Wayne police crime website goes live Friday

By LeAnne Rogers
Staff Writer

Starting Friday, Wayne residents can get updates on crime in their neighborhoods as a new interactive website goes live.

"It's free and anyone can get on it. Most important, our citizens can get on it," Wayne Deputy Police Chief Alan Maciag said.

The Wayne Police Department will have a page on www.crimedar.com. The website will feature a map of the city with icons for various crimes reported at different locations.

Using a current page for another community to demonstrate, Maciag showed the windows that will open when an icon is clicked.

"There is a two-week window (for crimes). It will display the location and different crimes when citizens file police reports," said Maciag, who will be webmaster for the Wayne

The website won't display full addresses for crimes but the block and street. Names also won't appear on crimedar.

"Most of the items will have a description. We can add categories. We will have breaking and entering, vandalism, stolen vehicles and driving under the influence," Maciag said. "Residents want to see if break and entering increase in their neighborhood."

Due to their sensitive natures, Maciag said some crimes, such as criminal sexual conduct and domestic violence,

Cities look to shift to state emergency radio system

Communications upgrade could have cost $2.5M

By LeAnne Rogers
Staff Writer

An outdated radio system and a large price tag to make needed upgrades have created a big problem for the five communities belonging to the Western Wayne Joint 800 Megahertz Association.

"I called it a large problem, but there is a solution," said Keith Madden of Fausone Bohn, city attorneys for Wayne and Westland, who presented the radio proposal to the Wayne City Council.

The good news is that the communities have an opportunity to significantly reduce costs and improve communications by shifting to a system operated by the Michigan State Police, Madden said.

Westland, Wayne, Garden City, Inkster and Dearborn Heights formed the 800 Megahertz association in 1999. The original capital costs were $3.4 million with annual operating costs of $200,000.

"About a year or year and a half ago, Motorola alerted us that our system is obsolete," said Madden, adding an estimated $2.5 million upgrade by Motorola is too costly. "The current system worked for 15 years. The new system will be state-of-the-art now. Who knows what will happen in the future with technology."

Interoperability

After the communication problems that surfaced among emergency responders during 9-11, Madden said the federal government made a push for interoperability of radio communications for first responders.

As a result, Wayne County is now part of the Michigan Public Safety Communications System operated by the Michigan State Police. That system allows participating agencies to have radio communications statewide unlike the current system.

BETTER THAN HOLLYWOOD

Star-studded movie premiere puts Wayne in the spotlights

By Sue Mason
Staff Writer

It was more of a love affair than a movie premiere as the stars came out to celebrate the Midwest premiere of the Infiltrators with close to 1,000 fans of Wayne Memorial High School Saturday evening.

"I love the fact that this just not for a movie, it's for a cause," cast member Rocco Nugent said. "This is a full-blast community. You are awesome. Thank you for creating this great atmosphere."

Produced by Sally Helppie, Wayne High alum, and directed by her husband Michael Stokes, the film was shown to a sold-out crowd at the State Wayne Theater. People began showing up at 5:30 p.m. to get front-row spots to watch the Hollywood-style glitz, including a red carpet walk, and to be a part of a fundraiser for Wayne High's Champions of Wayne mentoring program.

"I was amazed driving down the street and seeing so many people," Helppie said.

Those who waited for the show were

Training available for Westland Youth Assistance mentors

By LeAnne Rogers
Staff Writer

By popular demand, the Westland Youth Assistance Program will be holding mentor training next month.

"We had not planned to hold a training session this year. A number of people called and expressed interest in being mentors," Westland Youth Assistance Director Paul Motz said.

So mentor training has been scheduled for Thursdays, Oct. 17 and 24, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 25-26, at the Youth Assistance office adjoining the Westland Police Department. Mentors need to be at least 21 years old with a good driving record.

Once training is completed, mentors are matched with youngsters referred to Youth Assistance. A commitment of up to two hours a week is needed.

"They (mentors) need to be dependable, and a sense of humor wouldn't hurt," Motz said. "If we get them in the door, they want to come back. I don't want to sound like I'm selling time shares. Time and again we hear from mentors that they get more back from the young person than they give."

Mentors provide support to a young person, spending time with them on a weekly basis.

"Many mentors enjoy the growth of young person as they become more confident and comfortable with themselves," Motz said. "We all want to be accepted — we want someone not to overreact."

For many people, Motz said it is a little easier to be kinder to a co-worker than a family member.

"I had a particular youth I made a connection with at 16. He was in Youth Assistance for having a knife, curfew violation and maybe a little marijuana," Motz said. "He called me a couple of weeks ago. He's 30 now and thanked me for being a help to him."

That shows the positive impact mentors can have on teens by being supportive and encouraging, he said.

"I think recently people are taking inventory of the good things they have in life," Motz said. "A lot of us are more fortunate than we realize. People want to give back to the community. We have to strike while the iron is hot."

Potential mentors were also recently sought from students at Schoolcraft College and Madonna University.

"It's great experience for them and also helps them build their resumes," Motz said. "Business owners want good people to work for them. An awesome GPA is wonderful but they also look for someone who is investing in the community."

To get more information or sign up for training, call Westland Youth Assistance at 734-467-7904.

treated to meeting the stars as Nugent, Hallee Hirsh and Robert Picardo walked along Michigan Avenue to talk to them.

Co-star Greg Jbara, a Tony Award winner and Wayne High alum, shook hands and posed for pictures as the line slowly moved past him into the theater for the show. In town since Friday afternoon, he estimated he had already posed for several thousand photographs.

"This is much better than anything I've been in Hollywood and New York," Jbara said. "It's nice to reconnect with people I know. It's not so much about being a celebrity, it's about connecting. I think I know everyone here because I still owe them 10-15 bucks each."

For the kids

Debbie Hamilton came from Milford to be at the premiere. Originally from Wayne, she was there with her best friend Diana Moran of Westland, Eva Clark of Canton and Marie Colaianni-Wolfer of Westland.

"We're all Wayne High alum, we're doing this for the kids," Hamilton said. "This is a big event in a small town that you don't see to often. I'm very impressed by it."

She also was impressed after getting up close and personal with Nugent.

"It was awesome, he's very personable," she said. "It was cool." The son of rocker Ted Nugent, his paparazzi included his mother Shemane, his grandparents Yvonne and Bud Messick of Sterling Heights and his 96-year-old great-grandmother, Ruth Cowan of Harrison Township. His father was at home in Texas, preparing for double knee surgery.

"If he could, he definitely would be here, but this is all about Rocco tonight," Shemane said. "I'm so proud; he's an amazing young man. He's an incredible hard worker. He has his father's drive and ambition."

Tim Tolliver of Wayne also was excited. It was his conversations with Hallelp on Facebook that led to her to bringing the premiere to Wayne.

"I mentioned it to her that wouldn't it be cool to do, I never thought it would happen," he said. "This is so wonderful, I get goose bumps. This is very cool."

The festivities actually began Friday evening with a party at the U.S. 12 Bar and Grill, where people gathered with Jbara to watch the season premiere of CBS's Blue Bloods in which he co-stars with Tom Selleck and Donnie Wahlberg. The event attracted some 200 people and raised $3,300 for the Champions program.

"Greg was the most gracious host I've ever seen," said John Goci of U.S. 12. "It was a good time for Wayne and for Champions."

Thrilled to be back

Standing in the shadow of the State Wayne Theater, a landmark in the city, Hallelp admitted that last time she had been to the theater was almost 10 years ago.

"I'm thrilled to be back, and I'm so happy to see the faces of the people I grew up with," she said.

Wayne Mayor Al Haidous showed his comedic side in presenting keys to city to Hallelp, her brother Richard who has provided financial support for the mentoring program, and retired school psychologist Bill Gray who came up with idea for Champions.

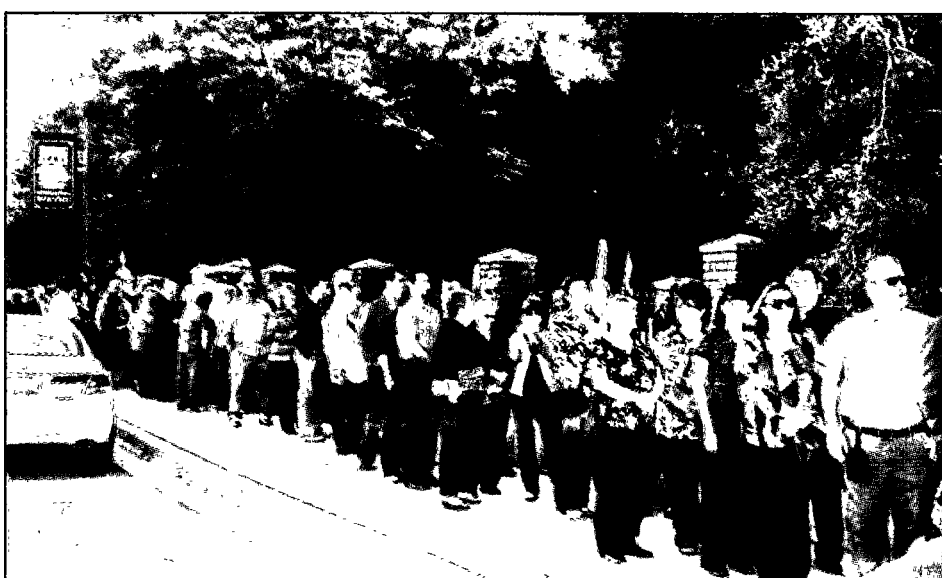

Admitting that he contributed to the sugar content in the kids after Hallelp pointed out she knew him before he was mayor when he was "just Al at the corner store," the keys came with directions. For Hallelp, it was to "make sure you come back." For her brother, a successful entrepreneur, the key opened the safe to the city.

"You don't know how proud and happy we are to see one of our own come back," he said. "This key opens the safe to the city. If you find money, take it. If you don't, put some in."

"I'm gratified and humbled," Richard Help-pie said. "The focus is on the community and the kids and the kids' future. It's great when you can go to the next level."

For Gray, the key acknowledged "that you will be with us for awhile. If you have a speeding ticket, call me right away and I'll show you what to pay," Haidous said.

"This has been a great success," Gray said. "I had the opportunity to interact with people when we started. They didn't think we'd sell 200 tickets and it's a sellout. The students not only feel they have a mentor behind them, now they have a community behind them."

'Proud of you'

The final key was given to Jbara, with Haidous telling him, "We are very proud of you and very proud of you being a part of the community."

ENCORE SHOWING

People who couldn't get tickets to the premiere of the Infiltrators can see an encore presentation at 7:30 p.m. this evening, Oct. 3. Tickets are $7 each. All proceeds will go to the Champions of Wayne.

The State Wayne Theater is at 35310 W. Michigan Ave., west of Wayne Road, in Wayne. For more information, call the theater at 734-326-4600.

"I'm very proud to be from here," Jbara said. "If I were standing here by myself, I wouldn't be a success. I couldn't be more proud and moved to be in your company."

And as if on cue, the crowd began singing Happy Birthday to Jbara who turned age 52 on Saturday.

Inside the theater, movie goers were introduced to students who have been in the Champions program which rewards them with $200 if they meet their semester academic goals. More than 2,000 students have been involved in Champions since it started six years ago.

"This is absolutely phenomenal," Wayne Westland School Superintendent Greg Baracy said. "It could very well be one of the most significant events at Wayne Memorial since the school opened. It's exciting for the city, it's exciting for the school, and it's exciting for the many alumni who came out to help support Champions of Wayne flourish into the future."

