover after losing Paul Terek, the state's best all-time in the pole vault?

Was Livonia Churchill's first league meet in four years last season sign of better things to come?

Can Livonia Stevenson rebound from its first losing season in some time?

Can an undermanned Wayne Memorial squad compete in its tough Mega Red division?

And can Lutheran Westland win its sixth straight Metro Conference title?

These questions and many more will be answered in what may become a surprising and unpredictable track season.

Westland John Glenn

Last season was one for the record books as Glenn won the Western Lakes Activities Association title and its first regional championship ever.

The Rockets were loaded, led by All-Observerland performer David Jarrett, who set the school record in the long jump, 23-6 1/2, before finishing second in the state championship.

Glenn also lost some of the area's top athletes, including sprinter Steve Hester, distance runner Joe Wojtowicz and thrower Mike Samples (state qualifier).

"A lot of our nucleus is gone," said coach Jess Shough, whose team has only four seniors. "I don't like to use the word 'rebuild,' but we have a lot of holes to fill."

One area Shough doesn't have to worry about is the 100-meter dash where senior Harden James returns. James set a school record in the event with a 10.7, and also won the WLAA and regional title.

Junior Reggie Spearmon is the only other returning sprinter for Glenn. Juniors Robert Farn, Javon Perkins, Devin White, Stephen Lawson and Kaven Hugley will provide the depth.

Despite the loss of Jarrett, the long jump will be in good shape as seniors Andre Dawson and Tim Moore and White all return.

The high jump will also be a strength behind Moore, last year's league champion, White and senior William Bozer.

