Mayor holding Twitter town hall

By LeAnne Rogers Staff Writer

Westland is updating its website and will be using social media for public input on suggestions for improvements.

Mayor William Wild will be hosting his first Twitter Town Hall at 1 p.m. on Tuesday, April 30. Follow Wild anytime on Twitter @MayorWild.

"We're going to ask people to go on Twitter and interact with us," said Wild during last week's council meeting.

Noticing a look from Council President James Godbout, Wild commented, "I know what you're thinking, 'Good luck with that."

Responding, Godbout said that he expected the city's Information Technology Director Dan Bourdeau would actually be handling the Twitter Town Hall.

"It'll be me, I'll do it in my office," said Wild.

Taking place over the summer, the website redesign follows a assessment survey in which 70 percent of the 403 respondents were dissatisfied with the city website. More than half of respondents rated the current layout and visual design as displeasing to the eye, and 60 percent of those who responded felt that the site is difficult to navi-

While the statistics indicate overall dissatisfaction with the site, Wild said he and the web team would like to find out more specific areas for improvement, such as online services, content, design or interactivity. Getting that specific feedback is the purpose of the Twitter Town Hall.

Whether you're a regular at tweeting or a first-timer, Wild

Katie Sullivan she loves what she does, teaching drama at Wayne Memorial High School in Wayne. And it's that love that attracted her to the must cal comedy, The Drowsy Chaperone, which will be presented next weekend at the Stockmeyer Auditorium.

"It definitely different than anything we've done in the past," said Sullivan, the drama director. "It makes fun of musicals, it makes fun of what I do. It breaks the rules of theater in that you don't break the fourth wall, you're not supposed to come into the audience."

A play with in a play, the show has a cast of 35 students who will take to the stage for four performances Thursday through Sunday, April 25-27. The show centers around the Man in the Chair, played by Jimmy Walkup, a present-day musical theater fanatic who's eager to talk about his favorite Broadway musical, The Drowsy Chaperone. Westland farmers markets Bv LeAnne Rogers Staff Writer

Changes are coming to both the Westland and Wayne farmers markets this year, including some cooperative efforts. For Westland, there will be a new day and new hours as the market moves to Thursday and shifts to a later schedule of 3-7 p.m beginning May 2.

Wayne's farmers market will be 3-7 p.m. Wednesdays and will move to a new location in Goudy Park when it opens May 1.

"The change in hours is partially due to the feedback of customers and farmers," said Westland Deputy Mayor Jade Smith.

Both farmers markets will be managed by Growing Hope, an Ypsilantibased non-profit with a mission of empowering local communities to grow and eat healthy food.

In Westland, the Farmers Market is operated within the Downtown Development Authority District. The DDA board and the council both approved the contract with Growing Hope and an $88,000 grant will fund it. Westland will have no out pocket expenses for the Farmers Market, said Westland Economic Development Director Lori Fodale.

Growing Hope will be paid $36,000 the first year and $27,700 the second year, she said, with higher payment the first year due to additional work needed on the website and other marketing.

Faced with budget cuts a couple of years ago, Wayne looked for a way to keep the Farmers Market operating without city funding. That resulted in the Wayne Chamber of Commerce running the Farmers Market for two vears.

Now, Wayne is talking with the Chamber of Commerce, the Wayne Ripple Effect and the Wayne Rotary Club about raising the $15,000 cost to operate the Farmers Market, said Wayne City Manager Robert English.

Oakwood Hospital has donated $5,000 to the chamber to help underwrite the Farmers Market cost. Wayne Mayor Al Haidous obtained another $1.000 donation for the market, adding he was confident the additional funding would be obtained.

Westland has received grant money to develop and promote its Farmers Market.

"They have offered to assist us to jointly promote the markets," said English. "They will advertise both markets which will be very beneficial. We will work on vendors together — we will get consistency and better vendors."

Wayne council members were excited about the market moving to Goudy Park and Growing Hope taking over as market managers. Chamber president Stanley Shelton also was pleased.

"It is an excellent agreement. It relieves the Chamber of Commerce of a big responsibility running the market. It will grow the market and help the chamber out," said Shelton.

Growing Hope Executive Director Amanda Edmonds spoke about successes at other markets, including acceptance of food stamps.

"We see an opportunitv. The Westland market is not the size and scope of the Wayne market currently," said Edmonds, whose organization will also analyze the economic impact of the markets.

In the coming weeks the city will be explaining how to use Twitter to participate in the Town Hall. Residents can stay updated by tuning into WLND, the city's Facebook page, Twitter account and the website for step-bystep directions on how to tweet and participate in the city's first social media Town Hall.

"Social media is not just a passing trend. It has become a very important. low-cost communication tool in government," said Wild. "Not only does it give leaders a way to spread information on a real time basis but it allows constituents a way to stay connected and have better access to their local government as well.'

The Twitter Town Hall feedback will be shared with the vendor selected to handle the website update. A Request for Proposals has been sent out with bids to be opened May 1.

The redesign, content migration, training and implementation of the new website is estimated to take four to six months.

Cheer coaches help students get it right

Bright Futures Sparkle Agent Squad. Not your normal name for a cheer team, but it was the one a group of upper elementary students decided upon, and after eight weeks of working with coaches from the Westland Comets, they showed what they had learned.

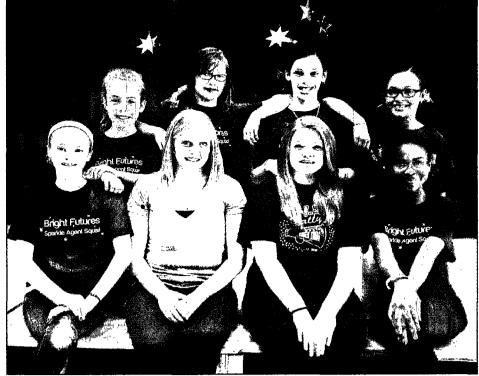

For one hour a week for eight weeks, the students worked with coaches Ashley and Holly Fracassi learning the steps to a cheer as part of the Bright Futures after school program at Marshall Upper Elementary School. "They were very good teachers because they helped us understand, if we couldn't figure it out," said Nina Porcaro.

"They were great coaches," added Emily Hackerd. "We did a lot of steps and switches and they were very patient with

The Bright Futures programs run 32 weeks during the school year and six weeks in the summer. It serves more than 1,200 students and families in Ypsilanti, Willow Run, Wayne, Westland and Romulus.

The program provides three hours of programming Monday through Thursday throughout the school year for students who develop new skills, explore the arts and technology, and improve in reading, writing and math. There's also club activities, including digital video, art, rocker soccer, jump into fitness, the international club, service-learning, reader's theater and Marshall's cheer club.

dents wanting to form a cheer club that led Keith DeMolay, who works at Marshall and is a member of the Westland Youth Athletic Association, to ask Jan Fracassi, cheer coordinator, if a few coaches could come in and teach the students. Fracassi enlisted her daughters, who are coaches for the Westland Comets, to teach the students.

"They completely volunteered their time with us," said Fracassi. "They came out of the goodness of their heart and their love of cheer."

"It was basic training, we taught them the steps and made sure they got them down before we'd do the next on," added Ashley.

According to Jan Fracassi, the one difficulty her daughters faced were getting the students to be loud.

"It's hard to get them to be loud in school," she said. "We had to keep telling them that it was OK."

There's a connection between the school and the Westland Comets who practice there in the fall. And some of the youngsters even inquired about the Comets, said Jan Fracassi.

As for the name, that was a group effort.

"We all pitched in," said Nina. "We all said we all had to be involved in it."

Joyner has been dancing for six years and teaches dance for the Wayne-Westland recreation department. As an assistant, she watches what the students do to see what skills they have.

"I get to know their abilities; in the beginning I did a lot of watching and then I started teaching," she said. "Now I'm back to watching to make sure they're on time."

The students have been rehearsing using a CD of the Broadway product. The cover of the orchestra pit was removed on Friday, and today the principal cast members are at the auditorium to work with the orchestra for the first time. Walkup believes that will be a challenge for the cast.

"The hardest part is that we've been using the CD, and when we leave that and transition to the orchestra, it's going to be a struggle for us," he said.

The assistant directors, however, know the cast and crew will be ready for opening night.

Volunteers needed for Tonquish Creek cleanup

Tonquish Creek in the Holliday Nature Preserve will be getting a cleanup in advance of this year's Rouge Rescue.

The cleanup will be 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, May 4, where the creek flows under Wayne Road in Westland. Sixty volunteers are need to clean up the creek, remove invasive plants and paint over graffiti on bridge. Volunteers care register at 8:30 p.m. Parking will be at Timothy Lutheran Church, 8820 Wayne Road, Livonia, north of the bridge. The cleanup is being sponsored by the Holliday Nature Preserve Association and the City of Westland.

It's one of several cleanups being done at sites in Wayne and Oakland counties in advance of the Rouge Rescue on Saturday, June 1. Friends of the Rouge is holding the a , river cleanup event.

"People don't realize the positive impact just one day of working along the river can have," said Cyndi Ross, River Restoration Program Manager for Friends of the Rouge. "It's great to see residents take ownership of the river, it helps change the mindset that it's someone else's problem. It's also a great way to meet your neighbors and have fun."

Rouge Rescue focuses on the restoration of the Rouge River, Volunteers can choose a location to participate by visiting www.therouge.org for specific site details. Activities vary by site and may include native planting, removal of invasive species, trash cleanup, nature walks, woody debris management, and storm drain stenciling. Assistance with volunteer registration and photography also is needed.

Volunteers should dress in long sleeves and pants to protect themselves from poison ivy. It is also a good idea to bring water, sunscreen and a change of clothes. Gloves, trash bags, and compost bags will be provided.

LOCAL NEWS

As a result of past Rouge Rescue events, more than 46,000 cubic yards of trash and debris and 63 vehicles have been removed from the Rouge River. In the last five years, more than 7,500 native flowers or grasses and more than 550 trees or shrubs have been planted, reducing pollution from rain and creating habitat for animals.

An upshot of the efforts of Friends of the Rouge and their community partners is that the sensitive stonefly can now be found in the waters of the Rouge River and canoeing is now possible.

Founded in 1986, Friends of the Rouge strives to educate, involve and collaborate with residents in order to improve the quality and appearance of the river through a variety of programs, including Rouge

Bills would expand use of sinking fund money

State Reps. David Knezek, D-Dearborn Heights, and Adam Zemke ,D-Ann Arbor, have introduced legislation that would remove restrictions on certain funds, allowing school districts to use that money to make infrastructure improvements and capital investments.

"Many school districts find themselves unable to provide students with the latest technology as a result of the deep funding cuts that have been imposed over the last few years," Knezek said.

"Technology in the classroom supplements a high quality education, and ensures our children are ready to enter the 21st century workforce."

The three-bill package would affect sinking funds, which are voterapproved pools of money intended to maintain the liquid assets of a school district or other public entity. Knezek's House Bill 4483 would allow school districts to spend the money on technology upgrades, while Zemke's bills, HBs 4369 and 4515, would let them put sinking funds toward safety and security equipment and transportation purchases and repairs, respectively. "These bills expand local control by giving school districts, and the people who live in them. more of a say in funding decisions," Zemke said. "Rather than simply accepting the decisions made for them in Lansing, community leaders can have another tool at their disposal to improve schools and give kids a brighter future."

