"The Tree Lighting has become a holiday tradition in the city of Westland," Wild said. "We'll be presenting Santa Claus a special key to our city that opens the hearts of the children in our All American City."

Police partner with managers to maintain apartment complexes

BY LEANNE ROGERS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Like other Westland residents, the majority of apartment dwellers go about their lives without causing any problems.

Now Westland police have joined forces with apartment complex management to be proactive in addressing that small element that may be causing problems.

"In talking with the managers of apartment complexes, we learned that they want to have a safe community and get rid of problem renters just as much as the police," Westland police Chief Alan Ramsden said. "One bad tenant can scare away five good tenants."

Beginning this month, managers at participating apartment complexes will receive a list of police runs to units in their development. It lets the managers see what incidents have been reported and gives them an opportunity to file a Freedom of Information Act request to get more information, if they have a concern. Some runs the manager may recognize as a minor incident, Ramsden said, but may want to follow up, if, for instance, a tenant reports being threatened by a neighbor.

"We won't charge them for the FOIA, if they are part of the program. We want to give them the most information that we can so they can be better managers and we'll be better police," Ramsden said. "The police department thinks

World War II veteran Sam Gagliano of Westland plays "Taps" during the Westland Veterans Day ceremony.

Veterans and active duty military members were honored and money was raised for a permanent memorial at a Veterans Day ceremony Thursday.

The Westland Veterans Association hosted the ceremony at the UAW Local 163 hall on Merriman — the city of Westland has not traditionally hosted a Veterans Day event.

Many segments of the community were represented at the program as the Wayne Memorial High School Junior ROTC posted the colors and Taps and a rifle ceremony were performed by members of the Sgt. Stanley Romanowski VFW Post 6896. Songs were performed by the Vocal Dimension, also from Wayne Memorial.

Noting it was the 92nd anniversary of the World War I armistice, keynote speaker state Rep. Richard LeBlanc (D-Westland) said Veterans Day is a time to remember the sacrifices of patri-

Man calls on Norwayne residents to get involved

BY LEANNE ROGERS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Having lived in Norwayne for about 50 years, Hank Johnson is passionate about his community.

"Norwayne has a very rich history. You can't look at national history without looking Norwayne's contributions," Johnson said. "Norwayne was constructed for the Arsenal of Democracy — it was quick inexpensive housing for workers at the Willow Run plant (during World War II). You look at the simple design of the houses — it was because they were so limited in resources and manpower."

While pleased with Westland's efforts to improve housing stock and reduce density in Norwayne, Johnson had concerns about the community itself when the only two schools in Norwayne were closed earlier this year.

"How do we develop community? It was a huge setback when Jefferson-Barns and Lincoln (elementary schools) were closed," Johnson said. "Schools bring community. We lost that ability to develop community."

So Johnson set out to get that ability to develop community. He called for a meeting the organizing committee of the Norwayne Citizens Council, which was recently held at the Dorsey Center.

The topics for discussion included a community garden, a community cleanup program, a community watch program and social assistance programs to help residents with food, utilities and other needs. About 20 residents attended.

"I think it's a good way to start. It's an opportunity to organize and make some decisions on where we want to this community organization to go," Johnson said.

Among those attending the meeting were Westland Community Development Director Joanne Inglis, who is based at the Dorsey Center and in charge of the city's Neighborhood Stabilization Plan. In Norwayne, the program has primarily acquired and

Wayne-Westland dedicates its Alternative Energies Park

BY SUE MASON
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Mother Nature offered up a beautiful fall day last Monday, with one exception: there was no wind.

That didn't matter to students who showed off their knowledge about wind turbines and solar panels during the dedication of the Alternative Energies Park at the William D. Ford Career Technical Center in Westland.

"We need a cut-in speed of 8 mph to start it working and it can go up to a maximum of 145 mph," said Nicolas Gonzalez, who was manning an information station for a wall-mounted, Michigan-made Cascade SWIFT wind turbine. "A SWIFT turbine can produce 1,200 kilowatts with an 11.2 mph annual average wind speed and 1,900 kilowatts with a 13.4 mph annual average wind speed."

The Redford Union High School student is enrolled in the center's new alternative enerots who risked and gave their lives for their country.

"You know the cost of freedom. You withstood the largest of challenges. Today, we reach out to say thanks to anyone who wore a uniform," LeBlanc said. "We pray for those who are still serving. Freedom comes at a horrendous price. We have to keep working hard to make the country worthy enough of your sacrifices."

Along with a video tribute to veterans, there were introductions of veterans including those who had been prisoners of war and former Tuskegee Airmen.

The Westland Veterans Association is working to raise money for the Westland Veterans Memorial Garden, which would be built in the western section of Central City Park. The memorial would include a pond and 10 markers with information about wars involving American military.

Renderings of the memorial garden by Alyssa Shirkey, a Lutheran Westland High School student who takes graphic design classes at the William Ford Career Tech Center, were unveiled at the ceremony. Her design is a tribute to her father Raymond Shirkey, who served in the U.S. Navy, including a year in Iraq.

"I want to thank the Westland Veterans Association for the opportunity to work with them on this tremendous project," said Steve Paulson, Shirkey's graphic arts instructor. "It will be a really nice place to visit and for teachers to bring classes."

The fund-raising efforts got a boost thanks to some large donations presented during the program. Wayne-Ford Civic League President Vic Barra, himself a veteran, presented a $6,300 donation on behalf of the league.

A $10,000 donation was presented by Rich Fisher, representing the Foundation for American Veterans. On behalf of the UAW International, the Ford Wayne Assembly Local 900 and Ford Motor Co., a $12,600 donation was made.

Central City Park has been closed since 2006 due to concerns about lead contamination. The park, ownership of which was recently transferred from Wayne County to the city, has 12 acres under remediation and is expected to be open to the public next year. The veterans memorial would be on adjoining parkland.

"One of the reasons we are here is to raise money for the Veterans Memorial Park. We couldn't have this event at a better time," Mayor William Wild said. "The remediation of Central City Park is under way. In the spring, there will be a fence around the pond, but don't be alarmed. The MDEQ (Michigan Department of Environmental Quality) thinks this will be a great addition to the park."

The city has a really unique opportunity to develop something special in that section of the park due to the memorial, Wild added.

Along with donations and a variety of fund-raising events, engraved memorial brick pavers are being sold and will be placed around the pond.

"There is no memorial like this anywhere. This is not just a memorial. We hope it will be used for teaching to let kids get an understanding about the history of the United States," said Ken Mehl, chairman of the Westland Veterans Association.

Community Watch keeps Holliday Park safe

BY LEANNE ROGERS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

When Westland police Chief Alan Ramsden mentions examples of parts of the city that have very little crime, Holliday Park Cooperative is an area that comes to mind.

One big reason is that since 1996, the 694-unit townhouses has had a Community Watch Night Patrol. Residents sign up to patrol the development three nights each year with a partner.

"It's a big job. First, you need to keep motivating people," said Jan Suchy, who coordinated the program since its inception and recently handed those duties over to a new coordinator.

The volunteers patrol for a minimum of three hours a shift and don't start much before midnight.

"We don't like them to start too early," said Suchy, who has lived at Holliday Park with husband Gene for nearly 40 years.

The patrols began in February 1996 in response to a rash of thefts from vehicles — Holliday Park has car ports but not garages.

"They were stealing air bags, which had just come out, CD players and the wheels off the cars," Suchy said. "It was getting serious. We started the program. We didn't hire a security guard — no one looks after yourself as well as the people who live here."

Each volunteer has their own route for patrolling Holliday Park, Gene Suchy said, adding the patrols will follow female residents arriving home late to make sure they get inside their unit safely.

"The patrols only call the police if they see something — they don't talk to them (a suspicious person)," Gene Suchy said.

It takes a lot of coordination, but Jan Suchy said the benefits of the night patrols make it worthwhile.

"We have no break-ins. It's very safe here and the police attribute it to the patrol," she said.

the apartments are important and is working hard to keep them as nice as they have been."

Westland's largest apartment complexes were approached to participate in the pilot program, including the more than 1,500-unit Landings, Country Court, Scotsdale, Willow Creek, Fountain Park and Westland Meadows Mobile Home Park.

"I hope to get a sense of security for residents. I want to get as much information as possible so we can act on it more appropriately," said Doris Silcox, property manager for the 229 units at Country Court, Country Village and Westland Woods apartments. "I look at it as another tool in deterring future issues that may arise from people moving in."

Country Court also is using a different company for background checks on prospective tenants, Silcox said, which provides more information, such as whether the person had been evicted from another apartment complex for criminal activities.

It's not a question of apartment complexes having higher crime problems, Ramsden said, but recognizing that Westland has a high number of apartments. In fact, the city has 53 apartment complexes with 9,587 units, which doesn't include 11 senior citizen apartment developments — which have 1,607 units — mobile home parks or the Holliday Park Cooperative townhouses.

"The apartments aren't going anywhere and Westland isn't going anywhere," Ramsden said. "This is a cooperative effort. It's important to us. We're not just giving lip service. We certainly have a huge number of apartments. A lot of crime comes from apartment complexes because so many people live there."

