MLK ceremony

Westland's 12th annual Martin Luther King Day ceremony will be held at 10 a.m. Monday at the Friendship Center.

This year's ceremony promises uplifting performances and inspiring words, all in remembrance of Dr. King's legacy. Elnora Ford, longtime Westland resident and former secretary for the NAACP, will share her personal experience of marching with Dr. King in Chicago.

Kevin Buford, director of Westland's Department of Public Services, will share his perspective of Dr. King's influence in his life. Various musical selections, a pictorial tribute and the invocation delivered by the Rev. Gary Michalik of St. Theodore Church are also among the events planned for the ceremony. Light refreshments will be served following the ceremony.

The Westland Friendship Center is located at 1119 N. Newburgh between Ford and Marquette.

Distinguished alum

The John Glenn High School graduation ceremony now includes an honorary presentation to a former graduate who has gone on to achieve excellence. The Faculty Council at John Glenn High School is seeking nominations for the recipient of the Distinguished Alumnus Award.

This is an annual presentation and has become one of the highlights of the graduation ceremony each year.

The school is requesting community assistance to help in the selection process by nominating a John Glenn graduate who has earned distinction in their field of endeavor following graduation. If you wish to nominate a graduate, contact Robyn Brennan at John Glenn High School, 36105 Marquette, Westland, MI 48185 by Feb. 26.

School board post

The Wayne-Westland Community Schools Board of Education has an opening for one four-year term starting July 1, 2010, and expiring June 30, 2014.

The election of the member of the school board will be conducted in a regular school election Tuesday, May 4, 2010. The filing deadline for the vacant position is 4 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 9.

Filing for the school board position can be done through the office of the City Clerk of Westland or the City Clerk of Wayne. The offices of the Wayne and Westland city clerks are located at the Wayne and Westland city halls: Westland City Clerk, City Hall, 36601 Ford Road, Westland, MI 48185, (734) 467-3185. Hours: Monday-Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Wayne City Clerk, City Hall, 3355 S. Wayne Road, Wayne, MI 48184, (734) 722-2000. Hours: Monday-Friday, 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Unions: We want to find agreement

BY LEANNE ROGERS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Westland's municipal employees have gotten Mayor William Wild's message about the financial problems facing the city — now it's a matter of finding a solution.

"We'll see if we can work out something to help the city. We get it — we're on the street every day. We went in last March and offered to help," said Ed Hosmer, president of International Association of Firefighters local 1279, continuously optimistic to figure something out.

The IAFF local, which represents all Westland firefighters, chief and deputy chief, has remaining on their current collective bargaining agreement as do both police unions.

The city administration is projecting a $3.5 million deficit for the fiscal year beginning July 1 and a $12 million shortfall for the 2011-12 fiscal year. Wild didn't want to comment following a meeting Tuesday with firefighter and police unions representatives.

"There really wasn't anything we can comment on publicly. Not a lot of information there will be a follow-up," he said.

with the city unions.

Wild recently made comments about the need for employee unions to make concessions and after a year of bargaining with the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees also mentioned possible layoffs and outsourcing.

The AFSCME local, which represents over 100 public services, clerical and parks and recreation employees, hasn't had a contract in over a year. The union and city are currently in mediation.

"We met a couple times a month since last fall. There has been movement by both sides," said AFSCME local president Larry Roman. "Some subjects have more impact than others, so it's been slow going. We're always willing to negotiate further."

ers, so it's been slow going. We're always willing to negotiate further."

Mayoral appointees and staff recently had their pay frozen and car allowances reduced.

"The concession they want are extensive. The administration claims they are 'leading the way' but the concessions they made came to $45,000. That's a drop in the bucket," said Roman. "Who gets a car allowance in these economic times?"

If the mayor and administration want to lead by example and reflect what is being asked of other employees, Roman said he's not seeing reductions there.

Hooper and Pistons fans share 'aim high' message

BY JULIE BROWN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Shyanna Steele, 10, didn't have a typical school day Thursday at Walker-Winter Elementary.

The fifth-grader was chosen by Pistons representative Aaron Smith for some one-on-one hoops with Hooper, the team mascot.

"It was a great experience," she said. "I never thought I'd be able to play against Hooper." Her family includes many Pistons fans, and Shyanna and her dad go to games.

She and her classmates, some 417 in all grades, enjoyed a Thursday afternoon "Homework Before Hoops" presentation courtesy of The Palace organization. Smith asked the students, "What do you want to be when you grow up?"

He always wanted to play for the Pistons, but his mom would say, "Aaron, school comes first."

In high school, Smith was the best player in his city and said, "Mom, I still want to be a member of the Detroit Pistons." He enrolled at the University of Michigan, and Thursday asked if there were any Wolverine fans in the gym.

The kids cheered loudly, and there were also some cheers for Michigan State.

"In the back of my mind, I could hear my mom say, Aaron, school comes first," he told the assembly.

After U-M graduation, he didn't hear from the Pistons right away. "All of a sudden, the phone rings," as he was watching TV. He was nervous to hear the Pistons organization on the other end of the line.

He was told he wasn't good enough to play on the team. "They called my mommy," Smith said. "My mom told the Pistons about how school came first."

His teachers had said to the Pistons organization he tried hard and was respectful of others.

"Of course I wanted the job and I took the job."

Smith had the Wayne-Westland students' attention as he described his championship ring. "Don't let anybody laugh at your dreams because you can do it," he urged.

Moments later, he said, "My guest is the best mascot in the NBA." Hooper entered to thunderous

Family with local ties safe after Haiti quake

BY JULIE BROWN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Maj. Chris Merritt of the Salvation Army Dearborn Heights Citadel got some comforting news from Haiti this week.

Her brother, Steve Diaz, married a Haitian woman, Ketsia, with that couple serving as Salvation Army officers.

"They're currently in St. Louis," Merritt said Friday morning. "They came home from Haiti in April. They were the directors of a children's home in Port-au-Prince."

Ketsia Diaz has her mother, brothers and sister in Haiti, and they're OK. "She was able to see pictures of them on Facebook, so that was a relief to her," Merritt said. The couple got help in locating Ketsia's family through Salvation Army staff in Haiti.

"That's really the only way people are getting help," Merritt said. Her citadel serves Garden City, Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Redford and Livonia.

The Salvation Army is mobilizing resources and personnel to assist with the international relief effort in Haiti following a severe earthquake Tuesday that damaged much of the country's infrastructure, housing and commercial buildings.

The Salvation Army has had a presence in Haiti since 1950 and operates schools, clinics, a hospital, feeding programs, children's homes and church-related activities spread across two major facilities in Port-au-Prince, close to the epicenter of the earthquake, and at other locations in the country.

One of the facilities, or compounds as it is referred to, includes a home for more than 50 children; a school with a daily attendance of 1,500 children; a medical clinic caring for 150-200 people daily; and a church that on any typical Sunday welcomes nearly 1,000. The facility is less than 10 minutes from the National Palace and is in an area known as St. Martin that's home to predominantly poor living in the nation's capital.

According to reports from Salvation Army staff in Port-au-Prince, no one in the compound was injured during the earthquake, but the children's home, the clinic and church suffered major damage. Several smaller buildings, including residences, have collapsed completely.

cheers, shooting off silly string and streamers which shot up to the ceiling.

Hooper clowned around, including wiggling his bottom, as Smith spoke, eliciting laughter. Then it was time for a shooting contest between the Walker-Winter teachers and the third- through fifth-graders.

The students came out ahead, scoring the first seven baskets. "That is great sports-manship," Smith said of the teachers, who said "Good game" and congratulated their students.

A school fund-raiser will have children who sell two tickets getting VIP treatment from Smith at The Palace. They'll enjoy front row seats for a pregame warmup, and go onto the court to shoot before a game. Those who sell four tickets will enjoy a VIP party including a locker room tour, and the top seller will be ball boy or girl.

Thursday's assembly featured the 2004 championship team trophy, which Smith carried around the gym. Principal Julie Mytych said after the assembly the students talked about wearing Pistons attire, a policy she adopted with a Ben Wallace jersey.

"I liked how it was connected to lifelong guidelines," Mytych said. Smith's message matched that of educators at Walker-Winter, part of the Wayne-Westland district, on Michigan Avenue in Canton. Signs in the gym included messages of "Let's All Be Good Sports" and "Excellence Starts With You."

"I thought it was a great message. What a great event for our entire school," the principal said. The students and families look forward to the March 12 game.

Food, water urgent needs in Haiti

BY SUE BUCK
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

"When you take one in, he is yours."

That's the Haitian philosophy on taking care of others.

The Revs. John Hearn Sr. and his son, John Hearn Jr., started their church location on Marquette in Garden City about two years ago.

About 40 years ago, the elder Hearn built a mission school and orphanage in Port au Prince, Haiti.

The mission sustained "some damage" after the earthquake in Haiti last week and the people and children are fine but are in desperate need of food and water, which is Hearn's greatest concern.

"The airport is small and can only hold a few planes at a time," Hearn said. "The biggest problem is getting the supplies to the people."

As for the Haitian philosophy, Hearn said that it means that once you take somebody in, and take care of him, he is your concern and responsibility forever.

The Hearn's operate Christian Faith Ministries of Garden City with the church's Haiti mission, called The Friends of C&S Mission.

The C&S stands for Caring and Sharing.

Because the loss of power is still an issue as well as the difficulty in getting supplies quickly to the people who need them, Hearn suggests that people donate money to their address first at 27500 Marquette, Garden City 48135.

That money will go to people he knows in the Dominican Republic so that they can purchase the supplies and get the supplies where they need to go.

Their close location makes these logistics workable, Hearn said.

Once roads become more passable, the Hearn's intend to fill a cargo-full of needed supplies and send them.

Displaced Haitian residents arrived at the mission location after a magnitude-7.0 earthquake ripped through the country Tuesday afternoon.

