Westland police say they've arrested three people who are accused of robbing several 7-Eleven shops at gunpoint and shooting a clerk earlier this month.

Police say the three were all arrested on separate occa-sions. Kyle Wooten, 56 of Ink-ster, was arrested on Dec. 20; Archie Lewis, 38 of Inkster, was arrested Dec. 21; and Christian Brown, 29 of South-field, was arrested Dec. 22.

Schoolcraft uses partnerships to improve campus

David Jesse Detroit Free Press

When voters turned down a 0.6-mill millage request from Schoolcraft College in the fall of 2015 by a few hundred votes, things looked bleak for Schoolcraft officials' plan to improve the school's infrastructure and move forward on new buildings on campus.

Every donation to The Hospice of Michi-gan Foundation makes an impact to patients and families served by the nonprofit organiza tion. For example, a contribution of $50 helps provide oxygen and medical equipment to a hospice patient for 10 days or five days worth of medication. A donation of $100 helps provide medication for 10 days, or a home care visit from a hospice aide, social worker, spiritual care advisor or a registered nurse.

"Hospice of Michigan relies on community support in order to pro-vide exceptional care and unique services to our patients and their our patients and their families," said Marcie Hilary, vice president, chief development offi-cer for Hospice of Mich-igan. "A gift during this giving season will allow patients and their fam-ilies the opportunity to make the most of precious time with their loved ones."

To qualify for a tax deduction, donations must be postmarked or received before Dec. 31, 2016. To make a taxdeductible donation, visit www.hom.org, call 800-669-9335, or mail a check, made payable to The Hospice of Michigan Foundation, to 989 Spaulding SE, Ada, MI 49301

Still time to donate to 2016 Red Kettle effort

The Salvation Army of Metro Detroit reminds the community that there is still time to give to the 2016 Red Kettle fundraising cam-paign. All tax-deductible donations made through the campaign's official end date of Saturday, Dec. 31 will be doubled thanks to generous matching support by Detroit area businesses and community leaders.

The nonprofit organization is approximately 10 percent behind in donations, and needs more than $3.5 million to reach its $8.4 million goal While the iconic red kettles left storefronts on Christmas Eve, select Kroger locations will host bell ringers and kettles throughout metro Detroit.

"The Salvation Army is grateful for the generosity of those supporting the Red Kettle campaign," said Major Russ Sjögren, general secretary and metro Detroit area commander for The Salvation Army Eastern Michigan Division. "There is still great need to help those in the metro Detroit communi-ty and 87 cents of every dollar donated goes back into the community.

Red kettle donations help support programs and services that assist families and individuals throughout the year across Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties. To make a tax-deduct-ible contribution to The Salvation Army, visit www.salmich.org, text SALMICH to 41444 or call 877-SAL-MICH.

Trinity House Jan. 7 concert benefits NSO

Concert will celebrate music of Blind Willie Johnson

Six of Michigan's best roots and blues artists join together for an eve ning celebrating the music of Blind Willie Johnson at 8 p.m. Sat-urday Jan. 7, at Trinity House Theatre, 38840 W. Six Mile, Livonia.

The performance will benefit Neighborhood Service Organization The artists who will sing. Blind Willie Johnson was a gospel blues sing er and guitarist who came to prominence in the 1920s and 1930s. The American-based record label, Alligator Records, recently celebrated his music with a tribute CD called "God Don't Never Change – The Songs of Blind Willie Johnson."

The album received two Grammy Award nominations

Joel Mabus made his first record for a small Michigan label in 1977 with mandolin legend Frank Wakefield guesting. Three years later, he signed with Flying Fish Records for a two-record deal. In 1986 he was one of the first indie folk-singers to start his own label (Fossil Records), even before the advent of the home studio and compact disc, which makes the practice so common today.

Mabus has toured widely and makes his living at music, though he is flying under the radar of American pop culture. Whether you label him folk, Americana or a singer-songwriter, Mabus remains a one-off, walking that lonesome valley, making and marking his way as a working artist outside the confines of the usual music business. As an acoustic blues duo, Shari Kane and Dave Steele throw a four-handed guitar party of original and timehonored blues, gospel, swing and ragtime. Steeped in Steele's smoky vocals, percus sive rhythm and innovative lead lines, Kane's crisp picking style, rootsy leads, and stinging slidework, their music has been described as street swing and stomp blues, such as a testament to sounds once heard on the streets of Harlem, the juke joints of Mississippi, or from the jug bands of Memphis

Jo Serrapere (sarahpear), a songwriter from Detroit, started playing guitar at 23 when seeking out lessons from Delta Blues guitarist Shari Kane. Shortly thereafter, she began writing her own songs while completing her college studies in clinical psychology.