While hoping to expand the program to include more apartments and mobile home complexes, Ramsden said he didn't include condominiums since those developments don't have managers like other multiple residential developments.

Culinary arts instructor Chef Tony Paquette will be serving up a feast fit for Thanksgiving at his annual luncheon buffet benefit Wednesday, Nov. 17.

Students' feast to help feed needy families

BY SUE MASON
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Chef Tony Paquette is continuing a holiday tradition he started three years ago — a lavish Thanksgiving buffet aimed at helping to provide holiday meals for needy families in the Wayne-Westland Community Schools.

People are invited to stop by the William D. Ford Career Technical Center from 11:20 a.m. to 1:15 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 17, to enjoy the holiday feast that will be prepared and served by his culinary arts students. The cost is a minimum donation of $10 per person for the all-you-can-eat buffet.

"My goal is to have more than 200 people attend this year," Paquette said.

All of the proceeds will be used to purchase a Thanksgiving meal for Wayne-Westland families who are experiencing financial difficulties. The Wayne-Westland Family Resource Center will be providing the food baskets. Last year, funds raised through the buffet helped feed more than 40 families. With state's ongoing economic woes, Paquette knows there's even more need this year.

"We can feed a family of six for $40," he said. The event will feature a buffet table loaded with everything Thanksgiving, not to mention other entrees like fish and French pastries, all at food stations manned by students.

Paquette launched the benefit buffet in 2007 by inviting in a few friends for a Thanksgiving lunch. In exchange for a sumptuous meal, they dropped cash and checks into a fish bowl destined for the district's Family Resource Center.

He has since switched it to a minimum donation to help raise as much money as possible for the food baskets.

People who can't attend the buffet can still help by sending checks to the Family Resource Center at 36745 Marquette, Westland, MI 48186. Checks should be made payable to the WWCS Family Resource Center.

People in need of help can contact resource center Director Amanda Faughnan at (734) 419-2709 or by e-mail at faughnana@wwcsd.net.

The Great American Smokeout

Nov. 18 marks the 35th Great American Smokeout, when Americans who smoke can pledge to quit for 24 hours. Because smoking and second-hand smoke are linked to so many health problems (cancer, stroke, heart attack and lung diseases), the hope is that 24 hours will be the first step toward quitting completely. Kicking the habit is difficult, but a day away from cigarettes can lead to a lifetime of not smoking.

According to the Center for Disease Control (CDC), smoking accounts for one in five deaths each year. Approximately 46 million people smoke in the United States as a whole, and 20.5 percent of adults in Michigan smoke cigarettes, which is over 1 1/2 million people. In May of this year, the state enacted a ban on smoking in restaurants and bars to combat secondhand smoke.

Contemplating quitting? The Center for Disease Control, American Cancer Society, and American Lung Association websites provide information on quitting, as well as some surprising statistics. The Public Library of Westland owns a number of books on smoking cessation, such as "The Easy Way to Stop Smoking" by Carr and "Stop Smoking Naturally" by Ashelman. If you're interested in the history of smoking, try "The Cigarette Century: The Rise, Fall and Deadly Persistence of the Product That Defined America" by Brandt or "Tobacco in History" by Goodman.

For more information on quitting smoking, smoking prevention, or tobacco use throughout history, visit the Westland Public Library or call (734) 326-6123. You can also search the online catalog at www.westlandlibrary.org.

gies program that offers hands-on training on green careers. At the heart of the program is the equipment acquired through a $1 million Renewable Energy Education Grant offered through the state of Michigan.

The park includes three wind turbines — a 33-foot tall Sky Stream wind turbine erected near the gazebo between the center and the district's administrative offices; the Cascade SWIFT, which is mounted on the south side of the center near the auto technology; and a four-foot tall Bergey turbine, which is being used in the classroom. There also is a solar array panel set up near the Sky Stream, biofuel equipment, a biomass converter and a weather station.

"It's hands-on, it's really exciting," Gonzalez said. "At first I thought it was robotics, but when I heard it was alternative energy, I jumped in. I plan on going into alternative energy after I'm out of school."

State, school and local officials toured the park, stopping to hear from the students.

"This is incredible," Westland Mayor William Wild said. "These are the jobs of the future. The students seem very excited and are very knowledgeable."

During his time in office, Wild has established a Mission: Green program aimed at cutting Westland's carbon footprint. His go green push prompted city Controller William Gabriel to point out the mayor to Gonzalez.

"You need to pitch it to the mayor that we need wind turbines and solar panels to reduce energy costs," said Gabriel, who also is a Wayne-Westland school board

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY TECHNOLOGY

The Alternative Energy Technology class at the William D. Ford Career Technical Center is designed to introduce and develop the basic skills necessary to succeed in new "green" and high-tech programs. Students explore the basic concepts of solar power and its applications with an emphasis on photovoltaic systems. They also analyze the modern application and utilization of wind power, concentrating on the use of different-sized wind turbines for use in urban, rural and industrial areas. The course also explores biomass production and includes alternative fuels used in generating electricity. The training offers a choice of occupations — electronics mechanic apprentice, consumer engineering specialist, electronics tester/assembler, electro/mechanical technician, panel wiper, prototype technician, solar panel or wind turbine installer and solar panel or wind turbine repair and maintenance technician.

"Solar and wind power can get energy costs down, but not without a cost. It takes time to get these things going," Gonzalez said. "As technology improves, the cost will go down."

Brion Dickens of Woodland Wind LLC in Pigeon had the task of installing the equipment. In fact, he has the job of installing the same setup at 15 schools around the state which received the grant. With Wayne-Westland's done, he has 13 more to do by next May.

"When we do biomass, there's nothing more exciting than to see students shredding books and creating pellets and then tell them it'll heat the superintendent's office. It puts a smile on their faces," he said. "One day when we have kids playing on a playground under a 65-kilowatt turbine, that will be the norm."

"Michigan undeniably is going green, and Wayne-Westland and the William D. Ford Career Technical Center must stay on the cutting edge to prepare students for the jobs of the future and this equipment does just that," said Steven Kay, the center's principal.

Wayne-Westland School Supt. Greg Baracy told guests that the district has and will continue to go green.

"It's a pathway for our students to successful jobs now and the ones we don't know exist in the future," he said. "Integral part of what we do is to prepare them for the future and we have to adapt our curriculum. Wayne-Westland will continue to prepare our students for green jobs."

The Alternative Energy Park is a work in progress. Yet to be built is a green house with solar panels, according to Nolan Edwards, a junior at Lutheran High School Westland, who was fielding questions about the Bergey turbine.

"Going into alternative energy includes robotics and electrical. With this you get a lot more time to learn," he said.

Pointing out that Germany is leading the way on solar power, Gonzalez noted that the United States should not buying all of its energy needs.

"We shouldn't take it all in and not give anything back," he said. "That's why this is so great for the environment."

demolished dilapidated properties.

"I think it's fabulous. It's the missing link in what we have been trying to do in Norwayne," Inglis said. "When Neighborhood Stabilization came out, it was rush, rush, rush to get the program; rush, rush, rush to buy properties. There was no talk of involving residents. I should have thought of this — it was tickling at the back of my brain."

Having recently been talking with Mayor William Wild about working with the Norwayne community, Inglis was pleased when Johnson contacted her.

"You can't change a community without working with the community. I'm thrilled that Hank has all this passion and initiative," Inglis said. "We have had so much emphasis on the physical and not the humanitarian."

The group will meet again at 5 p.m. Jan. 10 at the Dorsey Center. In the meantime, Johnson is putting together a newsletter that will include information on a support program that might be useful to Norwayne residents.

"I'm also looking for historical photos of Norwayne," Johnson said. He can be reached at (734) 444-8344.

FOUR SEASONS REHABILITATION AND NURSING

GREAT STAFF. GREAT CARE.

The Rehabilitation Masters at Four Seasons Are Changing Lives Every Day

PATIENTS RECOVER ON THE LATEST EQUIPMENT TO RELEARN SKILLS SUCH AS WALKING, EATING AND SPEAKING

FOUR SEASONS REHAB MANAGER MANOJ THAMPY WITH MONIKA SARIN, OCCUPATIONAL THERAPIST

Are you in need of rehabilitative therapy after knee replacement, hip surgery or stroke? Let Four Seasons' physical, occupational and speech therapists get you on your feet and back home. Individualized rehabilitation planning begins with an assessment to determine the functioning level needed once a patient returns to daily living. Therapists ask about home layout and whether a patient lives alone or cares for a loved one. An orthopedic specialist is on call to provide prosthesis and braces when required. Modalities such as therapeutic ultrasound help manage pain.

"They have to get better for independent living," said Monika Sarin, Occupational Therapist. "I know I can change their lives and make a difference in what they do."

Throughout the week patients receive one-on-one attention. A typical session allows patients to work on stretching and strengthening muscles after knee, hip and replacement surgeries.

"It's nice when a patient chooses to return to Four Seasons after a second surgery..."