"We don't turn anyone away," Hearn said.

People were sleeping in the parking lot overnight, while severe aftershocks continued to affect the country.

The second compound that houses Salvation Army administrative offices is being used as an emergency operations center; damage was slight to this compound, according to Salvation Army reports from Haiti.

Chris Merritt said the 10- to 12-foot wall around the compound is down. "That whole wall has collapsed," she said. "They're not concerned about that. They want to help the neighbors."

The director's home collapsed, she said, and many buildings are damaged. "They're not usable," Merritt said.

The Salvation Army hospital in Fond-des-Negres (75 miles west of Port-au-Prince) reports some minor damage, but no injuries.

Merritt attended Salvation Army training with a man now in the adjacent Dominican Republic. She spoke with him on Facebook and he said aid trucks were able to leave at 5 a.m. Friday for Haiti.

"People don't have places to store clothes or to cook food," Merritt said. Fresh water is a major problem, and "will have to come from other countries. There isn't any in Haiti."

She agreed people feel overwhelmed at the tragedy and want to help — money is best, as is prayer. "I just think people need to pray," Merritt said. "We just really need to pray for those who are able to do that" rescue work.

She added it's important to remember the Tuesday earthquake as news coverage lessens. "People need to remember that it's still there," said Merritt, whose brother may go to Haiti soon to help.

Efforts are being coordinated nationally, with the Dearborn Heights Citadel not doing its own effort. That's also true of the Wayne-Westland corps, commanding officer Capt. Joanna Rose said.

The Salvation Army's World Services Office, based in Alexandria, Va., has committed $50,000 to the relief effort and the organization is prepared to commit more financial resources, as well as food, water and other emergency supplies, to assist in the recovery.

The organization is preparing to send more than 44,000 pounds of pre-packaged emergency rations to the country, along with emergency disaster teams. The Salvation Army is working with other agencies to identify appropriate transportation for the food. As with all such relief efforts, the Salvation Army will be a part of the initial emergency response while assessing longer term needs of the residents.

Ford development aims to be pedestrian-friendly

BY LEANNE ROGERS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

To steal a phrase popular with the federal government, Westland's concept for future development along Ford between Wayne Road and Central City Parkway is getting shovel ready — at least in terms of zoning and design regulations.

Approved for last week by the council, the Ford Road Overlay District creates a new zoning district in an effort to attract developers and facilitate projects.

"It's having the tools in place to facilitate modern, long-term development," said Westland Planning Director Bruce Thompson. "If we don't do it, nothing will happen on its own in this economy. We're trying to act like the developer and get modern, up-to-date development."

The FROD designation codifies the Ford Road 2020 conceptual design master plan for the corridor between Wayne Road and Central City Parkway. As an overlay designation, the existing zoning and uses of the properties in the FROD will be unchanged and only commercial projects requiring site plan approval will need to meet the design and development standards.

The goal is creating a pedestrian-friendly downtown area with businesses located closer to the road, residential development above stores in two and three-story buildings and shared parking with common architectural designs.

Residents who spoke on the FROD at a Planning Commission hearing questioned the impact on their homes.

"People were not afraid of new development adjacent to them — they were afraid the city would take their homes," said Thompson. "All those concerns were addressed. If a developer can't obtain the property, they can't develop."

The Ford Road 2020 plan also calls for development of village green open space areas for special events, farmer's markets and civic gathering spaces and parks. It is designed to provide connection to and from the city center including the City Hall Complex and Central City Park up to Westland Shopping Center.

Previously, the Westland Downtown Development Authority had largely focused its efforts on the southwest corner of Ford and Wayne Road. Mayor William Wild and the DDA recognized that while Ford and Wayne Road is a very important spot, it's not the only location needing attention, Thompson said.

"It's a different way of looking at it. There are a lot of older properties in that area (west of Wayne Road)," said Thompson, noting the improvements that had already been made by larger business located east on Ford such as the Red Holman auto dealership and a nearby credit union. "They all needed to buy into needing bigger lots — many of the lots (along Ford) are only 110 to 125 feet deep. It doesn't work unless they all felt it was very important."

There have also been reinvestments in the area west of Central City Parkway, said Thompson, noting the extensive renovation at Kroger, new restaurants and public improvements such as the outdoor spray park.

Westland woman defendant in mall carjacking in Livonia

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

A Detroit man and a Westland woman were charged Thursday afternoon in the carjacking and unlawful imprisonment of a 47-year-old Canton resident at Laurel Park Place mall.

Antwuan Bertel Cross, 20, of Detroit and Dominique Esther Baptiste, 20, of Westland were arraigned before 16th District Judge Sean Kavanaugh in Livonia.

Cross was charged with carjacking, armed robbery, unlawful imprisonment, unlawful driving away of a motor vehicle, possession of a firearm by a felon, felony firearms, habitual offender-fourth time and commission of a felony with a motor vehicle advisory.

Baptiste was charged with carjacking, armed robbery, unlawful imprisonment, unlawful driving away of a motor vehicle, and commission of a felony with a motor vehicle advisory.

Bonds were set at $750,000 cash for Cross and $500,000 cash for Baptiste. Both defendants are scheduled for a preliminary examination Jan. 21 in the 16th District Court.

Livonia police believe the two suspects followed the woman, who drove a newer model Cadillac Escalade, to the Laurel Park Place mall parking lot, where the man, armed with a handgun, ordered her to surrender her vehicle and get inside with him at about 10:30 a.m. Tuesday. The female accomplice did not get into the Escalade.

The man got onto I-96 and drove about six miles before exiting at Merriman and letting the woman out of the car, where she called police from a local business since her purse and cell phone were still in the car.

Using OnStar, Livonia police tracked the vehicle to a Detroit neighborhood, where they later found it hidden in an abandoned residential garage.

Officers arrested the suspects about two hours later after they showed up in a Ford Escape, the same vehicle in which they had been following the woman.

The woman let the man out of the car, and officers arrested him after a foot chase. They pulled the woman over and arrested her.

Police were able to recover most of the Canton woman's belongings.

Got Game?

Yep. got scores, too.

Burger 'success stories' lead way in learning, independent living

BY JULIE BROWN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Tyler Hager is a success story, one of many from the Garden City school district's Burger School.

Hager of Westland was at the Garden City school board meeting Monday, where he was praised by woodshop teacher Patrick Crosby.

Hager, a former student of Crosby's at the school for autistic students, had behavioral problems but was good with electronics and small appliance repair. Despite reservations, Crosby helped get Hager enrolled, at first part time, at Wayne-Westland's William D. Ford Career Technical Center.

"There's nothing I can give this kid that he can't do," Crosby soon heard back from the auto body repair teacher. Hager's now a senior full time at the career technical center and hopes to pursue an associate's degree at Washtenaw County Community College.

"Tyler truly is one of Burger's success stories," Crosby said.

The curriculum highlight presentation Jan. 11 at the Garden City school board meeting focused on Burger, which serves autistic students from throughout the county. The program has sent some 11 students back to their home districts recently, five from Garden City.

Teachers Rebecca Viola and Madonna Bernard outlined the modular program for high schoolers which includes a focus on daily living. There's a diploma track collaboration with Cambridge High School, along with partnerships with the home school districts.

Job preparation for the teens includes food preparation on site, a greenhouse and micro enterprises. Students learn about accessing the community, including role playing a phone call for the SMART bus for a bowling outing.

Social interaction is vital for the high schoolers. "It's a good peer program," Viola said. Students learn about going out to lunch "and doing that horrible thing of leaving a tip."

The teens had a dance with a disc jockey, a former student. "It was really a lively afternoon," Viola said. "We do a lot of social skills and interaction."

The older students transition to jobs and adult day programs, depending on their abilities.

For the K-8 students at Burger, there was a recent "A Carnival Cruise" theme. The Garden City school board members received Australian outback hats, which at least some tried on.

"We recognize the wide abilities of our students," said teacher Colleen Polin, who made the presentation with colleagues Debbie Furlow, Bonnie Dexter and Diane Pitt. The younger students' hallways were divided up so they could learn about the ocean, desert and rainforest.

Students who function at a higher level did in-depth reports, said Polin. She drew chuckles from the board and audience in describing the Australian food Vegemite, not known for its good flavor, but which many bravely tried.

Wrestling four blow-up "crocodiles" also proved popular at Burger. "Before you knew it, that entire gym was engulfed in kids wanting a turn to wrestle a crocodile," Polin said.

The coming year's date, Dec. 8, and theme of "Home for the Holidays" have been chosen, she added, with staff planning under way.

Burger serves some 353 students from 30 of Wayne County's 32 school districts.

Ice Fest: What you need to know

With the Plymouth Ice Festival scheduled for downtown Plymouth Jan. 22-24, here are a few things to know about the popular festival:

- It was all by chance the quaint Western Wayne County community of Plymouth became the perfect winter setting for an ice-carving festival. The town square centers on Kellogg Park, and over 100 shops and restaurants enhance the visitors' overall experience, creating the foundation for the oldest running and largest ice carving event in North America.

The event is presented by the Plymouth International Ice Carving Spectacular, a 501 (c) 3 non-profit Michigan corporation, and is produced by first-year organizer Signature Professional Group of Wixom. The organizers raise all funds necessary to present the festival from the sale of sponsorships, donations, and the sale of ice sculptures.

- Carving teams from Russia, Canada, Norway, Switzerland and Japan (where this art form originated) have participated in past festivals, though this year's festival was downsized and renamed without the international flavor.

In addition, past Plymouth champions Ted Wakar and Jim Bur of Frozen Images, and Tajana Raukar of Ice Dreams have won international competitions including: The World Championships in Asahikawa, Japan (Wakar and Bur), the World Ice Art Championship in Alaska (Tajana Raukar, Bur and Wakar), and they have also competed in the Winter Olympics where ice carving is a demonstration sport.