She now plays at mu-sic venues throughout the United States. Whether re-creating old songs from the Mis-sissippi Delta or performing songs in her own confessional style Jo's music stands origi-nal while always reflect-ing her love of American roots music. Her eclectic writing and performance fuses elements of various modern and tradi-tional folk music, oldtime and electric blues, roots rock, garage surf, swing and alt-country.

John Devine, also a Detroit native, attended masters classes in classi-cal guitar at Miami University. He went on to explore traditional blues styles and develop a love for the race records of the 1920s and 30s. De vine performed as a solo blues artist and songwriter before teaming up with Jo in 1998. He continues to explore other forms of American roots music and teach his craft.

Lac La Belle is an acoustic duo from De-troit, Michigan. Made up of multi-instrumentalists Jennie Knaggs and Nick Schillace, Lac La Belle is influenced by early Americana, blending history with the present to create stories that capture the human expe-rience via accordion, mandolin, banjo, ukulele, organ, harmonizing vocals, and finger-picking resonator guitar.

What sets this acous-tic duo apart is their utilization of their varied experiences; Schillace has a separate career performing his instrumental guitar pieces, and he wrote the first academic work on the re-cordings of John Fahey Knaggs has history with New Music compositions and improvisations, including her vocal work in Matthew Barney's film "River of Funda-ment." Their separate experiences learning folk and blues in Appalachia, American roots binds the duos compositions with a heavy thread.

Danny Kroha is a singer, songwriter, gui-tar player, record pro-ducer and performer who has been working and performing in Detroit since the 1980s. In the last 30 years, he has been a member of eight bands, including the influential blues-punk group the Gories (singer and rhythm guitarist) and the minimalist, performance art garage trio the Demolition Doll Rods. Danny has recorded albums and singles that have been released by various record labels in the U.S. and Europe.

His tours have taken him across the U.S., through Europe and to Brazil. His work has been extensively written about, including his first solo full-length album, "Angels Watching Over Me," released in 2015, featuring traditional gospel, blues and folk songs performed on a range of instruments including mouth harp diddley bow and slide guitar

Award-winning gui-tarist, educator and per-former Rollie Tussing has performed in concert halls, major music festivals and sidewalks all over the United States and parts of Europe. His raggedy brand of music is in-formed by the era of 78 rpm records, juke-joints, and street performers. He composes a lot of his own songs and has a knack for reworking an old obscure tune, finding beauty in the forgotten scratches, pops and grooves of his esoteric record collection.

After winning the National Slide Guitar Competition in 2001 Rol-lie moved with his wife to Portland, Oregon. He spent the next decade touring, performing, writing songs and playing with some of the best regional and touring musicians the West Coast offered. In 2007 he formed Rollie Tussing & the Diminished Seven. The band enjoyed many enduring residencies in some of Portland's finest venues as well as a devoted following.

Substitute teacher shortage is reaching critical stage

Lori Higgins Detroit Free Press

You've probably seen the billboards on highways across Michigan, screaming in bold, blue letters. "SUBSTITUTE TEACHERS NEEDED." They underscore a crisis afoot in school districts all over the state. Substitute teachers are becoming increas-ingly scarce, causing a shortage that is making

IF YOU WANT TO BE A SUBSTITUTE TEACHER

Michigan issues four types of substitute teacher permits. The most basic is the daily substitute permit. Among the requirements:

90 semester hours of satisfactory credit from one or more regionally accredited two- or four-year colleges or universities. Satisfactory credit means a grade of C or better

Limited in a single teaching assignment to no more than 90 days

Other permits cover longer-term assignments. For information, go to www.michigan.gov/documents/mde/ Permit_Overview_529841_7.pdf drop in the number of people pursuing teaching as a career. In April 2015, the Free Press reported there was a 38 percent decline in enroll-ment in teacher preparation programs from the 2008-09 to the 2012-13 school years. A decade ago, Galloway said, the typical sub was a recent college graduate with a teaching certificate. Graduates would be lined up out the ber had dwindled to 270. At the high school level, the numbers declined from 299 to 85 during the same period.

"The state really needs to do something," Harmala said. "We have to look at ... why are students not going into education."

The decline is due to a number of factors, with some saying the profes-sion has become less attractive because of tential shortage isn't looming — it's here,' Harmala said.

EDUStaff handles all aspects of the substitute staffing process — ad-vertising, recruiting, screening, training, placement and management. The shortages have meant more emphasis on training that helps subs understand everything from how to perform the job to how to manage a classroom.

it difficult for schools to cope when there are absences due to illness or family emergency, or for those times when a teacher needs to be away for training. Many tie the shortages to declines in the number of people pursuing teaching as a full-time career.