RADIO

"We asked the state police for a coverage study. Even with the Westland tower turned off, there was still excellent coverage," Madden said.

The cost for the five communities to shift to the MPSCS is expected to be $200,000 divided among the member communities by the number of radios they use. Currently, the 800 Megahertz group assesses costs based on the number of times radios are used, not the number of radios.

In August, police and fire chiefs from the member communities approved moving to the MPSCS. Mayors and city managers have also agreed to the concept prior to seeking council needed approvals later this month. The plan is to shift to MPSCS Jan. 1.

"Westland fronted the $200,000 to keep the system moving," Madden said. "Your (Wayne's) budget has a line item in it for January to upgrade the Motorola equipment, so it will be cost neutral this year."

Maintenance costs

With upgrade and maintenance needed for the current communications tower, Madden estimated the communities would avoid $3.1 million in costs to maintain the current system.

"These costs can essentially be avoided with the transition to the MPSCS. You can take a police car anywhere in the state and reach them on the radio," Madden said. "If there is a statewide emergency, you hook them all up. It's an advantage to have interoperability. It will be more reliable."

Another advantage to the statewide system, Madden said, is that with 55,000 radios there are ongoing incremental upgrades to the system, using state staff rather than contractors.

"The contractors have profit margin. The state operating costs will be 40 percent lower than what is has been," he said. "The cities will recoup what they are putting into this in two to three years."

wouldn't be included on the crimedar map. An exception, he said, could be a sexual assault that happens in a park, for example, when a suspect hasn't been identified.

"I can edit what we don't want out there," said Maciag, who suggested residents try out the site using other community pages until Wayne goes live.

The site allows crimes to be filtered by date and offers a link to the department. Android and iPhone applications for the site will be forthcoming.

"There are a lot of search engines that are part of this. Myself and the chief (Jason Wright) are looking at options to interact with citizens to help us solve crimes," Maciag said.

The annual $365 membership fee is being paid from the department's drug forfeiture fund.

"This is great. I know residents want this information. It will be a great tool," Councilman John Rhaesa said.

Open house raises Mettetal awareness

By Brad Kadrich
Staff Writer

Like many young boys, 17-month-old Drew Frint loves airplanes.

So when his mom, Mandy Frint of Canton, saw the advertisement for Saturday's open house at Mettetal Airport, she knew she had to bring Drew and his 5-year-old sister Abbey.

"He's obsessed with airplanes," Mandy Frint said. "We came across this event and I thought, 'That's right up (Drew's) alley.'"

The state of Michigan officials who run Mettetal, the small runway on the border of Plymouth and Canton townships, were hoping the open house would go a long way toward raising awareness of the airport in the community.

With the size of the crowd Saturday that joined the Frints, they couldn't be blamed for thinking "mission accomplished."

"The state wants to make sure the community was aware of the assets in their community," said Juan Zapata, an aviation specialist for the state of Michigan. "We wanted to raise awareness and we wanted the general public to recognize what we have to offer."

There were many small aircraft on static display and kids (and their parents) spent the day crawling in and around them. Airplane rides and helicopter rides were also available, as were other activities. Also on hand were members of Chapter 113 of the Experimental Aircraft Association, who showed off their scale model remote-control aircraft.

Olivia Fielder was out for a "mommy and son" day with her 3-year-old son Caleb, saw the sign outside the airport advertising the open house and made an impulse stop.

"He has a new baby sister at home and I thought this would be a good 'mommy and son' thing to do," Fielder said.

Drew Frint didn't wait for the big planes, twirling the propellers on this toy aircraft at Saturday's open house. Drew was at the open house with his mom Mandy and big sister Abby, 5. The family is from Canton.

Mark Freeland of Sylvan Lake, a member of local Chapter 113 of the Experimental Aircraft Association, was on hand with his vintage model remote-control aircraft.

Jeff Trower (right) visited Mettetal Airport on Saturday with his brother Jason and Jason's sons, 10-year-old Christopher and 5-year-old Luke. The Trowers are from Canton.

Top cop targeted in identity theft scam

Chief mailed envelope with fraudulent documents

By David Veselenak
Staff Writer

No one is immune from being a target in a fraud or identity theft case. Just ask Livonia Police Chief Curtis Caid.

Caid received an envelope in the mail last week at the Livonia police station with no return address and postmarked from Boston. Inside were two money orders written out to Caid for almost $2,000 from someone he did not know. Investigating the documents, he discovered some inconsistencies, including the lack of heat-sensitive ink.

Livonia

He then realized he was the target of someone looking to obtain some of his personal information, something he said everyone should be aware of.

"There's no connection," he said. "I called the company and yes, they're fraudulent."

The envelope and fraudulent money orders were labeled into evidence at the police station a few days later where the suspect mailed the money orders, rather than to Caid's home.

"If it's too good to be true, it probably is. At first glance, it looks like it could be a real thing. It is a phishing expedition."

He said the suspect must have found his name and an address associated with him and mailed the envelope, hoping he would try and cash them and then obtain his personal information.

He said it's the first time he's heard of a case like this where the suspect mailed the the same time another scam was committed in a nearby community.

Redford police say a man posing to be a police officer has called several senior citizens in the township, asking them to help in a counterfeit bill operation.

He has convinced several senior citizens to withdraw large amounts of cash and meet him in a parking lot so he can "inspect the bills." He then leaves and the money is never recovered.

WESTLAND COP CALLS

Larceny from a vehicle

A Canton man told police Sept. 30 that over the weekend someone had stolen four diesel batteries from his semi trailer after it was left parked at a business at 5371 Executive Drive. He said it was the second time the batteries had been taken from the rear of his truck.

Break-in

On Sept. 25, police were called to a vacant home in the 600 block of Easley about a break-in in progress. A neighbor told police that the home is likely in foreclosure but the former owner's daughter and friends are there partying regularly.

A bicycle was recovered leaning on a fence adjoining the vacant home. The witness told police he believed people were cutting through the yard to access the vacant home.

Officers found the door to the home open and locked it after finding no one inside.

Larceny

A Woodlands, Texas, woman told police Sept. 25 that someone had stolen her Coach purse and an iPad from the trunk of her vehicle while she was parked at Westland Shopping Center, 35000 Warren Road. She said she is on vacation and she may have inadvertently opened the trunk on the rental car with the key fob.

Larceny

The manager of a strip center at 6539 N. Wayne Road told police Sept. 27 that someone had stolen eight air conditioning units from the building roof. The units were valued at $80,000.

Vehicle stolen

Police were dispatched to the 6100 block of North Globe early Sept. 30 about a vehicle parked in a no-parking zone.

The officer found the vehicle was registered to a resident in 5800 block of North Globe.

When the officer talked to the owner to find out why the 1993 Chevrolet Conversion Van was illegally parked, the owner said it was supposed to be parked in the driveway.

The van had last been seen the night before. The van doors were unlocked although the owner said he always locks the vehicle. The steering column was found damaged and the vehicle was not able to be driven.

Break-in

A contractor, who was working at a foreclosed home in the 500 of South Hawthorne, told police Sept. 25 that he arrived for work Sept. 20 to find the copper plumbing missing from the kitchen and the water heater gone. The items were valued at $1,000.

Larceny from a vehicle

On Sept. 25, a resident in the 31000 block of Birchwood told police that someone had stolen the muffler from his 1998 Ford Ranger.

Missing wallet

A Westland woman told police Sept. 25 that she was shopping at Kmart, 165 S. Wayne Road, and later realized she'd left her wallet in the shopping cart.

The wallet, containing her debit card, driver's license and $25 in cash, hadn't been turned into the store.

Granite blocks installed as memorial takes shape

By Matt Jachman
Staff Writer

Granite blocks engraved with the names of more than 400 fallen police officers, firefighters and emergency medical workers were installed Monday in Plymouth Township as the Wayne County First Responders Memorial continued to take shape at Hines Park.

Using a crane and muscle power, plus measurements down to a tiny fraction of an inch, workers painstakingly maneuvered the blocks, weighing 9,000 pounds each, into place along the western side of the semi-circular memorial plaza under construction at Hines Drive and Haggerty. The memorial is designed to honor first responders who died while on duty for a Wayne County community; six granite blocks bear 401 names, the casualties dating from 1867 and running through earlier this year. A seventh will – sadly, noted Lawrence Hemingway, director of county parks – await the names of future losses.

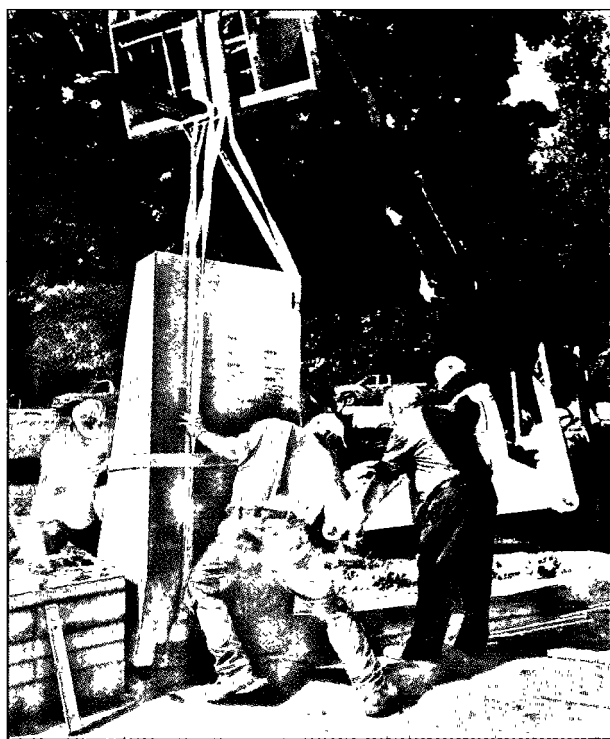

The memorial, an idea of County Executive Robert Ficano's that is coming to fruition after more than a decade, is to be dedicated Thursday, Oct. 17.

"It's bittersweet," Ficano said Monday. "I'm glad to see the recognition for (them) and the families, as well."

9/11 'hit home'

Ficano said the idea for the memorial first occurred to him a few weeks following the terrorist attacks of 9/11, after a minister remarked that he had been impressed by a photo showing rescuers heading upstairs into one of the Twin Towers while civilians were trying to get out.

"It really hit home to

me," said Ficano, a former county sheriff. "The firefighters and the police were pushing their way up."

Ficano said he was also motivated by the loss of member of his department, Sgt. William Dickerson, while he was sheriff and by other public safety losses he's dealt with. Dickerson was killed in a standoff at the county jail by an inmate who had smuggled in a weapon, Ficano said.

"Those events have always stuck with me," he said.

The granite memorial list begins with John Miller, a Detroit firefighter who died in 1867 of a fall from a ladder, according to the Detroit Firemen's Fund honor roll. It ends with Rodney W. Jones, a Detroit police officer who died of a medical condition last month while participating in a motorcycle skills event. Brian A. Woehlke, the Wayne-Westland firefighter killed May 8 in the collapse of the roof of a burning building in Westland, is listed just above Jones.

'It's real'

Hemingway, the parks director, said the seeing the names of the county's two most recent losses highlighted, for him, the memorial's significance.

"It just kind of makes your emotions ... it's real," Hemingway said Monday at the site.

The granite was quarried in Virginia and carved and finished by Elite Stone Solutions in Elberton, Ga. Delivery of the first slabs began Friday, county spokesman Pat Dostine said.