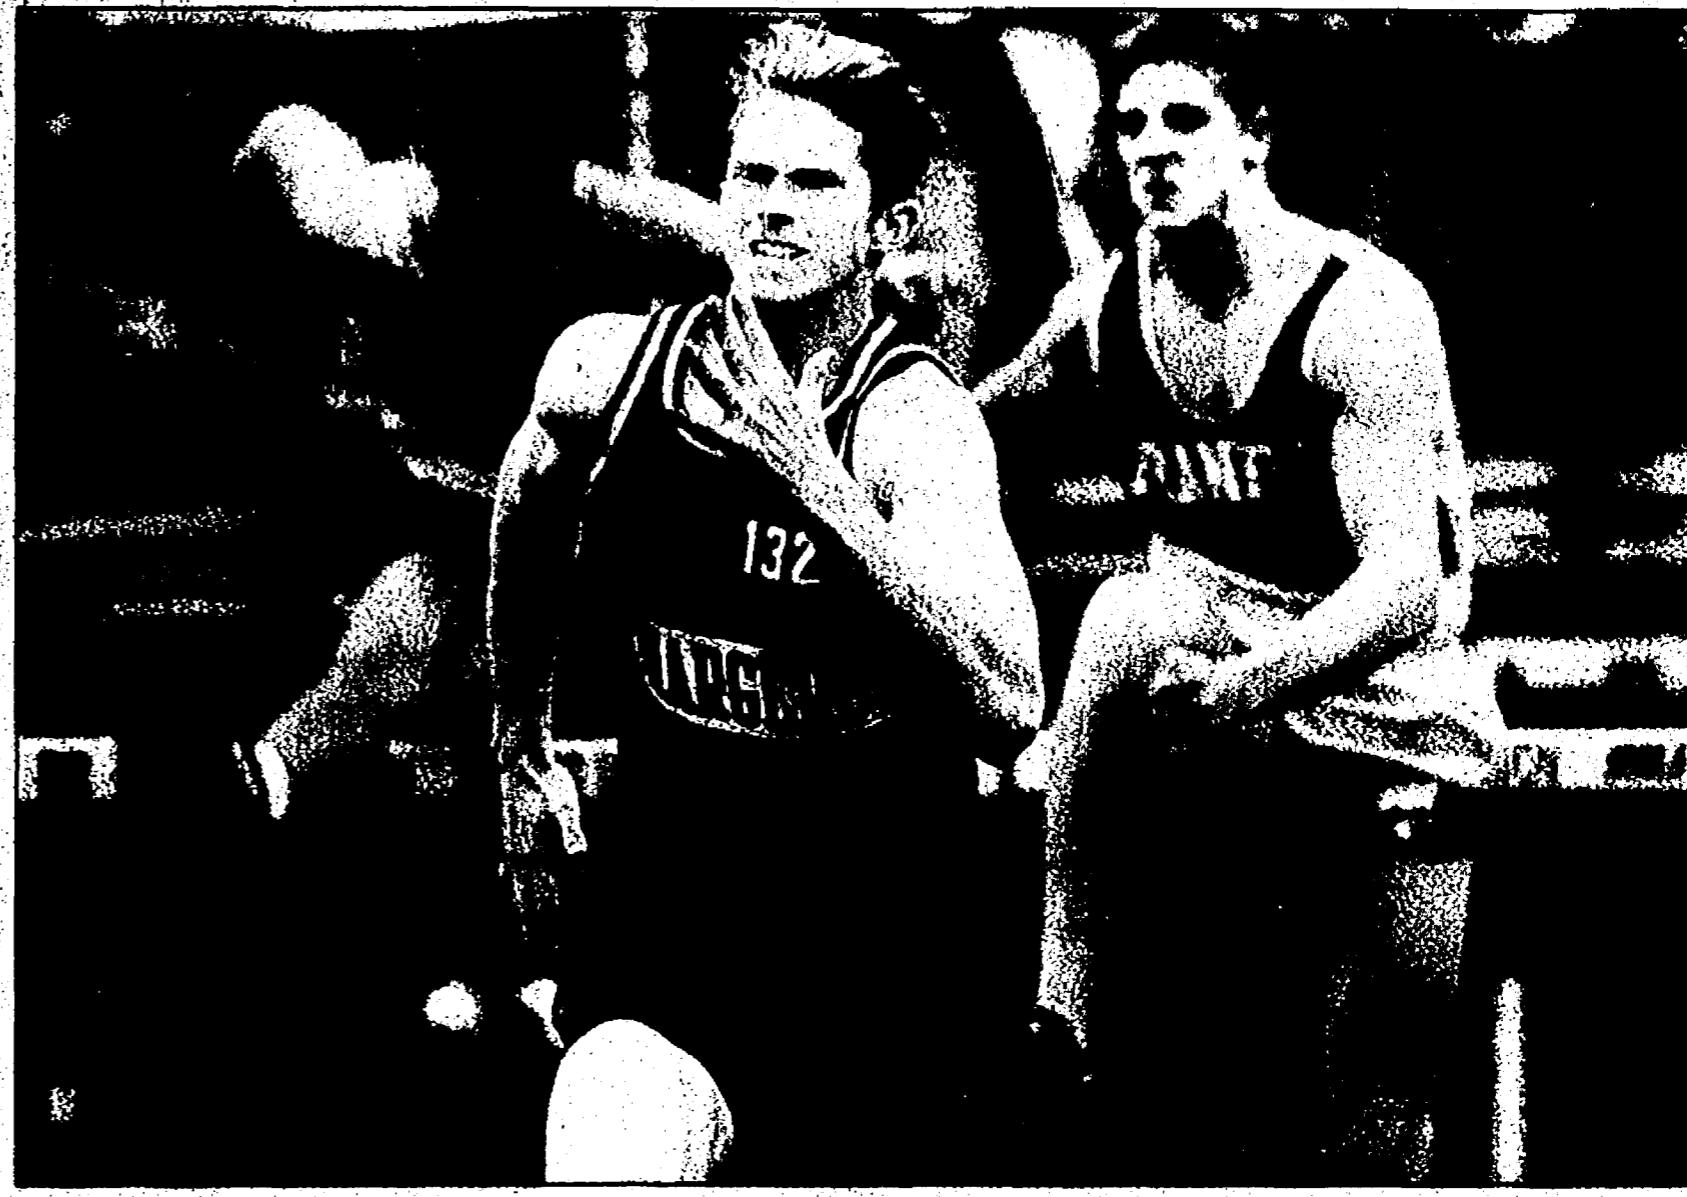

"We have experience in the jumping events as two of our three jumpers that scored in last year's league meet return," Shough said.

Junior Dan Pullam is the only returning pole vaulter as several freshmen will battle for time.

Sophomore Yaku Moton, who set the freshman record in shot put last season, should be improved, while junior Kurt Boardman returns in the discus. Freshman Nick Samples, sophomore Jim Doherty and juniors Ricky Wells and Derrick Jarrell will also throw.

In the 400, runners will include James, Jason Crofton and juniors Dujaun Kelley and Brian Jones (a transfer from Detroit Mumford). Junior Kevin Derwich will run the 400 and 800.

Also competing in the 800 will be juniors Josh Keyes and Kevin Durigan and sophomores Jeff Ruppel and Tom Tourikis. Juniors Charger standout: Livonia Churchill's Ryan Kearney, a junior, is one Observerland's premier athletes. He is proficient in a number of events including the 300-meter hurdles where he set a school record in 39.45.