Manoj Thampy, Four Seasons Rehab Manager

Chronic heart failure and COPD patients benefit from training on precautions to take to avoid hospitalization. Group therapy on Fridays offers the opportunity to exercise, play games and socialize.

In addition to patients recovering from orthopedic surgery and stroke, Four Seasons provides standardized testing for Alzheimer's/Dementia. The results are used to determine skills that need to be relearned such as hand to mouth coordination for eating and bladder retraining for toileting. During the summer, spring and autumn months a walking path helps reduce anxiety.

"We provide quality care, 5 to 6 days a week," said Manoj Thampy, rehab manager. "We're well known for treating neuro, orthopedic and cardiac patients. We always try to send the patient home as early as we can and provide home evaluation to make sure they are safe in the home."

Garden City woman has emotional Vets Day as husband deploys

BY SUE BUCK
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Veterans Day especially tugged at Emily Smith's heart this year.

That's because she just said goodbye Nov. 4 to her husband Sgt. Tony Smith. He was deployed and will be sent off to Afghanistan in mid-December after training in Texas.

"About 30 people from the community came to my house," said Emily Smith, who has lived in Garden City for four years. "I was overwhelmed by the support from the community. I wasn't expecting it. I was touched."

Interim Garden City Fire Chief Catherine Harman helped to plan the sendoff.

Sgt. Smith is a 20-year service member of the Army National Guard serving out of the 1776 Military Police Company in Taylor.

He and his wife, Emily, who was also a sergeant in the 1776 Military Police sister company out of Pontiac, were deployed in Kuwait and Iraq, serving from May 2003 to August 2004.

Both of their units were activated during Hurricane Katrina and served in that operation in support of the relief effort, according to Harman.

Emily Smith said that one of her greatest honors while serving her country was it afforded her the opportunity to serve American citizens. Having served six years with the National Guard, Emily is now studying nursing at Madonna University in Livonia.

Tony Smith has an 8-year-old daughter, Hannah, and a huge extensive family that love and support him, but many are out of state and could not attend the sendoff, Harman said.

Members of the Garden City Fire Department, the Garden City Police Department and the American Legion Garden City Post, along with council member Joanne Dodge and her husband, and the Smiths' friends and neighbors came out that afternoon to spend time with Tony and Emily.

That's why Emily appreciated the Veterans Day ceremony Nov. 11 in Garden City.

"It was kind of hard for me because of my husband going," she said.

She has been able to talk to Tony because he is still in Texas. "When he goes to Afghanistan, I don't know how we are going to communicate," she said. "They have the Internet there, but they don't know to what extent or how many computers they have."

Woman reports two thefts by visitors

A woman who lives in the 31500 block of Krauter called police twice to complain that two male acquaintances on separate occasions took money from her while they were in her apartment on Nov. 8.

In the first incident which occurred before 3 p.m., a witness in her apartment reported that a man took $250 from the woman's pants pocket while she was taking a shower.

Obtaining a description of the man, the police were able to find the man sitting at a nearby bus stop at Ford and Dillon.

He had a white bag with his personal belongings beside him.

The suspect admitted taking money from the woman and that he also stole her Bridge card, a credit card, a Michigan ID card and some of her DVDs.

Upon further investigation, the police learned that he had a fail to appear warrant from 28th District Court in Southgate and he was arrested.

In a second incident reported about 10 p.m. the same day, the woman, now intoxicated, accused another man of taking $250 from her pants pocket while she was sleeping.

When the police asked the woman how she knew this happened if she was sleeping, the woman said that she believed that the man stole the money sometime during the time they were having sex.

The man was described as about 24 years old with an unknown address. There was little other information about him.

Theft

Officers were flagged down by people in a Chevy Suburban in the area of Elmwood and Gilman about 11 p.m. Nov. 9.

They said that a vehicle owner in the 6300 block of Helen saw a man on a bicycle slit the cloth top on his Jeep.

The Jeep owner went after the bicyclist but wasn't able to find him. The police found two half filled prescription bottles of medication which belonged to the Westland Jeep owner. He also reported that a mag flashlight and a pair of sunglasses were stolen from the Jeep.

Fraud

A 55-year-old Garden City man said that someone used his company credit card to make a purchase sometime between Aug. 1 to Oct. 31 without his permission.

He said realized that in that the July credit card was missing. Because he travels a lot, the man said he didn't notice the charges immediately.

His neighbor takes in his mail while he travels but the man didn't suspect the neighbor of wrongdoing.

Someone fraudulently made purchases with the credit card at the Kroger store in Garden City, a Speedway station and at a CVS Pharmacy.

Suspended license

A officer working in the Middlebelt and Dawson area said that when he ran a license plate Nov. 8, he wasn't able to find any information about it in the computer system.

He found that the 31-year-old Inkster woman who was the driver, also had numerous suspensions on her license and she was arrested.

Stolen trailer

A resident who lives in the 39712 block of Elmwood reported that someone stole his trailer before 8 a.m. Nov. 8 by removing a lock. It contained several items including an all terrain vehicle and a spare tire.

'Look Good ... Feel Better'

A little makeup helps cancer patient

Like most women, Joy Harper of Westland loves to look her best when she leaves her house. She puts on her makeup and instantly feels good. Her commitment to feeling and looking her best is even stronger this year after being diagnosed with lung cancer and undergoing chemotherapy and radiation.

"Joy always looks beautiful, she is always wearing makeup and has a variety of different scarves that she wraps around her head," said Jeri Davis, Botsford Cancer Center social worker. "Her scarves are always coordinated perfectly with her outfits. Because of her strong commitment to always look her best, I knew she would love the American Cancer Society's Look Good ... Feel Better program that we offer at Botsford."

The Look Good ... Feel Better program provides information and cosmetic advice to women battling cancer. The program is free, supportive, informative, and includes hands-on instruction on makeup, skin care and suggestions for using wigs, turbans and scarves. In addition, a gift bag with popular skin care and makeup companies is given to all participants.

When Harper attended the program in August, she was one of 10 participants undergoing breast or lung cancer.

"We were all going through different stages of treatment and were losing hair at different rates, but like most women we all wanted to look and feel our best," Harper said. "I was the only woman that came in with makeup on, and I told the group that this is one small way that I can feel better and not look like a cancer patient."

"The class was extremely beneficial and great fun, it was like a grown-up makeup party and reminded me of the times my granddaughter would put makeup on me," she added.

People do not have to be a Botsford patient to attend. Those interested in attending a Look Good ... Feel Better program at the Botsford Cancer Center can call (248) 471-8120. You do not have to be a Botsford patient to attend.

Botsford Hospital is a multi-specialty community hospital with 330 licensed beds located in Farmington Hills. For more information, go online to www.botsford.org or www.twitter.com/BotsfordNews.

Prizm gives hope to pain sufferers

BY DARRELL CLEM
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Michael Adams has suffered debilitating back pain since he fell off a roof three years ago while repairing an air conditioner.

Adams, 50, isn't sure he'll ever get to return to his building maintenance job, but he longs to ease his chronic pain enough to do simple chores like mowing the lawn.

He and wife Monica have new hope after finding Prizm Pain Specialists, a new Canton-based medical center at 6200 N. Haggerty, north of Ford.

"I'd love to get rid of the pain," Adams said, "but I'd be tickled to death if I can just reduce it by 50 percent."

His latest hope comes from a small device — a spinal cord stimulator — that one of Prizm's doctors, Jeffrey Rosenberg, expects to implant in his back. It delivers tiny doses of electricity to transform the pain into a signal the brain interprets as a pleasant sensation.

"He'll feel a humming instead of pain," Rosenberg said. "One patient described it to me as a warm humming."

Adams will get a hand-held device he can use to turn the spinal cord stimulator on or off.

"He'll have a remote control," Rosenberg said.

It's only one of many approaches Rosenberg, business partner Dr. Jeffrey Kimpson and nearly 30 other employees offer at Prizm, a former Allstate insurance claims center transformed with $3.5 million into an 18,000-square-foot pain-management center.

Prizm incorporates medical, behavioral, pharmaceutical, physical, interventional and therapeutic disciplines to treat pain, whether it's caused by injuries, cancer, chronic headaches, wounds, multiple sclerosis, shingles, arthritis, degenerative disc disease, diabetic neuropathy or other medical conditions.

One patient may need pain medication or injections, another may benefit from psychiatry and still another may opt for alternative medicine such as acupuncture, said Michael Humphries, a registered nurse, Prizm executive director and practice manager.

Prizm continues to roll out its broad-based approach to easing pain, and coming weeks will bring amenities such as a yoga center and a pharmacy for a 500-plus patient base that has steadily grown since the center opened in September. Rosenberg said pain not only causes physical discomfort, it also often leads to emotional despair and depression.

Patients as young as 18 have sought treatment at Prizm, Humphries said, "and our oldest patient right now is 97."

Statistics indicate that over 22 percent of American adults suffer from severe chronic pain, and the National Institute of Health has said 39 million people can't find relief.

With that said, Humphries said anyone seeking to dupe Prizm just to abuse prescription drugs or sell them should forget it.