The memorial, paid for through the county's parks and recreation millage, will cost about $400,000. The county is planning to raise future maintenance costs through an annual fun run; the inaugural Heroes on Hines five-kilometer and half-marathon event is scheduled for Saturday morning, starting near the memorial

John Glenn shows its red, white and blue spirit for Homecoming

Mother Nature was smiling on John Glenn High School Friday, providing clear skies and mild temperatures for the Westland school's annual Homecoming celebration.

Events throughout the week led up to the Homecoming pep assembly and the annual Homecoming Parade held in advance of the football game between the Rockets and the Plymouth Wildcats. The Gods of the Gridiron, however, weren't smiling on Glenn which lost to the Wildcats 37-21.

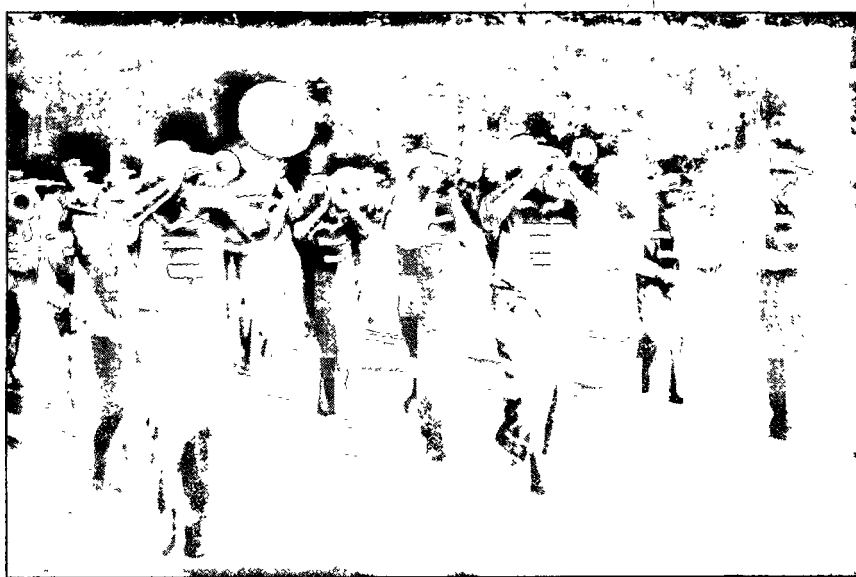

The honor of reigning over the festivities went to Homecoming King and Queen Isaac Everette and Ja'Rae Loving who were crowned during half-time festivities.

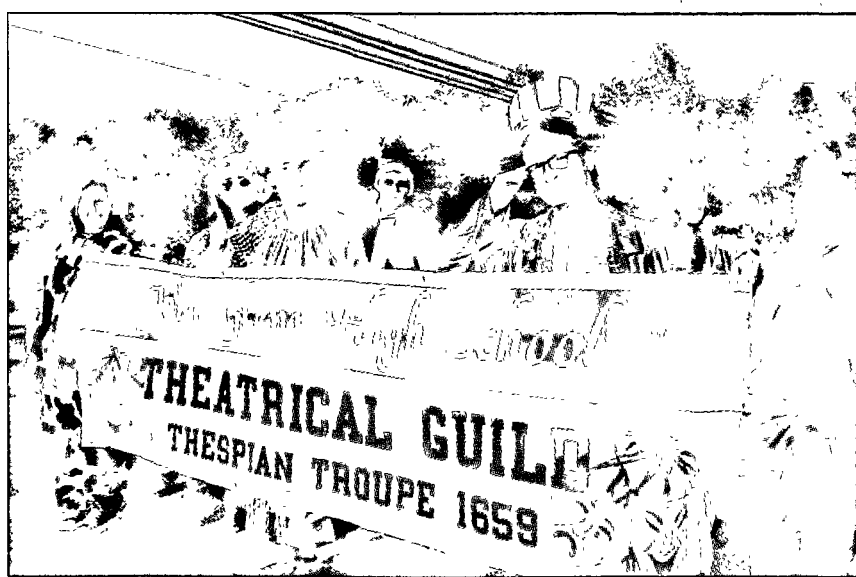

The female members of the John Glenn Homecoming Court included Cecilia Said, Alexis Lester, Ja'Rae Loving, Lindsay Spencer and Bryanna Lynch.

The male members of the John Glenn's Homecoming Court Austin Murphy, Ed Maya, Isaac Everette, Johnny Pesenecker and Michael Woodard.

Kensington Fall Festival this weekend

By Laura Colvin
Staff Writer

Fall fun kicks into full gear this weekend during Kensington Metropark's annual Fall Festival.

The event takes place this Saturday and Sunday from noon to 4 p.m. at the Kensington Farm Center, and features a variety of activities, entertainment and demonstrations that promise fun for the whole family.

Hayrides and pumpkins

Hayrides to the pumpkin patch are available both days.

"We've had a great year for pumpkins with all the rain," said Debbie Cavallaro, farm manager, noting the four-acre patch is rife with pumpkins of all sizes. "They've got the big, sturdy stems and a deep orange color. We've worked hard on that pumpkin patch this year and they're beautiful."

Pumpkins and gourds are priced according to size, ranging from $1 to $9.

A pumpkin-carving area will also be set up during the festival.

"We'll have all the tools you need," Cavallaro said. "Carve your pumpkin and leave the mess here, if you like."

Lots more to do and see

Rosco the Clown is on the festival roster for both days, and festival goers can also watch demonstrations about bees and honey making, draft horse harnessing, apple cider pressing and broom-making.

val, as well.

"The draft horses are always very popular," Cavallaro said, noting the farm is also home to goats, sheep, chickens and ducks. "We also have a litter of pigs right now, along with the adult pigs, of course."

Milford Historical Society will also be on hand at the farm, giving tours of the old horse barn and talking about its history and the history of Milford.

New this year is a trader encampment, where visitors can learn about the history of trading in Michigan, as well as blacksmithing and other traditions from days gone by.

"Hopefully, we'll have another beautiful fall weekend," Cavallaro said. "We always see a lot of grandparents, parents and kids coming out together, and that's what it's all about."

Most activities are free, but a vehicle entry pass is required to enter the park itself.

AT&T expands network at Metro Airport

As part of its continuing network investment to support growing demand for advanced wireless devices and services, AT&T has expanded its mobile Internet coverage at Detroit Metro Airport by completing the installation of a new Distributed Antenna System (DAS) to enhance the customer experience throughout the facility.

A DAS installation consists of multiple strategically-placed antennas that distribute AT&T's wireless network coverage throughout Detroit Metro Airport, providing for more efficient management of wireless capacity in heavily-trafficked areas.

DAS has the ability to provide enhanced, consistent wireless coverage to customers in indoor or outdoor spaces where geographical limitations – terrain, building construction, etc. – or crowd density might otherwise prevent an optimal wireless experience.

“This new investment from AT&T is great news for anyone traveling in or out of Detroit Metro Airport,” Rep. Phil Cav-anagh, D-Redford Town-ship said. “Innovation like this means faster speeds and better connections, so waiting for that next flight just got a little easier.”

The Detroit Metro Airport DAS installation is part of AT&T's Project Velocity IP (VIP), a three-year investment plan announced last fall to expand and enhance its IP broadband networks. Through this investment, AT&T is supporting its customers' growing desire for high-speed Internet access and new mobile, app and cloud-based services. As part of Project VIP, AT&T plans to add more than 1,000 DAS nationwide by year-end 2015, as well as more than 10,000 macro cell sites, and deploy more than 40,000 small cells, to increase the density of its wireless network.

“We want our customers to have a great network experience wherever they are, no matter what they're doing – whether that's making a call, checking email, downloading apps or surfing the Internet,” said Jim Murray, president, AT&T Michigan. “With initiatives like Project VIP, we're continuing our investment in the wireless network, and providing enhanced wireless coverage at Detroit Metro Airport is just one way that we're investing in Metro Detroit.”

DAS technology helps improve the mobile Internet experience by shortening the distance a request must travel. The additional capacity also is expected to help improve call reliability, boost data traffic capacity and enable more consistent network access to help customers make the most of their AT&T devices.

Across Metro Detroit and Michigan, AT&T's 2013 investments have resulted in expansion and enhancement of its 4G LTE network. AT&T 4G LTE is now available in Metro Detroit as well as Battle Creek, Bay City, Flint, Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Lansing and Saginaw.

For more information about AT&T's coverage in Michigan and the US, consumers can visit the AT&T Coverage Viewer.

Intent to lead's a matter of degree

“Be not afraid of greatness: some are born great, some achieve greatness and some have greatness thrust upon them.” (Act II, Scene V from Shakespeare's Twelfth Night).

It is from this oft-used quote that the issue of “born” leaders and “made” leaders finds some degree of resolution. The concession appears to be that either process can be applicable given the person and the set of circumstances.

The ongoing debate from pundits to poets is one in which the answer is measured by the actions of leaders who are embedded in the annals of history. Their traits and lives are picked over, analyzed and subjected to revisionists' interpretations of the events, while contemporary leaders must endure the immediacy of “sound bites” and product releases that send Wall Street into a feeding frenzy.

The love of leaders and leadership is hotly contested through the published works of an industry that lives off the next 12 methods, eight ways and four truths offered by expertise gained through experience, observation, research or strongly held belief. As a result, the models, concepts, ideas and labels come forward with equal claims to the true path.

It is no simple matter to find a leadership idea that is relatable, explainable and applicable in ways that combine “born,” “made” and “circumstances” such that the actions of the leader are clearly understood. If we run leadership behavior through a filter and analyze all the actions that produced a specific outcome, we may find that the true source of leadership may not be a question of birth, experiences or circumstances, but a matter of intent.

Lee Meadows
TAKIN' CARE OF BUSINESS

So as not to confuse the courtroom statement of “we cannot measure intent,” the issue is a matter of intent. It is understood, as a matter of universal acceptance, that what a person intends to do and what is done are often two different things. However, to delve into the legal arena once more, it is believed that “intent follows the bullet” such that the final target, the end result, or the outcome provide all the information needed to understand what the person was thinking. The “intent to do something” offers insight on motive and direction. As such, when applied to a series of leadership choices, the matter of intent is the first step in understanding the notion of Leadership in the First Degree.

An argument can be made that for the thousands of students currently enrolled in degree-granting institutions throughout the state of Michigan, there is an intent to achieve a milestone that can be used to augment their career portfolio and position them for organizationally established leadership positions or the emerging ones that come with new businesses and shifting social dynamics.

However, hidden on the back collar of their academic pursuits is an unstated, seemingly vague, aspiration to do more than just earn a paycheck. There exists an underlying desire to influence (as opposed to blindly accept), to inspire (as opposed to randomly destroy) and to be intentional about those things that make a difference in their lives and in the lives of others.

While all the steps on that path may be unclear, the focus on an academic credential acknowledges that there is intent to lead in the first degree. The commitment to acquiring a broad base of knowledge that will complement a budding career is one path to fulfilling the intent to lead. Clearly, it is not the only path used to measure intent, as has been demonstrated by so many, successful entrepreneurs. It is one path in which the end result is not the end game.

As the process unfolds and the paths consists of quadrant jumps inside the career portfolio, the matter of intentional leadership will slowly become an emergent theme in which the vague is now clear and the intent to lead is a matter of degree.

OUR VIEWS

Garden City candidates prepared to move city forward

Garden City is at a crossroads. The makeup of its city council is poised to change in the November general election, with six seats to be filled by voters who will select five council members and a mayor.