- Each block of ice used for the festival weighs some 330 pounds, and carvings are made from a single block to as many as 100 blocks. The ice is specially made to ensure its clarity. Between 200,000 and 300,000 pounds of ice are carved annually at the festival. The multi-block carvings require much physical prowess by each carver, and the assistance of forklifts and skilled drivers to stack the blocks into a proper and safe configuration to start the desired statue.

- Carving techniques were developed by a French chef, prior to the invention of refrigeration, who created carved serving bowls of ice to keep perishable foods from spoiling and to decorate the table of the king. The art form became a mainstay in the culinary field as a way to offer dishes in an unusual fashion, and to decorate banquet tables.

Carvers use specially made and finely sharpened chisels, handsaws, files, power tools, and blow torches to create their works of art. One of the special aspects of the Plymouth Ice Spectacular is that the artists are making the art as the spectators view them.

Ice carving is still closely tied to the culinary arts, and students from Schoolcraft, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw, Grand Rapids, and Henry Ford community colleges, as well as students from University of Michigan, and Eastern Michigan University, all have participated at the festival.

- Why is this event spectacular? Because it has placed a small, quiet bedroom community in southeastern Michigan on the national and world main stage for one week a year. People all over the world access the Web site, associate ice carving with Plymouth, and plan trips to the area just to view the dazzling works of ice art.

The event has become one of the most popular events in the area over the last quarter century. People who came with their parents or grandparents as children are now bringing their own families, giving it the distinction as the best free winter family event around.

For years, couples have made the Ice Spectacular a date destination; some have fallen in love here, got engaged here, and even married here as the event takes on a romantic ambience in the evening when colored lights bathe the sculptures.

Instructor Robert Cassidy has been teaching at the Westland Friendship Center 12 years. He calls Westland home.

Jazzercise 'lifestyle' has older folks feeling fit

BY JULIE BROWN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Juanita Kelly, 82, of Wayne has a quick answer about her participation in Jazzercise Lite at the Westland Friendship Center.

"So I'm not sitting home getting old," Kelly said following a workout Monday morning. She's starting her ninth year of Jazzercise and said "a lot of good friends" help her come to class each week.

"For many of them to get out of the house is important," added class member Barbara Riehl of Westland, who's 76. "He's very enthusiastic and very faithful," Riehl said of instructor Robert Cassidy. "Always here."

The women had just finished a workout that included use of hand weights. "The exercises aren't as strenuous yet they're vigorous," Riehl said. She said quality of life often improves when older people exercise even if life isn't lengthened.

"I must have been here four or five years," said class member Linda Stover of Wayne, 68. "It's wonderful. It's geared for us but yet it's vigorous, too."

"He's amazing, he's absolutely amazing," Stover said of Cassidy. "I love it. It's just what I need. I get here three or four times a week."

Jazzercise Lite is designed for those age 40 and up, and is offered 10:15 a.m. Monday, Friday and Saturday, as well as 5:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Westland Friendship Center, 1119 N. Newburgh, south of Ford Road.

This coming Monday's class will be canceled due to the Martin Luther King Jr. Day. Class cost is $25 per month unlimited or $5 walk-in with membership at the Friendship Center required.

The class is designed to provide a moderate workout and improve strength and flexibility, balance, posture, coordination and cardiovascular endurance.

"I've been teaching here 12 years," Westland resident Cassidy said. "A lot of these ladies come four times a week."

"The key is it becomes a lifestyle for them," said Cassidy, a retired Ford Motor Co. engineer who's called Westland home since 1964. Cassidy, who next month turns 76, emphasizes "fun."

He's monitored by the national Jazzercise franchise for safety and intensity of the workout. "We never leave the floor" in jumps, he said of the low-impact workouts.

Juanita Kelly, 82, of Wayne is going strong by taking Jazzercise Lite. "So I'm not sitting home getting old," she said of her participation in the class taught by Robert Cassidy.

Mary Loughlin and other class members get a good workout under Robert Cassidy's instruction.

Class members don't have knee problems, and he watches closely for any signs of physical trouble. Participants sign a form that they've spoken with their doctor about working out, with Cassidy noting he's never had a doctor object.

Men are welcome to participate. "I'm from Scotland and in Scotland all the boys danced," he said, although his Jazzercise is 90 percent women.

"A lot of them go to Weight Watchers, too. It becomes a lifestyle. The kids know better than to ask to baby-sit on a Jazzercise day."

Workouts exercise the mind, too, helpful for older people.

"Of course, it's careful exercise," he said. "They all go at their own pace." Three times a week is ideal, he said, and often those who start out with less increase their involvement.

Most people prefer older music, which Cassidy chooses from Jazzercise selections. "They're great people, they really are," he said. "They're family."

The city of Westland helps with the facility, he added.

Graphic novels: Great reading for all ages

Graphic novels appeal to comic book fans and novel readers alike. To some, the terms "graphic novel" and "comic book" can mean the same thing, but comics are normally much shorter than graphic novels. They only contain segments of a story released over time. Many graphic novels compile several issues of a popular comic book, such as Alan Moore's Watchmen and Neil Gaiman's The Sandman. Comic books gained popularity in 1938, when Superman debuted in the first issue of Action Comics. Many novel-length comics appeared between 1920 and 1960, but it wasn't until the 1970s, when Will Eisner used the term to describe his illustrated book A Contract with God, that the name "graphic novel" caught on. The William P. Faust Public Library of Westland offers a wide collection of graphic novels. For those interested in history, Marjane Satrapi's Persepolis is an autobiographical account of her childhood in 1970s Iran, while Art Spiegelman's Maus: A Survivor's Tale tells the Holocaust survival story of the author's father. Teens would enjoy Brian K. Vaughan's fantasy series Runaways, and younger children might like Babymouse, a popular graphic novel series following the antics of an imaginative mouse. Manga are Japanese graphic novels that read from back to front. Some popular manga series include Fullmetal Alchemist, Bleach, Naruto, Inu-Yasha, and Boys over Flowers. To find out more about graphic novels, consult the Comic Book Encyclopedia: The Ultimate Guide to Characters, Graphic Novels, Writers, and Artists in the Comic Book Universe by Ron Goulart. Not sure what graphic novel to read? Try The 101 Best Graphic Novels by Stephen Weiner or Graphic Novels: A Genre Guide to Comic Books, Manga, and More by Michael Pawuk. For more information, please visit the Public Library of Westland or call the Reference Desk at (734) 326-6123. You can also search the online catalog at www.westlandlibrary.org.

AAUW's 'Oz' offers live theater for local kids

BY SUE BUCK
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The American Association of University Women, Plymouth-Canton branch, will perform The Wizard of Oz in early February.

The play will be performed at O'Leary Auditorium at Garden City High School. It's the AAUW's 50th anniversary of presenting live theater for children with proceeds funding scholarships for women.

"Proceeds from each play have gone to help fund college scholarships for women," said member Monica Nick. "The plays have been a significant fund-raiser for the organization. About 2,000 people attended the play last year."

The first play, performed in 1960 by six cast members, was Snow White and the Red Rose. It was performed at the old Plymouth High School in downtown Plymouth, Nick said.

Other annual plays have included Snow White, Cinderella, Peter Pan, Jack and the Beanstalk and Pinocchio.

Cast members for the current production of The Wizard of Oz include Katie Bellows as Dorothy, Sharon Belobraidich as the Scarecrow, Becky Copenhaver as the Tin Man, Pam Dean as the Cowardly Lion, and Karen Stemberger as the Wicked Witch of the West. Co-directors are Mickey Edell and Jan Blumberg.

"Because this is a special milestone year for the play, we'd like to invite all former cast members to come to the play, free of charge, for the Friday or Saturday performances," she said. "They will be recognized by current cast members."

Show times for The Wizard of Oz are 7 p.m. Friday, Feb. 5, and 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 6.

A special Feb. 4 performance is scheduled for Girl and Boy Scouts and their leaders.

Tickets are $5 in advance and $6 at the door of Garden City High School.

Tickets are available at Sideways, Plymouth, 505 Forest Ave.; Fanatic U, Garden City, 30409 Ford Road; and Perkos Shoes, Livonia, 33426 Five Mile.

For more information on Scout Night or tickets, call (734) 546-3122 or e-mail AAUW_PlymouthCanton@yahoo.com.

Westland officer works on Internet safety task force

BY LEANNE ROGERS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

A Westland police officer has joined a federally funded task force targeting Internet crimes against children.

Currently assigned to the Detective Bureau, Sgt. Brian Miller is working three days a week for the Internet Crimes Against Children Task Force. Based at the Michigan State Police offices in Livonia, the ICAC Task Force has officers from the Michigan State Police, U.S. Secret Service, FBI, Wayne County Sheriff's Department, Livonia Police Department, Michigan Department of Corrections and United States Post Office.

"About a year ago, I finished my basic school for computer forensics. I've done this for our department for the past year," said Miller, who has completed over 480 hours of training in Cyber Crime Investigations and Basic Computer Forensics at Eastern Michigan University.

The forensic examinations

Miller has done on suspect's computers for the Westland Police Department for the past year will be among some of his duties with the task force.

"With the economy and with it being such a changing field, you need to keep up with training. The task force pays for the training," said Miller. "We have ongoing training in addition to having the resources from all those other jurisdictions. With the Department of Corrections, we can do home checks for sex offenders and make sure they are meeting the conditions of their parole."

In addition to conducting computer forensic examinations, Miller will be assisting with the investigation of Internet crimes against children and online child exploitation. The resources of the task force will allow Miller to focus directly on offenders committing crimes against children in the community, as well as educating children and parents on the dangers of the Internet through presentations.

"The task force is geared for crimes against children but I will still be able to work Westland cases," said Miller, a 12-year veteran. "We (the task force) can focus on Westland. Community education is a big part of the task force — making sure that kids are safe."