Fundraiser helps cancer patients keep their curls

By Brad Kadrich Staff Writer

Doris Jinnis vividly remembers being diagnosed with breast cancer in September 2012 -"It was surreal," she said - and the weeks of radiation treatment that followed and, ultimately, left her cancer-free.

Those feelings were foremost in her mind when she went to get her nails done at Formula Salon in Plymouth, where owner Tricia Mavin was hosting a fundraiser for The Rapunzel Project, a non-profit organization dedicated to helping cancer patients keep their hair during chemother-Jinnis, a Westland resident. remembered being caught completely by surprise by the diagnosis. She had, after all, faithfully listened to the experts and gotten the requisite mammograms. It was one of those tests that caught the spot, not even a lump, that indicated the disease. She remembers getting the news — it was like her doctor was "talking like Charlie Brown's teacher," she said — but couldn't remember exactly what was being said.

Observer & Eccentric | Sunday, April 21, 2013

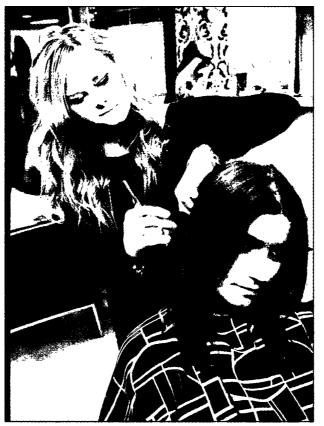

"It was surreal." Jinnis said. "I was faithful getting my mammograms. It wasn't anything I had felt. It wasn't anything I was expecting."

Treatment cured the problem, but on a recent follow-up trip to St. Mary Mercy Hospital in Livonia, she noticed a flyer for the Formula Salon fundraiser on the table. A receptionist handed it to her and said it "might be something I was interested in," Jinnis remembered.

She was, and she showed her interest last Saturday, arriving at Formula Salon not long after doors opened to get her nails done.

"It was a no-brainer." Jinnis said of attending the fundraiser. "I wanted to give back."

It was the reaction Mavin was hoping for from regular clients and other walk-in patrons hoping to help. She said the salon has "a lot of clients" who go through chemotherapy, and the most upsetting thing to them, she said, is the prospect of losing their hair. She said 8- to 9-percent of women choose not to undergo chemotherapy at all because they don't want to lose their hair.

The Rapunzel Project's mission, according to its website (www.rapunzelproject.org), is to let patients know there's an option — cold cap therapy - that prevents the hair loss associated with chemotherapy. Cold cap therapy uses special caps, frozen to a very cold temperature and worn before, during and after each chemotherapy treatment. The cooling of the hair follicles prevents the toxins from the treatment from reaching them.

According to information on Rapunzel's website, only three hospitals in Michigan — Beaumont (Royal Oak), the Rose Cancer Center and Botsford Hospital in Farmington Hills — offers cold cap. Formula Salon's fundraiser Saturday was designed to raise money to purchase the kinds of freezers needed to offer the therapy.

Anna Daigle, a regional manager for Kenra Professional LLC, the company from which Formula Salon buys haircare products, said her company partners with The Rapunzel Project "because it's so related to the beauty industry."

"Think about it ... A woman's stylist hears all those concerns (about losing hair)," Daigle said.

"How great is it the stylist can do something about it?"

When Daigle heard staffers at Formula Salon were looking for a fundraiser, she pitched The Rapunzel Project, and the staff bought into it. Stylist Juliet Cobello heard the idea and ran with it. They watched a video about it on Kenra's website, "and there wasn't a dry eye in the room," Cobello said.

"We were looking for something, and (Rapunzel) just kind of spoke to us," said Cobello, a 22year-old from Plymouth. "I'm always looking for something to do that is for the good of people ... That really spoke to me. I was just really inspired by that."

The salon didn't really have a goal in mind. They offered all of their services for a minimum donation, and had raffles for which "many generous local businesses" donated gift certificates and baskets. Mostly, they just wanted to raise aware-

"That's what's going to get the hospitals involved," Cobello said. "It's going to get people talking about this. That's what's going to make the difference.'

Tickets still available for Brandon/Hollis luncheon in Livonia

Tickets are still available for a luncheon in Livonia featuring a joint appearance by the athletic directors for the University of Michigan and Michigan State University to discuss the world of college athletics in Michigan, the Big Ten Conference, and NCAA.

U of M's Dave Brandon and MSU's Mark Hollis will speak at a multiple-chamber luncheon Friday, April 26, at Laurel Manor, located on Schoolcraft west of Newburgh. The event will run from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. The event is coordinated by the Livonia, Westland, Northville and Plymouth chambers of commerce, and presented by Bill Brown Ford, St. Mary Mercy Hospital, Trinity Health, and Edward Jones Investments: Robin Whitfield, Financial Advisor.

Brandon and Hollis lead programs engaged in one of the nation's most-fierce sports rivalries, but they work together on initiatives to help the Big Ten and NCAA adapt to the ever-changing world of collegiate athletics. They are scheduled to discuss their projects, trends in collegiate athletics, unique challenges of their business, and answer audience questions.

The four western Wayne County chambers combine to represent more than 2,200 members. Seats to the luncheon are $30 for chamber members, $40 for non-members. Those interested in attending this program can contact their community's respective chamber for details on the event and to reserve seats. Contact the Livonia Chamber at (734) 427-2122, the Westland Chamber at (734) 326-7222, the Plymouth Chamber at (734) 459-1540, or the Northville Chamber at (734) 349-7640.

Cruisin' Hines added to Autopalooza schedule event held in Hines Park has made it to the list of great automotive events in southeast Michigan.

After only two years of operation, the Cruisin' Hines Drive event now joins The Detroit Belle Isle Grand Prix, Woodward Dream Cruise, 2 NASCAR Weekends at MIS, Conquers D'Elegance, The Motor Muster at The Henry Ford and Back to the Bricks in Flint on the Autopalooza schedule.

"Cruisin' Hines Drive has grown to one of the largest automotive events in metro Detroit," said founder Don NIcholson of Westland. "More than 40,000 classic cars and hot rods fill the eastern section of Hines Park every August, with an estimated 300,000 plus spectators, exceeding our expectations."

First held in 2011, Nicholson had hoped to bring in between 4,000 to 5,000 classic cars and hot rods to the park. Instead, there were 24,371 registered vehicles.

"There were more, but we ran out of registration forms," said Nicholson. "The second year saw a growth that was also beyond our dreams, with an estimated 40,000 cars. It's estimated because we stopped registering vehicles so that we could streamline the entrance process. But we passed out 25,000 goody bags and 30,000 programs and ran out of both before 2:30 in the afternoon, with a 3 1/2-hour line up still coming in."

Autopalooza is run and organized by Pure Michigan, Visit Detroit and MotorCities National Heritage area which help to promote tourism in the state of Michigan.

"Being included in Autopalooza is worth $70,000 in advertising out of state, bringing in visitors from other states to spend their vacation money in our local businesses," Nicholson said.

He also is working with the City of Westland to build the All American Cruise on Wayne Road July 13.

"With the help of businesses along the Wayne Road route, we hope to build the All American Cruise to the same levels," said Nicholson. "Today, the Woodward Dream Cruise is the world's largest one-day automotive event, drawing 1.5 million people and 40,000 classic cars each year from as far away as New Zealand, Australia, Japan and the former Soviet Union, and we could have two of these kinds of events in Westland."

People interested in getting involved in the All-American Cruise, either as a sponsor, advertiser, volunteer or for more information, can call Nicholson at (734) 658-

Memorial students lasso up big numbers reading

By Sue Mason Staff Writer

Observer & Eccentric | Sunday, April 21, 2013

First- and second-grade students at the Memorial Elementary 1-2 Campus proved they were into books by reading 100,730 minutes during March.

The book time was a part of Reading Month activities at the Garden City School, where activities had a Western theme, the Reading Rodeo. Dubbed ranch hands, they gathered to find out how well they had done and to see who read enough minutes to be "deputized" by Principal/Sheriff Mary Pantier.

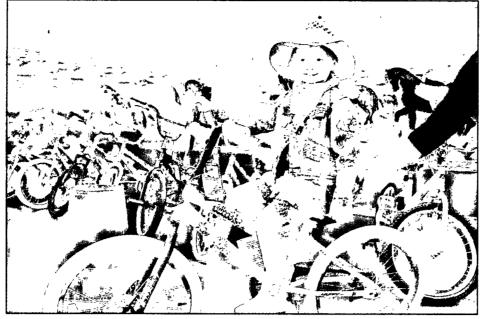

"I'm packin' today, I'm armed with knowledge," said Pantier, patting the book she wore in her belt.

The reading program was organized by reading specialists Mary Ann Brewer and Michelle Woodard, and the roundup included a parade of horses, decorated by each classroom and carried to the reading corral by the their top readers.

"I'm so excited all the horses made it to the corral," said Woodard.

Jenna McMechan of the "accounting firm of Price Waterhorse," provided the final results, delivered to her "by the Pony. Express." Of the school's more than 400 students, 317 participated in reading month. Youngsters read throughout March, working their way up from cowpokes to bookeroos and wranglers and deputies. Fifty-seven students read more than 500 minutes to become wranglers and be deputized by Pantier, and seven students read more than 1,000 minutes.

Second-graders read a lot — 47,324 minutes but not enough to beat the first-graders who logged 53,406 minutes. In fact, the school's top reader was first-grader Sage Frost who received a bicycle for reading 1,710 minutes. The secondplace finisher was second-grader Zach Parks with 1,428 minutes, followed by fellow secondgrader Avery McMechan

On hand to congratulate the students was state Sen: Glenn Anderson, D-Westland, who provided two of the eight bicycles given to students in a random drawing.

"You do things in a big way," Anderson told the students. "You have a great group of teachers here, and what you have done sets an example for all the other schools in the district. It's very exciting to learn to read and you are reading."

Winning the bicycles were first-graders Emily Cody, Joshua Fullerton, Santi Agosto and Natalie Briscoe and secondgraders Mara Taylor, Jeric Asencion, Drew Smith and Gavin Morales.

Teacher Kathy Kolesar let students know she was proud of them.

"I know you all met your goal because all of the horses made it to the corral," she said.

Suit filed against LPS, former teacher in child abuse case

By Ken Abramczyk Staff Writer

A lawsuit has been filed in Wayne County Circuit Court on behalf of the parents of three special needs children against a former teacher and the Livonia Public Schools for the teacher's alleged abuse of special needs students.

The 177-page complaint alleges criminal child abuse, neglect and civil rights violations. The suit seeks in excess of $75,000 in several counts.

The complaint alleges that on multiple occasions in 2010-11 and 2011-12 school years that teacher Sharon Turbiak used her position as an educator to "physically and/or mentally abuse" three of the plaintiffs who were identified as M.D. Doe, K.H.. Doe and C.W. Doe. That constituted criminal child abuse, the lawsuit states.

The complaint states Turbiak moved a student's chair with her foot and the student landed on her bottom on the floor. Turbiak then laughed and stated "I have a sick sense of humor."

According to the complaint, Turbiak grabbed another student by the top of his head and jerked it back. Turbiak also put Pringle potato chip cans on another student's arms, knowing the student's sensitivity to sound, and in an attempt to prevent the student from covering her ears when she heard loud sounds.