In the mayoral race, incumbent Randy Walker is facing Everett "Buddy" Wallace for the two-year term.

Wallace has been a council regular who is not afraid to speak his mind. He describes himself as a good listener and as having a lot of good experience interacting with people. He also believes that there needs to be give and take in dealing with the city's problems and that mergers or consolidations may be necessary to cut costs.

We have our concerns about Wallace. We don't question his love of Garden City; however, we believe his ability to represent the city is tainted with his connection to an incident that occurred on the lawn of city hall last fall involving an African-American TV reporter. While Wallace has denied that he was involved, the fact that his name is associated with the unfortunate incident lessens his credibility as being a good spokesman for the city.

Walker has held the position for four years. He has invested a lot of time and effort in the position. He has represented the city well and has worked hard to present it in a positive light. His current term hasn't been without problems. He was quick to pull the trigger on swearing in Mike Jones only to have to repeat the process because council had not voted on the appointment.

And as the leader of the city council, he has taken a no-nonsense stand on behavior at the meetings and hasn't been shy about ejecting residents who don't follow protocol. His actions have made him a target of council regulars who blame him for unpopular decisions that were made by the council as a whole.

In this contest, we believe Randy Walker is the better choice for mayor. He cares about his community and represents it well. He understands the notion of customer service, but at times misses the mark. We would like to see him work on developing better relations with all members of the council.

In the council race, incumbents Dave Fetter, Jim Kerwin and Jaylee Lynch and appointed incumbent Mike Jones are facing challenges from former parks and recreation director Pat McKarge, Pam King and Mike Collard. Campaigning for a partial two-year term are former council member Al Briscoe and retired city employee Margo Ciecierski.

The candidates all share a concern for the city and a willingness to help it survive and grow in the current economic climate. Declining revenue has taken its toll on city services, and each has shown an understanding of the problems that has created. They have a keen idea of what services are important to residents and understand the challenges the administration faces in preserving and providing key city services.

The Observer has interviewed every candidate and recommends re-electing Dave Fetter, Mike Jones and Jaylee Lynch to council. Among the challengers, Pam King and Margo Ciecierski would be good additions to the council.

Fetter isn't afraid to speak his mind. He is assertive and loud, but his opinions are based on research. While we do not agree with everything he has said and done, we believe his questions help to get out information that might otherwise not be revealed.

Jones has done well in his short time on council. He, too, does his homework, and has shown a willingness to work with his other council members in resolving problems. Jones understands there's a lot of work to be done especially in relations between the council and the community and within the council. Conflicts will not help move city forward, and we believe he has the demeanor to help soothe those conflicts.

As a longtime member of council, Lynch has the institutional knowledge to draw on in addressing issues that arise. She has proven to be adept in dealing with the public and understands the need to work with the other members of council. One of her strengths is being a good listener. She takes in what is said by both her fellow council members and her constituents and decides what is best for all concerned.

King, as a newcomer, shows an understanding of the issues facing the city. With her real estate background she is in tune with the importance of marketing the community to attract families and start rebuilding the city's tax base. She believes the current council has difficulty in coming to a consensus and wants to help in resolving that issue and the others the city faces.

Ciecierski is well grounded in how things work in Garden City. Her tenure with the city goes back to her work as a co-op student in high school. While she favors hanging on to city services as opposed to mergers and consolidations, she believes the city should survey residents about what they want and use that as the foundation for what is done.

Garden City residents need to do their homework and get to know the candidates then vote Tuesday, Nov. 5. This is not the time to sit on the sidelines. Residents can vote by absentee ballot or at the polls between 7 a.m. and 8 p.m. election day.

LETTERS

Observer commended

I want to commend the Wayne-Westland Observer and its community editor Sue Mason for her comprehensive mini-biography of longtime Wayne-Westland school administrator Dennis O'Neill who recently passed away.

Ms. Mason touched on all points of Mr. O'Neill's professional and personal lives. He cared about his family, his students, the employees under him and the community.

As Ms. Mason's predecessor, I have had the pleasure of having a professional contact with Dr. O'Neill on and off for 10 years during a 19-year period. I observed him in good times when the district was growing and in bad times when there was a major student enrollment decline and subsequent drop in state funds for local schools.

He handled problems quickly, smoothly and professionally. Even when he disagreed with a newspaper editorial dealing with his school district, he was a gentleman, asking questions but never complaining.

His style of effective leadership will be missed.

I thank Ms. Mason for reporting the many facets of Dr. O'Neill's career and life so that the community would appreciate his skills.

What was, wasn't said

Let me address what Jim Godbout did and didn't say in council comments on Sept. 16.

First, when you enter the council room, if you walk 10 feet into the room and look up to your left, there is the camera that shows the mayor during the meeting. The camera on the right side shows the chief of police. The one on the left above the door you came in shows the council. The one above the council president is the only camera that does not work, is the one that shows the citizens.

Blog: You may also let your opinions be heard with your own blog at hometownlife.com.
Deadline: Letters must be received by 9 a.m. Monday to be published in the Thursday edition.

A few years back, the same thing was happening. I was told it was to show the council's faces while the citizens were speaking. A week earlier I was told it was to make someone demand that it be turned back on. I side if you wanted the camera on the backs of citizens, this space is for rent.

I had three T-shirts printed. The one I wore says, "Hey Craig! Who is jerking the chain of your camera technician 734-467-3198?"

After wearing the shirt to two-three meetings, boom, the camera worked. Now it doesn't. Conspiracy?

You also said some people want to see themselves on TV. OK, for however long the meeting lasts the camera above the door is on the council for 90 percent of the meeting.

You also said you had to look at the $4,000 cost to replace the citizens' camera that was the taxpayer's money. Remember when Plante Moran said the best and most cost effective thing was to buy Circuit City and convert it to city hall? That spring and summer you had town hall meetings about building by the library. While you were doing that, a developer bought the building. Now it is costing taxpayers over twice as much as it would have.

Now for what you didn't answer. I asked, since you said all the veterans you talked to agreed with moving the memorials by city hall, to name either of the two but you didn't. Was that because you didn't want to name Beetle Bailey or Gomer Pyle?

I would be remiss if I didn't give my condolences to the family of Carol Black who passed away on Sept. 10. She worked hard for her neighbors and the city. She will be missed very much.

Special interest

Rep. (David) Knezek has introduced House Bill No. 4939 which would amend 1978 PA 566 which deals with public employees in Michigan. The final section reads: Section 2 does not prohibit a department head in a city having a population of less than 50,000 from also serving as the city manager.

It is my understanding that the only community that this would apply to is Garden City. And we thought the days of special interest legislation were behind us.

Mary Jane Schildberg
Garden City

An effective leader

This council gives us no true transparency or accountability. Except, Councilman Dave Fetter,

I think he feels like John the Baptist in the wilderness. Crying out to his colleagues, why this council is not listening, making mistake after mistake. In the end just like John the Baptist, Mr. Fetter will not only be right, he will be proud that his hard due diligence was not in vain.

Citizens that have lived here half of their lives are moving, they can't afford to pay the high water rates, special assessments or the high taxes. Randy Walker said if we don't have the "cash cow" the water department, he would have to raise taxes again. At least we can count on one thing from Walker; he will continue to raise our taxes.

Walker did away with the meter charge of $16.80 per year. Then slaps 52 percent of us with a flat fee of $60 a year or 28 percent increases. Businesses got a double savings, lower rates and no meter charge. Fifty-two percent of us got a double shaft with the flat fee and increase for water/sewer.

If I had grown up in Garden City like Walker, our city would be the talk of the metropolitan area and not the tail end of jokes. Look at Plymouth. They have created an event that brings in thousands and gets major media coverage. TV news coverage we get is when the DDA lost Willy the Pig or Walker's time limits of public comments.

Garden City residents and the city deserves much better than what we have been getting the last four years. We need to go forward not backwards! Garden City needs true leadership with open accountability and real transparency.

Liberals nourish violence

Liberals dwell persistently upon violence while liberal policies readily nourish it. America is scrambling to cover its costly loss of economic growth suffocated by manipulating liberal politics. Sources of violence in urban America arrived within Democrat ideas promoting initiatives to dumb down personal responsibilities to gain voters. A toady media assists by pulling the shades and assisting liberal recitations of the tired rants and cancerous charges of unfairness, racism or social justice simply to obfuscate liberal failures.

Advancing violence in urban America was one result of Johnson's "war on poverty" where overwhelming bad results linger evermore. With Johnson, media shades hid the staggering number of girls finding a heavy trail of tears as single mothers shackled to liberal political minders. Troubles follow urban boys too, guided to nowhere by defunct but well supported educational systems offering no marketable skills as a worthwhile core curriculum. Boys lost, or dropped out, warehoused until drifting into the guidance of the streets. Gangs sometimes replaced worried mothers when opportunities of youth to gain productive skills canceled by liberal "feel good" wage regulations.

So goes Chicago, Milwaukee and other liberal-run big cities. America suffers these and every other bureaucrat loaded, slaphappy, feel good, undisciplined initiatives followed with fishy reporting of outcomes.

George Mason was the principal promoter of our Bill of Rights providing sound guarantees of freedom to his countrymen. The Second Amendment as written may have given protection to families and others as well. Evil exists. In situations to be evil present, I prefer to be in the vicinity of a certified and prepared armed citizen rather than waiting prayerfully for someone to show up.

This example was exhibited in the strangely vulnerable at Fort Bragg, and the Naval facility. One Colorado movie theater and a large church in the same state waited unprepared for the visit of preying evil. Blame always laid to insanity, leftists, or religious zealots does not satisfy. People seem to be more polite and cautious in Texas for some reason. Disarmament is not possible as long as evil people exit and alternative police states are historically least happy ones.

Answer 5: I would lead by example in working hard while being honest and willing to be flexible when necessary. Show the people you can be trusted by following through with what you say. Keeping the citizens updated with events.

Answer 6: To make Garden City a vibrant, blight free and safe community. I will look to seniors and youth groups for community service projects which will not only better our city but gives a sense of worth, pride in community, and service learning for our future leaders. I believe as leaders if we show the willingness to commit and work hard our great citizens will be eager to help as well.

Answer 1: I'm seeking reelection to city council because of my frustration with putting our city on a sound financial footing. The lack of interest from current council members to change the way we currently do business is detrimental to our city's financial health and future. Hard and decisive decisions need to be made.

Answer 2: My 30 years of business and finance will give me the edge needed to look at all angles while using sound and fiscally responsible principles while managing the city and to stop spending money needlessly. I will continue to speak up for the best interest of our city and its citizens.

Answer 3: Water rates that make use one of the highest communities in Wayne County. Spending tax dollars on frivolous projects that do nothing to bolster our community. And to buckle down on derelict homeowners and rental properties that bring down our property values and reflect poorly on the city.

Answer 4: We need to change the way the water fund is managed and stop billing employee wages and health benefits to this account. Only fund projects that improve our current infrastructure and enforce current ordinances to the best of our ability so we can attract new families to buy homes.

Answer 5: Unity can only be achieved when council agrees to follow the city's charter and the laws of the State of Michigan. Only when the concerns of the citizens means more than political personal agendas will unity be achieved. Open and honest discussions are the building blocks of unity.

Answer 6: My main goal is to put the best management team together to lead our city, to look at all fees we charge and evaluate our city employees. Without the proper leader in place with the education and experience, it will continue to be business as usual in our city.

Answer 1: I am running for reelection because of my love for Garden City. I have been a resident of Garden City for 58 years. I've been involved in many organizations within our city. My family moved to Garden City to build most or added additions to the schools. My parents fell in love with Garden City and decided to make this a permanent home.