The task force can do an Internet safety program designed for children of any age, Miller said.

"The City of Westland is pleased to join this partnership, the additional resources that will be available to our police department will be a tremendous asset in protecting the children of our community," said Westland Mayor William Wild.

Each state has a federally funded ICAC Task Force — headed by the state police in Michigan — which includes an online cyber crimes tip line. For more information on ICAC, visit <http://michiganicac.com/>.

Guaranteed rates of return come with strings attached

Q: Dear Rick: After reading your column a few months ago, I decided that when my CD matured I would buy a fixed annuity. I am a very conservative investor. I like the idea that the annuity was insured and that I could not lose money. When my CD came due, I talked to someone that I knew who sells annuities. Although he liked your suggestion, he recommended another type of annuity that would guarantee 5 percent a year. This sounds very good to me considering what CD rates and other annuities are paying. Do you have any thoughts?

A: I think I know the type of annuity and it is not one I would recommend. The type of annuity he recommends is a variable annuity with a guaranteed income option attached. These annuities are very popular, particularly with people who sell annuities. Unfortunately, they are not very good for most investors.

There is no doubt that a guaranteed 5-percent rate of return is very good in today's world. After all, when CDs are only paying 2 to 3 percent, 5 percent seems like a great rate of return. However, like most things, the devil is in the details.

What the salesperson did not tell you is that although the income is guaranteed, the principal is not. For example, if you purchased a $50,000, 3-percent, one-year CD at a federally insured institution, not only do you receive your 3 percent, but at the end of the year the $50,000 that you initially deposited is insured and you receive that money back. This is not the way it works with some of the guaranteed income annuities. Therefore, it is possible that when the annuity matures, you will not get your original money back. The reasoning is your initial investment is not guaranteed and your principal can be used to cover your income.

If you invest $100,000 into an annuity with a guaranteed income option, when your annuity matures it is possible — and, in many cases, probable — you will get back substantially less than the $100,000.

Salespeople do not like to tell you this because with variable annuity products they make very high commissions and high ongoing fees.

In the type of annuity I recommend, when it matures you get all your income and your original principal back. I'm not a fan of guaranteed income annuities and I don't recommend them to investors. They are stuffed with high fees, they mislead investors and principal is at risk.

I recommend fixed annuities for a conservative investor who does not want any principal fluctuation and wants their investment guaranteed. That is exactly what you will get from a fixed annuity and that is why I like them. I typically use fixed annuities as CD substitutes. However, not all fixed annuities are the same and many are not very investor friendly. For example, some fixed annuities will lock you into the annuity for many years — some lock you in for over a decade and then at the same time they have very high penalties for early withdrawals. Obviously, those are the fixed annuities that you need to avoid.

I like the fixed annuities that are investor friendly and make it easy to withdraw money while, at the same time, have fair penalty provisions. I recognize that with the nature of annuities, as with CDs, there are penalty provisions for early withdrawal. However, the problems I have with some annuities are the overaggressive salespeople who sell annuity products and the upward of 20 percent penalties for early withdrawal.

It would be nice if you could buy a fixed annuity directly from the annuity company like you can a mutual fund. Unfortunately, that is not how these products are marketed.

To buy a fixed annuity, you must go through an agent. One of the keys to buying a good annuity is to deal with a reputable individual. One individual whom I've dealt with for years is Jim Hutton and I recommend buying annuities through Hutton Financial, at (800) 870-4444.

Like everything else in the investment world, the key is to buy the right product for your situation. For investors who are looking at adding to their portfolio without any principal fluctuation and be guaranteed up to $100,000, a fixed annuity may be the way to go.

Before you invest money into an annuity, make sure you understand the terms, length of time that you are committing to and what penalties are involved. When you start seeing double-digit penalties, it's a sign that you should walk away. Some of the best financial moves I've made are when I have walked away from an investment.

Good luck!

Going for Gold

Livonia's Kesler to wear Team USA sweater

BY BRAD EMMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

It's a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for Livonia's Ryan Kesler and he plans to soak up every moment.

The 6-foot-2, 202-pound center for the NHL's Vancouver Canucks learned New Year's Day that he will become the third Livonia native to earn a spot on the U.S. Olympic men's hockey team, joining the likes of Al Iafrate (1984) and Mark Beaupre (1994).

The fifth-year pro will also spend the Olympic break (Feb. 15-29) playing on his adopted sheet of ice — GM Place — which will host all the Winter Games.

The 25-year-old will have an entourage of family and friends staying at his house during the tournament.

"There are 15 people right now," Kesler said. "They're all excited, but I probably won't get to see them that much because I'll be with the team."

Canuck fans will be changing their allegiances for the Games and Kesler will be the enemy at his home rink. He'll even be lining up against several of his own Vancouver teammates.

"It's going to be a little weird," Kesler said. "You play with guys like the Sedins (Henrik and Daniel of Sweden), (Robert Luongo (of Canada), (Sami Salo (of Finland), then you're playing against them. It's strange in that way. But there's an old saying in hockey, 'There are no friends on the ice.' But we're all happy for each other."

Kesler, the Canucks' alternate captain, has played in all 47 games and ranks second in points (41) behind teammate Henrik Sedin with 12 goals and 29 assists.

Kesler, considered one of the NHL's top three defensive forwards, won over Team USA general manager Brian Burke during a developmental orientation camp last summer in Chicago.

The Churchill High grad also has considerable international experience while representing his country on a number of occasions, most recently at the 2006 World Championships.

Kesler helped lead the U.S. to a gold medal at the 2004 World Junior Championships. And at the 2002 World Under-18 Championships, he recorded two goals and five assists in eight games while receiving the Best Player Award for the tournament.

Kesler is ready and looking forward to his first Olympic Games experience.

"There won't be too many adjustments because we're playing on an NHL-size rink," said Kesler, who played one season at Ohio State (2002-03) before turning pro. "It's the same skills. It's the same game, but it's a different system. It's an attack type, very offensive. It's not a system where you stay back."

Livonia native Ryan Kesler, center for the Vancouver Canucks, will be playing at on his home ice representing Team USA in the Winter Olympic Games, Feb. 15-29.

SIDELINES

Rafko honored

The NAIA National Office announced that Madonna University freshman softball student-athlete Amber Rafko (Monroe) is one of 13 student-athletes selected to participate in the 2010-2011 Red Cross/NAIA Collegiate Leadership Program.

Rafko

The initiative is now in its fourth year, and will inspire, motivate and create a new and diverse generation of American Red Cross volunteers and leaders through exemplifying the five core values of the NAIA Champions of Character program.

Rafko earned four letters for at Monroe where she helped her squad to a trio of Mega Red Division and Division 1 district championships, along with two regional titles.

Last year she hit .431 for the state quarterfinalist.

1st Pitch Banquet

The Madonna University baseball team will stage its first pitch banquet to kick off its fund-raising effort from noon to 4 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 31 at the Italian-American in Livonia.

Former Philadelphia Phillies pitcher and longtime University of Detroit baseball coach Bob Miller will be the featured speaker. Former Detroit broadcaster Ray Lane will be the master of ceremonies.

Adult tickets are $50 each, or $90 per couple. Youth tickets (12-and-under) are $30.

Table sponsorships are available including single ($100), double ($200), triple ($300), home run ($400) and grand slam ($1,000).

Silent auction items will launch the social hour at noon. The dinner buffet will be from 1-2:30 p.m. and the 2010 MU baseball team, coming off an NAIA World Series appearance, will be introduced at 3:30 p.m.

Checks should be made payable to: Madonna Baseball, c/o: Greg Haeger, Madonna University, 36600 Schoolcraft Road, Livonia, MI 48150.

For more information, call co-chairs Paul Flavin at (248) 380-5142; or Bill Hardin at (734) 560-0820. You can also e-mail 1stpitchbanquet@gmail.com.

Dynamic boxers

Westland's Dynamic Boxing, led by Wyandotte's Aaron Policelli's two wins in the 90-pound division, competed in last month's 2010 Silver Gloves Tournament held in Monroe.

Policelli won by decision over Austin Keurger of Saginaw in the finals after downing Ricky Salinas of Pontiac in the semifinals.

Dynamic's David Fecteau of Westland defeated Jackson Roback of Pontiac in the 75-pound division.

Four other Dynamic boxers lost close decisions including: Detroit's Robert O'Quinn (125), who lost to Alex Aguilar of South West Detroit; Detroit's JaRico O'Quinn (119), who lost to Davis Jasso of South West Detroit; Livonia's Tony Hernandez (95), who fell to Sammy Sausoe of Lansing; and Westland's Skippy Marks (75), who lost to Juan Sanchez of Monroe.

Wayne storms back to intercept rival Rockets, 58-52

Jamie Strickland (with ball), who led the Zebras with 15 points, is closely guarded by Glenn defender Zarick Barnes during Friday's KLAA South Division clash.

Zebras earn key KLAA South victory

BY BRAD EMMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Wayne Memorial saved its best quarter for last Friday night as the host Zebras delivered in crunch time to down boys basketball rival Westland John Glenn, 58-52.

The Zebras, who improved to 6-1 overall and 3-0 in the KLAA's South Division, overcome a 42-36 deficit after three periods with a 22-10 fourth-quarter surge.

"I guess it was our (full-court) press and the fear of losing set in," Wayne coach Wayne Woodard said of the comeback. "Once we got a few turnovers, it energized us and we got a few buckets. We were able to get some putbacks and offensive rebounds."

Glenn missed its first six shots in the final quarter and did not score a field goal until 2:27 left on a three-pointer by Brett

Hudy to cut the deficit to 51-49.

That came after Wayne grabbed the lead for good when Jamie Strickland, who led all scorers with 15 points, nailed a short jumper in the lane after a Rocket turnover with 6:46 remaining.