A phone message was left at Turbiak's residence for comment, but she did not respond.

A classroom aide, Nancy Respondek, also was alleged to commit criminal child abuse when in March 2012 she took a student by his arm. spanked him on the butt. and yelled "No" in his face. On May 2, 2012, she raised her voice at deaf students, and yelled at them, according to the lawsuit.

A number listed for Respondek was found to have been disconnected, so she could not be reached for comment.

Several school employees, including Superintendent Randy Liepa, were named in the lawsuit. The complaint alleges that Liepa and at least five other defendants and supervisory and administrative personnel knew of individual incidents of abuse.

"No report of suspected abuse was ever made to the proper authorities by any defendant prior to the time defendants Turbiak and Respondek were suspended from their employment at LPS, despite the existence of both a factual basis and a statutory obligation to report such abuse," the lawsuit states.

William Seikaly, attorney for the plaintiffs, said the allegations are based on facts established in an internal investigation by the school district.

That report was not completed at the request of parents in the case, but from a co-worker who complained about a hostile work environment with Turbiak, Seikaly said.

"Why? Because the kids couldn't communicate." Seikaly said.

Seikaly said that during his legal career, he has litigated about 30 cases of school abuse cases. "I've found all of the facts very upsetting in this case,' Seikaly said. "I never saw a case where so many adults saw so much and did so little."

In April 2012, Turbiak, who taught at Webster Elementary, was put on paid administrative leave until March 31, 2013, the effective date of her resignation. She has not been charged with any crime and in the district's report, denied any wrongdoing. Respondek was not charged with any crime as well,

The report, conducted by the district's former public safety administrator, Mark Schultz, includes witness statements saying Turbiak slapped and yelled at the children, let them fall instead of supporting them when they moved to the floor or a chair, and put a boy confined to a wheelchair in the bathroom for time out for 15 to 20 minutes. The report says the first documented complaint against Turbiak was dated Oct. 24, 2011.

The class was part of a Wayne RESA center program serving students from multiple districts. All 12 of the children who were in the class are cognitively impaired and some also have physical impairments.

The report says the school's former principal, Shellie Moore, had contacted central office administrators, but "there was never any thought or discussion that this would be a Protective Service or police issue."

Schultz went to Livonia Police Department on April 24, the day after he began the internal investigation.

Livonia police sought warrants from the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office, but those warrants were denied and the case was closed.

The Livonia school district does not comment on lawsuits, but issued a statement from Superintendent Randy Liepa.

"We understand that the parents have the right to utilize any means available to them to address their concerns," Liepa said.

In November 2012, a lawsuit was filed in U.S. District Court on behalf of one of the preschoolers, seeking in excess of $75,000 for physical pain and mental anguish the boy suffered.

Besides Liepa, that suit listed as defendants Livonia Public Schools, Turbiak, Respondek and Moore.

Livonia school chief: More abuse cases doesn't mean an ongoing problem

By Karen Smith Staff Writer

In the five months following teacher Sharon Turbiak's resignation, Livonia Public Schools suspended a Stevenson High School teacher for calling a student a

"worthless piece of sh-" terminated a parapro for kneeing a 10-yearold student in the back and placed on unpaid leave another parapro for punching a nonverbal eighth-grader.

All the students have special needs.

The incidents, during the period from Oct. 1, 2012, to Feb. 3, 2013, were detailed in documents released as a result of a Freedom of Information Request filed by resident Loyd Romick.

They follow the Oct. 16. 2012, resignation of Turbiak, a teacher accused of slapping, grabbing and force feeding special-needs preschoolers at Webster Elementary from about October 2011 to April 2012. A parapro in Turbiak's classroom, accused of similar behavior, was terminated on June 13, 2012.

Parents of four of the preschoolers have sued the district in two separate lawsuits.

The FOIA request sought information regarding allegations of physical, mental or verbal abuse of any child by any employee, not specifically special-needs stu-.

Livonia Public Schools Superintendent Randy Liepa said the more recent incidents do not mean the district has an ongoing problem, but rather that the district does not tolerate unprofessional behavior by staff members. He said the disciplinary actions the district took send a strong message. He said the district is on top of the issue.

Quality education

He said Livonia has a long-standing reputation of providing a quality education for both general education and special education students.

"What's the culture (like)?" he said. "Let's get in the car, go in the schools, see what caring staff we have working with the best of their ability with a wide range of kids. Come out and take a look, you can feel it."

He said the district's staff makes him proud. "The best way to get a flavor is to come and spend some time, (in the schools). It's a great place for kids to be, and we have a lot of evidence for that."

If there were a problem with the culture, he said, the district wouldn't have the continuing good reputation that it does.

Former Livonia school board President Patrice Mang, an Allen Park High School counselor who taught special education for 20 years, said she thinks the Webster case raised awareness in the Livonia district. Mang was president when the board sought tenure charges against Turbiak and fired the parapro in Turbiak's classroom. Asked if Livonia had a high incidence of abuse cases compared with other school districts, Mang said she knows of no cases of abuse of specialneeds students in Allen Park, but that district has only 97 special education students, compared with Livonia's 894, according to 2012-13 unaudited fall pupil counts from Wayne RESA.

Livonia has 15,588 total students; Allen Park, 3,791.

To find out about larger districts, the Observer sent FOIA requests to Wayne-Westland and Plymouth-Canton school districts seeking documents confirming the existence of allegations of physical, mental or verbal abuse of any child by an employee during the 2011-12 school year and up until March 8, 2013, of this school year (2012-13).

Like Romick, the Observer also did not specify special-needs students.

Otner districts

In Wayne-Westland Community Schools, two teachers and a paraprofessional voluntarily resigned between March 2 and Sept. 12, 2012, following allegations of abuse.

One of the teachers resigned after allegedly grabbing a student by the arm and squeezing it hard, the other following allegations of computer crimes and inappropriate behavior with a high school student. The latter teacher was sentenced to four to 20 years in prison any of us can't start the day without a cup of coffee (or two), but have you ever considered that coffee contains a drug? Caffeine is a stimulant psychoactive drug that affects the central nervous system and results in altered perception, mood, thought, or behavior. The four main types of psychoactive, or psychotropic drugs include:

Caffeine: Most commonly consumed drug in world

 Sedatives and hypnotics like Valium, anesthetics, and alcohol.

 Stimulants including cocaine, antidepressants, and nicotine.

 Opiates such as opium, morphine, and heroin. Hallucinogens and psychedelics like ecstasy and LSD.

Caffeine is legal and unregulated, unlike other psychoactive drugs, and is the most commonly consumed psychoactive drug in the world. In addition to coffee, caffeine is found in tea, soft drinks, chocolate, and some medicines.

So is caffeine good or bad? Well, it depends on who you are and how much you drink. The Food and Drug Administration classifies caffeine as "generally recognized as safe," since a toxic dose is considerably higher than doses usually consumed. It is still debated whether caffeine has positive or negative effects on health, but for most people the caffeine found in a few cups of coffee doesn't cause any harm. If you have any concerns about caffeine, discuss them with your healthcare provider.

Ingesting too much caffeine can cause side effects such as restlessness, irritability, trouble sleeping, headaches and heart palpitations or jitteriness. If you stop having caffeine abruptly, you may suffer some of the same symptoms like headaches and irritability, as well as anxiety, fatigue and difficulty concentrating. Since the withdrawal symptoms caused by abruptly stopping caffeine intake are not severe as withdrawal from dependencies on street drugs or alcohol, caffeine dependence is not usually considered a serious addiction.

Don't get sold on gold — it's a risky investment

By Rick Bloom Guest Columnist

Q: Dear Rick: About a yearand-a-half ago I wanted to be more conservative with my portfolio so I took about half my money and bought gold. At the time there were a number of commercials on TV which basically said you can't lose money on gold. Unfortunately, I lost. I'm currently down more than 20 percent. Did I get taken advantage of and can I sue the person who sold me the gold? Should I keep my gold or sell it?

A: It is possible to bring a cause of action if you can show that there were any misrepresentations or fraud by your salesperson. Just because you lost money is not sufficient to sue. What you have to show is that either there was an intentional misrepresentation of a material fact or fraud involved. Without those items it will be very difficult to bring a lawsuit.

As to your gold, my recommendation is sell at least 95 percent of it. This is based on the fact you have 50 percent of your money invested in gold. I don't care how good an investment it is, you shouldn't keep 50 percent of your portfolio in one item. Liquidate most of your holdings,

most,

understand risk. When most people think of risk they think of the stock market because the principal goes up and down.

However, there are other types of risk that investors need to account for. For example, there is purchasing power risk which means that even though your principal is not fluctuating, the purchasing power of your money is not keeping up. As far as I'm concerned, every investment, bar none, has risk. Gold is no different. Despite some of the commercials on TV, if you look at gold's performance over long periods of time you understand it can be a volatile, risky investment.

The key for investors is to identify the risk and make sure to diversify their portfolios with different types of investments.

I am always leerv when I see celebrities pushing investment products. Just because they are an actor or an athlete does not mean that they know anything about investing. Most of these people are paid spokespersons and they will push whatever they are paid to represent.

As an investor, it is impossible to invest risk free. However, it is possible to manage risk and that is something that every investor should strive for.

Keep in mind that goals and objectives go hand in hand with risk. A Certificate of Deposit (CD) may be a good investment in the short run, however, if your goals are long term, it's not so good. Before you invest in any investment make sure to identify the risk, see how it fits in your portfolio and always keep your individual goals and objectives in mind.

Westland church to show 'Unexpected Places'

A Westland church will host a special screening of a Michigan-made movie about a son's struggle with addiction and crime. Warren Road Light and Life Church will show Unexpected Places at 6:30 p.m. Friday, April 26, at the church, 33445 Warren Road, east of Wavne Road, in Westland. Tickets are available online in advance for $5 at Reveal-FilmGroup.com and for $6 at the door.

Most people are not excited to be sent to jail, but it was a dream come true for a local film producer Penny Carlisi of Milford. In November 2011, her crew went to jail by special invitation and the result is a feature-length movie she produced.

Carlisi's time in jail started innocently enough, when she asked Chaplain Jim Proos if he knew where she could borrow two beat up metal bunks for the jail scene. To her amazement, Proos instead talked with Sheriff Robert Bezotte and received permission for the team to shoot two scenes inside a four-person cell at the Livingston County Jail and another two scenes in the lobby area. According to Carlisi, the filming lent an eerie "authenticity" to the climax that was originally scheduled to be shot in a cinder block classroom at her church. Another film session included a police officer chasing a speeding car with sirens blazing on the back roads of Howell for an arrest scene.

Unexpected Places is a fictional drama inspired by true events that occurred in the life of Carlisi who also wrote the film's script. The movie stars Tim Torok of Pinckney, as a troubled son who struggles with addiction and crime. Watching his descent causes his mother, played by Carlisi, almost unbearable grief and affects her relationships at work and with her husband, played by Wayne Brown of Dearborn Heights.

Mother and son hit bottom together. The movie unfolds an amazing journey for each of them, culminating in redemption and restoration. It speaks powerfully to parents or anyone agonizing over wayward loved ones, according to Carlisi.