We're all competing for the same group of employees," said Clark Galloway, president of EDUStaff, which pro-vides staffing, including substitute teachers, to more than 300 school districts statewide. "It's a huge problem," said Wendy Zdeb, executive director of the Michigan Association of Secondary School Princi-pals. "You are seeing principals having to cover classes on a regular basis."

It's Galloway's company that has put up about 40 billboards on state highways, hoping to lure people into considering subbing. Michigan law requires substitute teachers to have completed 90 college credit hours. But many districts go beyond those requirements, opting only to take on people with a teaching certificate.

In some districts, administrators are offering incentives to get people in the door.

In Wayne-Westland Community Schools, for instance, the daily rate for subs who take on long-term assignments and retirees who return to sub have been increased from the standard $90 a day to $110 a day. But the problem still persists. And it's not just in Michigan. Galloway said the fill rate — the percentage of open positions - has declined from about 95 percent in 2012 to as low as 85 percent in 2016.

That means a school district that needs 100 subs on a given day may only get 85 openings filled. "That means we have 15 classes that do not have a teacher. that do not have classroom management, that do not have a mentor," Galloway said.

Schools then have to scramble to combine classes, enlist principals to help or have teachers give up their preparation time to cover classes for absent colleagues.

'You can imagine the disruption at the building level when we're ing level when we re unable to put a substitute in place," Galloway said. "Children are not receiv-ing proper education during those situations. If it's one unfilled position or it's 15, it's still a problem.

Judy Pritchett, chief academic officer for the Macomb Intermediate School District, said "it's a symptom of a much bigger problem." She and others cite a door, he said, to take on substitute teaching positions because it was often a gateway toward a more permanent position

But the number of people receiving teach-ing certificates — now those who actually pur-sue teaching after going through a prep program — is dropping signifi-cantly. In Michigan, the numbers fell from 6,058 during the 2009-10 school year to 4,559 during the 2016-16 school year, ac-cording to the latest figures from the Michigan Department of Education. Now the typical sub is 43, predominantly female and a returningto-work mother without a teaching certificate, Galloway said.

A more specific sign of the times: During the 2014-15 school year, the Wayne-Westland district received 695 applications for elementary teaching jobs, Superin-tendent Michele Harma-la said. During the 2015-16 school year, that num-increased demands, pay cuts, weakened bargaining rights and cuts in salaries and benefits. Harmala said this school year is her first in 30 years in education in which she had full-time elementary jobs go un-filled until late October. She used long-term subs to staff those classes.

I've been trying to get the message across with our legislators, to help them understand that the reality of a po-

One solution, Gallo way said, is to decrease the number of college credit hours required from 90 to 60.

But Harmala isn't sure that's the answer.

"I want people subbing for our students who have some potential to do that job and want to be there, because they want to be a part of edu-cation. It's a bigger issue than just shuffling credits around."

Westland approves Parkside Credit Union expansion

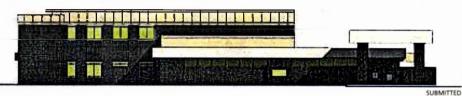

Westland's City Coun-cil has given its approval for an expansion of Park-side Credit Union.

Parkside, located at 1747 S. Newburgh, will complete an addition of 7,643 square feet, result-ing in a two-story building with a total of 15,291 square feet. The total investment for the project is expected to be some $4.2 million.

"The primary purpose of the addition is to continue to improve the financial well-being of our members and the communities we serve," Janet Thompson, Presi-dent and CEO of Parkside Credit Union, told the council.

The addition will allow Parkside to establish the Westland location as its main office. The location will house 40 members of its administrative staff that are currently scattered across various Outlook for jobs and pay is good in Michigan

However, experts expect growth to slow in 2017

Matthew Dolan Detroit Free Press

When Michigan checks its stocking this morning to see what Santa left for the next year, economists expect to see lots of jobs and not many lumps of coal.

That's because the state is approaching its eighth year of economic recovery, having created an average of 71,600 net jobs every year from the Great Recession's low point in 2009 to this summer

In 2014 and 2015, the state's total number of jobs grew by 70,000 jobs each year. Job creation is on pace for a similar gain of 69,000 this year. The outlook is posi-tive, but there are some key areas to watch close-ly in 2017 — from in-coming President Donald Trumple plans to increase Trump's plans to increase U.S. manufacturing jobs to paycheck inflation to auto manufacturing to a potential increase in construction jobs, partic-ularly in west Michigan. Jobs gains in the state next year will pull back to a trot from a gallop, experts say. "With the auto industry operating at peak production levels and historically high sales levels and the state still significantly dependent on the auto industry, on the adto industry, Michigan's robust labor demand growth may be coming to an end," Mar-tin Lavelle at the Detroit branch of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago wrote earlier this fall.