The Zebras staved off a late Glenn charge by making 11-of-21 free throws in the final quarter. Wayne was 20-of-33 for the game, while Glenn was 7-of-12.

Senior Jeremy Langford paced Glenn with 11 points before fouling out with 1:57 left.

"We were right there with a chance to win on the road and just didn't get it done," said Glenn coach Dan Young, whose team slipped to 3-5 overall and 2-1 in the KLAA South. "We had good looks and were right there. The kids played hard and I'm proud

Cagey competitor

Fischer goes on display at 'Battle of the Burbs'

BY JIM TOTH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Jason Fischer isn't quite sure of the destination, but he is confident in the journey.

Fischer, a 2003 graduate of Livonia Stevenson High School, has delved into the rapidly-growing sport of mixed martial arts and, in just a short time, has emerged as a future star.

He elevated his status in the sport last December when he claimed the MMA Lightweight Championship with a victory in competition held at Rock Financial Showplace in Novi.

And now, courtesy of that decisive victory, Fischer for the first time will enter the circle of competition as the hunted, instead of the hunter, when Triple X Cage Fighting brings Battle in The Burbs to the Radisson Hotel & Conference Center in Livonia Saturday, Jan. 22.

"It was a big step up for me," said Fischer, who improved his amateur standing to 4-0 with the victory that gave him possession of the lightweight belt. "It was my most significant win because it was for a belt. I really enjoyed that opportunity and am looking forward to others."

Fischer, who trains at the Mash Gym in Redford, will be one of five fighters from that site to compete in Saturday's 12-match card that begins at 8 p.m.

"We have some great guys training there," Fischer said of the facility run by Don Richard and co-owned by Todd Allee. "It's a top-of-the-line facility with everything you need to train there. They have great boxing and Jiu-Jitsu instructors and everybody is out there working hard trying to better themselves and other guys around them."

Creating mayhem

Fischer's introduction into martial arts came while attending Central Michigan University. Muay Thai, which is a form of kick-boxing Jason Fischer, a graduate of Livonia Stevenson who trains out of Mash Gym in Redford, will defend his MMA Lightweight Championship Saturday, Jan. 22, in Battle in The Burbs to be held inside the Radisson Hotel & Conference Center in Livonia.

Crusaders fall to NAIA's No. 1

BY BRAD EMMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

For a half, the Madonna University women's basketball team had its one shining moment and played like the No. 1-ranked team in the country.

But the Crusaders couldn't sustain their valiant effort during the final 20 minutes of breakneck-paced game Wednesday night, falling to Davenport University, the top-rated NAIA Division II school, 79-68.

The Panthers, winners of 18 straight, improved to 18-1 overall and 3-0 in the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference.

MU, which dropped its seventh straight, led by as many as eight points in the first half, hitting 13-of-24 field goal tries (54.2 percent), including 5-of-11 from three-point range.

Freshman guard Shantelle Herring scored 11 of her game-high 20 points during the surge, while freshman center Kaylee McGrath (Livonia Stevenson) added eight of her 14.

Other than that I don't know too much."

Kesler, who plays center, said he will accept any type of role given to him by Team USA coach Ron Wilson (of the Toronto Maple Leafs) whether it's on the second- or third-line.

"What my role is right now is tough to say — create offense and at the same time be responsible defensively and play in all situations," Kesler said. "If it's penalty killing or the power play, you try and excel."

"It really doesn't matter who I play with. I'd like to play with anybody because everybody on this team is unbelievable. We just hope to mesh well and be a team that can win the gold."

The weeks leading up to and after the Olympic Games will test Kesler's physical and mental stamina for sure. The Canucks, currently in the playoff hunt in the Western Conference, will play eight straight games on the road followed by six more away from GM Place following the Olympic break.

"We're on the road 14 days, then go straight to the Olympics," Kesler said. "My daughter (Makayla) is 20 months. It's tough being away from her, but it's part of the job. She understands I play hockey. She's a smart girl. We have iChat, which makes it easier."

Kesler, meanwhile, feels he has come along way since he chosen as the Canucks' first-round draft pick in the 2003 NHL Entry Draft.

"Every year I feel more comfortable and I feel I'm getting better each year," said Kesler, who has 79 career goals and 106 assists in 378 games (including the playoffs). "The beginning of the season was tough on us, but lately we've played great hockey and I feel good right now."

Churchill hangs on in OT

Newcomer Mwila sparks Stevenson past Salem

It took extra time for Livonia Churchill to subdue rival Livonia Franklin in a KLAA South Division boys basketball game Friday night.

The visiting Chargers overcame the 25-point effort of Franklin senior guard Andy McCaffery to earn a 58-55 overtime triumph.

It was 51-all at the end of regulation. Churchill then outscored the Patriots 7-4 in the four-minute OT as D'Juan Cooks' dunk off a pass from Anthony Frezzell with only 16 seconds left bolted down the victory.

"Both teams played extremely hard and we were able to hang on," said Churchill coach Jim Solak, whose team is 4-3 overall and 2-1 in the KLAA South. "We were desperate for a win. It was a good hard-fought win."

Senior center Adam Bedell finished with a team-high 22 points and 11 rebounds. Frezzell, a senior guard, added 15, while Cooks, a senior forward, contributed 13. Reynard Allen also added eight.

Mike Gadsby, a senior guard, added 13 points for the Patriots, who slipped to 2-6 and 0-3.

Nate Coleman added eight. McCaffery's three-point attempt at the horn in OT fell off.

"That's the best I've seen him play in three years," Solak said of the Franklin guard. "He had a heckuva game."

STEVENSON 70, SALEM 55: Newcomer C.J. Mwila, a transfer from Orchard Lake St. Mary's poured in game-high 23 points in his season debut Friday to lead Livonia Stevenson (6-1, 3-0) to a KLAA Central Division triumph over the host Rocks (5-3, 1-2).

Mwila, a junior guard, scored 19 of his points in the opening half as the Spartans led 37-19 after a 19-2 second-quarter run.

Senior guard Bobby Naubert chipped in with 18 points, while senior forward Jordan El-Sahab had nine.

"I thought C.J. (Mwila) was fantastic, he brought energy on defense and creativity on offense," Stevenson coach Mike Allie said. "Both he and Bobby are tough to stop when they're on the court together."

Zinoviy Pelekh scored all 12 of his points in the final quarter to lead the Rocks. Tyler Stewart added 10.

CLARENCEVILLE 53, HARPER WOODS 50: It was a parade to the free throw line Friday as host Livonia Clarenceville (1-7, 1-0) opened Metro Conference play with a victory over the Pioneers (0-9, 0-1).

Ben Watts and Damien Quarles tallied 14 and 13 points, respectively, for the Trojans, who gave rookie coach Justin Johnston his first win.

"It was a big one," Johnson said. "I thought both Watts and Quarles played a great fourth quarter and helped us seal the win. They were really solid."

Clarenceville led 22-18 at halftime without scoring a field goal. The Trojans made 22-of-31 free throws and finished the game hitting 31-of-55.

James Patrick scored 18 points to pace Harper Woods. Danzel Broaden added eight as the Pioneers made only 9-of-26 foul shots.

LIGGETT 74, LUTH. WESTLAND 54: Being held scoreless in the second period was too much to overcome Friday night for Lutheran High Westland (3-5, 3-4), which came up short in this MIAC Blue Division tussle with Grosse Pointe Woods University-Liggett (5-2, 5-2).

The Warriors trailed 24-14 after one quarter and fell behind by a 38-14 margin at intermission.

Mark Ghafari paced Liggett with a game-high 27 points, while Dominic Janett was one of three Knights to finish with 10 points.

Marc Rosin tossed in 20 points to lead the Warriors.

HURON VALLEY 47, LUTH. SOUTH 45: Westland Huron Valley Lutheran (5-2, 3-1) nearly let this one slip away Thursday, but held on for a Michigan Independent Athletic Conference Red Division win over visiting Newport Lutheran South (3-3, 1-3).

Tyler Wagaman led the winners, who soared out to a 16-0 first-quarter lead, with 18 points. Bryan Gruenewald chipped in with 14 as the Hawks watched their lead evaporate by halftime.

Phillip Anderson topped the Saints with 15 points, while Tony Southern and Jesse Smrcka added 10 apiece.

FISCHER

originating from Thailand and serving as that country's national sport, was first on Fischer's platter. He, along with pal Shea Butler, went on to form Mayhem Combat, a mixed martial arts team at the university, which is still active today.

"I've just always loved sports and competing in them," said Fischer, whose athletic history includes four years of varsity competition on the Livonia Stevenson High School wrestling team. "I didn't wrestle at CMU, but I got into watching UFC (Ultimate Fighting Championship) events on TV. I really loved it and couldn't get enough of it."

It was there Fischer, 24, decided to turn his attention toward what has become the fastest-growing sport in the United States among the 17- to 30-year-old crowd. He did some research into where he would get the highest-quality of training and ultimately have the greatest chance of excelling on a national level.

Mash Gym quickly came to the forefront with its dependable equipment, knowledgeable staff and opportunity to venture into some of the more intriguing forms of martial arts. One that caught Fischer's eye was Caique — a form of Brazilian Jiu-Jitsu that can best be described as submission wrestling.

"I just found Mash Gym to have the very best and I want to be part of the foundation they are building over there," Fischer said. "I'm there five to six days a week, three to four hours a day, trying to get better. I just earned my bluebelt in Caique and just keep working hard to get better."

Career move

Currently Fischer is fighting in amateur events, but is hopeful his continued training with Richard and association with Allee will eventually turn into a professional career.

"I have ideas of turning pro sometime this year," said Fischer, who seems well on his way to achieving that goal after recently being issued the moniker 'The Finisher.' "The MMA is the fastest growing sport, and UFC with it being played on cable, is definitely grasping attention."