Unexpected Places has received the Dove Foundation seal of approval and will be distributed by Bridgestone Multimedia Group beginning July 2013. The movie is a 100 percent local production and utilized all Michigan actors. Filming occurred almost entirely in the Milford, Brighton and Howell area, but also included a scene at the Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

Unexpected Places was completed in December 2012 and is a total of 112 minutes long. The producers are Penny Carlisi and Daniel Knudsen Michael Brennan of Pinckney is the director and Megan Farnsworth is the director of photography. The music is composed by Samuel Joshua. Items available for sale at the event include the movie DVD, a novel of the movie written by Brennan and the original music CD.

For more information about the event, call (734) 718-9401 or (248) 756-1692.

Last 0:05: Ladywood victorious

By Brad Emons Observer Staff Writer

It took 79 minutes and 55 seconds, but Livonia Ladywood finally found a way to crack Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard's defensive shell.

Jenna Urso tapped in a cross from Domenique Sarnecky with only five seconds remaining to give the Blazers a dramatic 1-0 Catholic League triumph Thursday over the host Fighting Irish.

"It's very difficult when the other team decides not to try and score," said Ladywood coach Ken Shingledecker, whose team outshot Richard 16-1. "They sat in from the opening kick off and never left their end. We continued to press and finally broke through at the very end. It's a road league win that we had to have, and we got it."

Senior Sara Even did not have to make a save in goal for Ladywood as the Blazers, ranked No. 2 in Division 2, improved to 6-0-1 overall and 4-0-1 in the Catholic League.

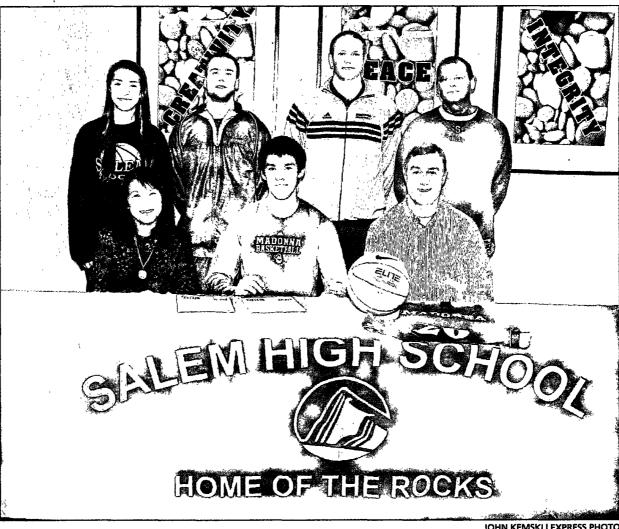

Izzy Dirksen made four saves for Gabriel Richard (3-3-2, 0-2-2), which is ranked No. 8 in Division 3.

CHURCHILL 4, FARM-INGTON 0: Livonia Churchill (3-3-1) got rolling offensively in the second half scoring all four its goals Friday to beat the host Falcons (0-2) in a nonconference match.

Freshman Lauren Wynns got credit for the game-winner, while Kelsey Parrinello added two goals and one assist. Aliyah Abdeljaber tallied Churchill's final goal from 18 yards out when she drilled an upper-90 degree shot.

"That was a great goal," Churchill coach Reid Friedrichs said. "We played well as a team and our defense played

Rock-solid addition

MU's Emenhiser lands 6-7 Salem cager

By Tim Smith Staff Writer

Chris Dierker — like his former Salem teammate Tyler Stewart speaks softly and possesses quality basketball skills.

And now Dierker will follow 2012 alum Stewart from the Park over to Madonna University.

Dierker, a 6-foot-7 senior power forward and impact player for the Rocks, signed a national letterof-intent Friday to join the Crusaders, who finished 25-9, best in school history.

According to Dierker, who averaged 14.7 points and 10.7 rebounds in 2012-13 for Salem, signing with Madonna fit into his comfort zone.

"It played a big impact as I've been playing with him (Stewart) for a long time at Salem," said Dierker, following the signing ceremony. "I've also known the coach (Noel Emenhiser) for a long time, going to the camps in the summer and the fall league since seventh Dierker and Stewart were two major contributors to Salem's Kensington Lakes Activities Association championship in 2011-12.

Longtime Salem coach Bob Brodie said Dierker should make the same successful transition to MU as a freshman that Stewart did.

"I think it's a good fit for him to go to Madonna," Brodie said. "He's playing with his ex-teammate and he's playing with a couple guys who were in our league. I think it's going to be a good fit. It's a gem in the rough for them to get a guy like him. I think he's a good player and he'll fit in well there.'

Dierker — who was joined at last week's signing ceremony at Salem by Brodie, Emenhiser, MU assistant coach Adam Kerfoot and family members (parents Bill and Lien, sister Michelle) — noted that he talked to other NAIA schools, including Concordia and Spring

But he always figured Madonna would be his landing spot.

"I don't mind it," said Dierker, bout going to a nearby college. "My parents can go to a couple

The Madonna University men's golf team wrapped up its regular season Thursday with a team championship crown at the Spring Arbor Invitational held at the Cascades Golf Club in Jack-

The Crusaders posted rounds of 301 and 294 for a 595 total and a seven-shot victory in windy and wet conditions which featured a 40-minute rain delay during Round Two.

Davenport University placed second (303-299-602), while Siena Heights University (303-306-609) and MU's 'B' team (310-299-609) tied for third place.

Host Spring Arbor and Trine University (Ind.) tied for fifth in 12-school field with 618 each.

Westland John Glenn's Andy Myers, a senior, paced the MU 'B' squad with a 1over 73 before shooting an even-par 72 in the final round for a 145.

Myers tied with Davenport's Jorge Benitel (74-71-145), but lost on the first playoff hole for individual medalist hon-

For the Madonna 'A' squad, senior Dave Goad (Allen Park) tied for fifth with a 72-75-147 followed by junior Erik Taurence (Wyandotte), tied for ninth (76-73-149); along with junior Drew Mossoian (Livonia Stevenson), 75-75-

Rounding out the MU 'B team scorers included juniors Benjamin Gawronski (Hartland), 78-74 and Billy Teer (Grand Blanc), 80-72-152, tied for 15th with 152 totals; junior Joe Parker (Walled Lake Northern), 75-79-154, 17th; sophomore Nick Corbeil (New Boston Huron), 78-77-155, tied for 19th; and junior Kevin Robinson (Livonia Churchill), 84-75-159, tied for 29th.

The Crusaders now look to the 2013 Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference Championship Monday to open the 54hole event at Stonewater Country Club in Grand Rapids.

Lax triumph for Ladywood

Senior Christina Riga and junior Megan Leon each recorded hat tricks to lift Livonia Ladywood to a 13-4 weathershortened girls lacrosse win Wednesday at Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard.

Junior Jessica Snyder also added two goals and two assists while senior goalie Stephanie Mackley made four saves as the Blazers improved to 4-0 overall and 3-0 in the Catholic League.

Camellia Perrault scored three goals and goalie Katie Goold made six saves for the Fighting Irish.

Streaking Madonna sweeps Davenport

Scoring with two outs was the story Monday as the Madonna University baseball team swept a Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference double-header from visiting Davenport University at Ilitch Ballpark, 9-5 and 12-6.

The Crusaders got two hits and two RBI from Justin Cook in Game One, while Steve Pelletier, Victor Barron and John Lauro contributed two hits apiece.

Matthew Cook and Jeff Beckles also collected two RBI each as the Crusaders overcame a 4-1 deficit with five runs in the fifth inning.

Winning pitcher Peter Renaud (3-1) gave up five earned runs on 11 hits and three walks in five innings. Reliever Dan Stoney (Canton) held the Panthers scoreless over the final 3.1 innings on just two hits.

Jotham Woo went 3-for-5 with three RBI for Davenport, while starter Michael Clutterbuck (4-4) took the loss.

In Game Two, homers by Lauro and Beckles keyed a 14-hit attack as the Crusaders improved to 23-7 overall and 10-1 in the WHAC.

Barron went 3-for-4 with an RBI, while Donny Holland added two hits and two RBI. Lauro had a 3-run blast.

Evan Piechota (Livonia Stevenson), in relief of starter Justin Hicks, pitched 3.1 scoreless innings to improve to 3-0. Davenport (23-12, 8-6) got two hits and Livonia Stevenson senior Karlie Gallagher recently signed an NAIA letter-of-intent to run cross country at Madonna University. "There is nobody I could thank more than my family for always supporting me in everything that I do," said Gallagher. a second-team All-Observer pick. "I'm also very thankful for all of my coaches and mentors who have pushed me to not only be the best athlete I could be, but also to be the best person I could be. If it weren't for them, I would not be where I am today. I am extremely grateful for the opportunity of being a college student-athlete at Madonna."

Dierker, who competes in track and soccer for the Rocks, is the second member of Madonna's recruiting 2013 class, following Trenton forward-center Dan Hall.

"We're really excited about Chris coming in," Emenhiser said. "He is a big, strong, very athletic player. I think he's underrated in terms of what people think he can do as a skill-type player. But we've been really been impressed with him as a person as much as a player."

Emenhiser, who guided MU to its firstever Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference crown and trip the NAIA Division II National Tournament, envisions Dierker making an impact in the paint and all over the court — just as he did at Salem.

"We see him playing a forward position for us," Emenhiser said. "Somebody that can face up and attack the rim off the dribble, crash the boards and get up the floor really well.

"He hopefully can add a dimension not only in transition, but also in the half-

MU softball team derailed by Wolves

All good things must come to a end. That was the case Wednesday afternoon at King Boring Field as the Madonna University women's softball team had its nine-game winning streak snapped by University of Michigan-Dearborn, 5-2.

The second-place Crusaders fell to 25-13 overall and 7-2 in the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference, a half a game behind Cornerstone.

MU posted just three hits in the setback with senior shortstop Arielle Cox hitting a homer in the fifth inning. Junior first baseman Erin Mayes and sophomore Karleigh Creighton (North Farmington) recorded the other two MU hits off UM-Dearborn starter Erika Southworth, who went all five innings in a game that was called due to lightning and rain.

MU sophomore right-hander Bree Crampton (13-8), who allowed four runs on nine hits while fanning five, suffered the loss before giving way to reliever Carlee Meek, who gave up a run on two hits in two-thirds of an inning.

MU took a 1-0 lead after half an inning as freshman second baseman Emma Cook reached on a one-out error before moving to third on a Mayes single and coming home on a ground out that gave the Crusaders their only lead of the

The Wolves tied the game in the third on a RBI single by Michelle Hollister and added three more runs in the fourth on a three-run pinch hit homer by Brittany Webb for a 4-1 advantage.

MU answered with fifth on Cox's homer, but the Wolves responded with another run in the bottom of the inning for the 5-2 final.

Shortstop Lindsay Taylor (3-for-3) and center fielder Maria Rodriguez (2-for-2) paced the Wolves, who racked up 11

Erin Mayes enjoyed a big day at the plate knocking in seven runs to lift the Crusaders (25-12, 7-1) to a sweep of a double-header last Sunday against visiting Lourdes University of Ohio (5-17, 2-4).

The junior first baseman from Ida, who also earned WHAC Player of the Week honors, belted a paiDr of homers, including an inside the-park round tripper.

In Game One, the Crusaders put up 11 runs over the first three innings as Mayes went 3for-3 with three RBI.