They'll be gains of 41,600 jobs next year and 50,000 in 2018, according to an annual forecast from University of Michigan economists Gabriel Ehrlich. George Fulton, Donald Grimes and Mi-chael McWilliams.

"We look for only modest momentum in the Michigan economy through early next year as auto production starts to ease in the state," said Robert Dye, chief econo-mist at Dallas-based Comerica Bank. "Most major automakers expect slight declines in U.S. auto sales through 2017, and small-car production is being shifted out of the state, so manufor many, but not at the same pace as recent years. That's because personal income growth has softened from 4.6% in 2015 to 3.5% this year. U-M economists say it will stay in place next year in 2017 before moving back up to 4.3% in 2018.

Despite the gains, Michigan's economy lags the country's top performers in many ways. Michigan's employment, per capita personal in-come and per capita gross domestic product all grew between 2010 and 2015. But Michigan still ranks 22nd in em-ployment, 33rd in per capita personal income and 35th in per capita GDP compared with other states.

Here are important trends to watch:

Auto manufacturing

The engine of the Michigan economy con-tinues to be the auto in-dustry despite efforts at greater diversification. Martin Zimmerman, former chief economist at Ford, and a clinical professor of business economics and public policy at U-M's Ross School of Business, said he thinks overall eco-nomic conditions suggest that auto industry sales will remain strong in

"Unemployment is low and expected to remain low in the coming year. Wages are beginning to improve. Interest rates, however, are rising in anticipation of stimulus from expected infrastructure spending and lower taxes as proposed by the new administration," Zimmerman said. "It will take time for the spending and tax changes to be implemented so, on balance, in 2017 we are likely to see sales strong, but off a bit from the record levels of the past two years."

way Traffic Safety Administration argue technology improvements make the standards feasible. At the end of No-vember, the EPA formally proposed 2022-25 stan-dards remain unchanged and set the stage to im-plement that ruling before the new administra-tion takes office.

"That action will make it more difficult for the new administration to change the standards, though there will be continuing pressure for some modification, per-haps extended dead-lines," he said.

Mobility — from ride-sharing to self-driving cars - continues to be a focus around the world as well as in Michigan. A testing ground for con-nected and autonomous vehicles — American Center for Mobility at Willow Run in Ypsilanti Township — should open for business in late 2017 as Michigan seeks to retain its role in ad-vanced auto industry "I think we will see continued progress and technology develop-ments, and some new alliances as well as more pilot programs," Zimmer-man said. "We are still somewhat away, however, from fully driverless cars for the mass market or even widespread use in the taxi market."

New jobs coming

Amazon made a splash this month when the online retailer confirmed plans to hire 1,000 workers at a new distribution center born from an old General Motors plant in Livonia. The Seattle Internet zon Prime business model," the group Good Jobs First wrote earlier this month, estimating Amazon's total economic in-centive haul at more than $241 million since 2015. In response, Amazon said the company is "proud to operate in more than 70 cities across the U.S. where we have invested billions of dollars and created more than 180,000 full-time jobs with benefits starting on day one," adding that it also supports "lo cal businesses near our sites.

Expect the idea of expanding tax incentive programs to return for public debate this coming year. A proposal to create development "tax breaks on steroids" for major urban projects across the state — in-cluding two Dan Gilbert initiatives for downtown Detroit high-rise projects — died in the state Legis-lature earlier this month. But Gov. Rick Snyder has said the idea could be revived for consideration in 2017

Business optimism

Michigan business leaders expressed grow-ing optimism about future growth prospects of the state and national economies this quarter according to the most recent survey release earlier this month from Business Leaders for Michigan, the state's business roundtable. Doug Rothwell, the

But those sentiments "dramatically improved after the election this quarter," Rothwell said. For the first time

Ex-'Survivor' contestant gets prison for child porn

Katrease Stafford Detroit Free Pres

Ex-"Survivor" TV contestant Michael Skupin was sentenced Tues-day to one to four years in prison after he was convicted in November on four counts of possessing child pornography.

Skupin, 54, of Farmington Hills and for-merly of White Lake Township, was sentenced before Oakland County 6th Circuit Court Judge Wendy Potts, according to a news release from Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette's office. Skupin was also ordered to pay $31,800 in restitution and serve probation for financial crimes relating to a Pon-zi scheme investigation that then snared him on the child pornography charges.

Once out of prison, he will be required to regis-ter as a sex offender and he'll be restricted from using a computer outside of work purposes, according to the release. Skupin, appeared during the 2001 season of "Survivor II: The Australian Outback" and also "Survivor: Philippines,

Victims made cash investments in the scheme and their money would then cycle through a chart in which participants were eventually paid out of other new investors' money. According to the at-

Skupin's laptop was searched in connection with the Ponzi scheme and investigators discov ered images of underage children in sexual situa-

It's difficult to find positives in the product world

s we approach another new year, I have asked myself a question about the many columns I've written this past year: "Have you written anything of positive nature during the past 12 months?"