"This whole thing has changed my life around. I got in a little trouble when I was younger, probably not any more than other kids, but I never knew what I wanted to do. Getting into martial arts has been a great thing because it keeps me in shape and gives me something to look forward to."

Fischer, who holds a degree in recreation and athletic coaching and is currently employed in the operations department of Lifetime Fitness in Commerce, knows he will enter his upcoming match with a little different perspective.

"This is going to be my first title defense, so now I have the target on my back," he said. "But I know I just have to keep doing what I'm doing, stay humble and enjoy the ride. Too many people start shooting their mouths off when they have a little success and it gets them. I want to continue to help this sport grow."

Spartans win in Traverse

Goalie Sager earns 3rd shutout in 3-0 triumph

Goaltender Danny Sager notched his third shutout in four games Friday as state-ranked Livonia Stevenson blanked host Traverse City Central, 3-0, at Gordie Howe Arena.

Sager made 25 stops as the Spartans improved to 10-1-1 overall.

The loss drops the Trojans to 6-8 overall.

After a scoreless opening period, Stevenson got on the board with a pair of second-period goals and added another in the final period.

Trevor Baruzzini had a goal and assist for the victorious Spartans. Tim Pruchnik and John Strauch (power play) also added goals. Justin Shureb and Cole Rochowiak also contributed assists.

"A very good win in what is so far a very good experience for us," Stevenson coach David Mitchell said. "We got stronger as the game went on. It was a nice win for the program to come up here and beat a very solid Traverse City Central team."

"We were committed to our own end and played a very solid third period. Danny Sager was again outstanding in net."

STEVENSON 7, NORTHVILLE 2: Matt Fox scored a pair of goals, including a short-handed tally, as Livonia Stevenson (9-1-1, 6-0-1) skated to a KLAA Central Division victory Wednesday at Edgar Arena over the visiting Mustangs (4-7, 0-2).

PREP HOCKEY

It was 1-all after one period, but state-ranked Stevenson broke it open with four goals in the middle period. "The first period we came out a bit slow, made some adjustments and got better as the game went on," Stevenson coach David Mitchell said. "It was a good win for us heading into Traverse City."

John Strauch chipped in with a goal in three assists for the Spartans, who outshot the Mustangs, 36-21.

Cole Rochowiak and Justin Shureb each added a goal and two assists.

Evan Malick and Trevor Baruzzini also tallied goals, while Jake Poynter contributed a pair of assists.

Danny Sager started in goal for Stevenson and played the first 44 minutes before giving way to Scott Massa.

CHURCHILL 6, ANCHOR BAY 4: Christo Papaioannou's two goal and one assist sparked Livonia Churchill (6-6-1) to a non-league triumph Friday over the Fair Haven Anchor Bay (2-7-2) in a game played at Port Huron's McMoran Arena.

Drew Carlson added a pair of goals for the Chargers, who led 3-0 after one period.

Mike Woynick and Cam Benson also scored goals, while Ben Proben collected three assists.

Churchill outshot the Tars, 55-19, as Anchor Bay netminder Aaron Gagliardio made 49 saves.

Aaron Crouse was in goal for Churchill before believe relieved by Jesse Chambers in the final period.

DEXTER 7, FRANKLIN 1: John Brosch recorded second-period hat trick to spark a four-goal surge Wednesday as the Dreadnaughts (6-6-1) downed host Livonia Franklin (0-11) in a non-league game at Edgar Arena.

Brosch finished with three goals and one assist, while Matt Stirling contributed a pair of first period goals to go along with three assists on the night.

Joey Bartlett had a goal and assist, while Andrew Erber tallied a power-play goal.

Franklin's Jacob Wirgau scored from Tyler Dewhirst with 47 seconds left in the first period to cut the deficit to 2-1.

Dexter goaltender Alex Everard stopped 25-of-26 shots.

Franklin senior netminder

Anthony Crechiolo had 21 saves.

G.P. NORTH 2, LADYWOOD 0: Goaltender Jessica Pavela turned in a sterling performance Wednesday, but it wasn't enough as Livonia Ladywood (4-6, 3-6) fell to host Grosse Pointe North (8-3, 7-2) in a Michigan Metro Girls High School Hockey League game at Community Arena.

Pavela stopped 36-of-38 shots, while Norsemen netminder Ella Huellmantel had to make only seven saves to earn the shutout.

Kailey Sickmiller scored what proved to be the game-winning goal in the opening period from Sara Villani and C.J. McCarthy.

Jennifer Cusmano added an insurance goal in the final period with assists going to Taylor and Bryn Moody.

T-Birds run over Blazers, 55-44

It was a frustrating night for the Livonia Ladywood basketball team.

The Blazers fell behind 24-14 at halftime and closed within four points in the final three minutes, but fell short in a non-league encounter Friday at Dearborn Edsel Ford, 55-44.

"We came out flat and they (Edsel Ford) hit some shots and played tough defense," said Ladywood coach Pat Cannon, whose team fell to 6-4 overall. "We just couldn't make any 'bunnies.'"

The Thunderbirds' one-two punch of Charisse Carr and Danielle Cowart tallied 15 and 14 points, respectively.

Molly Gacioch and Jenny Kelley tallied 11 and 10, respectively, for the Blazers.

Ladywood was 14-of-19 from the foul line, while Edsel Ford made 10-of-19.

The T-Birds improved to 6-3 with the victory.

GIRLS HOOPS

HARPER WOODS, 42, CLARENCEVILLE

35: Livonia Clarenceville (2-7, 1-1) failed to put together four solid quarters Friday and it proved costly against the host Pioneers (2-1 Metro Conference).

Angela McAlpine and Kristen Jolly each scored 10 points to lead Clarenceville, which trailed 22-15 at halftime.

Jenna Burgess also contributed eight points, grabbed 15 rebounds and collected four steals.

"We had opportunities all game to take the lead, and could not close," Trojans coach Brady Gustafson said. "If we want to compete for a conference title we need to put together four solid quarters."

PLY. CHRISTIAN 42, LUTH. WESTLAND

28: Freshman Karen Dwindle scored 12 points and Brianna Harris added 10 as Plymouth Christian Academy (3-6, 2-3) posted the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference Blue Division win Friday over host Lutheran Westland (3-6, 1-4).

Senior center Emilie Freeman led the Warriors, who trailed 17-13 a halftime, with 13 points and 13 rebounds.

Nicole Zehel, Lauren Switzer and Rachel Storck added four points apiece.

PCA outscored the Warriors 25-15 over the final two periods of play to clinch the victory.

BAPTIST PARK 53, HURON VALLEY 37:

Taylor Baptist Park improved to 5-0 in the MIAC Red Division with a convincing win Friday night over host Westland Huron Valley Lutheran (3-4, 2-4).

Junior guard Carissa Thompson topped Baptist Park, which jumped out to a 16-7 first quarter lead with 19 points. Senior guard Jamie Jamiec followed with 11 points.

Huron Valley got a team-high 16 points from junior guard Katie Nell and 14 points and nine rebounds from senior forward Claire Wood.

"Baptist Park is a quick team that runs the court real well," HVL coach Kris Ruth said. "We let them get to the free-throw line too much tonight. When we slowed things down and controlled tempo, things went well for us."

Rockets sprint past rival Wayne

KLAA GIRLS HOOPS

Wayne was 17-of-27 from the foul line, while Glenn was 5-of-15.

FRANKLIN 34, CHURCHILL 21: Junior guard Chelsea Williams scored 10 points as KLAA South Division co-leader Livonia Franklin (6-2, 3-0) downed host Livonia Churchill (4-4, 0-3).

Franklin led 18-9 at halftime and stretched its lead to 28-13 after three quarters.

Erin Menard scored seven for the Chargers, who were 3-of-8 from the foul line.

Franklin was 8-of-12 from the stripe.

SALEM 55, STEVENSON 37: In a KLAA

Central Division game Friday, Sara Stone's game-high 25 points carried the host Rocks (6-3, 3-0) to victory over Livonia Stevenson (3-5, 2-1).

Salem jumped out to a 17-9 first-quarter lead and never looked back.

Brett deBear added 13 for Salem, which made 9-of-10 free throws.

Stevenson junior center Kristen Balhorn scored a team-high 19 points. Jordan York added eight.

But Stone, who had 16 first-half points, was the story.

"She plays in-and-out," Stevenson coach Jen Knoph said. "She's a good, all-around player. We did a better job on her the second half, but she was still tough."

"I thought our girls played hard. They were just up against a great opponent."

Answers to common ice festival questions

The answers to some commonly asked questions about the Plymouth International Ice Sculpture Spectacular, the oldest and largest continuously running ice carving event in America.

How and why did the event begin?

Scott Lorenz, the son of the owner of the Plymouth Mayflower Hotel, came up with the idea after visiting a similar event in Japan. The event was established to fill a void in the post-holiday retail slowdown. (Hotel, restaurant, and retail business takes a nosedive immediately after the holiday season.)

The concept was to create an event that was so unique that it would draw large numbers of people to Plymouth (750,000 in 1999) in the hope that they would also shop and eat. With an average annual attendance of over 500,000, the event has exceeded expectations of the festival's founders.

How did the art of ice carving start?

As the story goes, once upon a time a czarina in Russia was enamored with a local man who was in love with a woman from his village. As was the custom of the day, the man went to the czarina to get her permission to wed the woman he loved. The czarina was not pleased by the request, and decided to show her displeasure by agreeing to let the couple wed only if they would spend their wedding night in a castle made of ice. She was sure this would cool their passion for each other, and/or ruin their wedding night. Much to her surprise, love won out and the couple agreed to her condition. The czarina had her army cut blocks of ice from Lake Baikal, and build a house of ice complete with furnishings including tables, chairs and a bed for the newlyweds. The couple was married, spent their wedding night in the house of ice, and lived happily ever after. However, word spread about the strange house of ice, and eventually people from all over Russia and Europe visited the site to gaze at the first ice castle. It was so popular that it was recreated as a tourist attraction for many years to come.