Justin Keyes, P.J. Wolocko and Eric Sleep will run the distance events.

Shough has confidence in the hurdle events with Moore, Bozer, Josh Keyes and sophomore Jordan Brown.

"To repeat what we did last year requires a lot of depth," Shough said. "We have a lot of young athletes so it will be difficult for us."

We're building a nucleus for next year, but will then lose a quality runner in Harden. If not next year, we should be there the year after."

Livonia Churchill

The Chargers won their first meet last season in four years with a victory over Plymouth Canton.

Such a feat may not sound like a lot, but the victory is a sign of a program on the upswing, according to third-year coach Rick Austin.

"We're a more athletic team than we have been in the past," Austin said. "Our goal this season is to win the city meet, which is a realistic goal for us (Tuesday at Stevenson)."

Churchill lost All-Observerland performer Nathan Jerome to graduation. Jerome was a three-year MVP and placed ninth in the state in the 1,600 run (second in the WLAA).

But the good news for the Chargers is that junior Ryan Kearney is back. Kearney won the regional title in the 110 and 300 hurdles last season, is the two-time defending league champ in the 300 hurdles, finished fifth in the state in the 300 hurdles and holds the school record of 39.45.

"He's the elite athlete in our program."

Austin said. "He's gotten stronger and can now bench press over 240 pounds, which will help him in the high hurdles."

Kearney will also run 200 dash (22.6), 400 run (52.2) and perform in the high jump (6-2).

Joining Kearney in the hurdles will be sophomores Brant Hauck, Corey Lake and Jordan Mattison.

With Terrek graduated, senior Matt Weber looks to claim the league's top pole vault position. Weber jumped 12-0 last season, but Austin believes he can clear 13-0 this season. Junior Brandon LePointe will also compete in the event.

Junior Guy Diakow (133-4 in the discus), sophomore Joe Gaura and senior John McFadyen will handle discus and shot put. All three throw more than 42-0 in the discus, while seven Chargers can toss the shot put over 100-0.

"I believe the throwers can set the tone in a meet," Austin said. "I hope the intensity of our throwers will rub off on the rest of the team."

The high jumping will be handled by Hauck, Kearney and sophomore Justin Urbanowicz. The long jump will feature sophomore Jason Evans.

Austin is also happy with the depth he has in the distance events. The distance crew consists of: Senior Matt Minor, sophomore Jason Richmond, Juniors Aaron Veik, Joe Robinson, Josh Montheil and John McCallum — a transfer from Arizona who reminds Austin of Jerome.

The biggest question on the team is the effectiveness of Churchill's sprinters.

"The problem we have run into this year is the same as last year — we don't have a lot of speed," Austin said. "We have changed our training philosophy which helps us be more competitive in the 400 run and up. But because we don't have anyone that can touch an 11.0 (in the 100 dash), we're looking to train harder and longer."

In addition to Kearney, Austin expects a group of young sprinters to carry the load including: Junior Peter Lin, Sophomore Eiji Takizawa and Shane Ramin, and freshmen Tim Stiles, Chris Anderson and Nathan Pickelhaup.

"This team wants to win a division title, and I don't think we're that far away," Austin said.

Livonia Franklin

Life without Paul Terek will be something the Patriots — and coach Dale Lee — will have to get accustomed to.

This will be Lee's first year in his four years at Franklin without Terek.

"He's left a huge gap," Lee said. "To lose an athlete of his caliber who can score points in virtually every event is tough. We had a good idea what he developed into when he was a freshman, but he exceeded all expectations to become the best pole vaulter ever in the state. And his versatility was very valuable."

Terek, now at Michigan State, set the state record last June at the Class A finals by clearing 16 feet, 6 inches. He already owns the MSU indoor record as a freshman at 17. Despite the loss of Terek, the Patriots will still

All-Area team talented bunch

Being a Trenton High graduate and former goaltender, Jeff Hatley knows what it takes to win a state championship.

And the sixth-year coach at Livonia Churchill nearly realized that dream this year, taking his alma mater to the limit in an exciting regional final before losing 5-3 (after the game was tied 3-3 with just under seven minutes to go).

Churchill has been to the regional final two of the past three years, losing to eventual state champion Trenton both times.

This season, Hatley guided the Chargers to a 19-6-3 record, including a second-place finish in the Suburban High School Hockey League and a district title.

For his efforts this year, Hatley has been named Observer-land Coach of the Year.