The answer is very little, because the negative stands out like never before. Ask anyone what they think about prod-ucts made in China and a few other foreign coun-tries and I bet you hear the word "junk" in that conversation. I've been writing about the 1.8 million recalled appliances currently in American homes where homeowners don't have a clue whether they have one or not which prompts the need for a new law making manufacturers re sponsible for informing every person who owns their brand name products

For example, let's take the name Samsung. No one seems to know what a terrible job they did with major appliances until they hear about the telephone debacle. They did admit to a big problem and refused to announce a recall on the product until the Con-sumer Product Commis sion stepped on their hands and Samsung cried uncle

Only then did they decide to play ball and following that episode came the top load washer

Go to the website www.productsafety commission and read and study the recalls of prod-ucts listed and make sure that one of those is not being used in your home This past summer I met with State Rep. Gary Glenn in Lansing and he wrote a bill (HB5679)

that would make all manufacturers responsible for informing every consumer of recalled products in their homes. I have not heard back from him in months and I suspect that some lobby-ist for some trade association has put the crunch on this bill.

Time will tell I'm sure. Now, let's go back to the original subject of Sam-sung exploding washing machines. Watching the Canadian News the other night Samsung made night, Samsung made front page. They refuse to pay owners of these washers any rebate of-fered unless the consumers purchase another Samsung product. They will also not pay any expenses in the delivery or removal of this exploding washer. I happen to know quite a few Cana dians and can prove a pretty tough bunch who won't take this sort of stuff lying down. This South Korean company can expect a cross-check across a forehead.

Now my final plea is that you will contact Rep. Gary Glenn and urge him to get this HB 5679 passed and into law in Michigan. It will save lives and prevent mil-lions of dollars in property damage and put the awareness responsibility square into the hands of those people who deserve it. The manufacturers are selected. Stay tuned.

Rising interest rates will hurt some, help others

s expected, for only the second time since the Great Recession, the Federal Reserve has decided to raise interest rates. The feds raised interest rates one-quarter point and gave every indication that we would see more rate increases in 2017. I've frequently been asked if it is good or bad for ordinary people when the Federal Re-serve raises interest rates. My answer: Rising interest rates are good for some people and not so good for others. Those who typically will be impacted negatively are those who cur-rently have adjustablerate debt and those who are looking at borrowing money in the near future. There are many mortgages and credit cards offering adjustable-rate interest plans. When interest rates go up, so their trip will be more affordable. Others who will benefit from higher interest rates are those who save money in banks and such vehicles as CDs and money market accounts. Although I believe it will be a while before interest rates on CDs and money markets will rise, those who save in these types of vehicles will see high-er returns in the not-so-distant future. Particular-ly for seniors who typically keep a good portion of their money in banks, rising interest rates provide a great sense of relief for them. After all, over the last decade or so, with interest rates artificially low, it has dispropo ionately bu ing to a policy of normalization and this may, once again, make stocks trade on their fundamentals. With interest rates artificially low, markets have been more difficult for investors to understand. A return to normalization could make the markets a little more predictable, which will help investors.

The bottom line is, in any move by the Federal Reserve regarding in-terest rates, there are going to be winners and losers. The key is if you are going to lose due to rising interest rates, look at ways to reduce the impact. That could be accelerating the payment of the debt or even converting an adjustable-rate mortgage into a fixed-rate mortgage. One thing everyone should keep in mind is, although interest rates are rising, it is not going to immediately impact he rates that naid on CDs and money market accounts. It seems those rates don't move until we have at least two or three interest rate increases. Although the Federal Reserve has said we will see those increases in 2017, there can be all sorts of reasons that the Federal Reserve backs off from that policy. Therefore, people have to take a wait-and-see attitude as to exactly how much interest rates will rise on savings accounts, CDs and money market accounts. I always tell investors to never overreact to changes such as the Federal Reserve raising interest rates or even change in tax laws. Too many investors feel that, when something happens, they have to react. In many situations, I tell investors the best course of action is to do nothing.

nes vour inte People with adjustablerate debt will see their interest increase at the next adjustment. Typically, adjustable-rate mortgages will adjust once a year, whereas adjustable rate charge cards adjust more frequently.

In addition, people who want to borrow mon ey in the near future will be faced with higher interest rates. If you apply for a mortgage six months from now. I have no doubt that interest rates will be higher. As a result, you will be paying a larger monthly payment.

On the other hand. there are also many win ners as a result of the Federal Reserve policy If you're an individual who likes to travel abroad, with the Federal Reserve raising interest rates, it's more likely than not that the U.S. dollar will strengthen against foreign currency. Americans traveling abroad will see that their dollar has more buying power than it did before;

our seniors.