"We're very strict with prescribing narcotics," he said.

Consider how:

- Patients sign an elaborate contract that sets rules for appropriate use of drugs.
- Prizm has access to a database to track prescriptions written in Michigan.
- Medical personnel closely monitor quantities of medications prescribed.
- Random drug screening is used to ensure patients are taking only prescribed doses of drugs. This also helps guard against people who might seek drugs, not take them and sell them.

"Our purpose is to improve the quality of life for our patients and not to have drugs sold on the street," Humphries said.

Rosenberg, meanwhile, said it is his goal — and that of other Prizm employees — to improve the quality of life for patients like Michael Adams, whose back pain has persisted for three years. Rosenberg said patients deserve a chance to enjoy their families, take their dogs for walks, remain as productive as possible.

"We want to give them hope," he said.

Canton Muslims eye another worship center

BY DARRELL CLEM
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

A proposed Canton Islamic Center, giving area Muslims another place to worship, could move a step closer within two weeks as the township's elected officials decide a special land use request for a site off Ford Road west of Canton Center.

Muslim leaders hope to convert a ranch house situated between two businesses — the Ford Road Auto Clinic and Canton Power Equipment — into an Islamic Center where no more than 50 people would gather for services.

The proposal comes as the growing Muslim Community of Western Suburbs, with a mosque and school on the northwest corner of Palmer and Lotz, seeks a second place in Canton where area Muslims can worship.

The Canton Township Board of Trustees is expected to decide a special land use request during its Nov. 23 meeting, following a 6-0 vote of support the Islamic Center received Nov. 1 from the local planning commission.

Some who work or live near the proposed site have indicated support for the project.

"I have no problem with it," auto clinic owner David Henneberry said on the night Islamic Center supporters packed the planning commission meeting. "You guys are all neighbors, and there's going to be more neighbors it looks like. Just as long as we live together good and everything goes smooth, I have no problem with it."

However, some residents from nearby Cobblestone Ridge didn't appear as receptive to the plans.

"I have serious objections about how the traffic is going to work," resident Matthew Stacey said, suggesting the Islamic Center would be better suited in a commercial district.

Angela Wolosiewicz, township planner, said the project's conceptual plan includes a new bypass lane on the south side of Ford Road to allow traffic to go around vehicles waiting to turn into the Islamic Center on the north side of Ford. However, she said any required improvements would be dictated by the Michigan Department of Transportation.

In a separate matter, construction crews this summer already have been working to improve the nearby Ford-Beck intersection, though wider lanes don't stretch to the proposed Islamic Center site.

Township Treasurer Melissa McLaughlin, also a planning commissioner, said the Islamic Center locating in a residentially zoned neighborhood would be no different than most other religious institutions.

"They typically always are located in a (residential) neighborhood," she said. Jim Campbell, a resident who lives just north of the site, sought assurance that pine trees wouldn't be removed so his property would continue to be shielded. Township officials said the trees would remain.

"I don't mind churches, synagogues, mosques, etc.," Campbell said. "I'm just voicing a concern as an immediate neighbor about property values, such as they may be nowadays."

Muslim representatives have said small numbers of people would worship for brief periods at various times during the day, though not typically during rush-hour times. At most, they have said, no more than 50 people would attend the busiest services Friday evenings.

Muslim leaders have said those who worship at the site will include professionals — doctors, engineers and others — who live in or near Canton and who want good things for their community. According to township officials, the new Islamic Center would include prayer rooms for men and women, as well as four offices.

Meanwhile, the expected vote Nov. 23 by the township board would be only the latest in a series of decisions. If officials approve the special land use, then Muslim leaders still have to come back to the planning commission and the township board to seek approval for a detailed site plan.

Accounting Aid Society needs tax volunteers

Volunteers interested in preparing income taxes for low to middle income neighbors for the upcoming tax season can register now for training with Accounting Aid Society.

Accounting Aid Society is the largest free volunteer income tax assistance preparation service in Michigan and has more than 35 years of tax experience. This year, the nonprofit agency prepared taxes and credits for more than 17,600 households in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and Livingston counties and returned $21.2 million to the region. The average refund was $1,300 — money saved and spent locally that helped struggling families, seniors and other neighbors stay in their homes, keep their utilities turned on, put food on the table and save for the future.

Training consists of tax law and tax software and is available at nine locations in the tri-county area, including local colleges and universities. Training is for those expected to prepare taxes free of charge and are not designed for paid preparers expecting to charge clients for services.

Tax volunteers will be able to choose to serve at more than 20 free tax locations Accounting Aid Society will operate during the main January through April tax season, and at five year-round tax centers.

For more information and to register, go to Accounting Aid Society's website at www.accountingaid.org or call toll-free (866) 673-0873.

Historian helps engineer automotive book fair

BY GREG KOWALSKI
ECCENTRIC STAFF WRITER

Charlie Hyde knows the history of automobiles, but it's the men behind them that he finds most fascinating.

"It's an interesting collection of people," he said. Henry Ford lords above all the rest, but there were so many more, like Charles Nash, whom Hyde described as "very admirable ... a guy who was honest, modest and never had great ambitions."

Then there was Walter Chrysler, who refused to live in the Auto Capital of America because it couldn't compete with Broadway in New York City. So he commuted by train, spending weekdays somewhere (no one is sure exactly where) in Detroit and weekends in the Big Apple.

Hyde's favorite? The Dodge brothers. "They were so contradictory," he said. John and Horace Dodge were known for a time as much for their drinking and brawling as their engineering skills.

Hyde knows all their foibles. He wrote perhaps the definitive book on them: The Dodge Brothers: The Men, the Motor Cars, and the Legacy. He also authored two other highly regarded books on the auto industry: Riding the Roller Coaster: A History of the Chrysler Corporation and Storied Independent Automakers: Nash, Hudson, and American Motors. The latter book won a prestigious Society of Automotive Historians award in 2009.

You can meet Hyde, along with more than two dozen other auto authors, at the Automotive Authors Book Fair, set for 2-5 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 20, at the Skillman Branch of the Detroit Public Library, 121 Gratiot, in Detroit.

Hyde, a Royal Oak resident, founded the book fair with Birmingham auto enthusiast and author John Bluth five years ago. Bluth died a few years ago, but the book fair he helped start is bigger than ever.

"We noticed that there were other types of book fairs," Hyde said. And with Detroit's association with the auto industry, an automotive book fair was a natural. The fair has grown each year. Last year's fair drew about 300 people. "We're hoping to improve on last year's turnout," Hyde said.

There's a lot to entice fans of automobiles. Participating authors span the spectrum of products, from Randy Leffingwell's books on the Porsche to John Vucic's examination of the Yugo — "the worst car in history."

The authors will sign and sell books. Guest speakers will include Arthur Einstein, author of Ask the Man Who Owns One: An Illustrated History of Packard Advertising, and Paul Ingrassia, author of Crash Course: The American Automobile Industry's Road From Glory to Disaster.

The fair is free and there is free parking in the area and for $5 at the Compuware visitor lot next door.

HISTORY LESSON

Hyde taught history at Wayne State University for 40 years before retiring recently.

"When I came to Detroit, I didn't have any particular interest in the auto industry," he said. "Then I got interested in the abandoned auto factories."

He was hired by the Chrysler Corp. in the early 1980s to document the old Dodge Main plant, which was being shuttered at the time. Given access to the normally closed Chrysler archives, he got a unique look into the auto industry.

And he was hooked. Over the years, he developed a reputation as an expert on the companies and characters who made the cars.

"It has been a cutting-edge industry for a long, long time," he said. Unlike other consumer products, cars carry a special connotation — they sport their creators' names.

You can learn all about them at the Automotive Authors Book Fair.

Charlie Hyde is an authority on the auto industry. He will be among those at the Automotive Authors Book Fair Saturday.

Buying retirement home too early can be risky

Dear Rick: I got divorced a few months ago and have received my property settlement. In addition, I have to be out of the house by the end of the year. I'm not sure whether I should buy or rent at this point in time. I am in my early 60s and I plan on working for another two to three years. After that, I want to move to either Arizona or Florida. I have enough from my property settlement to pay cash for a house. My feeling is that since property is so low here in Michigan, I might as well buy something and then sell it a couple of years down the road. Do you think this makes sense or is there something else you would suggest? I am thinking that it may make sense to buy a place in Florida or Arizona, too. What are your thoughts?

A: I don't recommend buying anything. Take the money and invest it. Considering that you are only going to live here another few years, buying in Michigan doesn't make sense. I know you're thinking that with homes so inexpensive, it seems logical that property will increase over the next few years. I don't agree. I would love to say that housing prices will start rising once again, however, I can't be certain of that.

Michigan's economy needs to in southeast Michigan and throughout the country. And as of yet, many of those foreclosed homes are not back on the market. As those homes gradually enter the market, it will have a negative impact on home prices. Let's face facts — Michigan has lost population and with high unemployment it could be a while before property values start moving upward again. Based upon all of these reasons and that you're only going to be in the house a few years, it makes no sense to buy in Michigan at this point in time.