"Our success this season was the result of the players, their parents, and the coaching staff's commitment to the team," Hatley said. "We were once bounce away from being on the home stretch to state championship."

"We're going to have a substantial player turnover next season. But when you have a good program, talented players graduate and get replaced by other talented players."

For Redford Catholic Central it was another banner year.

The Shamrocks, the 1997 state Class A champions, finished 18-4-3 and won the Michigan Metro High School Hockey League's tough West Division ahead of state-champion Trenton. CC was knocked out by state runner-up Grosse Pointe South in the regional final.

And not to be ignored was the effort of Livonia Stevenson (17-2), which captured the SHSHL title for the second straight year.

The Spartans and Churchill lead the All-Observer first-team with two selections each.

CC landed one player on the first team and three players on the second team.

SECOND TEAM
Mike O'Keefe, Sr. goalie, Redford Union	O'Keefe's won-loss percentage suffered because the Panthers endured a rebuilding year and finished with a 5-17 overall record.
Rick Marnon, Sr. defenseman, Liv. Churchill	Marnon had a 3.6 goals against average, a save percentage .935 and two shutouts among his four victories. The Panthers finished last in the South Division of the SPHL so to make first team in a vote of league coaches says a lot for his ability, RU coach Kirk Hunter said.
Greg Job, Sr. center, Liv. Stevenson	O'Keefe has been Hunter's No. 1 goale since the hockey program started at RU in the 1996-97 season.
Darin Fawkes, Sr. right winger, Liv. Stevenson	"I wouldn't trade him for anybody, for the overall kid he is and his work ethic," Hunter said. "He's quick, hates to get beat - even at practice. It's like a showdown, every shot in practice. I planned on putting him up for all league and some of the coaches made sure I did and that made it that much easier to promote him."
Jeff Lang, Sr. left winger, Liv. Stevenson	Tony Keshishian, Sr. defenseman, Redford CC: St. John lights up when Keshishian's name is mentioned because he remembers from where he came a year ago. The Shamrocks were stacked on defense in 1997 when they won the Class A title and Keshishian often times was on the taxi squad, not worthy of a spot in the lineup.
Jeff Lang, Sr. left winger, Liv. Stevenson	This year he not only joined the line-up, he excelled on the blue line. Along with his defensive capabilities, Keshishian added five goals and 10 assists.
Mike O'Keefe, Sr. center, Redford CC	"What a great story," St. John said. "He was our seventh defenseman, played on the taxi squad sometimes last year. He had so much dedication, busted his butt all off-season. He ran all summer long, comes back, leads the defense... and has this success."
Mike O'Keefe, Sr. center, Redford CC	Greg Berger, Sr. winger, Redford CC: Berger was an effective two-way forward for the Shamrocks and finished with 11 goals and 12 assists. He had a hot trick in their come-from-behind victory over Royal Oak in the Class A district quarterfinals.
Mike O'Keefe, Sr. center, Redford CC	His 64 shots on goal were second on the team to teammate Keith Rowe.
Mike O'Keefe, Sr. center, Redford CC	"He's a dedicated, hard-working hockey player," St. John said. "He's always encouraging everyone else, pushing himself."
Mike O'Keefe, Sr. center, Redford CC	Jason Tardif, Sr. center, Redford CC: Tardif led the Shamrocks in scoring with 30 points, including 10 goals and a team-high 20 assists. A speedy centerman, he also won 66 percent of his face-offs.
Mike O'Keefe, Sr. center, Redford CC	"He's fast with a quick shot," St. John said. "One of our leaders."
Mike O'Keefe, Sr. center, Redford CC	Tony Keshishian, Sr. center, Liv. Churchill: The senior was first among Chargers in league scoring (ninth overall) with seven goals and 15 assists for 22 points (in 14 games).
Mike O'Keefe, Sr. center, Redford CC	The All-Suburban pick was 20th in the All-State (Class A) voting among forwards.
Mike O'Keefe, Sr. center, Redford CC	"Matt was a dominate player for the Chargers, somebody who knows how to use his size and protect the puck from opposing players," Hatley said.

FIRST TEAM

Rick Marnon, Sr. goalie, Redford CC: A Class A all-state selection for the second straight year, Marnon posted a 1.86 goals against average with a save percentage of .89. He was brilliant in the Shamrocks' 2-1 Class A regional loss to eventual state runner-up Grosse Pointe South.

"I told him we'd go with our best goaltender and early in the season there was a question of whether he was our best," CC coach Gordie St. John said. "We sat him three games and he came back and just stoned people. By the end of the season he was the best goaltender in the state - hands down. He really got it together."