Others who may benefit from rising interest rates are consumers who purchase imported goods. With interest rates rising, it once again will strengthen the U.S. dollar against other currencies. Prices on im-ported goods should be less expensive, helping consumers.

Even though interest rates are rising, others who could also benefit are those who need to borrow money but can not. In many sectors of our economy, it has been difficult for people to borrow money for such things as starting a business. With higher interest rates, banks will now have a greater in-centive to loan money. If banks do make it easier to borrow, it could spur economic growth, which has been anemic in our economy as of late.

Rising interest rates can also be a benefit to stock market investors. As the Federal Reserve pointed out, it is returnRick Bloom is a fee-only financial adviser. If you would like him to respond to questions, email rick@ bloomassetmanagement.com.

Haeger resigns as Madonna University coach

Greg Haeger, who spent nearly half of his life connect-ed to the Madonna University baseball program, has stepped down after 21 seasons as head coach. Haeger, a two-time All-Big Ten selection at the University of Michigan and a former Detroit Tigers farmhand, said he has accepted a job at Total Sports in Wixom as its director of baseball operations. Haeger

"It's not the same Madonna that I've been working at for the past 19-20 years of my life; it was just a good time," Haeger said. The 47-year-old Haeger, who ranks 17th among active NAIA baseball coaches in wins (651), recently submitted his letter of resignation to Scott Kennell, who is in the midst of his first year as MU's new ath-letic director.

"He just said this is just the right time to step down from the position," Kennell said

Madonna is undergoing a transition period with its administration after the installation of new school president Dr. Michael Grandillo during the fall of 2015.

Kennell replaced Bryan Rizzo, who left to take a similar position at Dearborn Divine Child High School in June. The school's head athletic trainer Beth Hubbard and sports information director Tim Johnston both resigned recently.

The Madonna athletic direc-tor said an immediate search has begun for Haeger's re-placement, but he has yet to conduct any interviews.

Meanwhile, assistant coaches Mike George (whom Haeger replaced as head coach in June of 1996), along with Stu Rose and Mark Henkel, remain list-ed on the school's website as current baseball staff mem-

"Our student-athletes have done a great job in the pro-gram on the field and off the field, and that's some-thing we take pride in and want to continue that throughout our program."

In addition to his baseball duties, Haeger was also responsible for the mainte-nance and upkeep of Ilitch Ballpark, as well as Univer-sity Field's soccer and softball facilities. He also as-sisted in management at MU athletic events. During his 21 seasons, Haeger posted a 651-413-5 overall record, capturing 11 Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference regular season Conference regular season (including four straight from 2008-11), along with five WHAC playoff titles.

The longest tenured head coach in the WHAC, Haeger guided the Crusaders to five NAIA National Tournament appearances (2009, 2010, 2013, 2015 and 2016). In 2010, MU won a school-record 48 games. He was named NA-IA Region Coach of the Year three times and NAIA Great Lakes Section Coach of the Year in 1998.

"He had a strong rapport with all the student-athletes," Kennell said. "I know he had a deep care for all the student-athletes at Ma-donna University, and it showed every day at work. He's someone we valued a lot at Madonna." As a pitcher and first baseman, Haeger led De-troit Catholic Central to the MHSAA Class A state base-ball title in 1987. The Livonia native was named Mich-igan Amateur Player of the Year and was drafted his senior year by the Tigers, but opted to accept a scholarship play under coach Bud Middaugh at U-M.

Haeger signed with Ti-ers' organization following his junior draft-eligible year at Michigan and moved up the minor league ranks, earning All-Star honors for the Florida State League champion Lakeland Tigers in 1992.

But a knee injury prematurely cut short his pro career and he returned to U-M to earn his degree, while also landing an assistant coaching position under George.

"It was fun, I grew up there," said Haeger, who resides in New Hudson with his wife Jean and sons Trey and Evan. "Madonna is a very integral part of my life from the friendships across the board, the faculty, ath-letic staff, the coaches and then the players. I had an opportunity to get to know quite a few young men com-ing through the baseball program and other sports at Madonna. And those relationships are unique. I still appreciate how they helped me grow as a person and I hope they appreciate how I helped them grow. It was a good run. I definitely will miss it. I'll miss the kids, I'll miss what Madonna was to me, not necessarily recent-ly, but I'll miss it."

nized on the stat sheet. however, as his success in plugging the middle of Michigan's line often provides other defenders

the opportunity to shoot through gaps to make a tackle. Godin joined U-M under head coach Brady Hoke, who played a hands-on role in coaching the defensive line. "I learned a ton from Coach Hoke and Coach (Greg) Mattison," Godin said. "Those two taught me everything I know about playing defensive line, honest-ly. It was great having a head coach who specialized in the defensive line."