Redford native Proben among golf's elite

BY JIM TOTH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Grip it, rip it and win it? Maybe it wasn't quite that simple, but that certainly was the formula used by Redford native Thomas Proben to bring home the title of World Champion from the 2010 RE/MAX World Long Drive Championship recently concluded in Mesquite, Nev.

With bombs off the tee traveling better than 360 yards, Proben was able to get past three-time champion Mike Gorton in the semifinals and outduel longball-hitting Miguel Jaime in the finals. The efforts earned Proben the honor of being named World Champion of the Grand Champions Division (55 and over) for 2010.

"It all happened so fast it was like I was sitting at Disneyworld," Proben described. "I was like 'Wow, where am I?' This is great. All that hard work has paid off."

It was the second straight year the Redford Thurston grad and former Eastern Michigan golf standout has qualified for the prestigious event, which attracts competitors from more than 15 countries and this year issued a purse of more than $450,000 in winnings.

Standing on the tee box with his 50-inch driver sporting a five-degree Alpha Club head and Enzo Golf Sniper shaft, Proben claimed the championship on his final swing that rocketed the golf ball 366 yards from impact. The best Jaime could do was 348 yards.

Proben's significant margin of victory was a duplicate of his semifinal performance in which his 365-yard slam easily bested the 345-yard launch by Gorton.

"It was pretty entertaining for everyone there because it was so dramatic," the 5-foot-10, 173-pound Proben said of his finals' feat. "It was like a baseball game in the ninth inning with the bases loaded, two out and the three-two pitch coming."

Please see PROBEN, B3

Redford native Thomas Proben is all smiles holding up the winner's check, presented by Mesquite (Nev.) Mayor Susan Holecheck, for bringing home the gold in the Grand Champions Division of the 2010 Re/Max World Long Drive Championships.

Ladywood senior Caitlin McClorey goes up for the attack in Thursday's Class B regional championship match against Carleton Airport. The 6-foot-1 senior had eight kills in the Blazers' convincing win.

Blazers roll back in to quarterfinal play

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Halloween has come and gone, but Livonia Ladywood is becoming a frightening team for Class B volleyball opponents.

The Blazers were scary good Thursday night, capturing the regional title at New Boston Huron with a decisive 25-12, 25-23, 25-16 victory over Carleton Airport.

Ladywood, now 36-19-2 overall, will play once again in the state quarterfinals beginning at 7 p.m. Tuesday at Milan. It will be a rematch with DeWitt, which lost to the Blazers in three sets last year.

"We definitely came ready to play," said 10th-year Ladywood coach Erin Craggs, who notched her third regional crown. "We had a great practice yesterday. We were a little scared about preparing after Tuesday night's (easy) match, but they came ready to play led by the seniors — who just played phenomenally. They did a great job."

Middle blocker Katy Rooney, a 6-foot-1 senior, did a bulk of the damage offensively for the Blazers with 15 kills.

"We've been practicing really hard all week and make sure we keep up our intensity with hitting," said Rooney, who is bound for Lafayette College (Pa.).

"We had to shut down number five (Janelle Nagy, eight kills) obviously. She's a great player and just focus on our game plan, and keep our defense up, and making sure we could hit well because that's what we do well — hit and block.

"Everyone needs to be on every night. It starts with defense."

Caitlin McClorey, a 6-1 senior, contributed eight kills, while Cheyenne Woodall and Kenzie Kettner added five and four, respectively for the Blazers.

"They're huge and we're much shorter," said Airport coach Barb Munch-Kohn said. "We didn't step up to the tempo right away. We had to execute very well for us to beat that size of a team. And they just kept attacking us. They're going to do well. I would imagine they're going to see North Branch in the semifinals."

After getting blown out in the first set, Airport (39-12-2) tried to make it a match despite falling behind by as many as five points in the second set. The Jets closed to within 24-23, but Ladywood junior setter Alexandra Hines (30 assists) came up with the set clinching block and the Blazers were home free.

"We were just trying to beat their block high off the block and looking for the

Chargers continue to dominate regional play

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Livonia Churchill finds itself in a familiar spot when it comes to the state Class A volleyball tournament.

The Chargers secured their seventh regional championship in eight years under coach Mark Grenier with a 25-13, 25-16, 25-12 triumph Thursday night over Ferndale before a noisy and spirited home crowd.

Churchill, now 47-7-2 overall, faces Temperance Bedford in the state quarterfinals beginning at 7 p.m. Tuesday at Saline. (The winner of the Elite Eight match moves into the state semifinals, 7:15 p.m. Friday, Nov. 19, at Battle Creek's Kellogg Arena.)

"We played pretty well," Grenier said of his back-to-back regional tourney conquest.

"Ferndale has a couple of nice pieces and it was nice to play at home. We had a great crowd and they gave us great energy, and I think our kids feasted on that as well. We were ready and we played a good match."

Senior setter Cory Urbats continued her sterling play with 32 assist-to-kills.

One of the primary recipients of her passing was 6-foot junior middle hitter Erin Menard, who finished with 16 kills and two solo blocks.

Emily Norscia, a 6-1 sophomore, chipped in with 14 kills and two blocks.

Defensively, senior Kara Kempinski led the way with 27 digs as the Chargers notched their second straight regional title.

"I think our girls were a bit nervous, especially in the opening game," said Ferndale coach Shannon Pietras. "It was a tough atmosphere on their home court. They had a lot of fans there, but so did we. It was pretty loud in there."

"We were a little better in second game, but it just came down to passing and they just

Ferrick is first team

Freshman Amanda Ferrick of Madonna University was named to the All-Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference first-team in women's soccer.

Second-team selections included junior goalkeeper Brittany Warner (Plymouth), who had three shutouts and an 0.93 goals-against average, along with senior defender Katie Kozlowski.

Third-teamers included junior Chelsea Shrewsbury and sophomore Lauryn Dostilio.

Senior Sarah Rokuski was named to the WHAC Champions of Character team as the student-athlete who displays the NAIA's five core values.

First-year coach Jeff Hodgson, who guided the Crusaders to a 3-6-7 record, was selected by his peers as Coach of Character.

Named to the Academic All-WHAC were juniors Diana Brda (Livonia Franklin), Chelsea Gregg (Livonia Clarenceville) and Nicole Rodriguez, along with Kozlowski, Rokuski and Warner.

To be selected, a junior or senior student-athlete must have a cumulative grade-point average of 3.25 or higher.

MU men's honors

The 8-6 Madonna University men's soccer team landed three players on the All-Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference second team including senior midfielder-defender Ogbemudia Iyoha, sophomore defender Franco Giorgi and freshman striker Mustapha Olorunnimbe.

Named to the All-WHAC third team was sophomore goalkeeper Parker Laabs (Canton), who had three shutouts and a 1.42 goals-against average, along with senior midfielder Jacob Rosiek.

Junior midfielder Mosato Morioka (Northville) earned the WHAC's Champions of Character team as the student-athlete who best displays the NAIA's five core values of respect, responsibility, servant leadership and sportsmanship.

middle of the court," Kohn said. "We're not very tall ... we had to do a better job of scoring points, and serving aggressively, which we did, and do the little things and try and get the passing game where we could get a little more of a one-on-one situation. But they're a great team. They watched every one of our (semifinal) games on Tuesday. So they knew what we were doing."

Defensively, junior libero Kristine Aurand led Ladywood with 19 digs, while Kettner, a junior outside hitter, added 15.

"I couldn't congratulate all of them individually, but I just had to give them one big team effort - defense, passing, setting, attacking," Craggs said. "Everything was clicking tonight."

And it's been a tough season-long schedule which has also helped in the Blazers' state tournament run.

"My pregame talk to them was: 'This is why we go to the west side of the state three times,'" Craggs said. "This why we play (Farmington Hills) Mercy and (Birmingham) Marian three times - to prepare for matches like this.' And I think that definitely helped tonight."

overpowered us. They are a very good team and they have some strong girls. All the credit goes to Churchill.

"We faced some tough teams this year, but I think they were the toughest team we've played in the past three weeks. I knew they were going to be tough and we were going to have to raise our game, but we just couldn't raise it to the level we needed."

Ferndale was led statistically by junior Kelsey Wilson, a 6-foot-1 middle hitter who had nine kills, one block and one ace. Senior outside hitter Alexis Smitowski finished with four kills and senior setter Rachel Burnham added 15 assists.

Junior defensive specialist Molly Breen-Bondie added 10 digs.

Churchill now turns its attention to Bedford, which improved to 64-10-2 overall by capturing the Wyandotte Roosevelt regional crown Thursday night with a 25-10, 25-17, 25-18 triumph over Westland John Glenn.

The Kicking Mules beat Churchill in their only meeting (Sept. 25) in the Bedford Tournament, 25-23, 25-22.

"Bedford gets a swing on just about every ball," Grenier said. "And they're good looking swings. They're well coached and they put a lot of pressure on you. We just have to make sure we get sideouts, score and get balls in transition."

In the last meeting between the two teams, Churchill's 6-1 sophomore middle blocker Marissa Pomaville was out with an injury.