Brandon Martola, Sr. defenseman, Liv. Churchill: Finished second in the Mr. Hockey voting by the Michigan High School Hockey Coaches Association.

The Dream Team and All-Suburban pick was the leader of the Churchill penalty killing unit which scored six short-handed goals and gave up only six power-play goals coming back from Christman vacation.

"Often times the group he led out-changed the opponents when we were short-handed," Churchill coach Jeff Hatley said.

The four-year standout is being recruited by Air Force, Northland College and Eastern Michigan.

"Brandon replaced assistant coach Jamie Alien as the 'best player ever to play for Churchill,'" Hatley said.

Warriors trounce Aquinas

While Southgate Aquinas' boys basketball team may be experiencing success at the Class D state tournament, the girls softball team had nothing to celebrate Friday.

Lutheran Westland trounced host Aquinas 11-1 in the season opener for both squads.

Sharon Greer reached base all five times, including two walks and two RBI to lead the Warriors. Kierra Decker also had two hits and two RBI.

Greer, Decker and Katie Heiden all had doubles in a seven-run first inning that knocked Aquinas starter Kim Doute out of the game.

Heiden picked up the win as she went all six innings, scattering seven hits. She struck out two and walked four.

"I was pleasantly surprised today," Westland coach Ron Gentz said. "Aquinas is a good team, but we played very well. And I'm always happy when we make no errors."

A designated hitter is supposed to carry a big stick.

Madonna University's J.R. Taylor did just that last Tuesday in a 17-9 road win over Saginaw Valley State University.

Taylor smashed a pair of home runs and knocked in four to lead the Crusaders to their sixth win of the year.

Taylor wasn't the only one who had his hitting shoes on. Third baseman Daryl Roche also knocked in four runs while collecting four hits — including a home run of his own.

The Crusaders trailed 6-3 heading into the top of the fifth, but rallied for seven runs to take command. Madonna (8-8) added a five-run seventh for insurance.

James O'Connor was the beneficiary of the hitting explosion. He was the third of five Madonna pitchers on the day and lasted three innings to get the victory.

"He's fast with a quick shot," St. John said. "One of our leaders."

Matt Grant, Sr. center, Liv. Churchill: The senior was first among Chargers in league scoring (ninth overall) with seven goals and 15 assists for 22 points (in 14 games).

The All-Suburban pick was 20th in the All-State (Class A) voting among forwards.

"Matt was a dominate player for the Chargers, somebody who knows how to use his size and protect the puck from opposing players," Hatley said.

The Crusaders (8-5-1) were held to two hits by Spring Arbor's Amy Frederick. Stephanie Dye and Kristy McDonald were the only Madonna batters with hits against Frederick.

Janel Leshinger went the distance for Madonna on the mound. She allowed nine hits and two earned runs. The Crusaders committed four errors in the game.

SPORTS ROUNDUPLADY CHARGERS PREVAIL, 2-0

Karsten Conklin and Stacey Supanich each scored goals Friday, leading Livonia Churchill to a season-opening 2-0 girls soccer win over visiting Rochester.

Natalie Pickelhaupt picked up an assist and goalie Kerrie LaPorte made six saves for the Chargers, who led 1-0 at halftime.

CRUSADERS SIGN BARKER

This fall, Madonna University will open its first-ever season in women's soccer. Among the first two Lady Crusaders to commit to Madonna are Jenny Barker, from Livonia Stevenson, and Jennifer Dumm, from Fraser.

Barker was the starting keeper on Stevenson's 1997 state championship team, earning all-Western Lakes Activities Association and all-state honors for 1998 and '97. She is now in her fourth year on the Stevenson varsity. In addition, her Michigan Hawks '80 team has won four state titles and one regional title in her eight years as a member.

Dumm, from Fraser, was all-conference, all-county, all-region and honorable mention all-state last year.

She participated in the Olympic Development Program in 1995-96 and has been a four-year starter on the Fraser varsity.

Dumm has also been on the all-academic team since her sophomore year.

LADBROKE SEASON UNDERWAY

The final thoroughbred racing season at Ladbrooke DRC began March 28.

The Livonia racetrack was sold by Ladbrooke to developers last month and will cease operations on Dec. 31, 1998.

Ladbrooke DRC is the only racetrack in the area to offer live thoroughbred racing. Opening day on Saturday marked the beginning of the 160-day live season.