When Harbaugh took charge prior to the 2015 sea son, former defensive coor-dinator Mattison became the D-line coach, providing Godin and his fellow linemen some continuity, and helping the Wolverines post back-to-back double-digit victory seasons for the first time since 2002-03.

The former Catholic Cen-tral All-Stater has played in 41 games at Michigan, with 15 starts, and earned honorable mention All-Big Ten notice this season. In his final college game on Friday, Godin says Michigan will emphasize stopping the Florida State running game, led by Dalvin Cook, to force third-and-long situations. "He's probably the fastest running back that we've faced," Godin says. Godin adds that the Seminoles have a strong offensive line and a "tough" freshman quarterfor Michigan's pro day, with the hope of continuing his football career in the NFL. Friday could also be the last game for another CC grad, fourth-year senior Garrett Moores. The former Shamrocks quarterback became Michigan's holder for extra points and field goals this year. He performed flawlessly and also ran in a two-point conversion — to earn the sec-ond national "Holder of the 'award. The honor was originated last year by former Minnesota holder Peter Mortell, who gave the initial award to himself. Although it's not an official NCAA honor, Moores' victory was announced nationally on ESPN and was celebrated among the Wolverines.

"It's great to see him have some success," Godin says. "It's not easy to hold it and place it down as well as he has. He has a bigger role that some people think, and we're definitely fortunate to have him."

The Undefeated

Shortly after earning the first bowl game victory in Western Michigan's history in last year's Bahamas Bowl, head coach P.J. Fleck told the team it was his "expectation" that the Broncos would appear in the 2017 Cotton Bowl, ac-cording to senior linebacker

Lucas Cherocci. The Brother Rice grad admits that the team initially felt Fleck's goal was "crazy," but as Western piled up victovies this season — including wins over Big Ten foes North-western and Illinois — the players began to believe. "We had the vision the appendix had the vision, the people in the program did the work and now we have the ultimate goal," Cherocci adds. Cherocci, who joined the Broncos as a walk-on, red-shirted in 2013, playing on the scout team and helping pre-pare the storters for each pare the starters for each game. He saw the field as a special teams performer in 2014, and after the season, Fleck awarded him a scholarship. Cherocci has played linebacker but has mainly been a special teams player over the last two years, a role in which he takes pride. In three seasons. Cherocci has 14 tackles in 26 games, with two tackles for loss.

At Western, Cherocci said, special teams performers are called "how" guys, which he defines as "a guy that plays with passion and plays with his heart

"It sounds like a bunch of new everyone operates on this team," Cherocci said. "Every-one's bought into the program, the culture. ... The big thing about our success this year is, we're a family. And I (com-pare) that to my time at Brother Rice. I always thought that my team at Brother Rice was a family. And then I came here and everyone's so tight-knit."

cherocci calls Cotton Bowl opponent Wisconsin — ranked eighth in the college playoff standings, compared to 15th-ranked Western — an "elite team" but adds that the Bron-ces "don" house on whise to cos "don't have anything to prove. We just have to be ourselves and we have play like ourselves and play like we know we can. ... And that's the way to win the game."

officer while also developing his own fitness business.

Other area players

Cherocci's Cotton Bowl opponents include Wisconsin redshirt freshman David Moorman, a 2014 All-State selection from Northville High, who played in all 13 games as a reserve offensive lineman this season.

Michigan's area talent includes senior tight end Mi-chael Jocz from Novi High, who served mainly as a block-er and special teams performer, but also caught one pass for 12 yards, returned a punt for 27 yards and blocked two kicks. Country Day grad Mau-rice Ways, a junior wide re-ceiver, caught two passes for 24 yards. Other local Wolver-ines who saw the field this year include sophomore quar-terback Alex Malzone from Brother Rice; Plymouth native Nate Schoenle, a freshman wide receiver; and junior run-ning back Joe Hewlett from Novi High, who carried the ball twice for -1 yards. Brother Rice grad Anthony Dalimonte, a senior safety, was named Michigan's scout team player of the year by the coaching staff.

At Eastern, sophomore defensive back Ross Williams, a Birmingham Groves graduate, has played in 20 games in two years. He had 10 tackles and an interception this season. Sophomore defensive back Brandon Macklin from Novi High played in one contest in 2016. Offensive lineman Jeremy Hickey from Brother Rice played in 10 games in 2015

Deondre Francois After the Orange Bowl, Godin will focus on training

Cherocci's last football game. After graduating this spring, he hopes to work as a parole but didn't see action this sea son.

Does she ever. A typical workout week with the P-C Cruisers includes seven or eight trips to the pool, either at Canton High School or the Plymouth Arts and Recreation Complex.