How did the art of ice carving spread?

Hearing about the unusual use of ice from countrymen who had traveled to Russia to see the famous ice castle, a French chef developed the idea of carving serving bowls of ice to keep perishable foods from spoiling and to decorate the table of the king. This idea may have been a necessity, because at the time, spoiled food or illness from a dinner could cost the chef his head in a guillotine. The French carried the art with them to the Orient, and today the Japanese are the finest and most prolific carvers in the world.

Who carves the ice statues at the Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular?

Professional ice carvers, chefs, culinary instructors, and culinary art students from the area and across the country, as well as a team from Japan, Canada, Russia, Norway, and Switzerland have carved the displays. The professional chef carvers, amateur carvers and student carvers all compete in the team and individual carving competitions.

Who presents the event?

The Plymouth Ice Festival is owned and operated by the Plymouth International Ice Sculpture Spectacular Incorporated, a non-profit (501 (c) 3) corporation, administered by a volunteer Board of Directors.

Who funds the event?

The event is funded by donations, corporate sponsorships and various fund-raisers. All the monies collected go to the presentation of the event.

How much does it cost to present the event?

Sam Walton of Signature Professional Group, the first-year organizer of the event, hopes to raise some $75,000 to fund the 2010 Plymouth Ice Festival.

Who benefits from the event?

The entire business community of Plymouth benefits from the presentation of the ice festival. This event has become one of the single busiest retail and restaurant weeks of the year. Many businesses in the community rely heavily on the business it generates to make ends meet in the two to three slow months that follow the holiday season. The event also creates numerous jobs for young people in the community, and most importantly garners over $1 million annually in local, regional, national, and international publicity for the city of Plymouth and Plymouth Township area.

Culinary art students at the metropolitan area community colleges and trade high schools who need to acquire ice-carving skills to enhance their education benefit from the event. Money donated to their club is used to purchase blocks of ice for them to practice on and carving tools. Students who compete in the competitions benefit from the experience and the instruction that is given to them by the educators and professional carvers before, during, and after each event.

Harry Werwinski of Henry Ford Community College carved a giraffe last year.

Debbie Fronkowiak of Canton and her dog, Floyd, looked at the sculptures at last year's ice festival.

Tonie Day, a student at the Oakland Tech Center, worked on her sculpture with an ice chisel.

Dr. Sofia Merajver, (right) director of the Breast and Ovarian Risk Evaluation Program at the University of Michigan Comprehensive Cancer Center, counsels a patient.

Women at high cancer risk need genetic counseling, care

A genetic mutation can significantly increase a woman's risk of developing breast cancer and ovarian cancer. But does that mean everyone should be tested?

A new direct-to-consumer advertising campaign in select markets nationwide urges women to get tested. But experts from the University of Michigan Comprehensive Cancer Center warn that the test is not appropriate for all women.

"While the test is a very easy thing to do — it's a simple blood test — the interpretation of the results can sometimes be very complicated," says Mark Pearlman, M.D., vice chair and professor of obstetrics and gynecology at the University of Michigan Medical School.

In fact, experts estimate only 2 percent of the population should be tested for mutations, which occur in genes called BRCA1 or BRCA2.

Women who inherit a mutation in these genes face a higher lifetime risk of developing breast and ovarian cancer, and cancer is more likely to develop at an earlier age. Lifetime risk of breast cancer in these women jumps from 12.5 percent in the general population to approximately 60 percent in women with BRCA mutations. Lifetime ovarian cancer risk rises from 1.4 percent up to 40 percent for those with the mutation.

But most breast and ovarian cancers are random, and are not linked to the BRCA genes.

Pearlman

Merajver

Fewer than 10 percent of all women with breast cancer carry one of the BRCA gene mutations and about 15 percent of women with ovarian cancer carry one of the mutations.

"It's very important that the right women seek out genetic testing for breast and ovarian cancer," says Sofia Merajver, M.D., Ph.D., director of the Breast and Ovarian Risk Evaluation Program at the University of Michigan Comprehensive Cancer Center. "Cancer risk is more complex than a simple yes or no, and the test for genetic mutations is only part of the picture."

Women who seek genetic testing should work with a genetic counselor and a physician who is specially trained to help individuals understand what their test results mean for their cancer risk and what they can do to reduce that risk.

"Working with a genetic counselor, somebody who understands genetics, is very important because a positive test has a plan that has to go with it. At the same time, a negative test doesn't always mean that person is no longer at risk. So getting the test results back without any other knowledge and without any other information is potentially dangerous," Pearlman says.

Pearlman and Merajver work together at the U-M Comprehensive Cancer Center to manage women who are seeking or have undergone genetic testing for breast and ovarian cancer, educating women and their families through genetic counseling and providing prevention, risk management and coping strategies for women who test positive.

For women who do test positive for a mutation, Pearlman's clinic helps them decide what to do about it. Options include getting mammograms at a younger age or more frequently, using breast MRI, taking medication to reduce risk, or making lifestyle changes. Women who are finished bearing children typically have their ovaries removed, and women also may choose to have their breasts removed to limit their risk.

Doctors recommend genetic testing for those who have:

- High numbers of family members with cancer diagnoses throughout several generations, either maternal or paternal
- Family member diagnosed with cancer before age 50
- Family members who have been diagnosed with multiple cancers, such as breast and ovarian.
- Male breast cancers, or clusters of other cancers such as colon, prostate, stomach or pancreatic

Group shares quilts to heal grieving hearts

BY SHARON DARGAY
O&E STAFF WRITER

When her 42-year-old daughter Tracey died during an asthma attack two years ago, Clara Mirti was left with a lifetime of memories and a heart full of grief.

"My life was changed forever," said Mirti, a Westland resident. "Her death was sudden. It is getting easier but the loss will always be there."

Tracey had never married and she had no children. There was nothing tangible, "no part of her" that Mirti could cherish.

But there were photos and a few T-shirts left six months later when Mirti joined the Grief Support Quilter's Group at Angela Hospice in Livonia. She began coping with her feelings in a creative way by turning her late daughter's clothing into a quilt. She had the photos professionally transferred to the shirt fabric, which she cut into squares and pieced together, sewing them both by hand and machine and creating a tapestry of images, symbols and phrases celebrating Tracey's life.

She was so pleased with the result that she surprised her daughter, Kelly, with a quilt. Then her son, Bob, wanted one. Since joining the Grief Support Quilter's Group Mirti has produced eight quilts for family members.

Now she and other members are reaching out to the community, offering to make personalized memory quilts and teddy bears for those who have experienced the loss of a loved one.

"They decided it would be a good idea...making quilts for people who can't drive, who can't go to a support group, or making teddy bears for children who have lost a parent or grandparent," said Joan Lee, a bereavement social worker at Angela Hospice who facilitates

Interested individuals can call her at (734) 716-4254 to arrange for a teddy bear or quilt. New fabric, chosen to honor the loved one, can substitute for personal clothing if none is available.

"When we get ready to put the quilt together, we'd love for them to at least participate in that step," Lee said.

SUPPORTIVE, POSITIVE

Those who can attend the twice monthly sessions and craft their own quilts might be surprised by the experience. There's no sewing knowledge required and no pressure to talk

"We'd always encourage them to come to the group," Lee said. "They don't have to talk about their loss, but when they are ready and want to talk, everyone will stop and give them support. It's a wonderful group. They've bonded with each other and formed friendships. They laugh and tell stories. It's a positive group."

That's exactly what Pat Richardson was looking for when she joined four months ago. Her father had died at home from lung cancer on Thanksgiving Day 2008.

"What drew me was 'grief support group.' That hit the nail on the head for me," said the Plymouth woman. "Something else I liked about the group is that it's not like a support group where you all sit around and talk constantly. The focus is on the quilt and that's what I like about it."

Richardson will supplement the two shirts she retrieved from her parents' home with new material. She had hoped to include fabric from her father's dress pants in the quilt, but her mother had already eliminated most of his clothing.

She plans to take a cue from Mirti's quilt and incorporate photos into the project.

Mirti, meanwhile, is in charge of the teddy bear outreach.

"It's an easy pattern, cuddly and cute," Mirti noted.

Lee said memory quilts also can be a cuddly comfort to those who make or receive them.

"It's a wonderful thing to wrap yourself up in a loved ones clothing. When you lose someone close to you and you wear their sweater or jacket, it feels special. In this way it becomes a warm quilt," she said.

The Grief Support Quilter's Group meets the first and third Wednesday of each month at Angela Hospice, 14100 Newburgh, Livonia.

IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD

Be on stage

Inspire Theatre will hold auditions for Once Upon a Trunk, a musical comedy revue with a lighthearted look at the music and comedy bits that have shaped the culture.

The show needs men and women of all ages who can sing, dance, or tell a good joke. Actors should come prepared to do cold readings and at least a few bars from a show tune. Non-singing parts also are available.

The show will be taped for broadcast on access television.

Auditions are 6:30 p.m., Monday-Tuesday, Jan. 18-19. Arrive a few minutes early and plan to stay until 9:30 p.m. Direct questions to director Len Fisher at inspire@inspire-theatre.com or call (734) 751-7057.

Tasty and wild

Jim and Theresa Magyari, who studied under Botanist Ellen Weatherbee at University of Michigan adult education classes, will share what they've learned at a program and luncheon, 11:45 a.m., Friday, Jan. 22, in the VisTaTech Center at Schoolcraft College, located on Haggerty between Six and Seven Mile Roads, Livonia.

Their goal is to help people learn how to feed themselves with edible plants that grow in urban areas. Tickets are $16 per person and preregistration is required. To register call (734) 462-4443.