"We hope she's the X-factor just with her presence because the last time they put a lot of pressure on our middle," Grenier said. "We're excited to see how far we've been able to come during the second half of the season."

Junior Masters champ

Westland's Jordan Hornes is headed to the U.S. Bowling Congress Junior Gold Championships next July in Las Vegas after capturing the Metro Detroit USBC Association Junior Masters boys title recently with a 266-217 victory over Blake Nottle of Macomb Township in the stepladder finals held at Royal Lanes in Warren. Hornes, who attends John Glenn High School, was the top qualifier with a six-game total of 1,411.

Bedford ends Glenn run in regional final

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Westland John Glenn girls volleyball coach Sharon Hubbard said she had “no complaints” after her squad fell Thursday in three straight to perennial state power Temperance Bedford, 25-10, 15-17, 25-19, in the Class A regional finals at Wyandotte.

The Rockets, who bowed out at 23-17-5 overall, found themselves on their heels after losing quickly in the opening set.

“The first game we were a little overwhelmed by what we were seeing,” Hubbard said. “We went into the huddle and we said to ourselves, ‘There’s nothing surprising anymore.’ We just had to make something happen and we came out fighting the second game and then I thought we played some of our best volleyball.”

Senior Halie Baker finished with nine kills, three solo blocks and two block assists to lead the Rockets’ offensive attack.

Claire Truskowski and Brooke Zywick each served two aces, while setter Sarah Headrick had 10 assists.

Zywick, meanwhile, recorded a team-best 36 digs.

“I thought we served well and they (Bedford) had some off passes, but their setter (Mallory Lenhart) is talented, and they still got it to number 18 (Emily Blank) and number seven (Anna Hays).”

Hubbard gave all the kudos to Bedford’s attacking style.

“They swing away – over the block, around the block and through the block,” the first-year Glenn coach said. “They’re a good team. They deserve all the credit. We just got beat by a better team.”

Madonna spikers miss out on WHAC finals

The No. 24-ranked Madonna University women’s volleyball team saw the 2010 season come to an end Friday night with a 25-19, 25-12, 25-14 loss at the hands of Aquinas College in the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference semifinals held inside the Schaefer Center in Fort Wayne, Ind.

The Crusaders, who finished the season 29-10 overall, never got the offense untracked against the Saints, who entered play sporting a 29-11 ledger as they connected at a -0.109 rate and were guilty of 38 errors.

The opening set proved to be the tightest of all with six ties and four lead changes. With the contest deadlocked at 19-all following a block from MU sophomore Anastasija Baranovska and senior Liz Dempsey, the Saints went on a 6-0 run to close the set and claim the six-point victory.

MU’s offense went quiet in the second set as five straight errors allowed Aquinas to jump on top 8-2. The Saints never looked back as they rolled to the decisive 13-point victory.

The story wasn’t much different in the third set as the Saints again proved dominant and advanced onto the WHAC’s championship match.

Junior Karie Altman paced the MU attack with nine kills and two digs. Senior Megan Fricke chalked up seven kills to go along with nine digs and redshirt junior Amanda Koszela totaled 12 digs. Dempsey finished with 12 digs and four kills and redshirt freshman Evia Frieditis contributed six digs and handed out 22 assists.

Jessica Curtis led the Saints (29-11) with 20 kills, while Mollie Lounds and Chelsea Phillips added 15 each. Setter Katie Vander Meer had 22 assists, while Sarah LeClair had 15 digs.

With the loss, MU will miss playing in the WHAC championship tilt for the first time since the 1999 campaign.

Proben’s heroics came on the heels of a seventh-place finish in the Super Senior Division (53 and over) at the 2009 championships.

“Last year I really didn’t know what I was getting into and was nervous out there,” Proben explained. “Now I knew a lot more of what to expect so I just went out there and did my best and beat some real champions and some really long hitters.”

Proben qualified for the weeklong finals by securing the third and final spot in regional action held over the summer in Conneault Lake, Pa. There, Proben hammered drives of 320, 322 and the last of which, a 336-yard rocket, that earned him his return trip.

He came out jacked up and battled his way through the nine rounds of Wednesday qualifying to become part of the four-man semifinal round.

“It was a spiritual journey for me,” said Proben, who throughout the competition sported a fedora honoring his parents. “The guys on the church golf league were the ones who got me to enter last year. They were the ones who were saying how long I was hitting it and that I should get into those long driving contests because you’ve got a God-given talent.”

The RE/MAX World Long Drive Championship powered by Dicks Sporting Goods evolved out of the National Long Drive Championship, which originated in 1975. The event has grown from a mostly low-key event to one showcasing talents of golfers from every corner of the globe. More than 10,000 competitors, competing at more than 200 sites, attempt to qualify for the RE/MAX Finals each year.

The opportunity to follow Proben’s historic swings will air Dec. 25-26 on ESPN and ESPN2.

Rosedale Vets 5K Run: Winners on all fronts

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

It was music to everyone’s ears during Saturday’s Red, White and Blue Veterans Day 5-kilometer run held at Old Rosedale Gardens in Livonia.

The race raised $2,000 for the Livonia Symphony Orchestra and honored Charles Volker of Canton, who attended the event in his military uniform. The wheelchair bound veteran, suffering from Lou Gehrig’s Disease, was recognized by the Boys Scout color guard during a ceremonial tribute.

Runners also donated canned items for the Boy Scouts’ annual Can-Do Drive.

Dave Adkins, 43, of Livonia, clocked an even 17 minutes in the 3.1-mile race to win male overall first-place honors.

“It’s a great event,” Adkins said. “My sister lives in the nearby (state) streets. I got back into running in 2008 after an 18-year layoff. This is for a good cause and it’s a good run. It would be great if more towns had races like this. A lot of races get too big.”

The female overall winner was 39-year-old Kristin Kachnowski of Wixom. She was clocked in 19:52. (Pat Conklin of Wixom was the masters female 5K champ in 23:35).

“I’m a graduate of Livonia Franklin, so it’s nice to return to the hometown,” Kachnowski said. “It’s kind of like a family reunion for me. The Kachnowski’s are a family of musicians/runners. My husband plays the trombone, my sister-in-law plays the violin (this was her first 5K) and my mother-in-law (Rose Kachnowski, who was on the race committee) is the president of the LSO.”

The race also proved to be a family reunion for the Vella clan of Livonia, which spanned three generations.

Participating in the race was Dominic, Sr. (the grandfather), son Dominic, Jr.; daughter-in-law Rachel, the first female miler (10:57); granddaughter Sophia, and grandson Charles,

6. They were cheered on by grandmother Carmen.

Kyle Mavin, running with his dogs, was the male winners in the mile (10:22).

Afterwards, runners enjoyed pasta and pizza, compliments of Eastside Mario’s and Luigi’s.

Among the other participating sponsors include: Cole, Newton and Duran, CPAs and Executive Financial Services; Coifer Salon; Commercial Lawnmower; Daly’s; Fifth Third Bank; Larry’s Foodland; Running Fit; Remerica-Liberty Real Estate, Alex Aloe; Tennyson Chevrolet; and Old Rosedale Gardens Homeowners Association.

Czarnik, Wedgewood key Plymouth win over Spits

Robbie Czarnik got the Plymouth Whalers rolling Friday night with an unassisted goal in the first period, and that — along with a 36-save performance from goalie Scott Wedgewood — sparked the Ontario Hockey League team to a 2-1 victory over visiting Windsor.

The game’s number one star, Czarnik stole the puck and ripped a shot from the right circle past Windsor netminder Jack Campbell at 14:31 of the opening stanza to break the ice.

The forward and former University of Michigan player added another tally (his 9th) on the power play in the middle frame to make it 2-0 to thrill the Compuware Arena sellout crowd of 4,029. Assisting on Czarnik’s second goal, the eventual game winner, were Farmington Hills defenseman Austin Levi and winger Stefan Noesen.

The Spitfires finally got one past Whalers goalie Scott Wedgewood with 9:06 remaining in the second as center Tom Kuhnacki netted a power play tally on assists from Alexander Khokhlachev and Zack Kassian.

Windsor then outshot Plymouth 14-8 in the third period in an all-out attempt to force overtime. But the Spits could not manage to get another puck behind Wedgewood (the No. 2 star). Campbell, the game’s third star, also played well in net, stopping 30 of 32 Plymouth shots.

With their win against a Western Conference-West Division rival, the third-place Whalers improved to 9-8-1-1 entering a Saturday home game against Kitchener. Windsor dropped to 11-8-0-1, good for second place in the division.

WOMEN’S BASKETBALL

After scoring a record 147 points in their previous win, the Schoolcraft College women’s basketball team was ambushed Friday night by Rend Lake College (Ill.), 69-68, in the Cincinnati State Classic.

Cierra Dotson scored a game-high 32 points and grabbed 10 rebounds as Rend Lake improved to 2-1 overall.

Tierra Longbey and TaLayla Earls added 13 and 12 points, respectively, for the victorious Warriors.