"My coach, Z, has created workouts that push me to my limits every day at practice," explained Tuinman, in an email to the Observer. "She helps me focus on my short-term goals in my swimming career and what needs to be done.

"This past March, there were some distractions going on that pulled me away from my seasonal goal time.

"I remember telling Z short course states (25 meters instead of 50 meters) just didn't feel like a state meet and she reminded me of the expectations I had for this season at the beginning of the year. This made me refocus and chase after the time I wanted, during the race.'

Less is more

Morgan stressed that, with the P-C Cruisers, her goal is for "quality over quantity" in terms of how many yards per workout Tuinman and others complete.

Sophie is successful because she has teammates that surround her with a hardworking ethic, (have) positive attitudes, and enjoy each oth-er's company," Morgan said. "Right now she has a core group of nine other girls, and when the boys get back from high school season the group will grow to 18. "All of these athletes swim year round and compete above a state level. This past August, Sophie and two other (P-C Cruisers) teammates, Eugene Li and Kevin Hao, travelled down to Atlanta for a meet one step below nationals.

Tuinman, Li and Hao have many teammates in the P-C Cruisers who are benefiting from Morgan's coaching approach. "With the boys and girls at this level," Morgan explained, "my goal is to continue to en-able them to accomplish more every season, whether that be physically, mentally, aerobically or mechanically. "I think the continued success of our team though is solely dependent on the relationships that the kids maintain with each other, day in and day out."

Morgan was still earning a degree in mechanical engi-neering and a master's in hydrodynamics at University of Michigan when she started coaching in 1999 with the Ann Arbor Swim Club.

Her advanced college education informs her coaching, which she described as "mechanically driven."

To that end, Morgan's coach-ing — and hours in the pool, of course — help swimmers gain the muscle memory needed to perfect various movements and get faster and more efficient in the process.

Quick study

The daughter of Roeland and Kim Tuinman of Northville is a prime example. With Morgan's coaching, she has made up for being a couple years behind other swimmers.

"It is true that I have started competitive swimming a little bit late for the level that I am currently at," Tuinman said. "I started swimming when I was 8 years old while most start at 6. I gave up com-petitive figure skating to focus on swimming at the age of 10." But she has shown herself to be a quick study, one with potential to at least perform for a college.

"Her level of swimming for her age is bigger than high school swimming," Morgan said. "Most colleges will come knocking on your door for just one of the cuts that she has made.

"She's already made it to a level that will catch the eye of top swimming colleges." Indeed, Sophia Tuinman's next wave of success already is beginning. Where it takes her could be a journey worth keeping an eye on.

'Crossover' charity hoops game raises $5K

First annual game between West and Liberty middle schools unites community

Cherise Rose Correspondent

Basketball fans filtered in as the doors opened Dec. 16 at Canton's Liberty Middle School.

The game plan was to involve students, families, school staff and local business in an event to foster the spirit of giving back to those in need throughout Plymouth and Canton.

After Plymouth-Canton Community School teacher Marc Szalka reached out to the district and Educational Excellence Foundation, he was able to organize the first annual Crossover Charity Basketball Game.

It was a success on and off the court. The game itself was a crowd-pleaser, and more than $5,000 so far has been raised and donated to Plymouth Goodfellows, Canton Goodfellows, Liberty Intervention Fund and West In tervention Fund

There were more than 300 people in attendance as the stands were full of energy,

After the thrilling basketball game on Dec. 16, members of the teams representing West and Liberty middle schools posed for a massive group photo.

cheering and chanting either for West or Liberty middle school teams comprised of teachers, administrators paraprofessionals and custodians

During the first quarter, neither team was able to make a dent in the scoreboard. Af ter many efforts of the mixedability teams, mostly nonbasketball players, West man-aged to gain a lead.

Both teams had their school mascots, West Bulldog and Liberty Lion lighting up the crowds, leading spirited cheers for defense.

The game was intense as the score was within a few baskets for either team until the big upset in the fourth quarter. West's Brett Wells lit the gym up with a shot from a special five-point box set up outside the three-point line. With only seconds ticking away on a 49-45 scoreboard, the Liberty Lions humbly accepted defeat as the Bulldogs let the clock run down.

Although, West Middle School took home the first annual Crossover Trophy, the whole community won.

Wearing different colors didn't matter to these two youngsters who enjoyed the Crossover game at Liberty Middle School.

In addition to helping those in need through Goodfellows, the Crossover charity established intervention funds to support at-risk student programs for academic interventions and assistance for Liberty Middle School and West Middle School.

To date, more than $5,000

The first annual Crossover charity basketball game not only was a fun event for community members of all ages, as shown here, more than $5,000 was raised to help the less fortunate.

has been raised, a feat accomplished through business sponsorships, concessions, raffle tickets, T-shirt sales