Racing will be conducted on Tuesdays, Thursdays, Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays through Nov. 8. The first post time on weekday afternoons is 3 p.m. Saturday and holiday cards start at 2 p.m., while Sunday evening cards kick off at 6 p.m.

Ladbrooke DRC is always open for full-card simulcasting from noon until midnight seven days a week.

Admission is $2 and parking is free. Ladbrooke DRC is located at I-96 and Middlebelt Road in Livonia.

BIG DAY FOR BECCOS

The University of Michigan's Bryan and Derek Becco (Westland John Glenn) combined for six hits and seven RBI in a 14-6 baseball win Wednesday over Ball State.

The win improved Michigan's overall record to 6-9-1.

Bryan, a senior first baseman with junior eligibility, went 3-for-5 with two runs and five RBI. He had a two-run single and ended a 12-run fifth inning with a 3-run homer (bouncing high on the roof and over the UM Intramural Building).

He is batting .299 (20 for 67) a team-high 17 RBI and three homers.

Derek, a senior right fielder, went 3-for-4 with two RBI. He had an RBI double before Bryan's homer in the fifth.

Derek is batting .323 (21 for 65) with five doubles, 17 runs and 12 RBI. He is tied for eighth on the UM career Homer list with Bryan at 21. He also collected his 34 career double, putting him tied for ninth on the all-time U-M list.

AAU HOOP TRYOUTS

The Motor City Mavericks will stage tryouts for an eighth grade AAU basketball team from noon to 4 p.m. Saturday, April 4 at the St. Edith gym, located on 15089 Newburgh Road, just south of Five Mile in Livonia.

The team will play in tournaments in April, May and June. Players must be accompanied by a parent or guardian and pay a $20 fee for AAU expenses.

YOUTH HOOP TOURNEY

Openings remain for the North American Youth Basketball Tournament, Friday through Sunday, May 22-24, at the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

The tournament will feature separate brackets for boys and girls in grades 5-6, seventh, eighth, 9-10, 11-12.

For more information, call Detroit NAYB area director Mike Trudeau at (810) 469-4242, or Dave King on the NAYB toll-free tournament hotline 1-88-NAYB-ASK.

BASEBALL PLAYERS WANTED

The North Redford Yankees Little Caesars Travel Baseball Club is seeking for two more players (ages 13-14) to play on a team in the Little Caesars Amateur Baseball Federation. The team also will compete in three or four tournaments.

There are no residency requirements. Players already signed up in another league are eligible as well.

Call Rick Gafford at (313) 534-4103.

SOCCER COACHES WANTED

Licensed soccer coaches interested in coaching the Michigan Hawks (girls) and Michigan Wolves (boys) Soccer Club should contact coaching director Doug Landefeld at (248) 476-3141.

SPRING HOCKEY LEAGUES

Registration is now underway for recreational Adult Spring Hockey Leagues.

The Plymouth Rockets (over 20), Plymouth Masters (over 40), Golden Eagles (over 50) and Lady Rockets hockey leagues are now accepting sign-ups.

Games will be played at the Plymouth and Suburban Training Center (in Farmington) arenas.

There will be 12 games over six weeks.

boast two of the area's top track performers in seniors Matt Lawson and Josh Burt.

Lawson, who broke the school record in the discus last season (154-2), will lead a strong and deep team of throwers. Junior Bryan Moore returns as one of the team's leading throwers in the shot put.

"This is definitely one of the strengths of our team," Lee said. "Any team in the state would be thrilled to have a thrower of Matt's ability."

The other strength will be in the distance with Burt, who will run the 1,600 (4:34.2 last year), 3,200 (10:05.8) and 3,200 relay. Burt is coming off strong indoor season where he ran a speedy 4:36 in the mile.

"As like last year, we look for Josh to carry the load for us in the distance events," Lee said. "He never had a bad race last year and consistently scored for us."

Juniors Chris Jaskot, Steve Dudley and Roy Bates will also run in the distance races.

Senior Dan Colip returns for his fourth season at high jump, while Franklin has yet to fill the void left by Ryan Supplee at long jump.

"Last year, we could count on going one-two or one-three at every meet in the long jump, but now this is a hole we'll have to plug," Lee said.

Following the Terek legacy at pole vault won't be easy, but junior Ryan Shiplett—who jumped 11-6 last year—will give it a try.

Sophomore Dusty Hall and junior Pat Broderick will lead a young group of sprinters.

"I'm concerned with the inexperience here, but we have hard-working, dedicated kids—but nothing like last year's group," Lee said. "Dusty carried a senior's load of running last season as a freshman and I'm confident he'll do even better this year."