Schoolcraft (2-1), ranked No. 2 in the NJCAA Division II Coaches Poll, trailed 35-33 at halftime and 60-55 with 5:12 remaining before going on a 12-2 run to take a five-point advantage.

Charlise Slater failed to connect on a jumper in the lane that would have given Schoolcraft the victory.

Kimberly Bee led Schoolcraft with 22 points and 21 rebounds.

Diamond Tolliver added 14 points, while Shanequa Braggs contributed 10 points and nine rebounds.

The Ocelots lost despite holding Rend Lake to 32 percent shooting (20-of-62), but were outscored from the foul line, 25-12.

Cap your day with a laugh at Detroit Story League's 'Tellebration'

Linda Day of Farmington Hills is president of Detroit Story League and a teller at the organization's annual Tellebration event.

BY SHARON DARGAY
O&E STAFF WRITER

Linda Day hopes listeners will laugh their worries away, if only for a few hours Friday, Nov. 19.

"When I tell to an adult audience I just want it to be fun," said Day, a storyteller from Farmington Hills and president of the Detroit Story League. She and four other storytellers will perform works for an adult audience at "Tellebration," a 22-year-old event held the same day every year on six continents, in nine countries and 40 states. The program, held locally at the Livonia Civic Center Library, is meant to foster and preserve the oral tradition of storytelling.

"Tellebration is an adult program — it's very 'PG' — but we'll be telling stories that children may not have enough maturity and experience to comprehend," said Day, a former teacher who also previously worked at the Garden City Public Library.

"Many who come are senior citizens. When they were children they listened to radio and that developed a whole different listening skill than the screen does. Kids can't even go for a ride in the car today without taking a dvd player. They don't have to imagine any more. When you tell to adults they move immediately into the use of imagination."

Day will tell her own version of a story by another teller, Laura Simms, and she'll perform an adaptation of a written story at Tellebration. She always uses written material, from children's books, as a basis for telling stories to youngsters, but tells both original and adapted works to adults.

"I feel my job is to take the child to the book to foster reading," she said. "I do a lot of my own material for adult audiences. There has been a real movement in the last 15 years to create your own material for adult audiences."

She cites radio humorist and author Garrison Keillor of Prairie Home Companion fame as a trailblazer for other storytellers with original works.

Barbara Shapiro of Southfield, co-coordinator of Tellebration, is honoring an original story that she hopes to tell publicly some day. In the meantime, like other League members, she performs adapted material at libraries, schools and other locations.

She began storytelling as a teen-ager in her native West Virginia, later using the skill in her career as a speech pathologist in Michigan. She discovered the Detroit Story League in 1996.

MISSION OF SERVICE

"Our mission is to keep alive the ancient art of storytelling and to provide the opportunity to study it. Our other mission is to furnish storytellers to those who request us. It's a service organization," Shapiro said.

"We make it fun. Our organization has two requirements — once a year to tell a story and to host a meeting."

The group meets the third Saturday of the month at a different location. Its next meeting is noon-3 p.m. Nov. 20 at

Please see STORIES, B5

Toni Isaac will tell stories at Tellebration in Livonia.

The Music Sisters will use an "in tandem" storytelling technique at Tellebration.

Barbara Jones Clark of Southfield will perform at Tellebration.

the Redford Township District Library, 25320 West Six Mile; (313) 531-5960.

Beginners can get assistance in learning the art of storytelling from a League mentor. The group also runs small-group sessions called "Cric-Crac" aimed at helping tellers craft and perform their own material.

The League will hold a short memorial service in conjunction with Tellebration to honor deceased members.

"Each member will hold a rose and candle for the ones who have departed. We wanted to make this very special," she said, adding that the event this year also will include an auction, snacks and beverages.

The silent auction will open at 6 p.m. Tellebration runs from 7-8:45 p.m. The library is located at 32777 5 Mile Road. Admission is $5, which benefits the League's scholarship fund.

In addition to Day, other tellers are:

- Toni Isaac, a Troy librarian and Shelby Township resident who has 20 years experience storytelling.

- The Music Sisters, Marilyn Flam of Farmington Hills and Sharon Schmidt of West Bloomfield, who will tell a story in tandem.

- Barbara Jones Clark, a Southfield resident and co-chair of the event this year, also works in the Birmingham Public Schools.
- Judy Sima, a West Bloomfield resident, who has trained parents in storytelling, will serve as emcee.

Tough questions require honest answers

Marsha writes: "I'm regretting getting rid of my 30-plus-year-old Whirlpool dryer. I'd had it repaired a few times but this last time I think there was a short or something in it because I was getting "shocked" when I touched it, so I finally decided to let it go. What a mistake."

Marsha's e-mail was much longer and more detailed than the above and I spent quite some time talking to her on the telephone. She has been a very smart shopper for many years and this time she put her faith into a long-time appliance retailer and purchased a new dryer which leaves her clothes damp and wrinkled at the end of the cycle. I must add that she purchased a pretty basic dryer which means a lower priced model. I asked Marsha to unhook the vent line from the back of her dryer and let it vent directly into the room rather than to the outside. I pointed out that she needs to open a window near the dryer when doing this as carbon monoxide is produced by a gas dryer. I asked her to try doing a load of wet clothes without the vent line hooked up to see if it made any difference. She called me after doing this and said it made a lot of difference so she went back to the appliance retailer and asked what they could do for her. The retailer more or less admitted that the lower end of the dryer models might be responsible for not drying the clothes properly and offered to exchange the dryer she purchased to a more expensive model. In doing so there would be a $70 restocking charge. I don't consider that a smart move on the part of the retailer trying to keep a customer satisfied. Marsha hasn't decided yet what she is going to do but she will let me know what she decides.

Appliance Doctor

BOTTOM FREEZER

Debbie writes: "A little while ago I sent you an e-mail about some trouble we are having with our refrigerator. In your response you ended with 'we might need to start looking for a new one.' We are doing that, but would like your opinion on one we are considering. It is a Kenmore French door/bottom freezer style. We own a Kenmore gas stove that we would like to match. My concern is the efficiency of the freezer being on the bottom. Does this type of design work well? I like the French doors, but I don't want to sacrifice efficiency. Please let me know what you think."

Reply: The efficiency factor should not be a concern on today's bottom mount refrigerators but I know that in the 1950s when the bottom mount was first introduced they were a real energy guzzler. New engineering designs have made it easier to move air uphill. I would find out who is making your selected model for Sears as things have changed with the country's largest retailer. At one time when you purchased an appliance from Sears you could pretty well rest assured that it was made by Whirlpool. That is not the case today. You will find that a bottom mount refrigerator is a lot easier on your back and has returned as a consumer favorite when it comes to refrigerators. It goes to show you that they knew what they were doing in the old days.

These two e-mails I recently received are an example of what I will be doing at 7 p.m. on Dec. 2 at the Canton Library. The title of the seminar might be, "What do I purchase in the world of major home appliances?" Stay tuned.

Joe Gagnon can be heard at 8 a.m., Saturdays on WAAM 1600 and Sundays at 2 p.m. on WDTK 1400. You can e-mail your problems and questions on appliances to appldr@twml.rr.com

WHAT CAUSES FLUID ON THE KNEE?

The normal knee includes the presence of a small amount of fluid, a monolayer called synovial fluid, that promotes friction free movement of the knee joint. The fluid comes from the cells that line the knee joint capsule. The joint fluid is not water, rather the fluid's properties are more like engine oil, that is, the fluid has the composition of a lubricant. Irritation causes excessive joint fluid. A substance sensed by lining cells as an inciting agent initiates a response of excessive fluid production. The reaction is similar to tearing of the eye if a cinder lodges under the eyelid.

Various agents act as irritants: Osteoarthritis of the knee causes fluid production because the breakdown of cartilage cells releases constituents that the lining cells see as noxious products.

The inciting agent for rheumatoid arthritis remains unidentified, however, the effect of its presence is to create a cascade of chemicals called cytokines. One of more of these cytokines enter the lining cells and set off a series of reactions in the cells culminating in a marked increase in synovial fluid.

In gout, the source of irritation is uric acid crystals. Each crystal has the shape of a darning needle, with one or both ends of the crystal acting like the edge of a sharp knife. The effect on the lining cells is like being pierced by a sharp silver.

Often the characteristics of the fluid allow a physician to diagnose the reason for the excess. Therefore when physicians obtain knee fluid, the take care to send it for analysis.

Girls who responded to a recent Girl Scout Research Institute survey said they would give up social networking friends if it meant keeping their best friend.

Girls say face-to-face friends top Facebook pals

According to a recent survey by the Girl Scout Research Institute, (GSRI) teen girls say they would “give up all of their social networking friends if it meant keeping their best friend.” Nearly all — 92 percent — of girls surveyed say they would choose a face-to-face friendship over online friends.

The nationwide GSRI study, sponsored by Girl Scouts of the USA, gathered opinions from 1,026 girls, 14-17, with social networking profiles on Facebook (91 percent) and MySpace (28 percent). Thirty-eight percent of the survey participants had a Twitter account and averaged eight tweets daily.