Answer 2: I'm one of seven people running and if I'm successful in getting reelected, I will continue to work with the rest of the council for all the citizens of Garden City.

Answer 3: Infrastructure and facilities, continuous loss of business in the downtown area in Garden City in general and lack of youth involvement.

Answer 4: I will work closely with council and administration to implement projects that will move our city forward. I believe most of the business loss is due to the economy. We need to get re-energized. I am glad we now have a few new businesses that will be opening soon. Monica Fulton does a great job although we need to do more. We need to find additional things for teens to do.

Answer 5: I disagree. It is apparent council people have different agendas. But if you were to check the records that council has voted the same over 90 plus percent of the time.

City the winner.

Answer 6: I want to continue replacing old, costly streetlights with more efficient LED lights, establish a curbside recycling program and institute energy savings programs where appropriate. ## COUNCIL CANDIDATES

THE QUESTIONS

The Observer asked six questions of the candidates:

1. Why are you seeking this position?
2. What do you believe makes you the best choice for this position?
3. What do you see as the 3 main issues facing Garden City?
4. As a member of Council how will you address those issues?
5. In spite of calls for unity after the last election, council remains divided. If elected, how would you improve relations with the other council members and with the public?
6. If elected to council, what is your main goal, and how do you plan to accomplish it?

Patricia (Pat) McKarge

PATRICIA (PAT) MCKARGE

McKarge

Age: 64
Employment: Retired from the City of Garden City in 2011 after 16 years of full-time employment and 34 years of part-time employment. I started working at the community pool, assisting the swim instructors when I was 12 years old. I worked at the pools; teaching, coaching and eventually supervising the entire program. From 1984 to 1992 I worked with senior adults at Maplewood Center. In 1992 I became supervisor of the Youth Assistance Program. In 1995 I became a full-time employee, supervising the Senior Program, then the Recreation Program and for the last eight years of my career director of the Parks and Recreation Department.
Family: I am a widow. I have three grown children; Eddie, Danielle Hice and William. My daughter and her family live in Garden City, as does my mother, Dorothy Sweda. I have three grandchildren, Mercedes, Devin and Aerial. Both my husband's family and mine grew up in Garden City.
Education: I graduated from Garden City East High School in 1967. I have a Bachelor of Science degree from Eastern Michigan University. I completed graduate work in education at the University of Michigan-Dearborn and graduate work in community counseling at Eastern Michigan University.

Answer 1: It is a natural "next step" for me. I have always been involved in the community and feel my education, work and volunteer experiences are assets that the city council needs. I have experience with budgets and policy decision making, the two primary responsibilities of the council.

Answer 2: I have a proven record of being a hardworking leader in the community. I have earned the respect of residents of all ages by being trustworthy, approachable and interested in the community as a whole. I also realize the need to prioritize the city goals and to keep them in focus.

Answer 3: 1. Providing the best quality services to the community that we can with limited resources

2. Maintaining a safe infrastructure; safe roads, water and sewer system, municipal buildings and parks

3. Keeping our neighborhoods and business areas free from blight

Answer 4: We must prioritize goals and stay focused on them. Police and fire departments are an important part of the safety equation but we must also prioritize safety issues in the city infrastructure. The budget decisions I make will be based on these priorities. I will strongly urge the enforcement of ordinances that require basic maintenance of homes and businesses.

Answer 5: Council members do not have to agree; they should treat each other with respect. I will listen to fellow council members and the public, do my homework, ask questions of city staff and vendors. My goal will be to make the best decisions I can make, knowing that I am one of seven votes.

Answer 6: My main goal is to keep the city financially stable. To do this I will make difficult decisions on the budget. The city can only provide those services that it can afford. I am saddened by the lack of some services but I understand why the city does not provide them.

Ladywood can't reel in rival Marlins

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

As hard as Livonia Ladywood played, Farmington Hills Mercy just had a little too much defense, offense and talent on the volleyball court Tuesday night.

The visiting Marlins started fast and fought off the resilient Blazers in the last two games for a 25-12, 25-20, 25-22 victory in the Catholic League Central Division match.

Though it went the minimum three games, it was not an easy win for Mercy, which improved to 22-6-2 overall and 2-0 in the division.

"That's Ladywood; they never go away," Marlins coach Loretta Vogel said. "I anticipate they're maturing to get better with every game. They just start putting things together. That's what they do really well."

"In third game, they were getting touches on everything, trying to keep the ball up, which allowed them to be so close in that third game."

Junior setter Jenna Lerg was a standout in all phases for Mercy. Besides running the offense, she had her share of hits and kills,

MU men's golfers 1st

Behind four top-10 finishers, the Madonna University men's golf team captured first place with rounds of 304 and 298 at the 36-hole Capital Fall Classic last Thursday and Friday at Royal American Golf Links in Galena, Ohio.

MU's 602 total was 15 strokes better than second place Baldwin Wallace (Ohio).

Mount Vernon Nazarene (Ohio) placed third with a 619, while Ohio Northern (626) and host Capital University of Ohio (631) rounded out the top five.

MU's Benjamin Gawronski, a senior from Fenton (Hartland H.S.), took medalist honors by two strokes with a 74-74-148 two-day total.

Fellow seniors Joe Parker (Walled Lake Northern) and Erik Taurence (Wyandotte Roosevelt) joined Gawronski on the all-tournament team.

Parker tied for third with rounds of 78 and 73 (151) while Taurence was a shot behind with rounds of 78 and 74 (152) to tie for sixth.

Junior Nick Corbell (New Boston Huron) was a shot behind Taurence with a 153 total after rounds of 74 and 79, while senior Billy Teer (Grand Blanc) rounded out the MU contingent in a tie for 20th with rounds of 82 and 77 (159).

Crusaders place 3rd

Holly Laginess shot a 77 to tie for fourth place as the Madonna University women's golf team finished third Monday in the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference Jamboree No. 3 at Sunnyside Country Club in Grandville.

Indiana Tech, led by medalist Weibke Schlender's 2-under 70, captured the team title with a 308 total with Siena Heights (316), MU (317), Aquinas (323) and Davenport (337) rounding out the top five of the nine-team field.

Other MU finishers included Chelsea Collura, tied for seventh (78); Ayla Bogie, tied for eighth (80); Natalie Blazo and Becca Porter, tied for 15th (82 each); and Jordyn Shepler (Livonia Churchill), tied for 22nd, 84.

Golf honor to Plourde

For the second time in her career, the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association has named Olivet College's Adrienne Plourde (Livonia) as its Player of the Week in women's golf (through Sept. 29).

Plourde, a senior from Redford Thurston High School, led the Comets to victories in the first two MIAA Jamborees of the season with an average round of 78.

She shot an 80 to finish second at the first MIAA Jamboree at The Medalist Golf Club in Marshall, then captured medalist honors with a 76 at the Jamboree in Kalamazoo.

Gotchev's hat trick boosts MIAC Red leader Warriors

In 5-1 victory over rival HVL

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

Neighboring boys soccer teams Lutheran High Westland and Westland Huron Valley Lutheran - meeting for the second time in four days - switched fields Tuesday, but the end result remained the same.

Lutheran Westland won Friday's match at home against their Lutheran rivals, 5-0.

Senior striker Troy Gotchev tallied two goals in that win and added three more in the rematch en route 5-1 victory Tuesday over the host Hawks.

The victory puts the Warriors at 10-3 overall. They lead the Red Division of the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference at 10-1.

"I think the boys played really well today passing the ball," Lutheran Westland coach Sam Makki said. "We tried to get some crosses in and scored four goals. We wanted to take the ball outside and get a couple of crosses in."

"Defensively we did awesome and our goalie did O.K. We wanted to play the ball quickly. Through balls are important when the other team is putting pressure on us, so we were able to score three or four goals like that."

Gotchev tallied six goals as a junior, but is thriving his senior year under Makki, who is in his first season as the Warriors' boys coach.

Gotchev's hat trick gives him 21 on the year.

"He works hard and he has speed, and good foot skills," Makki said of his senior. "It's a team sport and he has good boys that can give him the ball. And he can out-run other defenders. He's not tall, but he's a tough boy. He works really, really hard."

Gotchev scored in the 26th, 48th and 60th minutes in between goals by Walter Gembariski (first minute) and Robert Sprague (76th minute).

Run, bike, golf? The wheels never really got into motion

Unique triathlon links all 3 events

O.K., now I really understand the difference between a Sunday ride and a long drive.

But for me, it's really an oxymoron after completing the second annual Try Tami's Tri, a unique combination of 3.3-mile run, 12.6-mile bike and nine holes of scramble golf at Hickory Creek Golf Course in Superior Township.

There are about 20 of us who competed in all three phases of the event, which was the brainchild of PGA professional teaching pro and golf.

Tami Bealert, who likes to combine fitness and golf.

So needless to say, there were no beer carts out there for us on the 5K or bike.

But the runners, who did an out-and-back course along the dirt roads of along Napier and Warren, did pass by the Plymouth Orchards Cider Mill, where it was sure tempting to stop and pick up a cinnamon doughnut or two.

First phase

For some, starting off with a 5K run might be the most challenging of the three, but for me, a consistent 25-to-30 mile a week "junk runner," that shouldn't be too bad.

The only problem is that I was lagging a little bit from a Thursday night 5K inter-club race I did at Maybury State Park with the Northville Road Runners.

Two 5Ks in four days is not much recovery time for a 58-year-old.

As for the bike?

That's where the adventure starts for me. After downing a couple of bagels and actually drinking a cup of cider, I took my borrowed mountain bike and borrowed helmet out of the car to prepare for what I thought was an easy joy ride.

Running in the rain? No problem.

Frances Pelle of Farmington Hills was still all smiles after completing a muddy 12.6-mile bike during Sunday's Try Tami's Tri run, bike and golf event at Hickory Creek. KATHY KOWALCZYK

PREP FOOTBALL

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

It's just past the half-way point of the prep football season and the feel good story thus far has been Livonia Clarenceville.

The 18-member Trojans' varsity squad, now, 5-0 overall, already finds itself in the postseason playoffs for the 10th time in school history.

The Trojans automatically will earn their sixth victory to a forfeit win this week after WWAC Red member Inkster closed its doors this summer.

But even more remarkable than making the postseason, is the splash they've made as a new member of the West-ern Wayne Athletic Conference.

By far the smallest school (enrollment 600) among the 12-member WWAC contingent, Clarenceville is off to a 3-0 start in the Red Division.

Fry

And a bye week couldn't have come at a better time. The Trojans will be off until Friday, Oct. 11, when they play at Redford Union.

"Actually it was a blessing," fourth-year Clarenceville coach Ken Fry said. "I got about three guys that are pretty banged up from Friday night, a couple of twisted ankles, so this was like a godsend. They would have been hurt if they would have had to play."

"We're concerned with what's going on because we're down to 18. And we've lost two starters to injuries."

Fry, who guided Clarenceville to a 6-4 record last year and a postseason berth in Division 4, will not let his team sit idle this week.

"I gave them the weekend off and we're practicing every day," he said. "Actually we're going JV and varsity together the next two weeks. One day we're going to do offense and the next day defense."

"It's also allowed our guys who haven't played a lot to mature a little bit hopefully in the next couple of weeks."

To say Clarenceville's showing so far this season is a surprise would be a gross understatement.

The Trojans have allowed just 57 points in five games while averaging 26.6 per outing.