Senior Keith Martin and juniors Nick Houstakakis and Jason Burke will run the middle distances, with Jaskot and Schultz running the 800.

Lee is impressed with what he has seen from 6-foot-5 sophomore Kevin Schneider, who will also run the 800.

Returning at hurdles will be senior Brent Accurso, who ran a 15.4 in the 100 hurdles and a 43.0 in the 300 last season. Juniors Pat Hayes and John Turner will join Accurso in the hurdles.

The Patriots finished 5-3 last season, but without Terek, the WLAA champ in the 400, Lee realizes repeating that success may be difficult.

"We have a lot of undeveloped talent and a lot of talent we are not aware we have yet, but we have a lot of good athletes and some people who are exciting to watch," Lee said. "We're young, but I feel we can still pop up and nip about anybody in the league."

Livonia Stevenson

Last season's milestone for the Livonia Stevenson track team wasn't one that coach John Gores wants to see again anytime soon—losing.

The Spartans finished 5-6, which was their first losing season in Gores' 12 years at Stevenson.

land armor.

According to coach Mike Unger, top throwing events and sprints will be problem areas until some performers can be found.

But even with the holes, the Warriors should have a relatively strong squad. Leading the way is senior Dustin Campbell, a state qualifier in the long jump returns. Campbell jumped 20 feet in the long jump and 6 feet in the high jump last season.

Joining Campbell will be junior Ryan Ollinger in the long jump and senior Brad Woehl in the high jump. Ollinger and Woehl are also the team's leading returning hurdlers. Ollinger ran 16.2 in the 110 hurdles and 43.8 in the 300 hurdles last season as a sophomore.

Another strong are for Westland may be the distance events. Senior Andy Ebendick returns as the league champion in the 800 (2:02.9) and will anchor the 1,600 relay team. Senior Eric Falkenberg has joined the squad and looks impressive so far in the 800.

Senior Chris Lattimer, who won the league's cross country title in the fall, will try to improve on last year's 4:48 in the 1,600. Sophomore Steve McFall will also run the 1,600, while his brother, Jason McFall, joins Lattimer in the 3,200.

Unger anticipates Campbell and senior Jake Hatten to be mainstays in the 400 run.

Replacing Horton—a 12-foot pole vaulter—will be a challenge for sophomores Ryan Noel and Jason Davis.

Livonia Clarenceville

Third-year coach Josh Green will coach a combined boys and girls team which opens its season April 23.

The Trojans have a squad of 24. Among the leading returnees for the boys include senior Justin Villanueva, an all-around performer in the field events who will compete in the high jump, long jump, shot put and discus.

Senior Steve Morris, who did not compete last season, returns to throw the discus. Another senior who did not run last spring is Andy Brown, a member of Clarenceville's Metro Conference champion 1,600 relay team as a sophomore.

Sophomore Paul Beaver adds depth in the 300 hurdles and will compete in the 400 and 800 relays.

On the girls side, Green had only seven members last year, but is optimistic things are headed in the right direction in 1998.

Sophomore Leah Shepardis, who was fifth last spring in the Class C regional 800 run, returns along with junior sprinter Kariann Ragland, sophomore sprinter-long jumper Gabrielle Bennett and senior captain Ruaida Enerio (200 and 400).

"Our numbers are up," Green said. "The girls are vastly improved. We didn't win a meet last year, but we have a

Hartland top Spartan tanker

Amy Hartland stood out for the Spartan Aquatic Club at the 13-and-over state championships held March 20-22 at Saginaw Valley State University.

The Spartans took fourth overall in the team standings with 875 points.

Competing in the Girls 15-and-over division, Hartland took firsts in the 100- and 200-yard butterfly. Her time of 58.43 was a Junior National cut, putting her into the Junior National meet over the weekend in Long Island, N.Y.

She also finished eighth in the 200 breaststroke and 400 individual medley; 10th, 500 freestyle; 11th, 100 breaststroke; and 16th, 200 IM.

Hartland was the fourth overall point-getter in her division followed by teammates Kris Utley (sixth), Christina Moceri (seventh) and Meghan Moceri (ninth).

Andrea Yocom, competing in the Girls 13-14 age division, won the 200 breaststroke; finished second in the 200 and 400 IM and 100 breaststroke; third, 300 butterfly; 11th, 100 butterfly; and 12th, 200 backstroke.

Yocom was the fifth overall point-getter in her division.

* In the 12-and-under state championships March 20-22 at Rockford, Spartan Aquatic finished 13th overall with 269.5 points.