Girls surveyed said that a girl's reality does not match her social network image. Of those surveyed, 74 percent agreed that “most girls my age use social networking sites to make themselves look cooler than they really are.” Forty-one percent said that described their own online profile. Girls who report low self-esteem were more likely than those who report high self-esteem to portray themselves as “sexy” (22 percent versus 14 percent) and “crazy” (35 percent versus 28 percent). Girls also said they downplayed positive characteristics, such as “smart,” “kind,” and “good influence,” when online.

Girl Scouts Heart of Michigan will help adults learn how to help teens navigate the murky waters of social networking at the 6th Girl Developers Summit, set for Saturday, Feb. 5, 2011, at the Fetzer Center, Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo. Kimber Bishop-Yanke, president of Girls Empowered, will speak on relational aggression and bullying. Other session presenters will address internet safety, social and emotional intelligence, friendships and healthy dating relationships, among other topics. The Girl Developers Summit is designed for parents, Girl Scout leaders, youth-serving volunteers and youth development professionals. For more information or to register, visit http://gshom.org/event/php?calendar_id=1&event_id=621.

“Who's That Girl? Images and Social Media” is the title of the GSRI document that reports results of the survey taken in June of 2010. Other key survey findings include:

- Girls have good intentions to practice safe social networking behavior, but do not always act on those intentions. Eighty-five percent of respondents said they had talked with their parents about safe online behavior; however, exactly half admitted they were not as careful as they should be. Survey participants averaged 351 online friends, but 54 percent of girls said they were online “friends” with someone they have never met in person.

- The emotional safety of girls is at-risk on social networks. Of the survey respondents, 68 percent reported having a negative experience on a social networking site, such as being the object of gossip or bullying. Forty percent said they lost respect for a friend because of something she or he had posted online.

- Social networking connects girls with relationships and causes they care about. A little more than half the girls in the survey said they got involved in a cause they support via social networking. Fifty-six percent said that social networks help them feel closer to their friends.

Brindle beauty

Hello friends my name is Sadie. I am a 3-year-old beauty with a dark brindle colored coat. Everyone says that I have lovely brown eyes and a loving heart. I'm a quiet little girl and perhaps on the shy side. I'm looking for my “Forever Home” and if you would like to meet me and chit chat please call Greyheart Greyhound Rescue and Adoption at (866) 438-4739 and be sure to check out our website www.greyheart.org.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Many people are wrongly rejected when they apply for Social Security Disability benefits. Money was taken out of their paychecks for Social Security taxes to ensure that they would receive disability benefits if they could no longer work full-time. Sadly, the government denies approximately 60% of those who apply for disability benefits.

The tragedy is that less than half of those persons who are denied benefits file an appeal. Thus, many thousands of people who deserve benefits never receive them.

Those denied can appeal on their own, but statistics for many years reveal that those represented by attorneys win a much higher percentage of appeals. And attorneys who specialize in Social Security Disability cases win a much higher percentage yet.

Attorney J.B. Bieske has represented only Social Security Disability clients for over 20 years. That is the only type of law he practices. And, he personally meets with all clients and appears himself at all court hearings. Many large firms assign clients to young associate attorneys with much less experience.

In addition to practicing only Social Security Disability law Bieske has written a book for attorneys about the subject. He also has been interviewed on various radio and television programs and has given speeches to many groups.

Bieske's office staff consists of paralegals and secretaries who are also highly experienced in assisting him with Social Security Disability cases. And they are extremely helpful in answering questions with regard to the status of clients' cases and administrative procedure.

Attorney Bieske welcomes you to call him to determine if you may be eligible for these benefits. He offers free phone or office consultations. If Bieske represents you, there will be no fee charged until after the case is won. The fee is a percentage of retroactive benefits.

In a recent radio interview attorney Bieske explained that many people are not even aware that they are eligible for Social Security Disability benefits. These are not the same as Workers' Compensation benefits. It is possible to receive both benefits at the same time. If you have an illness or injury (whether or not related to your work), are under 65 and unable to work full-time you may be eligible. Social Security Disability benefits are based on your work record or your deceased spouse's work record (Widow's/Widower's benefits).

Bieske represents clients from all over the state of Michigan. Call him at 1-800-331-3530 for a FREE consultation if you have been denied. Or if you are thinking of possibly of applying for Social Security benefits call him for FREE advice.

Annual event encourages smokers to quit

The American Cancer Society will mark the 35th Great American Smokeout Thursday, Nov. 18, by celebrating six months of smokefree air in Michigan.

The event also comes on the heels of study results released this week by the Michigan Department of Community Health that show more than 70 percent of Michigan residents favor the statewide comprehensive smokefree air law that went into effect May 1. More than half of the 2,289 smokers surveyed reported they tried to quit since then.

During this year's Great American Smokeout, the Society will encourage smokers to make a plan to quit or to plan in advance and quit smoking that day. According to an American Cancer Society report, Cancer Prevention & Early Detection Facts & Figures 2010, smokers who quit can expect to live as many as 10 years longer than those who continue to smoke.

"After years of fighting for a law that would protect all workers from the health effects of secondhand smoke, it is refreshing to see further evidence that proves what we already knew - Michigan residents and businesses were ready for a comprehensive smokefree air law, and smokefree air can give people the extra push they need to quit smoking," stated Vicki Rakowski, COO, American Cancer Society, Great Lakes Division, Inc. "During the 35th Great American Smokeout, we are reminding people not to quit quitting and that the American Cancer Society stands ready 24 hours a day, seven days a week with information, resources and support to assist in smoking cessation."

Research shows that quitting can prevent the risk of premature death from smoking. Smokers who quit, regardless of age, live longer than people who continue to smoke and smokers who quit reduce their risk of lung cancer. Ten years after quitting, the lung cancer death rate is about half that of a continuing smoker's. Quitting also lowers the risk for other major diseases including heart disease and stroke.

The study released this week also shows that of the 6,900 residents from 76 counties surveyed in August more than 80 percent thought secondhand smoke was a serious health hazard to nonsmokers, and more than 85 percent said there was either no change or that they went out to eat more often in restaurants and bars after the law went into effect. Another recent poll showed that 95 percent of businesses randomly selected were compliant with the law.

"We are pleased with the level of compliance and the tireless efforts of our volunteers, advocates and lawmakers across the state who worked to make Michigan smokefree," Rakowski stated. "This year's Great American Smokeout is truly a celebration for Michigan workers who can now breathe freely no matter where they work."

Smokers who want to quit can call the American Cancer Society Quit For Life Program, operated and managed by Free & Clear, at (800) 227-2345 for tobacco cessation and coaching services that can help increase their chances of quitting for good. The Society also has online tools at www.cancer.org/Smokeout, such as a crave button and a quit clock to help smokers plan towards kicking the habit for good. For more information about the smokefree air law, visit www.michigan.gov/smokefreelaw.

The American Cancer Society held its first Great American Smokeout in 1976 as a way to inspire and encourage smokers to quit for a day. One million people quit smoking for a day at the 1976 event in California. The Great American Smokeout encourages smokers to commit to making a long-term plan to quit smoking for good.

Stop-smoking suggestions

The American Cancer Society offers these tips to help a smoker quit the habit:

Do respect that the quitter is in charge. This is their lifestyle change and their challenge, not yours.

Do ask if you should call or visit regularly to check on their progress. Let the person know that it's okay to call you whenever he or she needs to hear encouraging words.

Do help the quitter get what she or he needs, such as hard candy to suck on, straws to chew on, and fresh veggies cut up and kept cold in the refrigerator.

Do spend time doing things with the quitter to keep his or her mind off smoking - go to the movies or take a walk to get past a craving (what many call a "nicotine fit").

Do help the quitter with a few chores, some child care, cooking - whatever will help lighten the stress of quitting.

Do celebrate along the way. Quitting smoking is a big deal.

Don't take the quitter's grumpiness personally during his or her nicotine withdrawal. The symptoms will pass in about two weeks.

Don't offer advice. Just ask how you can help with the plan or program they are using.

IF YOUR SMOKER RELAPSES

Research shows that most people try to quit smoking five to seven times before they are successful. Don't give up your efforts to encourage and support your loved one. If the person you care about fails to quit:

Do praise him or her for trying to quit, and for whatever length of time (days, weeks, or months) of not smoking.

Do encourage him or her to try again. Don't say, "If you try again..." Say, "When you try again..." Studies show that most people who don't succeed in quitting are ready to try again in the near future.

Do encourage him or her to learn from the attempt. Lessons learned from a failed attempt to quit may help a smoker be successful in a future attempt.

The American Cancer Society encourages smokers to snub out their cigarettes and cigars during the Great American Smokeout.

IF YOU ARE A SMOKER...

Do smoke outside and always away from the quitter. Do keep your cigarettes and matches out of sight. They might be triggers to smoke.

Don't ever offer the quitter a smoke, even in jest!

Do make an effort to quit. It's better for your health and might be easier to do with someone else that is trying to quit.

Call the American Cancer Society at (800) 227-2345 to find out what resources might be available to you for your quit attempt.

GREAT LOANS. GREAT RATES. GREAT START.