And Clarenceville's 55-14 win two weeks ago over Garden City, a school with nearly double the enrollment, was certainly an eye-opener.

"We're actually shocked," Fry said. "That's one way to look it, but team that I've got and the skill players I've got right now ... I really haven't had this many talented young kids together at one time. With Jalen (Bryant) and James (Hill), and with Jake Kubiak (quarterback) stepping up, and the linemen ... I've just been blessed with great athletes."

While Bryant, Hill and Kubiak form a talented backfield, it's been the defense that has starred thus far.

Defensive tackle Jesse Stallings had seven tackles for losses, while defensive Drake Taylor added a sack and forced fumble in Friday's 12-6 WWAC win at Romulus.

Brandon Uren, meanwhile, has been a stalwart at linebacker, while Kimani Dooley leads the secondary.

"We weren't very good offensively Friday night, but the defense played well," Fry said. "It's been the front four and Dooley in the secondary. Just alone Friday, he (Dooley) had six breakups on deep passes. The kid from Romulus could throw, but Dooley was sideline to sideline."

"But Stallings was probably the big one. He's 5-10, 185, but he's probably one of the fastest kids on the team and he loves to mix it up. He's a defensive tackle and running back. If Hill or Jalen need a rest or breather, a lot of times we bring in Jesse to run. And Taylor has helped us out a lot, too."

Fry, a 1974 Livonia Franklin grad who's had assistant coaching stints at his alma mater and at Northville, concentrates primarily on coaching the defense.

He's left the offensive play calling up to Lloyd Slabaugh, a former Northwood University wide receiver who was last year's JV coach. Slabaugh also was the former head coach at Marine City Cardinal Mooney.

"He really enjoys it," Fry said. "That's his forte."

With a postseason berth already sewed up, Fry is looking forward to the final three games, which include WWAC dates at RU (Oct. 11) and home against Dearborn Heights Annapolis (Oct. 18).

The Trojans, who have only three schedule home games this season, close out the regular season Oct. 25 when they'll play the Catholic League's third-place Intersectional team on the road.

But at this point of the season, Fry can only pinch himself.

"I haven't had this in all the years I've been coaching," he said. "To have this many good kids at one time is unbelievable. And that's what I'm trying to get them to realize is that this something special and they'll never see this again. We're playing well. And even if we're not playing well, they believe in themselves."

"Instead of handing the ball to one person up top, we actually play as a team," Gotchev said. "We use our mid-field more and when our defenders had trouble, they were there and did the right thing. They passed ball to midfield, they send it to me and I score."

Lutheran Westland enjoyed an 18-3 shots-on-goal advantage.

"We try and possess the ball a lot," Makki said. "That's the best part of the game - pass and move quickly. We've been working a lot on that the past three weeks. At least we're getting four or five passes before we get a shot."

Gotchev, who plays for a club team in Dearborn (Scada) which boasts three all-stars on its roster, missed a couple of other golden scoring chances.

"I messed up," said Gotchev, who would like to attend the University of Michigan or UM-Dearborn. "I got hurt about the beginning of the first half, and there on I just started shooting right at the goalie. It was unnecessary. I shouldn't have been doing that. If my club coach saw that I wouldn't be starting for them either."

HVL, meanwhile, slipped to 1-9 overall and 1-8 in the MIAC Red.

"We were hoping approach the game a little bit differently," Huron Valley coach Jim Ott said. "We probably approached it in the wrong direction the first time. We improved on the approach, but the outcome was pretty much the same."

The Hawks, however, played competitively throughout the match and made a much better showing than in Friday's 5-0 loss.

"They (Lutheran Westland) scored more goals (three) in the second half, but I thought the effort was much better the second half," Ott said. "If you put a little bit better effort in the first half to equate what we did the second half, the game might have been a little bit closer. There's no question they're more talented than we are and older than we are. We're younger. We have 12 first-year players playing high school soccer, so it's 12 of our 20. There's definitely an experience factor with us. They outmatched us speed-wise and experience-wise."

It wasn't a total loss for the Hawks as Adam Hodgson sparked in goal with 13 saves.

And freshman forward Samantha Golchuck, one of three female players on HVL roster, scored at the 42-minute mark to cut the deficit to 2-1 when she drilled a shot into the upper right corner past a stunned Warriors' keeper Jordan Williams.

"That's her second goal," Ott said. "She scored one once off a corner (kick). She's a special girl. She's got some talent."

GIRLS VOLLEYBALL

Spartans runner-up in Northville Invite

For the second consecutive Saturday the Livonia Stevenson girls volleyball team found themselves matched in the finals with state-ranked Temperance Bedford.

But this time the Kicking Mules came away with the crown as they outlasted Stevenson in three sets, 21-25, 25-23, 15-11, to capture the Northville Invitational.

In pool play, Stevenson split with host Northville (14-25, 25-22), while defeating Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes (27-26, 25-19) and Midland (25-23, 25-16). The Spartans then defeated Linden (25-12, 25-18) and Marysville (25-9, 25-12) in the elimination round before meeting Bedford for the third time this season.

Stevenson was once again led by 6-foot-1 senior outside hitter Katie Tomasic, who finished with a total of 62 kills, 38 digs and 10 blocks. Amanda Hawkins and Abigail Whitehead each added 23 kills, while Hawkins posted a team-best 20 blocks on the day.

Arryn Dochenetz contributed 29 digs, while setters Sarah Soave and Carmen Disler combined for 74 assist-to-kills with 42 and 32, respectively.

On Tuesday, Tomasic had 17 kills and Hawkins nine in a 31-29, 25-20, 25-15 KLA Central Division win over visiting South Lyon East.

Taylor McLaud and Hawkins combined for 13 blocks for Stevenson (20-4-1, 4-2).

Churchill tops Glenn

Setter Rayna Yetts racked up 38 assists and Natalie Panek added 19 kills Tuesday leading Livonia Churchill (19-8-1, 4-2) to a 23-25, 25-14, 25-12, 25-12 victory over visiting Westland John Glenn (11-16-1, 2-4).

Other leaders for the Chargers included Mackenzie Hamill (nine kills); Annie Yost (six kills, four digs); Lauren St. Pierre (eight aces, eight digs); and Lauren Fallu (eight digs).

Newton lifts Pats

Kelly Newton finished with 40 digs Tuesday as host Livonia Franklin (7-7-1, 2-4) outlasted Wayne Memorial (1-21-3) in five sets, 25-23, 20-25, 25-21, 19-25, 15-8, in a KLA South Division encounter.

Other leaders for the Patriots included Mikayla Sienkiewicz (51 assists, two aces); Riley Kangas (10 solo blocks, three kills); and Sarah Cramton (one kill).

Other leaders for the Zebras included Deja Tamlin (six kills, six blocks, five digs); Kaitlyn Lees (six aces); Paige Chalmers (six kills, six digs, three aces); Danielle Robbins (five kills, five blocks); Danielle Robbins (five kills, three blocks, three aces); and Morgan Schaefer (four blocks).

Warriors triumph

Leah Refenes turned in a stellar performance with 23 kills to go along with 11 digs and 11 assists as Lutheran High Westland (6-10-1, 2-3) pulled off an upset 25-22, 22-25, 25-22, 19-25, 16-14 Michigan Independent Athletic Conference win Tuesday at Ann Arbor Greenhills (17-3-1, 4-1).

including two for the 24th and 25th points in the last game, and she was a leader in digs again.

The Marlins also displayed a balanced attack. The left-handed Jenna Reinhold had some big-time kills from the right-side position, and Jessica Rieckhoff, Kayla Fisher, Christa Greenwood and Colleen Hadley also contributed.

"We have to be (well-rounded)," Vogel said. "Where some teams have one big hitter, we're all fairly comparable. We need to move the offense in that regard, so there are openings in the block for us. I think that's a big factor for us."

"(Reinhold is) having a nice season. She and Jess really are portraying themselves as seniors - leadership and everything."

Ball control tipped the scales in favor of Mercy, she added. The Marlins kept the errors to a minimum, passed well and got into their offense consistently.

"Christa, our middle, had a fantastic night," Vogel said. We're running a different offense, and tonight it was very successful for us. But ball control is always a big factor.

"Also, I think we're pretty fortunate to have Jaclyn Ruffolo as our libero. She takes a lot of balls that most teams think are put away. She's been very successful in doing that this year."

The Blazers (15-10-3, 0-2) were slow to get started, conceding the first five points of the match to Mercy. They quickly fell behind 8-1 and the margin grew to 10 points.

It looked like it would be a quick, easy win for the Marlins, but Ladywood didn't let the happen. The Blazers got early leads in the next two games, but Mercy eventually recovered and went ahead.

"We came out a little apprehensive and weren't able to get into a rhythm," Ladywood coach Erin Craggs said. "The whole first game we were a little out of sync. In Games 2 and 3, we started to play a little more confidently and made them competitive games."

"We tried to keep the focus on our side. What they do shouldn't have a bearing on what we're trying to do. The first six or seven points were errors on our part. We can't start out with that many errors, and it kinda set the tone for the match."

Hailey Moores, Kayla March, Izabella Porada and Sabine Hutter kept the next two games close with their offense, and Porada, Theresa Micallef, Jackie Kirouac and Terese Laurentius led the defense.

"They run a quick offense and don't make any errors," Craggs said of the Marlins. "When we got into those rallies with them, we dug back and forth. Eventually, sometimes, we make that error."

"In Games 2 and 3, I thought we did a good job. We just lacked that killer instinct to put the pedal down a little further and finish off those games. But I think we played well and have some things we can build on."

BOYS SOCCER

Fast Churchill goal flurry sinks Rockets, 6-0

Livonia Churchill exploded for five goals during the final 28 minutes to earn a 6-0 KLA South Division boys soccer victory Tuesday over visiting Westland John Glenn.

The Chargers, who improved to 8-6-1 overall and 5-4 in the South Division, led 1-0 at halftime on Daniel Jones' goal off a corner kick from Tyler Piotrowski with 22:31 left.

The Chargers then tallied back-to-back goals within a 30-second span to go up 3-0 as both Brian Cavicchio and T.J. DeYoung scored unassisted.

Piotrowski then hooked up with Jones with 24 minutes left followed by goals from Erlin Guri and Mike Adegbite-Martins (both assisted by Dan Besse-sen).

Goalkeeper Colton Robison, who played the first 50 minutes, teamed up with Jay Hague to post the shutout.

David Petkov made four saves for the Rockets, who slipped to 5-9 overall and 2-7 in the division.

FRANKLIN 4, WAYNE 0: Matt Freed had a goal and assist Tuesday propelling host Livonia Franklin (7-6-1, 4-4-1) to a KLA South Division triumph over Wayne Memorial (1-12, 0-9).

Freed and Sean Hiles scored in the first half, while Hayden Steinman and Robert Jiga added second-half goals.

Other assists went to Nick Curtis and Stephen Barczuk. Franklin goalkeeper Spencer Lewandowski made three saves to record the shutout, while Nico Escobar went all the way in net for the Zebras.

STEVENSON 4, S.L. EAST 0: Goalkeeper Mike Bolin made five saves to notch the shutout Tuesday as host Livonia Stevenson (6-6-2, 4-3-2) blanked South Lyon East (2-10, 0-9) in a KLA Central Division match.

After a scoreless half, Stevenson got on the board in the 49th minute on Hunter Mullett's goal from Val Qevani.

Four minutes later, Quivani scored from Ryan Schifano to make it 2-0 followed by a pair of Rob Newman goals, including one on a penalty kick (76th minute) and other (79th minute) from Mullett.