Caitlyn Keuvelaar went 2-for-3 with two RBI, while Arielle Cox collected two hits and Carlee Meek also knocked in a pair of runs. Winning pitcher Bree Crampton allowed just one hit and two walks in the five-inning mercy. She struck out eight.

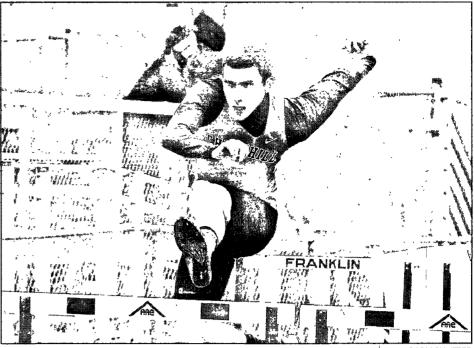

Taylor Derr had the lone hit for the Grey Wolves, while starter Casey Cherry (3-7) took the loss

In Game Two, Mayes went 2-for-4, including her fifth and sixth homers of the season, to go along with four RBI as the Crusaders collected a total of 12 hits.

Amber Rafko also went 2-for-4 with two RBI, while Emma Cook, Kristen Drabek and Keuvelaar also added two hits apiece.

Crampton, in relief of starter of Carlee Meek, pitched 2.2 scoreless innings to improve her record to 13-7. Meek struck out four, walked one and did not allow a hit. Starter Kasey Graham (2-10) took the loss for Lourdes, while Hayley Roberts went 2-for-3 and knocked in two runs.

Unifinished business RU leads C'ville 1-0 in 5th inning

By Ed Wright Staff Writer

The catchers' mitts were popping during Wednesday afternoon's baseball game between Redford Union and Livonia Clarenceville.

The bats, on the other hand, were as silent as the wind.

Starting pitchers Patrick Wierimaa (RU) and Zach Devon (Clarenceville) were throwing lightning bolts — at least until top of the fifth inning when stormy weather forced the umpires to suspend the game.

The contest will be continued prior to the two teams' regularly scheduled game at Clarenceville on May 13.

Redford Union leads, 1-0, thanks in large part to the wiry but hard-throwing Wierimaa, who whiffed nine Trojans in just 4.1 innings.

Devon was equally nasty, striking out nine Panthers in his four innings of work.

"I thought both the pitchers threw extremely well," said RU head coach Bob Miller, who was making his home debut. "You could tell from the first inning on - from the way they were both throwing — that it was going to be a 1-0 or 2-1 type game."

Miller said that given the unusually limited time high school teams have spent outside this spring, it's not unusual to see good pitchers dominate.

"The pitchers have an advantage over the hitters at this point in the season because they've been able to throw off a mound indoors for quite a while," he said. "The batters, though, haven't really been able to face live pitching that much. I know with our numbers, we can't risk getting a pitcher hurt in practice."

Wierimaa yielded just two hits and a walk while throwing an efficient number of pitches. Clarenceville's Kyle Kissandi singled with one out in the second and Devon laced a one-out single in the fourth. Wierimaa responded with backto-back strike outs in both frames.

Clarenceville's Evan Gregg led off the top of the fifth with a walk. He advanced to second on a stolen base, but was gunned down at third by RU catcher Alex Shimmons while trying to repeat the feat.

A few seconds later, umpires spotted lightning in the distance and the game was off.

RU tallied the game's lone run in the third. The Panthers loaded the bases when Corey Davis walked, Wierimaa singled and Ryan Aaro was hit by a pitch. Shimmons then ripped a one-hopper back to Devon, who fired home for the force.

The next batter, Vince Diaz, grounded into a fielder's choice, which brought home Wierimaa.

Wierimaa's hard-hit single to right was the lone hit off Devon, who struggled a bit with control as he walked four and hit a pair of Panthers.

The Panthers' defense was spot on Wednesday. In addition to Shimmons throwing out a potential base-stealer. Davis made a slick play at short, throwing out Ryan Merifee, who had topped a slow roller just past the mound.

"We've been telling the boys since day one that defense and pitching wins championships, and they did really well in both those areas today," Miller said.

MU pitching trio blanks Saints

The Madonna University baseball team beat the rain en route to a doubleheader sweep of visiting Siena Heights University at Ilitch Ballpark, 5-0 and 8-0.

With the two shutouts, the Crusaders improved to 25-7 overall and 12-1 in the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference. MU has now won 13 of its last 14 games.

Twins Matthew and Justin Cook combined to keep SHU (8-23, 5-13) off of the scoreboard for nine innings in Game One, while Josh Vandemark blanked the Saints for the six innings in a game that was called following a 58minute rain delay. Matthew Cook (5-0) allowed just five hits while walking two and striking out four over eight innings. Justin Cook came on to get the final three outs.

Saints starter Jake Sperry (Westland John Glenn), who gave up three earned runs on eight hits in five innings. suffered the loss to fall to 1-3.

Jeff Beckles and Victor Barron each collected two hits and an RBI, while Justin Cook also knocked in two runs.

Kyle Benschoter had two hits for Siena Heights.

In Game Two, Vandemark (4-1) struck out 10 and allowed just three hits during his six-inning stint to pick up the win.

Lead-off batter Shane Dokey went 2-for-3 with two RBI, while Steve Pelletier (Farmington Harrison), Barron, Justin Cook and John Lauro posted an RBI apiece. MU's scheduled WHAC double-header Saturday against the University of Northwestern Ohio was called off because of inclement weather.

The two teams were scheduled to go again at 1 p.m. Sunday in Sylvania, Ohio.

London will need to stop Plymouth's Vince Trocheck (No. 25) in the OHL Western Conference finals. Trocheck, shown here last series against Owen Sound, enters Friday's game against the Knights with 21 points in 10 playoff games — the most in the league.

Whalers' MacDonald eyes the prize in homecoming

By Tim Smith Staff Writer

Even though Plymouth Whalers defenseman and captain Colin MacDonald hails from London, Ont., don't expect him to be worrying about visiting friends and family this weekend.

That's because Mac-Donald's team has some hockey business to attend to beginning this weekend in London, when the Ontario Hockey League Western Conference Finals gets underway. The teams played the opener on Friday and will skate in Game 2 at 2 p.m.

Sunday.
The last time the Whalers went this far was 2007, also against London. That year, the Whalers won the OHL championship.

"I think it's a little bigger for my family," said MacDonald, asked about returning to his hometown for the series during last week's OHL media conference call. "For me it's just another playoff series where we need to win.

"I'm looking forward to it and it's cool that it's in London, but mainly (I'm) just looking forward to starting the conference finals."

All signs point to a high-flying, entertaining series between the top two teams in the conference. London registered 105 points for No. 1 honors while the Whalers tallied 93 to win the West Division.

Plymouth coach/GM Mike Vellucci and his London counterpart, former NHL player and coach Dale Hunter, have enough talent to easily roll four forward lines and three defensive pairings.

"Well they're the New York Yankees of the OHL," said Vellucci, describing the Knights.
"They're the top team every year and they're going to obviously very competitive. They have a tough building, 9,100 people every night, and it's going to be tough.

"... There's skill on both teams and it's going to be entertaining for the fans to watch the skill out there. We expect nothing but a great series."

New-wave Whalers

MacDonald and his teammates arrive in London brimming with confidence following a torrid second half.

The Whalers lost three of four meetings against the Knights, the last one a 4-1 loss on Dec. 29 at Compuware.

But the tables turned soon thereafter.

Vellucci acquired eventual OHL scoring champion Vince Trocheck (109 points) in early January.

Around that time, he handed the goaltending reigns to rookie Alex Nedeljkovic (2.28, 19-2-1-1, .923).

Plymouth then played Knights-like hockey the rest of the way right through the first two rounds of the playoffs against Sarnia and Owen Sound. "He's a pretty confident kid," said MacDonald about the 17-year-old Nedeljkovic. "He's a good goalie and he's good for the D in front of him. "We have confidence in him, that he's going to make those stops that you need, and overall he's just a great kid."

So does Vellucci, who also has a solid netminding option in veteran Matt

Mahalak.

"We watched him
(Nedeljkovic) with Belle Tire last year, he's from Cleveland, our goalie coach has worked with him before and knew a lot about him," Vellucci said.

"We knew he was good,

can play.

"He's just got that calming demeanor to him, he doesn't get rattled. We've seen goalies like that come through this league before."

and it doesn't matter your age. If you can play, you

Intangibles help

If there ever was an area that might test that demeanor it's the Budweiser Gardens, filled every night with more than 9,000 fans.
"We played there

"We played there

before and we played in a tough building at Owen Sound," Vellucci said. "Even though there's not 9,100 it's a very loud and electric place.

"It's really going to come down to what we do on the ice. We can prepare for that and most of our guys have already played there (London). So I think that part of it is not going to be too big of a factor."

 MacDonald said the Whalers have intangibles along with talent.

"We've got a really hard-working team,"
MacDonald noted. "I think the character in the room shows and we had a hard-fought series against Owen Sound and came out victorious."

He added that it also helps that the players "come to the rink ready to work, ready to play every day and have good practices every day. We got a tight-knit group and everyone hangs out off the ice and I think that helps towards what we put on the ice, so it's been great so far."

Of course, being able to deliver the goods doesn't hurt, either.

They could be key

During the second half and first two playoff rounds, the Whalers have featured a powerful offense with forwards Trocheck, Stefan Noesen, Tom Wilson and Rickard Rakell to name a few.

Yet Vellucci concurred several other so-called "under-the-radar" players could prove to be major factors in how the series unfolds.

"On our side nobody (in the media) talks about Mitchell Heard that much, or Matt Mistele, or Garrett Meurs," Vellucci said. "... And our defense never gets the recognition it deserves. All of them deserve recognition

"They played well and I think if our defense and those three forwards I talked about have good series we should be OK."

The Whalers, in addition to MacDonald, are strong on defense with veterans such as Austin Levi and Nick Malysa plus first-year players Connor Carrick and Gianluca Curcuruto.

Gymnasts vault to the top with 'all-around' skills

DIVISION 1 Carina Wright, Fr., Farm. United: Wright had an outstanding freshman season, earning Division 1 all-state honors in three events and the all-around. At the state meet, she was third overall (37.375), third on vault (9.575), fourth on beam (9.35) and tied for fourth on floor (9.6)

She helped her team win a regional championship by placing fifth on yault (9.15), sixth on bars (8.75), ninth on beam (8.65), second on floor (9.8) and fourth in the allaround (36.30).

"It is truly remarkable what Carina did as a freshman this year," coach Jeff Dwver said. "She was all-state in several events, including the all-around competition. To do this at such a young age bodes well for her and our program. If she stays hungry, she can leave a mark in the record books in years to come."

Melissa Green, Jr., Canton: The junior tri-captain and Canton co-MVP continued to excel as the Chiefs' highest scoring, most consistent gymnast, according to coach John Cunningham.

At the D1 individual finals at Plymouth, the Elite All-American Gymnast medaled in four of five events.

Green tied for sixth on balance beam with teammate Maddie Toal (9.3) and took fourth on floor (9.6) and allaround (37.25).

That across-the-board performance followed similar success the previous week at the individual regionals where Green was champion in Division 1 on vault with a 9.4 and medaled in the other four events.