"Edible Wild Plants" is the first in the Transition Center's Winter 2010 Luncheon Series. Other programs are:

• Feb. 19 — Dr. Ken Stevens, a professor at Eastern Michigan University, will present "Down in the D" a "walking" history tour as seen through pictures of downtown Detroit, featuring some of the city's most famous, and some not so famous, landmarks.

• April 9 — Kim GImarro, a local historian will present "The Children in our Midst," featuring photography and a historical presentation from the Michigan Hospital School that provided schooling, camping, swimming, music and much more to children convalescing from childhood diseases in the early part of the 20th century.

For more information visit www.schoolcraft.edu/pdfs/transitions/2009\_Fall\_Luncheon\_Series.pdf.

Emotions workshop

Kirk of Our Savior in Westland is offering a series of workshops for individuals with family members in prison. The first session is 6:30 p.m., Monday, Feb. 1 at the church, 36660 Cherry Hill Road, Westland and will focus on "Anger and Bitterness. Other topics are "Beyond Shame and Embarrassment" on Feb. 15 and "Forgiving and Moving Forward," on Feb. 22.

RSVP to Bonnie at (734) 646-2237 or e-mail her at bonnie@hope4healinghearts.com.

The group also runs an ongoing support meeting from 6:30-8:30 p.m., the second Monday of the month, at the church. Visit the group's Web site at www.hope4healinghearts.com.

Language presentation

Michigan Japanese Bilingual Education Foundation will sponsor a talk on two-way immersion Japanese-English education, 1-3 p.m., Sunday, Jan. 24 in the auditorium at Franklin High School, 31000 Joy, Livonia. For more information call Theodore Delphia at (734) 266-0611.

Hear Brahms, Ravel at 'Sunday Serenade'

The Plymouth Canton Symphony Orchestras will present the second in a series of Sunday concerts at 2 p.m., Jan. 24, at First United Methodist Church, 45201 N. Territorial Road, Plymouth.

Brahms Sunday Serenade will include a diverse selection of chamber ensemble pieces that, though small in instrumental size, are mighty in artistic impact. The Johannes Brahms Serenade No. 1 is the centerpiece of the program.

Featuring a chamber orchestra of nine musicians, Brahms' first venture into symphonic writing is a virtuoso showcase for all of the performers.

Two works by French composers, Mouvements Perpetuel by Francis Poulenc and the ethereal Introduction and Allegro for solo harp and ensemble by Maurice Ravel will contrast the German Romantic sound of the Brahms. The orchestra's harpist Maurice Draughn will step out as the soloist.

The program also will include Lullaby and Doina written by Osvaldo Golijov. Having grown up in Argentina in an Eastern European Jewish household, Golijov creates a tapestry of sounds blending elements of Jewish liturgical, klezmer, gypsy and Argentine "new tango" music into his works.

Following the concert a

High Tea will be served in the Reception Hall. The tea will feature a full compliment of meats and other delights and is $20. Reservations for the tea can be made by calling the Symphony Office at (734) 451-2112.

Family members say her secret to a long life is a positive attitude. Prover will celebrate her birthday with family and friends on Valentine's Day.

See Better With Glasses For LOW VISION!

"... They are better than I thought they were going to be. I see better than I ever thought I'd see again!"

~ Marsha Heath

Marsha Heath suffers from retinopathy of prematurity since infancy and glaucoma later in life.

Marsha had worked as a secretary but retired a year earlier. Presently legally blind, she came to Low Vision of Michigan using the assistance of a white cane to travel due to tunnel vision. Marsha wanted help with reading, computers and seeing faces.

Low Vision of Michigan fitted Marsha with very strong custom reading lens or microscope glasses. With proper lighting, Marsha is reading standard print again. A second pair of telescopic spectacles was made to help see faces and television. With an extra adapter, her telescope glasses also help her see the computer.

"I really like them. The reading glasses work good, the telescopic glasses work good. I really like them, they work really good for TV, the computer and reading is great. They are better than I thought they were going to be. I see better than I ever thought I'd see again." Marsha's advice? "If you're thinking about doing it, do it. Don't wait."

Get bone, cardiovascular tests at Livonia church

Life Line Screening will offer several health tests beginning at 9 a.m., Tuesday, Jan. 19, at Unity of Livonia, 28660 5 Mile, in Livonia.

Screenings identify potential cardiovascular conditions such as blocked arteries and irregular heart rhythm, abdominal aortic aneurysms, and hardening of the arteries in the legs, which is a strong predictor of heart disease. A bone density screening to assess osteoporosis risk is also offered and is appropriate for both men and women.

Screenings are fast, non-invasive, and painless.

Packages start at $139. All five screenings take 60-90 minutes to complete. For more information or to schedule an appointment, call (877) 237-1287 or visit www.lifelinescreening.com. Pre-registration is required.

Cancer survivors needed for wellness class, study

Researchers at Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak are seeking 24 women to participate in a study of an eight-week wellness program called Silver Linings.

Silver Linings, offered by Beaumont since 2005, is designed for women who have survived any kind of cancer and includes meditation, yoga, breast awareness/self-exam, mindful listening and expressive writing. The program aims to help cancer survivors explore and heal the physical, emotional and spiritual effects of the disease.

"Facing life after cancer

is challenging," said Ruth Lerman, M.D., medical director, Silver Linings and co-investigator of the study. "Our unique, eight-week program teaches tools of mindfulness and empowerment. Thanks to a research grant through the Beaumont Hospitals-Oakland University collaboration, we'll measure the effect 'Silver Linings' has on the quality of life of female cancer survivors."

Lerman is a specialist in diseases of the breast and is on staff at the Comprehensive Breast Care Center at Beaumont. She is actively involved in planning and implementing a variety of programs for patients with breast disease and those with a high risk for cancer. Her special interests include mind-body medicine and the spiritual aspects of healing.

Silver Linings program is free to participants, regardless of where they received treatment for cancer. An information and registration session will be held Jan. 12 and 19 at the Beaumont Cancer Institute, on the hospital campus at 13 Mile just west of Woodward Ave. Participants must attend one of the sessions, be at least 18 years old and have completed their cancer treatments.

The program meets from 6:30-8:30 p.m., for eight consecutive weeks beginning Tuesday, Jan. 26.

Women interested in participating in the study should contact Pam Jablonski at (248) 551-4645 or e-mail to pjablonski@beaumont.edu to find out if they are eligible. www.beaumont-hospitals.com/silverlinings.

Web site offers tips to parents on flu, colds

A Birmingham-based doctor has teamed with a physician from Pennsylvania to create a Web site that advises parents about flu prevention.

The site, www.flusavvymoms.com, created by Dr. Jennifer Turnbull-Bonde, BS, D.C., ND of Birmingham and Dr. Kellyann Petrucci, BS, MS, D.C., ND, CNC of Bucks County, Pa., provides readers with information including flu prevention tips, tips for helping your body get over the flu, and a quick reference guide to the different symptoms of colds, "regular" flu, and this year's H1N1 virus. The site also offers homeopathic remedies, vitamins and other natural products that the two doctors recommend for helping parents of young children ward off or recover quickly from colds and flu.

As working mothers themselves, both doctors say they are well aware of the challenges facing working parents during flu season. And, as holistic practitioners with many years' experience, they say they understand the importance of prevention as well as treatment.

"Preventing colds and flu is the key," said Turnbull-Bonde. "It takes much less time and stress to prevent the flu beforehand than to arrange for time off from work or school if we or our children become ill. With our Web site, we've provided parents quick tools and information to help them do their most important job — protecting their family's health."

For more information on Flu-Savvy Moms, visit: www.flusavvymoms.com. For more information about the site's founders, call Best of Organic, LLC at (866) 430-3071.

ALS Association celebrates research, supporters

The ALS Association will present a Research Update and Celebration of Excellence Reception Feb. 2 to educate individuals about Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis (ALS) research in Michigan and across the nation, and to recognize individuals who have supported the chapter in a special way.

ALS commonly is known as Lou Gehrig's disease.

The program will start with light refreshments from 6-6:30 p.m. at the Southfield Public Library, 26300 Evergreen. A research update and awards presentation to top ALS Michigan Chapter volunteers will follow. Bill Emerson, CEO of Quicken Loans, will receive the top award for his role as Corporate Chair — 2009 Detroit Walk to Defeat ALS.

Keynote speakers include Eva Feldman, M.D., Ph.D., director of the Alfred Taubman Medical Research Institute at U of M, Kirsten Gruis, M.D., director of the ALS Clinic — University of Michigan Health System and Daniel S. Newman, M.D., director of Hoenselaar ALS Clinic, at Henry Ford Hospital.

The event is free and open to the public, although an RSVP is requested. For more information or to RSVP, call Suzi Terebello at (248) 680-6540 or e-mail to susan@alsa-michigan.org.

HANDS WON'T HOLD

If a person finds that he or she is dropping objects or experiences difficulty opening a car door or twisting a lid off a jar, then that person could reasonably conclude that arthritis is setting in.

The arthritis that most often causes such problems is osteoarthritis. Because much of handling and grasping requires a wrist movement, the joints involved are in the wrist not the hand. In turn, the part of the wrist joint that is most often impaired is the wrist at the base of the thumb. Over a lifetime, the thumb and the joints that move it receive the most wear. The result is that these parts of the wrist are prone to wearing out, causing pain and a risk of dropping objects.

The next most common reason for difficulty grasping and holding comes from the palm of the hand.

For unclear reasons, some people develop a thickening of the palm that causes the tendons coursing through the palm to the fingers to lose their mobility to extend and flex. As a result, the fingers cannot curl around an object or handle in the manner required to hold or twist an object.

Arthritis of the hand is not the reason why objects slip from one's fingers. In such a case, the problem is with the nerve endings in the fingers. The brain is not receiving information from the nerve endings sufficient to tell the hand muscles to squeeze down.

Each of the above causes for impaired hands has its own treatment; thus, proper diagnosis is important.