Robert Kennedy made six saves for the Cougars.

DELA SALLE 1, STEVENSON 0: For 89 minutes and 40 seconds, Livonia Stevenson (5-6-2) played to a stand-off Saturday with the perennial state power Warren DeLaSalle (13-3-3), but Tyler Garrison's goal just 20 seconds into the match proved to be the difference as the host Pilots earned the non-league victory.

"We played the opening kickoff into our end and 20 seconds later we're picking the ball out of our goal," Stevenson coach Ken Shingledecker said. "We continue to play right with the top teams in the state, but we aren't scoring enough goals to beat them."

Stevenson goalkeeper Mike Bolin made five saves, while DeLaSalle's Jake Townsley and Max Kowalski faced just two Stevenson shots to combine on the shutout.

"They knocked it back off the kickoff, we applied high pressure, stole it, crossed it and knocked it in," said DeLaSalle coach Reid Friedrichs, the former Livonia Churchill boys coach and current Churchill girls coach. "We played pretty well. We had a lot of chances, but just didn't finish our chances. I thought we played defensively very, very well."

FORDSON 2, CLARENCEVILLE 0: After holding Dearborn Fordson scoreless in the first half Monday, visiting Livonia Clarenceville (2-11-1, 0-6) gave up a pair of second-half goals to fall in a Western Wayne Athletic Conference match. Salahuddin Mohommed and Hanson Daoud each scored for the victorious Tractors.

Cam Fyfe and Alan Baumgardner stood out defensively, while goalkeeper Evan Gregg faced 19 shots for Clarenceville.

FRANKLIN ROAD 1, CLARENCEVILLE 0: In a non-conference match last Friday, host Livonia Clarenceville (2-10-1) fell to Novi Franklin Road Christian, which tallied the game-winner on a second-half header off a corner kick.

The Trojans used two goalkeepers with Evan Gregg and Cody Cardozo combining for 10 saves.

LUTHERAN SOUTH 2, HURON VALLEY 0: On Sept. 26, host Newport Lutheran South (8-3, 5-2) got first-half goals from Zach Green and Mitchell Roebke to beat Westland Huron Valley Lutheran (1-7, 1-6).

Noah Schaeve scored for the Huron Valley Lutheran.

Schoolcraft men knock off No. 20 Muskegon, 3-2

Has the Schoolcraft College men's soccer team turned its season around?

The struggling Ocelots took a step in the right direction Sunday with a 3-2 victory at home over No. 20-ranked Muskegon Community College.

And Schoolcraft did it playing the final minutes down two players short after Jarred Phillips was red-carded in the 44th minute and Tyler Wingham sent off in the 86th minute.

Nathan Bergeson's match-winning goal, his fifth of the season, came in the 86th minute to break a 2-all deadlock. Romario Georgis drew the assist.

Schoolcraft, now 5-4 overall and 4-3 in the MCCA, tied it up in the 83rd minute on Derek Boatright's first goal of the season from Adu-wahab Algabiri.

Georgis' penalty kick in the 27th minute gave Schoolcraft a 1-0 lead, but Muskegon's Zach Sutton tied it up with his sixth on a PK in the 51st minute.

Muskegon (10-3, 4-1) took a 2-1 advantage on Riley Kammeraad's goal in the 78th minute from Marcos Moul.

Schoolcraft goalkeeper Sean Simney made four saves, while Loghan

Strong had 12 saves for the Jayhawks, now 9-3 in NJCAA Region XII.

Schoolcraft is now 5-4 in NJCAA Region 12.

On Saturday, host Schoolcraft jumped out to a 3-0 halftime lead en route to a 3-1 victory over host Lake Michigan CC (5-6, 1-3).

Scoring goals for the Ocelots included Canton's Daniel Ovesea (fifth minute from Simney); Joshua Hayer (25th minute unassisted); and Bergeson (37th minute from Boatright).

Chase Hullinger's goal in the 75th minute spoiled Simney's shutout bid.

Ryan Tikey (Livonia Franklin) played the final 12:32 in goal for the Ocelots.

MADONNA 4, MADONNA 1: Despite a second goal in as many games from senior David Edwardson (Newcastle, England), Madonna University (3-5, 1-2) suffered its first home loss of the season in a Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference encounter Saturday at home against Davenport University (9-2, 3-0).

Davenport took the lead in the 20th minute when Jai Maw bent in a free kick off a restart from just outside the left side of the 18-yard box for a 1-0 lead.

The Panthers made it 2-0 just over eight minutes later (28:20) when T.J. Ifaturu finished a cross from Dino Duratovic inside the six-yard box.

The Crusaders cut the Panthers' lead in half, 2-1, when Davenport was whistled for a handball in the box and Edwardson converted the ensuing penalty kick to beat Panthers' goalkeeper Mirza Harambasic in the 36th minute.

The Panthers then put the game away with two goals in the first 10 minutes of the second half from Dzenan Catlic.

MU goalkeeper Marcel Schmid had just one save.

COLLEGE SOCCER

McKay lifts No. 14 Lady Ocelots to 2 NJCAA Region 12 wins

The No. 14-ranked Schoolcraft women's soccer team seems unstoppable these days after the Lady Ocelots chalked up a pair of home victories last weekend.

On Sunday, Schoolcraft improved to 9-0 overall and 7-0 in the Michigan Community College Athletic Association with a 5-0 victory over visiting Muskegon CC (2-7-1, 1-5).

Scoring goals for the Schoolcraft, which also stands 9-0 in NJCAA Region XII, included Maggie McLaughlin, sixth minute (from Samantha Jarrett); Kelly McKay, 13th minute (from Jarrett); Erin McKay, 20th minute (from Kelly McKay); McLaughlin, 50th minute (from Alexis Walker); and Jessica Perry, 60th minute (from Taylor Bunyak).

Goalkeeper Tara Gessler made four saves in the first half before giving way to Alexis Smith (Livonia Franklin), who completed the shutout with three saves.

Kelly McKay, who now has 10 goals on the season, scored four times in Saturday's 6-0 victory over visiting Lake Michigan CC (1-6-1, 1-4-1).

The Rochester native scored in the seventh minute (unassisted), eighth minute (from McLaughlin), 71st minute (from Perry), and 80th minute (unassisted).

Also finding the back of the net was Chelsea Meador, seventh minute (off a corner from Jarrett), and Remy Houtte-kier, 59th minute (unassisted).

Gessler and Smith once again combined for the shutout with each making a save.

MADONNA 1, SIENA HEIGHTS 0: Madonna University (4-4-1, 1-0) opened Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference (WHAC) play Saturday at home with a victory over Siena Heights University (4-5-1, 0-1).

Junior Katlyn Krysiak (Madison Heights Lamphere) scored the match-winning goal at the 17:07 mark of the first half after finishing off a cross into the 6-yard box from sophomore Kelly Capoccia (Livonia Ladywood).

That was more than enough as goalkeeper Blaine Schmalenberg (Warren Cousino) had to make just one save to preserve the shutout.

Saints goalkeeper Crystal Wilcoxen made three saves.

After road WHAC road matches Oct. 5 (vs. Aquinas) and Oct. 9 (vs. Concordia), the Crusaders return home at noon Saturday, Oct. 12 to face Marygrove College.

EMONS

Soggy day

Riding in the rain? That's a different story. I count myself as a novice cyclist, somebody has stored a $1,600 road bike in his basement since 2004 and probably haven't logged more than a 1,000 total miles.

That's pale in comparison to the 1,800 miles I logged running in 2009.

I bought that Giant road bike when I was suffering a case of plantar fasciitis for two months, but never really embraced it even though I live two blocks from Hines Park.

Never felt comfortable on the seat. Never liked downhill. Didn't like the feeling of tight shoulders and neck. Not conducive for my back. Add a pouring rain and muddy roads, Sunday's bike ride felt more like the 1997 New York City and 1998 Detroit marathons I ran in a torrential downpour.

Slow going

I started out slow and got even slower as I trudged through the Cherry Hill Village, and along Denton and Prospect roads in the south reaches of Canton Township.

While I was fifth in the run, I was dead last on the bike. Two of my NRR buddies who I started out on the bike with, cut the course short.

"This is terrible, it's cold, I want to go back to the (golf) course and get a hot cup of coffee," one of my co-riders said.

While they were smart and cut the route short, I always believed that you've got to finish what you start. I'm definitely stubborn in that regard.

When I ran in NYC, I finished in ankle deep water in Central Park. When I did Detroit, I finished the last six miles in gale force winds that reached upwards of 35-to-40 mph.

Lagging behind

On this Sunday ride, I didn't need a sag wagon, but it was one of the saddest bike rides I've ever done because I don't think I even averaged 10 mph.

But who would know? That's because I didn't. The odometer on my bike didn't seem to work.

Covered in mud from head-to-toe, I felt like a tough mudder when I hit the finish at Ford and Napier roads.

Sore back and all, I blew a kiss to all of those brave souls who stayed in the pouring rain to see the last biker finish.

Easy Rider was done. It was time for a nice lunch in the clubhouse before embarking on the nine-hole scramble. But first, I had to hose off myself and my bike, then change into my golf duds.

Pedal to metal

When the race organizer during in the clubhouse asked during lunch for feedback about the first two portions of the race, I raised my hand and simply said with a straight face, "I really enjoyed the bike ride."

When it comes to golf I have a love-hate affair. I don't play as much as I used to, but I enjoy the social aspect.

I consider myself a decent ball striker, but after running a 5K and feeling like a jockey who just finished a muddy Kentucky Derby, hitting the links would ultimately provide a relaxing topper to the day.

Of course, when you're back stiffens and you're a little fatigued, golf isn't so relaxing.

The rain did subside, but the worm burners, slices and chunky iron shots all reared their ugly heads.

I didn't really loosen until around the seventh hole, but then it was too late because my four-some - and God Bless them all - couldn't come up with a birdie to save their lives.

Day is done

Walking off the ninth green I felt a sense of relief - and accomplishment - as all the participants headed back to the clubhouse and traded their (war) stories.

My team finished third out of the five who completed all the three phases. The awards and raffle prizes were handed out and I did walk away with one.

I wasn't closest to the pin, but I did win the long drive contest on hole No. 4. That validated my day for sure.

So, really, it's not about the bike.

New digs: Chamber music group sets concert series in Farmington Hills

By Sharon Dargay
Staff Writer

A year after taking on a new name and mission, Chamber Soloists of Detroit has found a new home.

The organization will kick off its three-concert series Oct. 13 at First Presbyterian Church of Farmington, 26165 Farmington Road, at 11 Mile, Farmington Hills.

"Last year we were at the Birmingham Unitarian Church and we've moved to Farmington primarily for logistical reasons," said Pauline Martin, artistic director since 1999. "We started looking around and we found this space that we thought was ideal. They have a stage. You need people to be able to see your artists. We'll see how the audiences responds this season. I hope they'll enjoy it."

Audiences liked what they heard last season when the former Pro-Mozart Society of Greater Detroit took on a new name — Chamber Soloists — that was more reflective of its evolving mission.

"The reaction has been wonderful. I think we needed the name change because we weren't primarily performing Mozart. We always featured Mozart but it wasn't what our mission was all about," Martin said. "I think it made it more appealing and interesting for the audience. It was a risk to make that change, but I was delighted when things went well last year."