Melissa has continued to be our consistent high scorer and a prime reason for our success," Cunningham said. Jocelyn Moraw, Soph.,

Canton: Only a sophomore, Moraw already has collected a number of major accomplishments including a Division 1 state championship on beam with a 9.55 at the individual finals at Plymouth High School.

Moraw also earned all-state honors on uneven parallel bars (third, 9.7) and in all-around (37.25) despite dealing with groin and back injuries.

"Jocelyn Moraw was the team inspiration," said Cunningham, following the 'March 9 individual finals. "Taping up a strained groin and back, finishing (team finals the previous day) and coming back the next day and winning a state championship.

"What a gutsy, fantastic display of fortitude." Moraw registered Division 1 individual regional championships on bars (9.2), floor exercise (9.725) and all-around (37.15) and medaled in the other events. In recognition of her season, the tri-captain and Elite All-American Gymnast earned Canton's co-MVP award.

Katie Kretzschmar, Sr., Livonia Red: After taking a year off, the senior earned all-state honors twice with an eighth on balance beam (9.275) and 10th on bars (9.075) at the state meet. She earned a spot in the state finals by taking second on bars (9.15) and fourth on beam (8.75) at the regional. In the KLAA meet, Kretzschmar placed sixth on beam (9.2) and ninths on bars (8.4).

An ankle injury kept Kretzschmar from competing on vault this season.

"Katie works extremely hard when she practices," Livonia Red coach Kelly Grodzicki said. "She shows great strength and focus. Passion for the sport of gymnastics is what Katie holds close to her heart. She was an exceptional teammate acting as a great role model for the other gymnasts. Motivation and encouragement are two characteristics that she demonstrated."

Kretzschmar, also named an academic all-stater, carries a 3.69 grade-point average and plans to pursue nursing at Oakland University.

Maddie Toal, Fr., Canton: Yet another Canton freshman to make a quick impact, Toal earned Elite All-American Gymnast honors for top-notch performances all Lucas, an Elite All-American Gymnast and elected tri-captain for next year, also was all-state on uneven parallel bars and all-around with marks of 8.725 and 35.15, respectively.

At the individual regionals, she was champion on vault with a 9.35 and tied for second on bars (with Salem's Brittany Ramirez and Andrea Merlotti) and took second in all-around.

Cunningham lauded Lucas for the way she came back from a foot injury "to im-prove dramatically on every event."

Bri Rhoad, Fr., Livonia Blue: The ninth-grader finished sixth in the Division 2 vault (9.25) at the state finals and was seventh in the all-around (35.425).

Rhoad's high scores of the year included 9.5 (vault); 9.3 (uneven bars), 9.525 (beam) and 9.35 (floor).

Rhoad tied for fourth in the all-around at the regional thanks to a third (vault); seventh (floor); eighth (uneven bars); and 11th (beam).

"Bri came into high school gymnastics with many skills and determination to grow even more," Livonia Blue coach Lisa Broomfield said.

"Bri worked hard this season growing into a high school gymnast. She is fearless when it comes to trying new skill and she is always ready to try something that other dare not. She wants her routines to stand out from the rest.

"Bri had a great first season and she continues to improve and gets stronger every day. Watching her compete this season with determination and drive makes it exciting to think about next year.

Hailey Hodgson, Fr., Canton: One of several impressive Canton freshmen, Hodgson jumped right into the fray and proved her skills all season.

"Hailey had a breakout year," Cunningham said, "especially on vault."

Her season culminated at the state individual finals with a seventh-place finish on vault in Division 2 (9.2).

Hodgson, named Canton's "Most Improved Gymnast" and an All-American Gymnast, qualified for the state meet with her third-place finish on vault at the individual regionals.

"She is one of the most dedicated, hardest-working members of the team," Cunningham said.

Brittany Ramirez, Soph., Salem: The Rocks also had a successful season, reaching the D1 team finals (having finished third at team region-

She followed that up at the individual finals with an all-state performance on D2 vault, coming in eighth with a 9.175 mark.

"Brittany has a good work ethic and has persevered this season through a major elbow injury," coach Dana Driscoll said. "She had surgery four days after the state meet. Though her pain she managed to always compete hard and was a major contributor all year for her team.

"I'm very proud of her accomplishments this season. Brittany is looking forward to competing pain free next year for the first time in three years, and will continue to help lead this team next year.

Andrea Meriotti, Soph., Salem: The senior co-captain overcame injuries to have an award-winning season, finishing second in Division 2 at the team regionals on vault (9.125) and bars (8.75) and taking third in all-around with a 35.870.

At the individual finals, Merlotti was all-state on vault with a ninth-place finish of 9.15.

"Andrea had an amazing senior year and has also persevered throughout the year with injuries," Driscoll said. "Andrea set her goals this year and worked very hard to achieve them always being a good role model in the gym with her work ethic and determination.

"I'm very proud of her accomplishments this year and she will be missed next year as she has been a major contributor for the past three years."

Merlotti will attend the University of Michigan in the fall. Samantha Fontana, Fr., Plymouth: The freshman was a key contributor for the Wildcats, helping them finish second at the D1 team regionals to qualify for the state meet.

Fontana also qualified for the individual finals in Division 2 with her fifth-place finish of 8.925 on balance beam (tied with teammate Sarah Uhlian) and a sixth-place showing of 8.60 on uneven parallel bars.

At the finals, hosted by Plymouth, Fontana earned all-state honors by finishing ninth on bars with an 8.7 "Sam has a heart of gold," coach Pam Yockey said. When we need something done she gets the job done. Her talent has not been totally tapped yet. "She is kind, generous to her teammates, willing to step in on a minute's notice to cover a spot that has been open." The all-conference performer also is an All-American Gymnast. Marissa Lapinsky, Sr., Farm. United: Lapinsky earned all-state recognition on the uneven parallel bars, scoring 8.65 and finishing in a tie for 10th place with teammate Alyssa Millinoff and another gymnast. Lapinsky was a state qualifier in the Division 2 all-around, placing 20th overall with a 34.25 score. She earned a 34.675 score at the regional and was fourth in the allaround.

She also was third on bars (8.575) at the regional, fifth on beam (8.85) and 12th on floor (8.70). Lapinsky was a major contributor to Farmington United's regional victory and third-place finish in the state.

(Lapinsky's all-state placement) is a well-deserved award for someone who has dedicated herself to the sport over the years," Dwyer said. "As a co-captain, she was a very strong, vocal leader who helped mold the team this year. Her athleticism and leadership will be greatly missed next season."

Alyssa Millinoff, Jr., Farm. United: Millinoff achieved all-state status on the uneven parallel bars, sharing 10th place with teammate Marissa Lapinsky and one other gymnast, each with an 8.65 score. Millinoff was a state qualifier in the Division 2 all-around.

She finished in 13th place with a 34.80 total. At the regional, she was third on vault (8.95), second on bars (8.70), fourth on beam (8.875), 11th on floor (8.80) and second in the all-around (35.325). "She is so deserving of this (all-area) honor," Dwyer said. "She is what high school sports are all about. She is a dedicated team member who works extremely hard to improve. She has an inner spirit that just does not allow her to quit.

Jamie Jasinski, Sr., Livonia Blue: The senior captain placed seventh on the Division 2 balance beam (9.075) after tying for eighth in the regional (8.675). "Jamie started high school gymnastics as a freshmen and worked very hard each year to better herself and her skills," Broomfield said. "This was Jamie's first year making it to 'states.' Every day Jamie would come to practice ready to work and improve herself to better the team and her scores as an individual.

"I'm so proud of her for all the hard work and determination that she put into her career. Watching her grow over the four years shows that hard work and determination means anything is possible." COACH OF YEAR

Pam Yockey, Plymouth: Under the steady guidance of the veteran coach, Plymouth enjoyed its best season yet. The Wildcats lost only two dual meets and finished second at the D1 team regionals, ultimately finishing fifth at the team finals held at Plymouth High

Celebrate Recovery

Film introduces Christ-centered 12-step recovery program to the masses

By Sharon Dargay Staff Writer

When John Sherman watched the new film. Home Run, which opened Friday, April 19, in select theaters nationwide, he saw himself in the main character portrayed on the big screen.

"I thought they stole my story," said Sherman, with a laugh.

The Farmington Hills man is director of the Celebrate Recovery ministry at Canton Connection Church. He's also the state director and senior representative for the program's North Central Region. Celebrate recovery is a 22-year-old Christ-centered, 12-step recovery program that started at Saddleback Church in California and has since spread to other churches nationwide.

Sherman was in a meeting with other state representatives three years ago when he heard that plans for a movie that would include Celebrate Recovery, was in negotiations.

"We saw it come together over three years," he said. "I think they handled it very well."

The movie follows fictional major league baseball player, Cory Brand, as his life spirals out of control. Brand, haunted by his past, which includes an abusive father, is an alcoholic and has anger issues. After he is suspended from his team, his agent insists that he return to his hometown in Oklahoma to attend Celebrate Recovery meetings and to coach a youth baseball team.

Scenes throughout the movie show Brand in Celebrate Recovery group meetings where he listens to personal testimonies from other group members.

"It wasn't by mistake that they chose Celebrate Recovery for the film," Sherman said. "One of the producers, Carol Mathews, goes to a church where her pastor had been through a Celebrate Recovery step study."

Realistic portrayal After hearing a testimony at church, Mathews put film plans in motion. "Not only did they get interested in Celebrate Recovery, but all of the writers went through Celebrate Recovery step studies to get a better feel."

That may be one reason why the testimonies, dialogue and portrayal of Celebrate Recovery meetings is "very realistic," Sherman said. Like Brand, who is reluctant to attend the Christ-centered pro-drunk driving. "Then, about seven years ago the church I was at decided to start up a Celebrate Recovery program and asked for those who were doing a 12-step experience (such as Alcoholics Anonymous) to get involved," Sherman said. "I was skeptical. I have a strong recovery background and I didn't think it would be a strong recovery program. I thought it would be just another ministry. I thought it would be people in the church preaching to people in recovery, telling them what to do."

Sherman reluctantly attended a session and immediately agreed to

"I loved what I saw. I thought it was not only Christ-centered but it was good recovery. I've been in it ever since." Sherman initially joined the pro-

Learn about developmental disabilities

By L. J. McCulloch Guest Columnist

pril has been declared National Developmental Disabilities Awareness Month in America. Developmental disabilities commonly include: Down syndrome,

Our Mental Health Len McCulloch

trum disorder, and birth injuries with cognitive impairments causing mental deficiency. In my clinical work with individuals and families who have mental and physical challenges of developmental disabilities, I have met some of the happiest people that I have known. Unlike survivors of trauma, such as traumatic brain injuries and strokes, the vast majority of those with congenital developmental disabilities are not aware of previously: intact functioning. Thus, they are more apt to respond favorably to interventions which deal with their present, their "here and now" issues, and their quality of life.

In Oakland and Macomb counties, such folks are largely serviced by the care of the Macomb Oakland Regional Center. (MORC). MORC is a nonprofit agency which started in the 1970s and is an evaluation and treatment center for individuals and their families. MORC has office settings in Auburn Hills and Clinton Township and is developing a Wayne County outreach program. It tends to more than 5,000 individuals and offers a variety of services, including speech and physical therapy, occupational and socialization therapy, family support groups, psychiatric/medical management, recreational therapies as well as a stellar therapeutic choir called The MORC

Singing Group. This group has met every other Wednesday for five years at the MORC Auburn Hills facility.