There were also several outstanding performances in the meet. (See results above.)

DNR aims to reel in youth

Give the Michigan Department of Natural Resources big a round of applause . . . make it a standing ovation.

For years the young children in our society have pretty much been disregarded when it came to conservation efforts and the promotion of the enjoyment of our natural resources. There was not much focus or attention given to our future outdoor enthusiasts, especially those under the age of 12.

On Tuesday, that notorious tradition came to an end as the DNR announced the beginning of a new fun-filled fishing club for anglers age 11 and under.

"Get reel . . . go fishing . . . get hooked," is the theme that was emphasized Tuesday on Belle Isle when the Small Fry Fishing Club was officially introduced.

Membership in the Small Fry Fishing Club is free to anyone under-12 and every angler who joins the club will receive a colorful collector's patch and a subscription to the club's quarterly newsletter, FunCaster.

"We have a very simple message for kids today: Fishing is fun, and fishing in Michigan is the best so get reel . . . go fishing . . . get hooked," said DNR Director K.L. Cool.

Here in Michigan, we're blessed with tens of thousands of inland lakes, rivers and streams, not to mention the Great Lakes. Fishing opportunities abound. Even right here in Metro-Detroit, the most populated region of the state, fishing opportunities are present within an hour drive, or less.

Although the Small Fry Fishing Club was designed specifically for children under-12, the DNR hopes the program will encourage families to fish together.

Last year the DNR initiated the Young Angler Program, for anglers age 12-16. For $2 youngsters can purchase a Junior Voluntary All-Species fishing license and membership in the Young Angler Program. Members of the Young Angler Program receive a collector's patch (different from the Small Fry Fishing Club patch) and the quarterly newsletter Fish On.

The Small Fry Fishing Club furthers this effort by introducing and encouraging the youngest of anglers to actively participate in the sport.

Forms for the Small Fry Fishing Club will soon be available at all DNR offices, on the DNR web site at <http://www.dnr.state.mi.us> and at hunting and fishing license dealers. If you don't want to wait for a form send the child's name, age, date of birth, address and phone number to: Small Fry Fishing Club, Michigan DNR, P.O. Box 30690, Lansing, MI 48909-8190. Junior All-Species licensees are also available at DNR offices and license dealers statewide.

Wildlife habitat festival

Just a reminder that the Michigan Wildlife Art Festival will end today (March 29) at the Southfield Pavilion.

Show hours are from 10-5 today (March 29).

This is a great show, not only from the standpoint of all the beautiful wildlife art, but also because the show supports the restoration of wildlife habitat across the state. A portion of the proceeds from the show is earmarked for wildlife habitat restoration in Michigan.

Since 1974, Wildlife Art Festivals have raised more than $750,000 for wildlife from admission and art sales.

The Southfield festival features the Midwest's largest juried show of wildlife and environmental art and includes 60 nationally acclaimed artists.

Thousands of affordable paintings, prints, photos, carvings, etchings, sculptures, stained glass pieces, batiks, and scratchboards will be on sale.

Many of Michigan's leading conservation organizations will also have exhibits at the show.

There will also be seminars today on an African safari, 11:30; bats, 1; wolf behavior, 2:30; urban wildlife, 4.

Parking is free. Admission is $6 and children under 12 will be admitted free.

The Southfield Pavilion is located on Evergreen Road between 10 and 11 mile roads.

Contour Power Grips team sets world mark ially of team members from the Cloverlanes All-Star Bowlerettes League which competes on Monday nights at 8:30 p.m.

This team took second place with 3,384 with Renee Tesner and Carmen Allen, who are regulars on Contour No. 1 in the league, plus Kathy Siemiesz, Dawn Hood and Marianne DiRupo.

Congratulations to all of these ladies for a truly "Titanic" performance.

■ There are occasions when a youngster such as Tim Allen, a 14-year-old bowler from Livonia, can really stand out.

Carrying a 165 average, Tim shot a two-game set of 277-237 in the Cloverlanes Junior/Majors Wednesday league.

He had recently been outfitted with a new "Sea Wolf," which enables him to throw a nice hooking shot, and his scores are going up.

Up so much that the first thing he did after finishing was to call his mom, Jan, and ask what was her highest ever. Tim now has bragging rights on his mother, and their averages are now both at 165.

The Greater Detroit Bowling Association Men's City Tournament got underway on March 21 at Thunderbowl Lanes. It will run through April 19.

For further details, call Ed Malinowski at (313) 522-9315.

■ The ladies are not the only ones with a city tournament going on.