Martin has focused on

Pauline Martin, artistic director of Chamber Soloists of Detroit, will perform at all three of the organization's subscription concerts this year.

promoting Detroit-area talent, especially young musicians who got their start in the area or who are based in Michigan. One concert last year featured a "talk back" session that enabled audience members to ask musicians about their lives. Martin has expanded the program to all three subscription concerts this year.

"It was something you wouldn't read in a biography. They asked even simple things, like 'Do you like practicing?' We didn't just focus on the music, we focused on the artist and what life as a musician is like."

Experiencing the music

The organization also continues to promote chamber music concerts as an intimate listening experience — the way the composers intended their works to be heard,

CHAMBER SOLOISTS OF DETROIT

» Aaron Berofsky and Friends, 3 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 13, will include Aaron Berofsky, internationally acclaimed violinist; Kathryn Votapek, University of Michigan faculty violist; Una O'Riordan, Detroit Symphony Orchestra cellist; and Pauline Martin, pianist and Chamber Soloists artistic director, playing "Mozart Piano Quartet in E-flat, K. 493," "Brahms Piano Quartet in c minor, Opus 60" and "Martinu Madrigals for Violin and Viola, H. 313"

» Violinist Itamar Zorman and pianist Pauline Martin perform, 3 p.m. Sunday, March 9, 2014. The program will include "Brahms Sonata No. 3 in D minor" and "Gernsheim Sonata No. 4"

» Violinist Amy Schwartz Moretti, cellist Edward Arron, and pianist Pauline Martin perform at 7:30 p.m. Friday, April 4, 2014. The program will include "Beethoven Trio, Opus 1, No. 1 in E-flat," "Brahms Trio in B Major, opus 8," and Paul Schoenfeld's "Cafe Music"

Concerts are held at First Presbyterian Church of Farmington, 26165 Farmington Road, at 11 Mile, Farmington Hills. Tickets are $30 per concert or $75 for three concerts. Students pay $10 per ticket.

Martin said.

"Ours is exactly how it would have been in that period of time," Martin said. "There is something about the chamber music experience, that you're not an observer. You really are part of the experience if it's done in the right setting and in the right way."

She said the organization's first concert of the season with violinist Aaron Berofsky, Kathryn Votapek on viola, Una O'Riordan on cello and herself on piano, is a perfect introduction to chamber music. The program will include music by Mozart, Brahms and Martinu.

Martin also will perform at the two other concerts, which are set for March and April 2014.

"I'm very fortunate, because I have some incredible colleagues to work with."

In addition to its three-concert subscription series, Chamber Soloists of Detroit also performs throughout southeastern Michigan. Concerts are scheduled Nov. 9 in Midland, Dec. 5 in Grosse Pointe Shores, March 8, 2014, in Ann Arbor and April 2, 2014, in Dearborn. ## entertaining with Nothing pairs better with cool, crisp weather than warm, home-cooked comfort food. Whether you're searching for a dish for a tailgating get-together, a dinner party or just a relaxing night at home, look no further than the decadence of perfectly-prepared shrimp.

Due to its versatility, shrimp is a top protein choice among many chefs. Shrimp can be served at any time of the day, from shrimp and grits at breakfast to shrimp salads at lunch, or simple boiled shrimp as a delectably light hors d'oeuvre. It can also be an elegant addition to Italian dishes, Mexican recipes and delicatessen favorites, just to name a few.

Wild-caught Gulf of Mexico shrimp, in particular, has an exceptionally rich flavor profile due to the warm, nutrient-dense water in which it was caught. Nothing packs a mouthful of savory flavor like fresh, Gulf shrimp.

An important part of a healthful diet, shrimp contains high-quality protein and a variety of essential nutrients, such as vitamins B-6 and B-12. Additionally, it is among the few natural sources of vitamin D. While low in saturated fat, shrimp offers healthy omega-3 fatty acids that have been shown to help reduce the risk of heart disease.

Preparing shrimp

For many home chefs, the idea of preparing seafood can be an intimidating process. Because they cook very quickly, the biggest mistake many people make while preparing shrimp is overcooking. But, with a little know-how, preparing a delightful shrimp dish is simple.

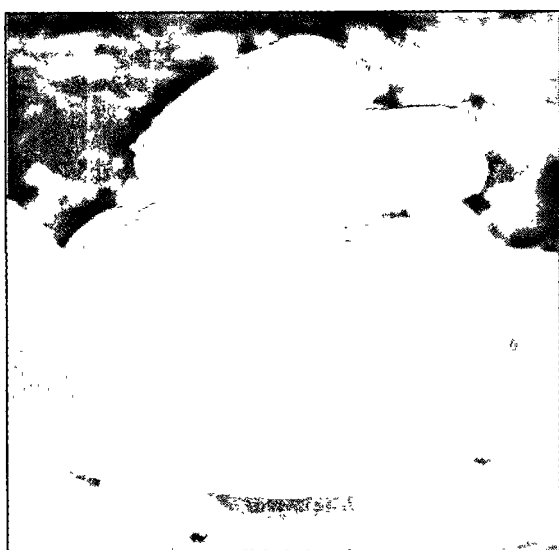

Here's a fool-proof plan for preparing shrimp that will please the palate of everyone at the table:

1. Bring a large saucepan filled with lightly-salted water to a boil.
2. Add the shrimp to the boiling water.
3. Cook for one to three minutes or until the shrimp are pink and opaque.
4. Drain and rinse shrimp in a colander under cold running water to stop the cooking process.

Warm up with shrimp

Spice up those chilly days ahead with a steaming platter of Hot Gulf Shrimp Dip. Served with warm pita bread or crispy tortilla chips, this easy, cheesy and delightful appetizer presents perfectly, making it a great choice for tailgating and holiday parties. Or try an entree, like Baked Shrimp Scampi, or Beer-Battered Rock Shrimp with Honey Mustard. For more great Gulf shrimp recipe ideas, visit www.eatgulfseafood.com.

- 1 cup half & half
- ½ cup dry sherry
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 4 tablespoons Parmesan cheese grated

BEER-BATTERED ROCK SHRIMP WITH HONEY MUSTARD

- 6 tablespoons honey
- ¼ cup Dijon mustard
- ¼ teaspoons hot pepper sauce
- 1 ½ cups all-purpose flour
- 2 teaspoons cayenne
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ½ teaspoons baking powder
- 8 ounces beer, room temperature
- 1 ½ pounds rock shrimp (or blue crab, pink shrimp, brown shrimp, white shrimp or spiny lobster) peeled and deveined
- canola oil for frying
- lemon wedges for garnish

Combine honey, mustard and pepper sauce in a small bowl and set aside. Stir together flour, cayenne, salt, baking powder and sugar in a medium bowl. Add beer and whisk until smooth. Set aside to rest uncovered for an hour. Heat oil in a deep fryer to 350 degrees F. Dust shrimp with flour then dip shrimp in batter thoroughly coating shrimp.

Fry 2-3 minutes until crisp and golden. Remove shrimp with a slotted spoon and drain on paper towels. Serve immediately with lemon wedges and honey mustard sauce.

Melt butter in a large saucepan over medium-high heat. Add shallots and mushrooms (optional); sauté for 3 minutes until soft.

Stir in soup, half & half, sherry, mustard, Parmesan cheese and salt and pepper to taste. Reduce heat and simmer 10 minutes to blend flavors.

Real estate pros who survived lean years buoyed by better market

By Julie Brown
Staff Writer

Gary Reggish, broker-owner of Remerica United Realty of Novi, has worked in his field since 1999. The Livonia resident is among real estate pros who survived a tough market in recent years and have emerged strong and set for business.

"When the going gets rough, the rough get going," Reggish said of market conditions in which some real estate pros had their income cut sharply — and didn't draw any unemployment compensation.

"They had to hit the ground running," he said. "They had to bob and weave and adjust to market conditions. The way that they did it is learn a new game."

Many learned about foreclosure and short sale properties. "By putting the public first, they survived," Reggish said.

He agreed some hard workers didn't make it in the field and had "to find some kind of consistent income." From 2006-09, the Michigan Association of Realtors lost about 35 percent of its membership.

"The market is definitely improving," Reggish said. "Homes are appreciating in value." His concern remains interest rates not being raised too high too fast.

"We have not fully recovered yet," Reggish said. "It has the potential of stalling the market."

Reggish agreed that, as with any business, topnotch customer service is key. "You have to be consumer-focused," he said. "Your needs are always going to be met" with that perspective.

Bob Bake of Coldwell-Banker Weir Manuel in Plymouth also survived the drought. Bake, a Realtor in the field since 1967 focusing on Plymouth and Northville, now works with his daughter and her husband.

"You really tend to build a portfolio, a history of customers you've dealt with," Plymouth resident Bob Bake said of his long tenure. "For me, there wasn't really any hiccup."

He added it was different for newcomers to the field. "Those people deserve a great deal of respect," said Bake of those who were able to dig deep and work long hours.

"You have to put your nose to the grindstone every day of the week," Bake added.

Daughter Carrie Bake and her husband, Patrick Wong, Northville Township residents, joined the business more recently. Carrie Bake has about seven and a half years in real estate, her husband about four, both coming from the automotive field.

"I was in marketing," she said. They lived in Japan for three years on an assignment for Wong, and she began to consider real estate work with her dad.

"I knew it was going to be tough," Carrie Bake said. Their focus remained on Plymouth and Northville, which they know well from their own lives, and on helping clients. "I think that was another key to success," she said.

"They really needed our help, especially the sellers," she said. They were able to be a partner "who could walk them through the process and be there through thick and thin."

"Just providing really good service" was key, she said. "Word of mouth and referrals is how we get our business." They were helped by the focus on walkability in communities, which made Plymouth and nearby Plymouth Township appealing.

"I'm just glad it's turned around for everybody," she added of the market.

Check Fair Housing Act standards

Q: I am a co-owner of a condo who has a renter who has a disability. Do you think the association has a responsibility to provide for this disability?

A: As long as renting is permitted by the governing documents, the rules regarding renter-residents are the same as for owner-residents as far as the association is concerned. If a renter has a disability, needs a modification or an accommodation, and the modification or accommodation is reasonable, it must be allowed-provided. What arrangement there is between the co-owner and renter is not the association's responsibility, but the co-owner probably has an obligation to allow-provide a reasonable modification accommodation to the renter which, in turn, results in the association having to comply with its obligations accordingly. Also keep in mind that if the modification requested is of a sort that must be paid for by a disabled person, than that may well be the tenant and not the co-owner. In the context of common interest communities, the association is generally viewed as the "housing provider" under the Federal Fair Housing Act even though the units are individually owned. Thus, the fair housing laws apply to residents of the community, as opposed to just owners or tenants. By the way, if a tenant requested a modification to the interior of the unit, which does not impact on other units or common elements, than that would be an issue to be addressed by the unit owner. However, any modification or accommodation that impacts common elements or exterior appearances would have to be addressed by the association.

Q: Our attorney, who was recommended by a management company, sends us bills that do not show the amount of time, the rate charged and who did the work. He claims that he is cheaper than other prominent attorneys, but we do not have any way of knowing that. What do you think we should do?

A: Demand a fee agreement and a breakdown on your statements as to the time involved by each individual as well as the hourly rate or flat fee being charged. This is yet another marketing tool, probably on behalf of the attorney, to induce clients to come to his or her office without them really knowing for what they are being charged.

Bonnie David, broker/owner of Quantum Real Estate, is the presenter.

It will be 6-7 p.m. Thursdays at 129 N. Lafayette, downtown South Lyon.

Additional parking across the street in back. Call 248-782-7130 or email june.quantum@gmail.com.

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