Good singing skills are not required. While providing an experience of pleasure, choir therapy also aids the individual's progress through two different mediums: the music itself and the camaraderie of the group.

Gentle teaching is a method of relating with other people aspired to by the MORC Singing Group as well as most therapeutic interventions for people with developmentally disabilities across the board

Focus is on four essential areas of safety, being cared about, being able to care back, and being engaged in the world.

The five-year old MORC Singing Group is comprised of people who live within the world of developmental disabilities. One need not be a MORC consumer to participate. There is a "volunteer voices" component of The Therapy Choirs of Michigan which funds the singing group.

I have found it helpful to provide individuals with developmental disabilities a psychotherapeutic experience. While not as rigorous as traditional psychotherapy, psychological therapy can be modified to meet the needs of these special people. It can assist individuals in coping with a way of life that they did not choose. Often, they struggle with the issue of wanting the same lifestyle as other citizens such as a job, intimate relationships, or productivity in a family. Did you know that the developmentally disabled population has a rate of co-existing, psychiatric disorders two to three times that of the general population? Mood disorders, including depression, anx-are seen. We need to remember that they all go through the life cycle as we do. They love, laugh, cry. wish, hope, and grow old. Often they need and can benefit from the personal connection which iety and even psychosis often a good psychotherapeutic relationship can accomplish.

Pet lovers can support golden retrievers

By Sharon Dargay Staff Writer

What's better than a golden retriever? Lots of golden retriev-

At least a few of the lovable dogs will be on hand at the annual The Golden Retriever Rescue of Michigan's (GRRoM) Evening of Wine, Goldens and Giggles fundraiser, 5-7 p.m. Saturday, May 4, at GO Comedy! Improv, 261 E. Nine Mile, just east of Woodward Ave., in Fern-

Amy Hernandez, GGroM president, said her group is "very excited" about the dog-themed improv show that will be included in the event. In addition to the show, guests will receive a commemorative glass, get a chance to bid on live and silent auctions — everything from golden retriever items to jewelry to signed collectibles — and enjoy appetizers and desserts. Some adoptable goldens also will be on hand.

Tickets are $75 in advance and $80 at the door. Go to www.grrom. com to buy tickets or for more information.

GGRoM members have rescued, fostered and found new homes for more than 3.500 dogs over the past 20 years. The average cost of caring for a dog in rescue is approximately $630. Money raised at Evening of Wine, Goldens and Giggles will support the cost of fostering and re-homing adoptable and retired foster dogs.

"Currently, we have 28 foster dogs in our care. Four of those are ready for adoption right now, 13 will be ready soon after they finish with medical treatment, training, etc.," Hernandez said. "Then the other 11 are what we call 'retired' fosters. These are older dogs that can't be adopted due to special health issues, and we are so fortunate to have fosters who are willing to take care of these dogs until they are no longer with us. GRRoM still pays for all the medical care for these retired foster dogs."

Jennifer Chirpka of Canton, began volunteering for the group after adopting two golden retrievers, ages 1 and 4.

'Goldens are high energy to a point but they calm down easily and are trainable. I love them to death," Chirpka said.

She said the organization always needs volunteers to help foster the dogs. An application is available at GRRoM's website.

Grenier's cats will compete in the household division — there's a purebred category, too --- a hopes they'll not only win over the judges, but the hearts of potential adopters as well. "For the household category, there are no standards to be compared against," she said. "They have to be well-groomed, nails cut, ears clean, with a good personality. Duensing holds degrees in vocal performance from The University of Michigan, Ann Arbor and Indiana University in Bloomington. She has performed most main roles for mezzo soprano in the serious and light operatic repertoire. These include the roles of Carmen, Dalila, Adalgisa, Ameneris, Cherubino and others.

Duensing serves as adjunct assistant professor of voice at Wayne State University, teaches vocal music classes at Our Lady of Victory School and serves as English Choir director, organist and pianist at St. Thomas Aquinas Church in Detroit.

Foster began his career as a church organist in his hometown of Wheeling, WV at age 11. After completing two degrees in organ performance at the University of Michigan, he became artistic director and organist of First English Lutheran Church in Grosse Pointe Woods, where, in November, he will celebrate his 30th anniversary with the congregation. Foster also served as the vocal music teacher at University Liggett Middle and Upper Schools for the past 17 years. He is active in musical theater and has been musical director for countless productions at University Liggett and First English's yearly musical, and has worked as pianist for many Grosse Pointe Theatre productions.

Admission to the concert is free. A free will offering will be collected. For more information call the church at (248) 474-0584.

gram at Ward Evangelical Presbyterian Church in Northville. He subsequently accepted a staff position at Canton Connection Church and started a Celebrate Recovery program there almost two years ago.

Biblical vs. secular

Sherman sees two main differences between Celebrate Recovery and secular sobriety programs.

"All 12-step recovery programs rely upon a higher power. In a traditional recovery program they say something like 'choose your own higher power.' We don't belittle anybody else's understanding of recovery, but when we work the 12 steps, we work with Christ as our higher pow-

Sherman also said Celebrate Recovery is more than about alcohol and drug addiction. The Canton church offers smallgroup sessions for men struggling with sexual integrity, women who are survivors of abuse. and individuals suffering from food addiction. There's also a group for individuals struggling with issues that aren't covered in other meetings. It's called the "anger, anxiety and anything goes" group. Women and men meet in separate small-group sessions and come together for a large-group meeting with music, a lesson or speak-

Forgiveness also is a big part of the recovery process. Members learn to forgive others and let go of resentment.

"In my life it's been huge in terms of healing and moving on. I've also seen it happen in other people." Sherman said Celebrate Recovery members write their forgiveness issues on paper and then nail their words to a large cross in the church.

"The metaphor is very strong, to leave it there on the cross."

Film is more than just a pulpit for church program

By Sharon Dargay Staff Writer

COMMUNITY LIFE

John Sherman, a staff member at Canton Connection Church, was skeptical when he first heard about the Christcentered, 12-step recovery program called Celebrate Recovery seven years ago.

He planned to attend a session, but didn't have high expectations for the program. He assumed it would be too preachy, with church-goers telling recovering alcoholics and drug addicts what to do.

I felt the same way, as I prepared to watch the new film, Home Run, which includes Celebrate Recovery in its story line. I assumed the film would simply be a pulpit for the program, with plot and character as an afterthought.

I was pleasantly surprised to find a real story, with dialogue that rings true to each character, as well as strong acting.

The film tells the story of baseball all-star Cory Brand, played by Scott Elrod, (ABC's Men in Trees) whose life is spiralling out of control. Brand is haunted by his past, which includes an abusive father, has anger issues and alcohol addiction. After he is suspended, his agent, played by Vivica A. Fox (Independence Day, Soul Food) sends him back to the small town where he grew up, forcing him to coach the local youth baseball team and spend eight weeks in Celebrate Recovery, the only recovery program in town.

At first, Cory wants to get back to his life in the big leagues, but he eventually grows to enjoy coaching his young team. He reconnects with an old love and eventually begins to listen and reflect with genuine interest during Celebrate Recovery sessions, understanding that he can change his life.

Other actors in the film include Dorian Brown (FX's Wilfred), Nicole

Leigh, James Devoti, Drew Waters, Robert Peters and Juan Marti-

If someone took a poll asking the question: 'What is the greatest arthritis problem of the elderly,' doctors would answer: "Falls." Statistics from the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) confirm medical opinion. According to the CDC one out of every three adults over age 65 falls each year, among older adults falls are the leading cause of injury deaths, and in 2010, the latest year with complete statistics, hospital emergency rooms treated 2.3 million older adults for fall associated injuries.

The most common fractures occurring after falls in the elderly are spine, hip, pelvis, leg, ankle, wrist and forearm. What these fractures share is that each type immobilizes the patient. Fractures of the hip are notorious for leading to fatal pneumonia or blood clots to the leg that end with a death caused by an embolism to the lungs.

Falls also lead to fear of falling. The person limits walking from concern that ambulation and activity will lead to another fall. Paradoxically, being less active brings on a greater risk of

The reason is because the best preventive treatment for falls is walking. Exercise, exercise, exercise followed by activity, activity and activity is the therapy of choice to prevent falls. Exercise of any type done for a haif hour every day will build up leg muscle strength and bring tone to equilibrium, gait and reflexes that allow a person to right himself after a slight stumble or near fall.

Of equal importance is eating enough to keep up muscle mass, to drink sufficiently to maintain body fluids at a normal level, and to avoid medicines that cause dizziness or unexpected loss of blood pressure.

SCHAEFFER HONORABLE JUDGE MARGARET GROEFSEMA

Margaret Schaeffer, The Hon. Groefsema age 92, former judge for the 47th District Court in Farmington Hills, Michigan, died April 11, 2013, peacefully at her home of 62 years in Farmington Hills. She is survived by her children; Christine Skoglund (Dr. Paul) of Waterford, Paul Schaeffer of Waterford, the Hon. William E. Schaeffer of Battle Mountain, Nevada, and Virginia Schaeffer (Mitch Abrams) of Portland, Oregon; her two granddaughters, Madeline and Elise Abrams, also of Portland; her sisters, the Hon. Cornelia G. Kennedy, Judge (ret.), U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, Sixth Circuit, of Grosse Pointe, and Dr. Christine Gram of Farmington Hills; and numerous nieces and nephews from Michigan, Florida, Colorado, Texas, and Washington. She was pre-deceased by her husband of 58 years, Marvin G. Schaeffer, in 2006. Judge Schaeffer was born in Detroit, Michigan, on November 21, 1920. She graduated from the University of Michigan with a Bachelor of Arts in 1943 and a Juris Doctor with distinction in 1945. She was one of only two women graduates in her law class. After serving as a judicial law clerk for judges in Michigan and California, Judge Schaeffer joined her sister, Judge Kennedy, in practicing law with their father, Elmer Groefsema, a prominent Detroit attorney. Fol-lowing their father's death, the two sisters continued to practice law together with the Detroit firm, Judge Schaeffer was appointed to the Workers' Compensation Appeal Board for the State of Michigan in 1971. In 1974, she was elected as 47th District Court Judge serving Farmington and Farmington Hills. Upon joining the bench, Judge joining the bench, Judge Schaeffer and her sister, Judge Kennedy, became the first sisters to serve as judges in the United States. She served on the bench for 18 years before retiring in 1992. Her son, Bill, carries on the judicial tradition in Nevada. Judge Schaeffer was long active in civic and community activities. She served on the Farmington Hills City Council, the Farmington Township Board of Trustees, the Farmington Hills Beautification Commission, and the Farmington Community Center loard of Directors. long-standing member of the American Association of University Women. She was also a long-time member of the First Presbyterian Church of Farmington. Local advocates lobby Congress for health funding

Three hundred American Heart Association You're The Cure advocates recently traveled to Washington D.C. to urge Congress to restore funding for the National Institutes of Health (NIH), and provide funds from the Prevention and Public Health Fund for a new national campaign to reduce high blood pressure.

Local advocates Janine Krolikowski of Royal Oak, and Janan Saba of Livonia, met with Rep. Kerry Bentivolio, R-11th District, and U.S. Sen. Debbie Stabenow, D-Mich., and requested they continue to maintain support for NIH-funded research and a hypertension prevention campaign under the Million Hearts initiative key priorities for Congress. They also joined forces with volunteers from more than 150 other non-profit organizations in a "Rally to Fund Medical Research" calling on federal lawmakers to make funding for life-saving medical research a national priority.

Saba, whose mother is a 12-year heart attack survivor, and brother, who was born with a congenital heart defect and later passed away, said the nation could face serious consequences if funding is not restored.

"The loss of funding not only affects current research, but future research as well," she said. "We hope to restore the funding, so we can continue medical research for those affected by health issues like heart disease."

Krolikowski noted that the federal government slashed nearly $1.6 billion of the NIH's budget this

"We need to restore the NIH back to its original pre-sequester amount of $32 million," Krolikowski said. "These cuts have caused Michigan to lose $31.6 million in funding. Now over 500 Michigan health-related jobs are at risk."

. The budget cut could reduce the number of research grants by about 2,300, costing more than 20,000 jobs nationwide and shrinking new economic activity by nearly $3 billion. A typical NIH grant supports about seven mainly high-tech full-time or part-time jobs.

American Heart Association advocates from Michigan head to Capitol Hill to meet with lawmakers. The are Janine Krolikowski (left), Janan Saba, K.C. Sanders, Joe Ann Burgett, Jean and Owen Jones. Saba is a Livona resident.

Krolikowski and Saba also urged members of congress to designate $35 million from the Prevention and Public Health Fund to support a national high blood pressure campaign under the Million Hearts initiative. More than one in three adults in the United States has high blood pressure, but less than half have their condition under control. High blood pressure is one of the leading factors that can lead to a heart attack or stroke.

Krolikowski, who is also a national spokeswoman for Go Red For Women, lost her parents to heart disease and suffered a heart attack in 2004. Today, she is encouraging the community to protect funding and prevention by writing their members of congress personally or through yourethecure.org.

You're the Cure is a group of Americans advocating for policy change for the American Heart Association and the American Stroke Association. The advocates work to influence policy makers through e-mails, letters to the editor, phone calls, events and face-toface meetings. Some past accomplishments include creating smoke-free communities, placing AED (automated external defibrillator) devices in public places and increasing federal funding for medical research.

Putting a "Spring" in your Step!

Ask A Garden City Hospital Health Expert

Podiatry

Spring is here and for many of us that means reintroducing our feet to the world. Unfortunately, they've probably been somewhat neglected since last October. To help us welcome the warmer weather, Podiatrist and Garden City Hospital Health Expert, Dr. Howard Kane discusses what you can do to put your best foot forward!

- Winter has really taken a toll on my feet this year. Before I slip on my peep toes or consider running barefoot through the grass, what can I do to make my feet look and feel better?
- A: To begin your total foot transformation, start by removing any old polish caked on your toes and exfoliating them with a fresh lemon. Lemon brightens up your nails, helping them look healthier in an instant.

If polished toenails are a summertime must, keep in mind that a bad pedicure has the potential to create a variety of health issues. The relaxing whirlpool you're soaking in, the files and other tools, all have the potential to spread nail fungus, warts even serious bacterial infections. Reduce your risks, find a reputable salon that passes your eye test for cleanliness and stay with them. Don't shave or wax your legs at least 24 hours prior to your appointment, microscopic cuts can increase your risk for infection.

While that new pair of sandals may look hot, they can often cause painful blisters. Blisters form from the friction of the shoe rubbing against a part of your foot unaccustomed to this type of stress. The area then balloons out and fills with fluid that cushions and protects the deeper layers of skin. Prevention is key. Buy quality made, comfortable shoes that don't need to be "broken in." Also, try to buy shoes later in the day when your feet have spread out the most. Look for soft fabrics or leather. To make sure they stay pain-free, wear them around the house for an hour or so before you wear them outside.

Another important thing to consider, wearing sandals leaves your heels exposed and can cause the skin to crack. If you have any deep cracks or scabs, treat the heel with an antibiotic oil and cover with a bandage. Treat normal dry heels with an exfoliating moisturizer twice a day and try running and a pumice stone over them once or twice a week. Extremely dry, cracked or bleeding heels may be the sign of a more severe condition, and I recommend seeing your physician or a podiatrist right away.

Finally, remember that flip-flops are NOT created equally. Over wearing these summertime staples can lead to stress fractures, heel pain, shin splints, planter fasciitis, tendonitis, and increase the risk for hammertoes. Most flip-flops are only meant for the locker room or pool, and not designed to be worn all day. Look for a pair with good arch support and a thicker sole. The more straps the better, as they reduce stress placed on the toes to grip the flip-flop.

JOBS

What does it take to be considered overqualified?

also inside... Homes • Wheels • Pets • Services

Susan Ricker, CareerBuilder Writer

As a job seeker, you may sometimes think you're a contortionist, trying to fit and shape yourself into the perfect candidate for the job. Oftentimes you need to tweak your experience and skills to match. the job posting's phrasing. But what if you find yourself easily meeting or even surpassing the job requirements? While you may think you're a sure pick for the role, hiring managers may deem you overqualified.

Where's the line between being a perfect fit and being overqualified? Here's how to understand whether your qualifications will work for or against you and why hiring managers care.

The problem for both job seekers and employers As time goes on, a person's career tends to ascend to higher titles and more responsibility. "An overqualified job seeker is someone who, because of salary, experience or education, is considering taking a step down in job or pay out of short-term convenience or personal necessity," says Jeff Zinser, principal of executive recruitment and search company Right Recruiting LLC.

Although this may sound like a plus for employers, who can benefit from the extra skills and experience, overqualified applicants may be viewed as a flight risk. "This situation is a problem for employers, because there is a high probability that the person will leave the job as soon as a position at their historical level appears," Zinser says. "In many situations, once the person becomes productive, they leave. Then the employer needs to refill the position. Job specifications and requirements are designed to fill professional positions with people who will be happy and challenged for the long term."

Send the right message

The hiring manager has valid reason to be concerned about overqualified applicants. But what if you truly want the lower-level job -- whether out of interest or necessity? How can you rephrase your experience so it's more hire-friendly without lying? "We never recommend editing or omitting vital information like experience or education from a résumé to prevent from being labeled overqualified," says Peter Zukow, general manager at Lock Search Group, a recruitment and staffing firm. "Instead, it is important to tailor a résumé to the specifications of the role. Highlight the qualifications and experiences that are most applicable to the role. If an individual misrepresents themselves on their résumé, it. can be extremely embarrassing or even lead to immediate disqualification if uncovered during interview or background checks."

Address the issue

No matter how experienced a job seeker is, the key to convincing an employer that you're the right person for the job is making a clear business case for it. After you've tailored your résumé to fit the job description, address the issue of being overqualified in your cover letter and interview. Acknowledge your extensive credentials, but explain how this position fits into your career path, as well as how the business can benefit from your experience. Also come prepared with ideas for how you're a fit with the company culture and you align with its business values. An ideal job has responsibilities that play to your strengths and challenge you, so communicate that you're approaching this position as a learning opportunity.

Being an overqualified job seeker doesn't have to result in instant rejection. Research the roles you're applying to and how your experience can benefit the team as well as yourself.

Employers look for workers who are a good company fit and will be around for a while. By making it clear you're interested in the job and have room to grow in the role, you'll prove that you're the best person for the job.

Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Volvo aims marketing campaign at brand's true believers

By Dale Buss

Volvo has been adrift and marginal in the U.S. market for several years. But now in its third year of ownership by Geely of China, the surviving Scandinavian auto brand is counting on a new marketing campaign and more confident positioning to spark an American revival in the short term while waiting for a fresher, broader product line to provide long-term brand prosperity.

Beginning this month, Volvo is launching an integrated advertising campaign in the U.S. that explicitly appeals to the non-materialistic, minimalist ethos that brand executives believe differentiates Volvo aficionados from buyers of other luxury and near-luxury brands.

In the process, they hope to produce a bounce in sales for a franchise whose U.S. results peaked a decade ago, when the company was owned by Ford, and have kept on sliding. Ford sold Volvo in 2010 to Geely, a large Chinese automaker, for $1.5 billion.

Volvo North America CMO Tassos Panas told me that most of Volvo's core customers didn't drift away even after a resource-strapped Ford began neglecting the brand's product-development needs several years ago, nor even much once Geely introduced the strange new element of Chinese ownership of a Swedish brand into the equation three years ago.

"We would hear rumblings from our dealers when there was news in the marketplace" about problems or changes at the brand, he said. "But when the news went away, we didn't hear much at all."

Now. Volvo is attempting to reconnect with brand true believers as the next step in the journey back to becoming more than an afterthought in the U.S. automotive marketplace. And while Volvo never has been regarded as a true luxury vehicle, Panas isn't afraid to put it in the company of true luxury brands in an attempt at a deft repositioning that carries some Volvo owners' "interpretation of luxury is different but very real," said the vice president of marketing and production planning. "They're more into life's experiences, and more into a Scandinavian simple design [of vehicles] versus a lot of clutter. They are very much luxury customers and love luxury products, but they don't feel a need to impress others."

Thus, the first new TV ads in the campaign, which are breaking this month on national cable networks, underscore these alleged differences. One spot, "Rearview," juxtaposes a Volvo owner's priorities to those of competitive luxurycar drivers.

In the ad, a woman at a stoplight in a Mercedes-Benz SUV is primping her highly put-together face in her rear-view mirror, when another woman pulls up alongside her in a Volvo XC60. The Volvo driver. pretty but less made-up, seems not to notice the Benz driver next to her. Instead, she looks in her own rear-view mirror and crosses her eyes, making her two little kids in the backseat squeal with laughter. "Volvos aren't for everyone," the ad intones, "and we kinda like it that way."

A complementary outdoor effort is targeted in Volvo's top markets, such as southern California, positioning the brand versus traditional-luxury competition—such as with the tag line, "Pretense is so past tense." In Los Angeles, one outdoor sign, already erected, refers to the Volvo S60 as "100% real. Can't say that about everything around here."

Panas said that Volvo specifically is targeting BMW, Mercedes-Benz and Lexus in its campaign, which is based on new research in which the brand asked consumers not why they bought Volvos but why they weren't buying these other brands.

> "The answers we got were about people not feeling comfortable in a BMW, that Mercedes-Benz was too ostentatious, that 'everybody in my neighborhood has a Lexus and I wanted to be different."

Still, in the other major aspect of the campaign, Volvo is directly targeting yet another luxury brand, Audi. In its S60 Challenge, Volvo is working with its dealers to pit the Volvo S60 against the Audi A4 in a test-drive promotion: If the consumer still decides to purchase an A4 after driving both, Volvo will cover the first month's payment on the Audi.

Volvo's share of the overall U.S. market has dwindled to just 0.5 percent and, of the luxury segment, to just 6 to 7 percent. For the year through March, while the overall U.S. market increased by 6 percent, Volvo sales have slipped by another 8 percent.

Right now, Volvo is relying on the relatively new sporty S60 and XC60 utility vehicle. Panas promised a 2015-model V60 wagon, all-new to the U.S., by early next year and a new version of the now-hoary XC90, a larger utility vehicle, in the first quarter of 2015. And as always in the auto industry, it's "new sheetmetal" that really moves the sales needle.
